Success with Canned Meats

It is not a matter of chance. The full and habitual satisfaction of your customer; furnishing goods of unvarying excellence; goods that are certain to please to-day, to-morrow, every day—that is the way to win success. Grocers the world over know that canned meats bearing the "Helmet" trade mark are certain to please. They can be depended on for uniformity day in and day out, and they are prized best by customers who use them most. There is a world of satisfaction in selling them, and a good profit for the grocer, of course.

THE CANADIAN GROCER

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, MARCH 20, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 12

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

It is practice and not theory that pays in advertising.

It is better for eggs to drop ten cents than five feet.

A merchant should be careful to keep his word after giving it.

Short wait for customers should be the motto of every merchant.

The clerk who succeeds is the clerk who succeeds in doing his work well.

A well-conducted business is managed to please creditors as well as customers.

"P" stands for pedlar, a perpetual bore to every human being who keeps a store.

It is undermining his business that the merchant is who sacrifices quality to price.

Good times never come to those who cannot make good time in the race for business.

Continuous effort is the force which compels the capitulation of the fortresses of opposition.

There is a man in New York who owned 63 grocery stores, and "he still lives to tell the tale."

Merchants who are half dealers with their business usually find their business death-dealers to them.

A clerk should be dignified, but he should not attempt to "lord it" over his customers or anybody else.

Merchants who wou'd do well in business must have strength of mind as well as strength of money.

The grocery clerks of Lynn, Mass., are trying to organize with a view to putting a stop to the practice of working till 1 and 2 o'clock Sunday morning. They are right. They may not be zealous to find time to go to church, but they are zealous to get out of slavery.

Dead stock is not like a dead mule: it can often be galvanized into life with a little judicious advertising.

Speaking disparagingly of a business competitor is advertising him, and not at his expense either, as a rule.

The merchant who falls in love with his trade association thinks more rather than less of his own business.

People who steal other people's ideas find, like the 120-lb. man who purloins a 220-lb. man's pants, that they do not fit.

An ad. writer requires a little imagination but he should be careful that overmuch of it does not creep into his productions.

Merchants who cut prices usually cut deeper into their own profits than they do into the trade of their competitors.

To run up your business by running down your competitors is practically as impossible as lifting yourself by your boot straps.

A contemporary asks: "Is there poison in tea?" But there is the essence of villainy in the man who puts poison in the tea.

A contemporary advises the use of brandy for frozen oranges. In Canada for some weeks past it has been used for frozen men.

Those who are brusque to travelers are not usually affable to customers. Bruin cannot be a bear one day and a lamb the next.

The Retail Grocers' Association of Ohio is trying to persuade the Legislature of that State to pass a law providing that 10 per cent. of the wages of a married man shall be subject to garnishment for the necessities of life purchased for his family. The idea is a good one, but it is safe venturing that 90 per cent of the trades organizations will be found opposing it.

Far more profitable would it be to dump into the ash barrel "bargains" that won't give satisfaction than to impose them upon customers,

A man can become in time an expert with the boomerang, but with a lie never, for the more it is used the more dangerous weapon does it become.

An Edinburgh clergyman has declared tobacco a blessing. There is at least one clergyman who has fallen in with the average layman's view.

It is quite in order for newspapers that publish page advertisements of department stores to discontinue the woman's department in their journals.

The systematic giving of presents with articles of food is a behind-the-door scheme for robbing the consumers' stomach in order to please his eye or tickle his pride.

The members of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association have decided not to hold a ball this season. Bawling is not in their line. They leave that to the pedlars.

Some of the department stores in Illinois have a post office attached. The State Government should have a care. It, like the small dealer, may ultimately be squeezed out.

It is not necessary that a man should possess a fortune before he starts into business, but he is unfortunate if he has not the capital necessary to build the foundations of a fortune.

A clerk that cannot pick up information will never get above the mediocre, but that is no excuse for the merchant neglecting to teach his clerks all he should and could regarding the business.

WHERE BRITAIN BUYS BUTTER.

THE boast of Australian shippers of butter, that in a few years they would not only capture a large portion of our trade in that indispensable commodity, but drive Denmark out of the field, has not been as yet fulfilled. But that the advent of our colonial cousins on the scene has effected a revolution in the trade cannot be disputed; while the manufacturers of substitutes have strong reason to regret the day when the perfection of refrigerator accommodation on the steamers plying from the South Pacific rendered it possible for butter to be landed here from the Antipodes practically as fresh as when it left the creameries on the other side. It is stated that Australia has more than doubled her export during the past three years. This has not been brought about without a certain amount of disaster to those concerned, and the season for colonial butter just closed will long be remembered by the trade as the worst on record.

In the days before Victoria entered on the business of butter-shipping, it was the rule that the winter months afforded the best time of the year for the butter-shippers on the Continent and farmers at home to get good prices for their dairy produce, as production was at its minimum, and demand was invariably at the heels of supply. But steam and the cold chamber altered the whole aspect of affairs when the Victorian Government granted its bonus on butter shipped; and as it is summer there when it is winter here, prices rapidly dropped on the market, until the winter became the cheapest period. The working classes—indeed, all sections of the population—have benefitted largely by the intense competition. Formerly it was impossible ever to get pure butter at a shilling a pound. There was certainly sold at the price a certain article bearing a strong resemblance to the product of the churn, but stearine entered largely into its composition, and the frequent prosecutions following on public analyses caused people to shun the low-priced article.

To Australia we owe the appearance of pure butter at a shilling a pound, which the poor have been able to purchase all through the trying winter of 1894-95; while during the spring and summer unprecedented prices have been reached from the same cause, butter being retailed everywhere at tenpence a pound, while in some poor districts it has been vended at eightpence—a Midland firm, more enterprising than careful of its neighboring traders' necessity of getting a "living profit," actually, at the worst period of depression in the wholesale market, selling pure butter at sixpence a pound. This has been remedied possibly by the abnormally low currencies ruling on the wholesale market, where butter has sold as low as thirty-five shillings a hundredweight, very good butter being often procurable between sixty and eighty shillings. Denmark, as we have said, has not been driven from the field—having, in fact, increased her output—but she has had to be content with much lower prices, and this season her butter has sold for less than ever before. Her enormous trade with us has been built up by upright trading and the scrupulous vigilance of the authorities, the laws against adulteration being very severe, every package shipped at Copenhagen being subjected to rigid scrutiny to ascertain its purity. Thus Danish butter has come to be a synonym with the trade and the public for a pure article, and the committee which controls the quotations at Copenhagen has been able to get a high price for the farmers of Denmark, because there was no such guarantee elsewhere. Here comes the proof of the sound business principles animating colonial shippers from their first entering on the enterprise. Government inspection has accompanied the bonus, and the merchants here have ascertained that Australian butter is as pure as the Danish product. Thus the trade has been helped to magnify so considerably in such a short time.

But it is one thing to make a trade, another to keep up prices. It was easy for Denmark to do so in the old days, with no competitors worth speaking of; but with so many rivals in the field it is now practically impossible. France has lost a large portion of our trade, mainly because of the sophistication which her reckless shippers have indulged in, and she is not likely to recover the ground lost. But there are rivals to Denmark and Australia nearer home. The secret of the foreigners' success on our markets is the lack of uniformity which has always prevailed with dairy farmers in this country. Grocers know that however pure and intrinsically good butter from English dairies may be, it is not likely to be the same in appearance and texture two weeks running; and as this results in the housewife raising a complaint that the butter is not of the same quality as that previously supplied, grocers prefer, even in country districts, to go to the merchant selling foreign butter, who will agree to give it them the same in appearance week after week throughout the year. The solitary system of production in vogue in England is responsible for this, while the system practised in Denmark and the colonies of working on a co-operative plan—all the farmers in a district bringing their milk to a central factory or creamery, and receiving their share of the net results—is conducive to the production of butter of uniform quality. Lessons travel slowly in England, and the failure of a factory, erected on the Danish model in Wales a little while back, to pay its projectors, is a proof of the inertness of farmers where their own interests are concerned.

But in Ireland—whence one hears so much of distress, but seldom of success—absolutely gigantic strides have been made of late years, and with a soil and climate exceptionally fitted for the dairy industry, a trade has grown up of such proportions as to form no mean antagonism to Denmark. Many factories and creameries are in existence in Ireland now, turning out thousands of pounds of splendid butter, and Denmark has been made to feel the touch of the competition, having been entirely supplanted in some districts. It has been the rule for Danish butter to be at the top of the quotations, and when it was quoted at one hundred and forty-five shillings a hundredweight, as it was only a few years ago, Ireland could not get within fifteen or twenty shillings of the quotation. But now the quality of her butter is so far recognised that it is always within a few shillings of its rival, while a short time ago the quotations were level for Danish and Irish in Liverpool. This is a department of our trade which we can only hope will largely increase, to the benefit of the sister kingdom, and it is certain that, now it has gone forward, it will not stop. Gesmany and Holland and the United States have dropped into the rear as factors in the situation, and France is following suit, though the decreases in shipment from these countries combined are fully made up for by increase of exports from the South Pacific; while in other directions besides Denmark and Australia, efforts are being made to get a portion of the immense trade, which takes ten millions sterling a year out of the country.

In the days when Denmark was not the power in the trade it is now, and when competition over twelve thousand miles of ocean was not dreamt of, Canada had a fair portion of the butter trade then existing. But when the people there thought they could do just as they liked, and send across stuff which was good enough when nothing else could be got, it was, of course, refused here as soon as we had so many sources of supply to turn to where a good article could be obtained. Shippers in Montreal have blinded themselves to the change that has come over the trade, and have persisted in placing butter bought cheap in the summer in cold storage, to await the advent of better prices, and have then shipped it when the bloom has disappeared and all its connection with the pastures of the Dominion has been effaced. The natural result has been that merchants here have refused to buy it, save as a substitute for train-oil, and the trade has dwindled to miserable proportions. Now—as it would seem too late—they have awakened to a sense of the big mistake they have been making, and shipments are coming forward in cool chambers, whence they are transferred in

THE MECCA

How Pleasing

. . . . . To the lady of the house, when entertaining her friends in a cup of coffee, to have the satisfaction of knowing that she is presenting them with one of the choicest and most popular brands of goods now being sold throughout Canada.

Its strength will surprise you; its perfect flavor and aroma will delight you; it will save you many a disappointment by handling these goods; there is nothing that detracts from the pleasure of the breakfast table so much as a remark that the coffee is very poor. This difficulty will never occur when MECCA COFFEE is used.

These goods have had to line up and take their stand side by side with all the popular brands now offering to the public; and what has been the result? MECCA stands to-day as a Giant whose popularity is the envy of rival competitors, the admiration of all lovers of this cheering cup.

Our experience of many years has taught us that there will always be a demand for high grade goods.

John Smith, of Tonawanda, can endorse anything from a baking powder to a horseless carriage without injury to himself and without much help to the article endorsed; but when hundreds of the foremost grocers of Canada to-day are sending us orders for MECCA COFFEE we feel that we have in our possession a brand of goods that we can sincerely recommend as a leader to all grocers who delight to please their customers.

You cannot procure any commodity in your line that will be productive of so good results as MECCA COFFEE.

We respectfully await your solicitation for a sample, which we will have pleasure in forwarding with despatch. These goods are carefully packed and sealed in 25-pound tins, and always fresh, as we roast every day. This will always guarantee you fresh goods.

railway refrigerator cars. On all of the new supply a bonus of a cent a pound is paid by the Province of Quebec, the Government being responsible for the railway and steamship arrangements. This has to be fresh-made creamery butter, and the design is to re-establish Canada's credit on our markets. Should the return be in proportion to the outlay, other provinces will no doubt follow the lead, and Canada once again become prominent in our returns.

Whatever profit the Dominion may reap from the venture, it is clear that consumers here must benefit by another accession to the ranks of those now catering for our tables. They may certainly look for a continuance of low prices, for to this result everything seems to point, especially as the Australian season opened this year much earlier than usual, the first arrival of the 1895-6 make having been some time ago sold on the market. One other thing too, consumers have to congratulate themselves upon —the removal through the cheapness of butter, of temptation on the part of vendors to adulterate. The introduction of margarine has been a great boon to the poor when sold as such, but consumers always rather prefer the genuine article; and the era of low prices which is now on us has caused such a falling off in the demand for the substitute, that whereas in the first eight months of 1893 we imported 832,979 cwt. of margarine from abroad, the amount entering this year to the end of August has only been 597,423 cwt.; Holland, our chief source of supply, having lost custom to the extent of 157,603 cwt. in that period.

THE "COPYING" MANUFACTURER.

EDITOR GROCER,—You had an article in your paper last week in reference to merchants using the jars and boxes of one well-known firm as receptacles for inferior goods of another firm, and while I heartily agree with all you say, I want to call the attention of the grocers to another kind of mean practice that they can correct easily, and it is this: A manufacturer, who has some push and inventive genius, gets out, say, a new package in biscuits, and because it is an improvement, it takes well; but his brains are immediately made use of by some other manufacturer in the same line who is too lazy to do his own thinking and he comes out with his imitation, and says "it is not just like the original but it is as good" and pushes his copy for all it is worth.

Now what I want to call the attention of the grocers to is this: They ought to frown down any attempt of this kind to foist upon them any article that is a copy of something really good, if for no other reason than that there ought to be some bond of fellowship between the manufacturer and the merchant. The one ought to help the other, but when they offer for sale "something just as good" as the article they have been asked for, they are doing a serious injustice to the man who manufactures the original article.

In the case I have in mind at the present time, a lot of money has been spent in advertising the article, and just as soon as it began to be asked for, along comes the barnacle who fastens on to the trade the enterprising manufacturer has paid for, and which his article deserves.

KICKER.

Toronto, March 16, 1896.

A DEACON, BUT HE SOLD BEER.

Henry Rollfs, a grocer, of 267 Palisade avenue, Jersey City, was arrested charged with selling beer without a license.

The accused is a deacon in the Lutheran Church and his son is president of the Hudson County branch of the Y.M.C.A.

The arrest is the result of a dispute. The Jersey City Common Council recently passed an ordinance requiring sellers of beer in bottles to take out licenses.

Rollfs sold bottled beer and did not take out a license. He alleges that the decision of the United States Supreme Court relative to selling liquors in original packages applies to his case.

The case will be passed on by the courts. —Retail Grocers' Advocate.

A VINEGAR FIRM'S DIFFICULTIES.

IT did not surprise the trade on Monday last when the announcement was made that the vinegar firm of Lefebvre & Co. were in difficulties, for it is well known that the partners in the concern were heavily hit by the recent Peoples' Bank crash, their financial dificulties being in a great measure brought about by the suspension of that institution.

No statement has yet been filed, as no formal demand has yet been made, but the total liabilities are put down at $615,000, of which the Peoples' Bank figures for $425,000, on which mortgages are given. There are first mortgages, however, for $100,000 to other parties and $90,000 due to still others in open account, the Bank of British North America being interested to the extent of $45 000 to $50,000, and the Canadian Bank of Commerce $20,000, the two last named institutions being as good as secured for the amounts advanced.

The firm has been in existence some eighteen or twenty years, and carried on the business of manufacturing vinegar, preserved fruits and beet sugar.

What the assets are cannot be ascertained until a statement has been made, but the senior partner, Ald. M. Lefebvre, contends that with three years' time he could have paid 100 cents on the dollar. If the estate is wound up now the result it is expected will be very different, but as the People's Bank is itself unable to do anything it looks as though the business would have to be wound up.

COTTON PRINT PRICES FOR FALL.

The fall ranges of "Magog" prints are now being shown, and they contain a larger and better assortment of novelties and are likely to sell better than anything they have shown in the past. They have been keeping up pretty close in most lines to the foreign maker. In tartans they have increased a number of fancy styles. This year they will endeavor to meet the demand for printed moleskins, considerable quantities of which we have been importing from the States.

American selling agents have been placing quite a few stock and fancy lines at a reduction of 2½ to 3 cents a yard on the American price, and it was reported that Canadian mills would reduce prices to meet them. They say, however, they will not do so. Following is the price list of "Magog" fall specials for 1896:

GEO. CHILDS & CO.

Since the first of the month the business lately conducted for the estate of Geo. Childs & Co., McGill street, Montreal, was taken over by the late Mr. Childs' two sons, George and Arthur. The old firm has been wound up, and the gentlemen who form the new one will still hustle for business under the well-known and honored title of Geo. Childs & Co. Both are young men in the prime of life, know the trade thoroughly, and with these advantages are bound to make a success.

CANADA'S TRADE WITH THE STATES.

ONE of the characteristics of the foreign trade of the Dominion for the fiscal year ending June 30 last was the increase of our exports to the United States.

This increase was over 17 per cent., while our exports to nearly all other countries declined. Those to Great Britain, for instance, declined 8 82 per cent.

This table shows the principal articles in which the increases took place:

Woolens	2,201	42,610

These increases, it will be observed, are chiefly in those articles which are the natural products of the country. This is one of the most gratifying features. But the chief cause of the marked increase in exports is the lower tariff which the Wilson Bill created. Here are a few examples from the new and the old tariff:

	New.	Old.
Coal, bitum's.	40c. ton	75c. ton
Copper ore	Free	½c. lb.
Lead ore	½c lb.	¼c. lb.
Nickel	Free	10c. lb.

Wool	Free	40 to 60 p.c.
Flax seed	20c. bu.	30c. bu.
Apples, dried.	20 p.c.	2c. lb.
Fruits, pres'vd	20 p c.	30 p.c.
Barley	30 p.c.	30c. bu.
Beans	20 p c.	40 p.c.
Oats	20 p.c.	15c. bu.
Peas	20 p.c.	40c. bu.
Rye	20 p.c.	10c. bu.
Clover seed	10 p c.	20 p.c.
Grass seed	10 p.c.	20 p.c.
Potatoes	15c. bu.	25c. bu.
Cordage	10 p.c.	1½c. lb.
Pig ron	$4 ton	3-10c. per lb.
Machinery	Lower tariff

The increases have not, however, been confined to the articles affected by the change in the tariff: Asbestos, ground gypsum, hides, agricultural implements and charcoal, all show substantial increases. But enough has been established to prove that a lower tariff in the United States benefits the Dominion of Canada.

The realization of this fact brings with it the realization of the importance of the United States market to Canada and the need there is of closer trade relations between the two countries. Conservative and Reformer recognize this. Where their opinions differ is in regard to ways and means of securing the desideratum. True, our efforts at securing reciprocity treaties have met with defeat since the abrogation in 1866 of the treaty of 1854. But if we had more business men in politics and less partisanship in Parliament, it is quite possible that where we have hitherto failed we may succeed.

FRAUDULENTLY-MADE VINEGAR.

THERE is a law on the statute books of the Dominion to the effect that acetic acid for use in the manufacture of vinegar must be obtained by the oxidation of wine, beer, cider, or other alcoholic liquors.

In spite of this fact, however, the country is being flooded with the vinegar made from acetic acid not so created. And to such an extent that the sale of the legal article has fallen off alarmingly.

The illegal article is not only an adulterant, but it is positively injurious to the public health. The acetic acid from which it is made is obtained from wood, ashes, etc. Of course, the making of acetic acid by this latter method is not illegal; it is its use for vinegar making that is illegal.

The reason, it is scarcely necessary to say why the acid made from wood, etc., is used is that it is cheaper than that obtained by oxidation of alcoholic liquors. THE CANADIAN GROCER has been credibly informed that it is 50 per cent. cheaper.

Then the man who essays to manufacture vinegar by the illegal method is to put no expense in the way of machinery; and all the ingredients he requires are acetic acid and water. The method of manufacture is also simple: The maker merely draws fifteen gallons of water from the taps, throws it into one gallon of acetic acid, and immediately he has sixteen gallons of "vinegar."

The legitimate vinegar manufacturer, on the other hand, has to provide machinery; to pay an inland revenue tax of 6c. per proof gallon; $50 per month to inland revenue officials in charge of factory, and another $50 per year for a license to make vinegar. It is obvious he cannot compete with the illegally made article.

But the vinegar maker proper is not the only one to suffer from this illegal competition. The honest pickle manufacturer is in the same boat: His sales are cut into by the man who puts up his pickles in the cheap and illegal vinegar.

The hint to the retail merchant is obvious: Get your vinegar and pickles from trusted and well known firms.

The Inland Revenue Department has at last awakened to a sense of its duty, and has put its officers on the track of suspected parties.

The first case to appear in the courts is that preferred against Alexander W. Oliver, manager of the London Catsup Co., London, Ont., who is alleged to be making vinegar in other than the prescribed way. The case was brought before the police magistrate on the 13th inst., but was enlarged, Mr. Oliver not having been served, he being absent from London.

Mr. Oliver may not be guilty. That is to be determined. But vinegar from proscribed acetic acid is being made in the country by some person or persons, and it is the duty of the Inland Revenue Department to untiringly persist in its efforts to ferret out and bring to justice the guilty. It should do so in self-defence, for the practice means a curtailment, by fraudulent means, of its revenue.

As those who sell the vinegar produced in the illegal way are amenable to the law as well as those who make it, the retailers need to be careful that their skirts are kept clean.

DECLINE IN WOODENWARE.

The Canadian Woodenware Association has felt it incumbent after all to reduce the price of the products of its members. The margin of profits had hitherto been unsatisfactory, but it was felt that if the competition bred of the slaughter prices from the United States were to be met a reduction must be made

The reduction ranges from 5 to 15c per dozen on pails and $1 per dozen on tubs.

The following is a list of the old and new prices on the principal lines :

	New list. per doz.	Old list. per doz.

BARBADOES MOLASSES DECLINES.

The chief feature in molasses since last report has been a decline of 1c. per gallon in the price of Barbadoes at the Island, offers being made in Montreal on Monday of 14c. first cost.

This decline in price at Barbadoes is attributed to the prospects of an increased crop, estimates placing the crop on the Island at 40,000 puncheons, against 26,000 last year.

Advices from Porto Rico and other sources of supply, on the other hand, remain firm and prices are maintained.

OUR APPLE TRADE AND HOW TO IMPROVE IT.

UP TO April 15 the quantity of apples shipped from Canadian and United States ports for Great Britain aggregated 707,336 barrels. This is a decrease of over 47 per cent. compared with the exports for the same time a year ago, the total then being 1,352,827 barrels.

The ports from which the shipments were made are : Boston, 79,758 barrels ; New York, 242,541 ; Montreal, 142,197 ; Halifax, 142,132 ; Portland, 99,968 barrels. A year ago for the same time the figures were : Boston, 518,048 ; New York, 213,853 ; Montreal, 273,553 , Halifax, 223,150 ; Portland, 124,223 barrels.

Although the figures do not point it out, yet it is, nevertheless, a fact that the greater portion of the 707,336 barrels exported up to February 15 were of Canadian growth, the shipments from Portland being 75 per cent. Canadian and those from both Boston and New York 50 per cent.

The returns which Canadian exporters have received have not been satisfactory, so far this season there only having been about two months during which the shipments were profitable. Part of this is due to the English market. The crop of apples in Great Britain last year was large, while the domestic grown article was longer on the market than usual, owing to its having been preserved by cold storage.

Then another feature in bringing this about was the unsatisfactory condition of Canadian fruit when it arrived on the market, owing, as THE CANADIAN GROCER has pointed out in a previous issue, to the fruit having been damaged by the frosts last fall. But some of the unsatisfactory condition appears to have been caused by the inefficient accommodation of some of the steamers which carried the fruit across the Atlantic.

The English market has improved a little lately, but shipments are not, as a rule, profitable yet.

During the last eight years Canadian apples in the English market have obtained a better price than those grown in the United States, but in spite of this the business of exporting has not been a profitable one. Part of this latter condition is due to the fact that Canadian apples have lost some of their reputation owing to the dishonest practices of packers in this country in stuffing the barrels—putting good fruit on top and bottom and inferior in the middle. During the present season, however, there does not appear to have been any complaint on that score, the export business being in fewer and more reputable hands, many of whom put their own brands on the barrels. Second or poorer quality fruit is now generally packed in separate barrels instead of being stuffed into the middle of A1 stock.

In spite of all the care that may be exercised on this side of the Atlantic there must be a change in the system which obtains on the other side of disposing of the fruit. The fact of the matter is that there are too many incidental charges, which have to come out of the exporters' pocket ; or, rather, too many ways in which he can be bled. Various methods have been mooted for overcoming the difficulty, but there is a growing belief in this country that the practice of consigning apples to the English market should be discontinued and that the people across the Atlantic who want our apples should buy them in Canada just as Canadians have got to buy Valencia oranges in Liverpool. At first, at any rate, we would not sell as many apples in Great Britain, but the results would be more satisfactory from a financial point of view. There are times when England must have our apples, and as Canadian apples are superior to those obtained from the United States or Denmark —the latter is a rough and cheap apple— we have some reason for exhibiting a little backbone.

OUR FROZEN FISH IN ENGLAND.

ACCORDING to Montreal fish dealers the first shipments of frozen Vancouver salmon which were sold in London, England, a week or so ago were not an encouraging success.

The fish were landed in excellent condition, but they only realized 1½d. to 3d. per pound. This price could not have done much more than pay the freight and charges, leaving the fishermen in British Columbia nothing for his fish. Judging from this, the prospects are not promising for the shipment of chilled goods from Canada to England, that is, at least where the haul is so long as from the Pacific Coast.

It is quite possible, though, the prejudice may have had something to do with the low price obtained, for the Britisher has not yet been educated to a knowledge that frozen fish are quite as delicate and palatable as those not frozen.

When English consumers are aware of this undeniable fact it is not unlikely to expect that frozen Canadian fish will fetch a higher price on the English fish markets.

ADVANCE IN SHELLED WALNUTS.

There has been a sharp advance in the price of shelled walnuts at primary points, and the markets there still have an upward tendency.

Cables from London on Tuesday to Montreal sales agents stated that prices had advanced 5s. This is equivalent to an increased cost, laid down, of 1c. per pound.

The rise has not as yet affected spot values, as local jobbers are still quoting the old figures.

HELP FOR THE CURRANT GROWER.

THE Greek Parliament has adopted the amendment to the Currant Retention Law passed last year. The object of the amendment is to increase the efficiency of the original Act as a beneficiary of the currant industry of Greece.

The Act passed a year ago, in brief, stipulated that 15 per cent. of the currants entered for export, or, at the discretion of the exporter, money to the amount of 15 per cent. of their value, should be handed over to the Government, the currants so retained to be used for distillation and the money to be used in buying currants for distillation.

The amendment in question removes the optional clause, thus compelling the exporter to pay the 15 per cent. in currants only. The object of this is, of course, to strengthen the currant market.

Another thing that promises to assist the currant producer in Greece is the fact that spirits of wine, the product of currants, is likely to largely supersede petroleum as an illuminant.

It seems that for some time experiments with that end in view have been going on, and private advices recently received by a Toronto man stated that "it is now admitted that the spirit lamp is a complete success, and it is believed that it will replace the old mode of domestic lighting."

Still another source of strength to the situation is the continued buying of Grecian currants by France and Russia, while Germany has bought more freely than she did a year ago.

It is said that, judging from present appearances, the whole of the currant crop will be consumed before the new crop comes in.

DECLINE OF FOOCHOW TEA TRADE.

MR. THOMAS FAIRHURST, of F. Fairhurst & Co., tea merchants, Foochow, China, was in Toronto last week in the interests of his firm. It was 29 years ago that Mr. Fairhurst took up his residence in China, and he pays Canada and the United States a visit every second year, and to Europe he goes every alternate year.

"The tea trade of Foochow," he said in reply to a query of mine, "is declining rapidly. The cause of this is two-fold. First, the neglect of the tea plant by the Chinese, and consequently the loss of strength in the tea. In the second place, because of the rise in favor of Indian and Ceylon teas, which seem to be taking the place of Foochow teas, both in Canada and Australia as well as in England.

"If the increasing consumption of Indian and Ceylon teas in this country continues, the trade in Foochow black teas will naturally still further decline. The business in Oolongs is still a good one in the United States, because in Foochow they make a special kind of Oolong which is made nowhere else. Trade with Germany and the continent of Europe, generally, is rather better than it was; but it is the only part of the world that it is.

"Some people have asked us why we do not try and do something; but it is impossible for us to try and make any improvement in the manufacture of the tea in China, because we are not in touch with the producers. The teas pass through three hands before they reach us. And as the law of China will not permit us to own tea plantations we can do nothing towards improving the manufacture. When I left China in December last the Government contemplated increasing the inland tax on tea, which will still further impair the trade.

"The tea trade in the Hankow district, Northern China, is not decreasing to the same extent as it is in Foochow, inasmuch as Russia is a great factor there, buying the larger proportion of the teas of that district."

"Do you think the recent war with Japan is likely to lead to beneficial results upon China?" I ventured.

"So far as we can see in Foochow, the war has had no effect whatever. And if it was not for the continued efforts of the foreign nations, the Chinese would simply go back to their old civilization and have nothing at all to do with Europeans. I think the country is too large and strong for it ever to be parcelled out among other nations. And, I tell you, had the Chinese troops received proper training and been led by officers whose first duty was not to run away, they would have been more than a match for the Japanese, whose superior they are physically."

Before Mr. Fairhurst left Toronto he transferred the Toronto agency of his firm from Mr. C. H. Anderson to Andrews, Bell & Co., the object being to have both the Montreal and Toronto agencies under the control of one firm.

THE MIGHTY "THOU ALSO."

The Montreal Star takes our view and supports Mr. Mulock's bill to prevent members of Parliament making it their sole aim in life to get Government positions. It says:

The "tu quoque" is a terrific weapon as between politicians, but it leaves the public feeling that there still is something to be desired. The taxpayer is the true "third party" in such deals. And it receives the impetus of the transaction in the isthmus which unites the head to the rest of the body. Thus Mr. Mulock wants to preserve the independence of Parliament by making it illegal for members to travel about with offices in their pockets. "Oh! ho," retorts Mr. Dickey, "Look at Sir Oliver Mowat and his batch of post-election appointments!" This may bowl Mr. Mulock out, for he wears the Mowat colors. But how about the rest of us? The desirability of Parliamentary independence is supposed to be urged in the public interest. What, then, has Mr. Dickey to say to the public? It is not enough for him to silence Mr. Mulock. He is not likely to get Mr. Mulock's vote anyway. But he must satisfy the public.

Let Mr. Mulock keep at it and public opinion will soon be so strong that no Government can resent it. He has all the best men in the country at his back.

THE CUBAN SUGAR CROP.

A PRESS despatch under date of Havana, March 11, via Tampa, Fla., March 15, says: So many conflicting statements as to this year's sugar crop in Cuba have been published, either at the instance of the Spanish Government or other interested parties, it is well that the facts should be known. It is now the middle of the grinding season, and in the great sugar producing provinces of Matanzas and Havana not one estate is grinding. In Santa Clara province, which is next to Havana in quantity of output, one estate, Constancia, alone is grinding. In Pinar del Rio none are grinding. In the Eastern district the estates Union, San Luis, San Sebastian and Santa Ana, near Santiago de Cuba, and two or three others near Manzanillo and Guantanamo are grinding under great difficulties. In Havana province the Toledo estate has finished grinding. No others dare begin. The same is true in Matanzas. The wet season will soon be here. Estates have been ordered by Gen. Weyler to grind. It is impossible for them to comply. Here is what has been accomplished up to March 1.

Total number tons exported	76,076
Amount consumed two months	8,400
Amount on hand, all ports	55,489
Total	139,965
Less old stock	86,667
Total new crop to March 1	53,298
Same time last year	319,326

The above statistics are furnished by Joaquin Guma, the sugar expert of Havana.

Estimating the amount of sugar at the mills held back through interference with transportation at 10,000 tons—a liberal figure—the total amount of new crop to March 1 becomes 63,298 tons. If the second half of the grinding season does as well as the first the total yield for Cuba for 1896 will be 126,596 tons. Last year the crop was estimated at 1,000,000 tons. The probable shortage this year will, therefore, be 873,000 tons, or over 87 per cent. of a normal crop. These figures contain only one element of doubt, that is as to whether the decree of General Weyler that planters shall grind, or of Gomez that they shall not grind, will be enforced. Gomez at present occupies eight-tenths of the sugar producing districts. He has more men and seems better able to enforce his decree than ever before. Therefore, the estimate of 63,000 tons for the balance of the season is on the long side. The elimination of over 800,000 tons will undoubtedly affect the price of sugar all over the world. It will also affect the credit of Spain, which was the purpose of Gomez in ordering the stoppage of grinding. What is true of the sugar crop is practically true of tobacco, as will be seen later.

LONDON RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE regular meeting of the London Retail Grocers' Association was held on the 10th inst. The president and vice-president were both absent through illness, and Mr. F. Harley was placed in the chair for the evening.

There was a fair representation of the members present, and three names added to the membership roll.

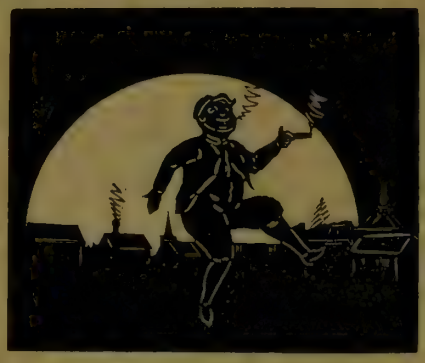
The early closing question was taken up, and without discussion it was moved and carried that a committee be appointed to get sufficient cards printed to supply all the grocery stores with one or more as required, stating that the grocery stores will on and after April 1 close on Saturdays and days preceding holidays, at 10 o'clock p.m., and on all other evenings at 7 p.m. Messrs. F. Harley and J. C. Trebilcock and the secretary were appointed a committee.

Communications were received from Hamilton Retail Grocers' Association stating that while they approved of a convention of all the Retail Grocers' Associations being held during the coming summer season they did not think it would be advisable to hold a union picnic or excursion as it would be too large for any committee to handle successfully. They suggested Hamilton as the most central, and in every way the best place to hold a convention. On motion, the communication was filed for future reference.

A communication was received from W. H. Ferguson, of Detroit, conveying best wishes for the success of the association and regret that he had not the pleasure of attending the grocers' social evening. Received and filed.

It was remarked that our city daily papers are frequently very erratic in reporting the price of country produce on the market. One member said he thought they only made a change once or twice a year. He noticed tomatoes quoted at 50c. per bushel for the past three months. He would like to get a few bushels at that price.

A half-hour's discussion or social chat on trade questions of the day brought the meeting to a close, all feeling that they had enjoyed a pleasant and profitable evening.



E. SUTTON,
Secretary.

CHANCE TO GET A BICYCLE.

La Delicatesse Co., the exclusive makers of "La Delicatesse," a confection in cheese, offer the salesman who shall sell the greatest quantity of "La Delicatesse" to the retail trade from March 1 until September 1, an "S & F" high grade wheel. The "S & F" wheels are warranted to be equal in every respect to the best bicycle ever produced. To the retail salesman selling the most "La Delicatesse" this company offers a free "Florida outing," the estimated cost of which is $500. If the salesman be married it will include his wife. A. E. Richards & Co., of Hamilton, are the selling agents for Canada, and they report an increasing demand for this "La Delicatesse," which is put up in dainty packages and pots, and is said to be equal to any fine club house cheese manufactured. Dealers who have a trade for cheese of this kind would do well to order a sample lot if they have not already a supply.

SUSTAIN THE TRUTH.

When you are convinced that a paper is dishonest and deceitful, says an exchange, stop it. When convinced that it is unclean, stop it. When it lacks enterprise and fails to give you the news, stop it. But don't stop a paper that you believe to be honest, courageous, enterprising and clean, simply because its editor has written his own sincere views instead of yours or somebody's else; for if you do you are putting a premium on insincere journalism and serving notice on an editor that the way to succeed is to write what he thinks will best please his readers instead of what he honestly believes to be the truth.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

ALTHOUGH no striking features have developed, trade exhibits a little more life than it did a week ago. It is, however, by no means active yet. But the point of satisfaction is that more merchandise is going out, while accompanying this fact is the devolopment of a more confident tone in merchants. Failures have been heavy of late, but retailers' stocks are light, and so are their liabilities. With good roads and the opening up of spring a nice trade is looked for. Since our last sugar in the primary markets has taken a weak turn, but the present week has seen the renewal of the upward tendency in values. In canned goods the week has noticed an increased demand for beans. In other lines of canned goods the conditions are much as before. California dried fruits, particularly peaches, continue to attract the chief attention in the way of foreign dried fruits. Other kinds of dried fruits are, in fact, quiet.

CANNED GOODS.

The position of canned tomatoes and peas is still strong. Business, however, is still moderate only. There is a little unsettled feeling regarding corn, some low offers having been made. It is said that some of the corn being offered is of inferior quality. If such is the case, the trade will therefore need to be careful. A feature of the trade this week is an increased demand for canned beans at about 85c. Salmon is quiet and unchanged. Stocks of some of the best brands of lobsters are about exhausted. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 70 to 80c.; peas, 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2.00; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1 90 to 2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.35 to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.35 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1 30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.10 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1 45; 2's, $2 25 to $2.35; 6's, 7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

COFFEE.

Trade is picking up a little in green coffees, and the finer grades of Rio are none too plentiful on this market. We quote green in bags: Rio, 18c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

Syrups are stronger in New York, but there is no change locally. We hear of a few transactions in bright American syrups on local account. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.

MOLASSES.

The market keeps firm on the New Orleans kind, in which a further advance is anticipated in April, according to advices from the primary markets. The local demand is moderate. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 35c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The weakness which characterized the sugar market the latter part of last week has again given place to strength. The American Sugar Trust is reported to have paid 4 3-16c. for raws, which is the highest yet. On Saturday, New York granulated advanced ⅛c.; London paid an advance of 1½d. on beet, and foreign granulated advanced .03c. In New York on Monday there were sales of 96 centrifugal at an advance of 1-16c., and 89 test at an advance of ⅛c., and foreign granulated advanced .03c. A cable received on Tuesday quoted beets 3d. higher for April, and a similar advance in cane for prompt shipment. On the Toronto market there has been a little improvement in the demand, and an odd carload or so has been sold, but the turnover is yet far from being satisfactory. Local dealers look for a good trade shortly and higher prices. Wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellows, 3⅞c. up.

SPICES.

Trade, if anything, is a little better in this line. Cream of tartar is easier in the primary market. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

The situation is much as before, the demand for ordinary being moderate at from 3½ to 3⅝c.

NUTS.

Business is quiet and the market featureless. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 14 to 15c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

The market is without notable change, Indian and Ceylon teas still attract the most attention, but even in these lines there are not many transactions. We quote ruling prices to retailers: Young Hysons, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

Currants are still quiet, with the demand chiefly for the better kinds. The market remains much as before as far as prices are concerned. We quote: Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

Valencia raisins are in moderate demand only. We quote: Off-stalk 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; selected, 6 to 6¼c., and layers, 6½c.

California dried fruit continues to attract the most attention on the local market, the demand being particularly good for peaches in bags at about 6½c. per lb. We quote: Apricots, 15 to 16c.; peaches, 8c., in bags, and 10 to 15c. in boxes; pears, 10½ to 12½c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 12½c. for pitted; nectarines, 11 to 13c.; loose muscatels, 5½ to 6½c. per lb.

Prunes are in moderate demand only. We quote: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c., "U," 102 to lb., 6½ to 6¾c.; California prunes, 40-50, 10 to 10½c. per lb.; 50-60, 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 9c.; 70 80, 8½c. per lb.; French, 5 to 6c.

Eleme figs are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Eleme, 14 oz., 9 to 10½c.; 10 lb., 9½ to 12½c.; 12 lb., 12½c.; 28 lb., 15c.

Sultana raisins are quiet and unchanged at 5½ to 6c.

Dates still rule quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The milder weather has induced an active demand for oranges, and prices are higher all round, both locally and in the primary markets. Messina oranges are due to arrive here in a day or two. This is the first lot for about six weeks, and those previously here this season were of unsatisfactory quality. California seedlings are also here. A further advance is to be noted in Spanish onions. We quote: Lemons—Messina, $2 50 to $3 50 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges — Cali-

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is a scarcity of good roll butter, the demand still being brisk and in excess of supplies. There is no accumulation of butter of any kind, and medium quality is being taken when the first-class article cannot be obtained. Choice dairy tub butter is also a scarce commodity. Creamery butter is in good supply, and the demand is fair. Prices of all kinds of butter are about a cent per pound higher than a week ago. We quote: Early summer dairy store packed, 8 to 10c; good to choice fresh packed, 15 to 16c.; large rolls, fresh, 16 to 17c.; dairy pound prints, 16 to 19c. Fresh creamery—Tubs, 20 to 22c.; do., pound prints, 22 to 23c.

CHEESE—There is a fairly good demand, but the export trade is dull. We quote: Summer make, 8½ to 9c.; September and October, 9 to 9½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Trade is quiet, but prices as before, the ordinary jobbing quotation being 90c. to $1 per bushel.

DRIED APPLES—The conditions remain much as before. There are a good many offering at outside points at from 3¾ to 4c. f.o.b., but no transactions are reported, no one seeming to want dried apples at any price. Jobbing quotations range all the way from 3¾ to 4½c., but there are no sales.

EVAPORATED APPLES — The market is dull with prices nominally unchanged at 6½ to 7c.

EGGS — Pronounced weakness has developed in the egg market since the advent of the warm weather and heavier receipts. Prices are from 2 to 3c. lower than a week ago, new laid now being quoted at 14 to 14½c. per doz., and pickled at from 10 to 11c.

HONEY—There is not much doing. We quote as follows: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTY—There has been a slight and spasmodic improvement in the receipts of turkeys, but the market is still practically bare of all kinds of poultry. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

POTATOES—Are still dull at 18c. on track and 25c. out of store.

MAPLE SYRUP—New season's syrup is being quoted, to arrive early next month, at 90c. to $1 per gallon, and some orders have been placed at these figures. We quote old as before: Syrup, small packages, 90c. to $1; ditto, 5 gallon tins, 80c.; sugar, 10c. per lb.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

A fairly active jobbing trade is reported in all lines of provisions. Quotations are being occasionally shaded for large lots. Offerings of dressed hogs are fairly liberal and packers are paying $4.25 to $4.50 for heavy weights and $4.50 to $4.75 for light weights delivered.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 6½c. for carload lots, and 6¾ to 7c. for small lots; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS — Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7¼ to 7½c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10c.; small hams, 10c.; backs, 9 to 9½c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8 to 8¼c.; tubs, 8½ to 8¾c.; pails, 8¾ to 9c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $14.00; Canadian short-cut, $14 to $14.50; clear shoulder mess, $12; shoulder mess, $11.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Trade is unusually dull for the Lenten season in spite of the fact that prices are lower than usual. We quote oysters: Standards at $1 30 to $1.35, and selects $1.70. Fish are quoted as follows: Skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; haddock, 5 to 6c.; Labrador herring, $3.25 to $3.50 half barrel and $5.50 to $5 75 per barrel; Newfoundland herring, $2.50 per half barrel, and $4 50 to $4.75 per barrel; fresh water salt herring, $3 per barrel; blueback herring, 4c.; pike, 6 to 7c. per lb.; flitched cod, 5c.; finnan haddies, 7c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 11c.; ditto, lengthwise, 10c.; large halibut, 12 to

WHEAT, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

WHEAT—Street receipts are moderate and prices fairly steady. We quote: White, 81c.; red, 79c.; goose, 59 to 60c.

BARLEY—Steady, 200 bushels selling at 38 to 42c.

PEAS—Steady, 100 bushels selling at 59c.

FLOUR—Purchases are light in anticipation of lower prices. We quote as follows: Straight roller, $3.60 to $3.65, carload lots, Toronto freights, and $3.75 to $3.90 in job lots; Manitoba patents, $4.25 to $4.35 per bbl.; Ontario patents, $3.80 to $3.90 per bbl.; strong bakers', $3.75 to $3.85.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Oatmeal cornmeal and pot barley from 10 to 15c. lower; Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3; rolled wheat, $2.30 to $2.40 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.60 to $2.75; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

SALT.

Trade is fairly good and prices unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

The alsike market is about as dull as it can be since the close of the export trade. Since the milder weather set in there has been a little more enquiry for alsike, but business is still quiet. There is not enough timothy offering to make a market. These are the prices jobbers are paying f.o.b. points of shipment: Alsike, $3 to $4.25; red clover, $4.50 to $4.80 per bushel.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Unchanged, with moderate demand. Dealers pay 5c. for No. 1, 4c. for No. 2, 3c. for No. 3. Cured hides unchanged at 6c.

CALFSKINS—6c. for No. 1 and 5c. for No. 2. Sheepskins are firm at 90c. to $1.

WOOL—Trade dull and prices unchanged. Fleece quoted at 21 to 22c., and rejections 17 to 18c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras 22½ to 23c.

PETROLEUM.

Trade continues fairly good with prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16½c.;

MARKET NOTES.

New season's maple syrup is being offered to arrive at 90c. to $1 per gallon.

Eggs are lower, at 14 to 14½c.

Jamaica ginger is scarce and dear in the primary markets.

Cables received to-day quote Jordan almonds at 40s., which is equivalent to about 45c. here. Valencia almonds at late cable advices were quoted at 14s. 6d., or about 18½c. here.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce, March 16.

California oranges show further appreciation in price in the primary market, and we quote higher prices locally.

Butter is scarce and dearer.

The primary sugar markets are firmer than they were a week ago.

Messina and California seedling oranges are due to arrive on the Toronto market.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, March 19, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market as a whole continues quiet, and business in nearly all the leading staples was of a moderate character. Sugar continues dull with stocks increasing in refiners' hands, while both jobbers and retailers appear to have enough to get along with. Syrups are unchanged, but reports from primary markets on molasses have not been of as firm a tenor as they were. Coffee shows a little better feeling in sympathy with the disposition at New York, but there is no demand. The spice market is without change. In tea, reports regarding the new crop are conflicting, but any efforts to induce demand of a general character seem to be fruitless. California raisins have furnished some activity, but of a purely jobbing character, and some enquiry noted for Valencia stock at one time was easily satisfied. Currants, prunes, dates, and figs are steady, but dried and evaporated apples have declined 1c. Canned goods are without feature, and larger receipts of fish led to an easier feeling in haddock and herring.

SUGAR.

There has been no new feature in sugar, the feeling ruling firm as ever. Business in refined is dull, but the stiff feeling in the raw article prevents any tendency to cutting, which might otherwise ensue, as stocks are said to be on the increase at the refineries. In jobbers' and retailers' hands also the stocks for the time being appear to be ample. In the west this fact is said to have effect with some sellers, but not with those here so far. We quote granulated 4⅞c. and yellows 3¾c to 4⅛c. as to grade.

SYRUPS.

Stocks of syrups in refiners' hands continue light, but they are ample for the demand experienced, which is extremely light. We quote prices unchanged: Ordinary 1¾c. and bright grades 2½ to 3c.

MOLASSES.

The market at primary centres has been cabled less active and lower, especially at Barbadoes, where lots were offered at 14c. first cost at the close of last week, which is a decline of 1c. from what was previously asked. The spot market has been very quiet, sales being confined principally to small lots at 36 to 37c. for Barbadoes and 34 to 35c. for Porto Rico, with a few New Orleans offering at 25c.

RICE.

The rice market is without change on spot though there has been considerable advance at primary markets, speculation in Japan among the native merchants putting the price up. In the local market business has been extremely quiet. We quote: Japan standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

There has been a moderate demand on local account for spices and values are steady. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 12 to 15c.

COFFEE.

The better feeling lately in New York has imparted a firmer disposition to the local coffee market, but there has been no quotable change in prices, business continuing of moderate dimensions. We quote: Maracaibo, 19 to 21c.; Rio, 16½ to 20c.; Java, 28c.; Jamaica, 20c., and Mocha, 29 to 32c.

TEAS.

Business in teas has failed entirely to show any pronounced improvement. Japans have met some enquiry ranging from 15½ to 16c., some 400 packages changing hands. An equal quantity of Young Hyson was also sold, laid down Montreal, at 10c. All sorts of reports are coming to hand regarding new crop, but nothing really reliable can yet be cited. In England, the market is firm on Indians and Ceylons, while in New York business is sluggish. We quote: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been a good business doing in California raisins at firm prices, and we quote: 4-crown, 6¾ to 7c.; 3-crown, 5½ to 6c., and 2-crown, 4½ to 5c. The offers of the latter grade have not weakened the market a particle.

Valencia raisins have not furnished much business, but enquiries have been more numerous during the week from country points. The easy feature of the situation is that the bulk of the stock is made up of low grade fruit. We quote: Ordinary, 3¾ to 4¼c.; fine, 4½ to 5c., and selected, 5½ to 5¾c., with layers 6 to 7c.

Sultanas continue quiet and unchanged at 5¾ to 6¼c.

There is little doing in currants, and prices are unchanged: Barrels, 4c.; half-barrels, 4¼c., and cases, 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

The prune market is quiet and unchanged, business being fair. We quote: French, 4 to 5½c.; Bosnia, 6 to 6½c., and California, 8 to 12c., as to grade.

Figs are as they were last week. We quote: Bags, 4c.; ordinary, 8½ to 9c., and fancy, 12 to 17c., as to brand.

Old dates have been offered at 2½c., but we quote good prime stock at 4 to 4½c. per lb.

NUTS.

There has been no change in the nut market, which rules quiet and steady. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned vegetables, fish and fruits meet a moderate jobbing demand at steady prices, but the market as a whole is quiet and unchanged. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 85c.; peas, 95c. to $1 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2 40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2 25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.35 to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.25; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.10 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1 45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

This market has not furnished much activity, the most important change of the week being a decline in the price of dried and evaporated apples, which are 1c. per lb. lower. Oranges are a light stock and prices are rather firm in consequence. California navel oranges are also meeting a good demand. We quote: Oranges—California navels, $3.50 to $4.50; Valencias, 420's, $4.25, and 714's, $5. Lemons, $2 to $3. Grapes, $5 to $6 per keg. Cranberries, $8 to $10 per barrel. Apples, $2 to $4 per barrel. Dried do. 3½c. Evaporated do., 5½ to 6c. Spanish onions, 30 to 40c. per crate. Pineapples, 25 to 40c. as to size.

FISH.

Demand for fish has been small during the week, though the weather has been very favorable to the trade. Fresh herring and haddock have both declined under large supplies. Pickled fish are also exceedingly slow of sale and green cod and other staple lines have ruled weaker. We quote as follows: Fresh haddock, 3½c. per lb.; smelts 2 to 4c.; fresh frozen B. C. salmon, 8 to 9c.; Manitoba whitefish, 7c.; dore, 7c.; trout, 7c.; tommycods, $1.00 to $1.25 per bbl. Choice pickled Labrador herrings, $5.25; No. 1 N.S., $3 to $4; No. 1 green cod, $4.50; No. 2, $3 to $3 25; No. 1 haddock, $3; No. 1 large codfish, $6; No. 1 lake trout, $4 to $4.25; B C. salmon, $10.50; No. 2 Labrador salmon, $13; No. 1 mackerel, $18.50; Loch Fyne herrings, 85c. per keg, and $11 per bbl.; No. 1 sardines, $4 50; No. 1 dried cod, $4 to $4.25; boneless cod, 6c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¼c.; boneless haddock, 5c.; shredded, 11c.; haddies, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.; bloaters, 90c. per box, and smoked herrings, 8 to 9c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

There has been no further change in provisions since our last, business being of a steady character. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $13 50 to $14; Canadian short cut, mess, $14 to $14.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Demand has been fair for eggs during the week, and the market rules steady. We quote: Fresh, 17 to 18c.; Montreal limed, 10 to 11c.; Western limed, 9½ to 10c. per dozen.

BEANS—There was no improvement in the market for beans, business being quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Car lots at $1 to $1.05, and small quantities, $1.10 to $1.20.

POTATOES—Business in potatoes continues of a jobbing character, and the market is quiet. We quote: Car lots, on track, 30 to 32c. per bag, and small quantities, 35 to 40c.

ONIONS—Are unchanged. We quote: Red, $2.50, and yellow, $1.60 to $2 per bbl.

HAY.

Baled hay is unchanged, No. 1 on track selling at $14 and No. 2, $12.50. Along the G.T.R. No. 1 is offered at $12 to $12.50.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

There was no change in flour, business on the whole was rather quiet, and values were unchanged. We quote: Winter wheat, $4 35 to $4.40; spring wheat, patents, $4.25; straight roller, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, bags, $1.95 to $2; extra, bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.

In oatmeal the chief item of the week has been the cutting in rolled oats, which have sold very much lower, being now quoted at $2 90. Prices range: Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10; granulated, barrels, $3.10 to $3.20; rolled oats, barrels, $2 90; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2 40 to $2.50.

A fairly active business continues to be done in feed, one firm reporting sales of ten cars of Ontario brand at $15 Monday. We quote: Bran, $14 to $15; shorts, $15 to $16; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—The sudden recovery in the public cable quotation from Liverpool on cheese Monday morning, was the most interesting news this week. When the advance of a full shilling was first posted, many thought that it was a mistake, and had it repeated to find it correct. The news was a disappointment, of course, to the pessimists, but some change for the better was not entirely unexpected to others. Last week, reference was made to private advices, which stated that an effort was being made to concentrate stocks on the other side, also, that a more cheerful undertone was noticeable. The advance in the cable, to-day, may be the first visible effect of these influences. On spot, the situation is as quiet as ever, because there is very little goods to do business in, and the price was a nominal one, at 8¾c. for fall makes.

BUTTER—The butter market continues of a quiet jobbing character. Creamery ranges from 21 to 22c., according to quantity. Eastern Townships dairy was steady at 18 to 19c., and western rolls from 14 to 15c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. wish to call attention to their full assortment of canned goods and teas. They are offering close value on both lines, and will send samples on application if mention is made of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Larger receipts of both evaporated and dried apples have led to a decline of 1c. per pound in each, while the demand is slow.

First receipts of California navel oranges came to hand the other day. They have been selling freely at $3 50 per box for sound unfrosted fruit.

A. P. Tippet & Co. have just landed a carload of Santa Clara prunes. These

GRAND MOGUL TEA COMPETITION

You've heard about the grand Mogul,
On India's coral strand,
The greatest of all eastern kings,
In that celestial land.

This potentate as history shows,
In various things excelled—
As for his judgment and good taste
Was in great honor held.

And chief among his virtues was
The certain way that he
Could tell the best and purest of
The different brands of tea.

When traveling men to Delhi came—
This monarch would command
That none should come within its gates,
Except they brought his brand.

And thus it came that only one
Could stand the regal test—
And that the one the Mogul chose—
Because it was the best.

Now, when the nations far and near
Had heard the king's decree:
They all refused inferior goods—
And took "Grand Mogul" Tea.

They found no poisonous tannin there,
Nutritious theine instead—
And vendors of inferior grades
Soon found their business dead.

And people bought the very best
And gave up drinking frauds
And all pronounced "Grand Mogul" Tea
"The nectar of the Gods!"

For purity and healthfulness
Its equal cannot be found,
And then its price—so very low—
But Fifty Cents a Pound!

Its use promotes both health and wealth,
It soothes the tired brain—
The young increasing vigor get
And the old grow young again.

Then do not fly to wine or ruin,
If feeling sad or dull,
Imbibe the King of Teas instead—
The cheering "Grand Mogul!"

as last, and a fair summer business Cornmeal is very low, and some nts have placed large orders, oo barrels. Larger quantities runes are noticed in the marke r years, and they are well like that the foreign is scarce gives Some are slow to pay the extra there is a demand for prunes, and even the ger sizes at fairly high figures find g

OIL—There is but ght dema for burning oil, the season being well over. In lubricating demand is just be oning to make itself known. Owing to the lar lumber mills here, and other large quantites of these oils are used, American and Canadian houses are v active in their efforts to get the trade. We quote: American burning oil, 23¼c.; best Canadian, 21½ to 21¾c.; prime, 19c. No charge for barrels.

SALT—The Beaver Line steamers arriving from Liverpool weekly bring more or less salt all the time; a small quantity arrived this week, part of which was shipped into the state of Maine by dealers here. There is at present quite a large stock here, most of which cost higher than that now landing. Large quantities of English salt are used here during the year, its largest use being in the packing of fish, about seventy thousand bags coarse and five thousand fine being imported. Beside this there is a large quantity of Canadian salt used, chiefly for dairy and table purposes. Little, if any, American is now imported. In quantities, coarse could be bought well under quotations if shipped from vessel's side. We quote as follows: Coarse, 50 to 55c.; fine factory-filled, $1.10; 5-lb. bags, $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; salt, bulk, $2.70 to $2.80 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—There is fair movement, but little to report. Peas are scarce but little change has yet been made in prices, which must go higher. Gallon apples find but limited sale to what they had a few years ago. Pumpkin does not seem to have the demand it shou'd, as for pies it is splendid. Fruits are beginning to have more attention. Canadian packed fruits are giving splendid satisfaction. Some packers incline to shade prices in canned meats. We quote as follows: Corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 90 to 95c.; tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; gallon apples, $2.15 to $2.25; corned beef, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, $2.45 to $2.85; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2 to $2.35; salmon, $1.40 to $1.50; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; haddies, $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2 75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

DRIED FRUITS—A more active movement than usual is noticed in evaporated fruits, peaches being the favorites. Some very fine goods at low prices in bags have been received in this market. Dried apples continue to be offered by Nova Scotia dealers, but there is no demand. A quantity could, no doubt, be bought low. Market is well stocked with evaporated, with prices easy. Raisins are quiet with a firmer feeling in loose muscatels. A small shipment of Bosnia prunes are expected this week. Peanuts tend higher. These are but light stocks. We quote: Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; layers, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M. 4-crown, 6 to 7c.; 3-crown, 5 to 6c.; London layers, $1.70 to $1.85. Currants, bbls., 3⅞ to 4c.; cases, 4¼ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½c.: prunes, kegs, 4c.; boxes, 4½ to 5c.; half-boxes, 6 to 8c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 5c.; evaporated apples, 7 to 7½c.; California evaporated peaches, 12 to 13c.; apricots, 12 to 14c.; pears, 12 to 14c. Canadian onions, $2.25 to $2.50; cocoanuts, $3 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 8c.

GREEN FRUIT—Volume of business continues to increase, and values are steady with upward movement. Stocks of apples, while not large, equal demand. Prices for best grades held firm. About all the Nova Scotia apples held for shipment have gone forward. Returns in some cases have been v unsatisfactory, owing to apples arriving r condition, the reason being that the carrying them are not suited to ippers also feel that in some cases ales do not show full value receiv oods, and that the 5 per cent ch the only remuneration received commission men. We quote: A to $3.50; Lemons, $2.50 to $3. a oranges, $4 50 to $5; Californ s, seedlings $2.50; navels, $3.75 to 4.50 pr apple 18 to 30c.; cranberries, $10 nas, $1.50 to $2.25.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Chee continues dull, with but little chance of be better till new comes in. Market is likel to open low. Butter is slow with large stocks of poor. Table butter is, however, in d mand at a fair price. Eggs are in but l ly; they keep firm, but show no ch ce. We quote: Common dairy butter, 15 to ; dairy, 17 to 18c.; new creame 2 to 23c.; cheese, 9 to 9½c.; crea 20 to 21c.; eggs, 18 to 19c. by ca

SUGAR—Stock held here is s No change in price has transpire the week, though market is firm. a fair demand. We quote: Gra 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4⅜c.; Par 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—The steamer just in fro West Indies had some 350 packages of goods, but no price had been fixed at t of writing. Market firm; tendency upwa Two grades of New Orleans are now here 40-gallon packages, both showing goo value at price. Demand for syrup is easier Some Porto Rico is expected shortly. We quote: Barbadoes, 31 to 33c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 36c, bbls.; New O leans, 30 to 36c.; St. Croix, 28 to 30c.; new Demerara, 34 to 35c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.

FISH—A car of Newfoundland frozen herring is to hand this week. They were largely used to make bloaters, for which there is a good demand. Smoked herring, of which 21,000 were landed this week, could be bought low. In pickled fish, prices show no change, with fair stocks held. A good demand for fresh continues. Pickled shad are dull. Large quantities of boneless are being shipped west. We quote as follows: Fresh haddock and cod, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.; dry, $1.50; large cod, $3 70 to $3.75; medium, $3.25 to $3.50; pollock, $1.40; bay herring, $1.35 to $1.40 per half-bbl.; Ripplings, $1.65; Wolves, $1.85 to $2; new smoked, 5 to 6c.; Canso, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; shad, half-bbl., $5 to $6; Grand Manan herring, half-bbl., $1.25 to $1.35; Shelburne, $3.75 bbl., $1.65 half-bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; oysters, $3 to $4.25 per bbl.; frozen herring, 75 to 80c. per 100; shad, $4.50 to $4 75.

PROVISIONS—Lard tend upward, but on account of large stocks held no change in price is noted. Smoked meats show but fair demand. In pork movement is light, with no firmer feeling during the week; stocks are large. In sausages local dealers have reduced prices 1 to 2c. per lb. We quote: Clear pork, $15 to $16; mess, $14 to $14 50; beef, $13 to $14; domestic mess pork, $14 to $14.50; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 8½c.; pure lard, 9 to 9½c.; compound, 7¾ to 8c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In markets there is hardly as firm a feeling, and in this market prices are quoted often as low, and even lower, than from the mill. In cornmeal price never was as low. Large quantities are moving, and dealers have bought well ahead. In hay and oats there is but light movement. In seed buyers are backward. This year American sellers seem to have the advantage over Canadian. We quote: Manitoba, $4 75 to $4.80; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4 65; medium, $4 40 to $4 50; oatmeal, $3.30 to $3.50; cornmeal, $2 20 to $2 25; middlings, $19 to $20 on track; bran, $18 to $19; hand-picked beans, $1.25; prime, $1.20; oats, 34 to 35c.; hay, $12.50 to $13; barley, $4; round peas, $3 65; split peas, $3 70 to $3.80; yellow-eye beans, $1.85; buckwheat, native, $1.30 to $1.35.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

John Sealy shipped a car of fish to Hamilton this week, largely boneless. In this grade a much better demand is noted than last season.

C. L. Tilley, cheese manufacturer, of Carleton county, has this season shipped a number of cars to England. Returns so far received are fairly satisfactory, notwithstanding that prices were low.

Canned fish are being largely put up in these lower provinces. New varieties are being added to the list from time to time. A Grand Manan man intends putting up canned smoked herring this season.

The largest sale in canned fish is haddies. They are a splendid article, and "Golden" brands, if the quantity is a sign, are taking well in the west.

Cold storage has taken hold of our people. It is said one is to be built for the use of the fishermen at North Head, Grand Manan.

W. E. Palfrey, Lawrencetown, has sold his business to J. C. Shaffner.

F. C. Harris, of Bridgetown, has gone out of the grocery business.

Steamer Alpha will make her first trip of the season this week. She sails Friday at 6 p. m.

J. Hunter White has been appointed agent for the Meadow-Sweet Cheese Mfg. Co., whose goods are already well known and appreciated by lovers of good cheese.

New Brunswick boys away from home often have the best of success to report. C. H. McLeod who has long held an important position in the Missoula Mercantile Co., Montana, has been made president of the company, and Tyler Thompson, for many years in the store of Geo. Robertson here, is now general manager.

Said a gentleman to THE GROCER: "New Brunswick has the best grazing land in Canada, and the best water, and should be more to the front as a cheese producer. The following goes to prove the statement: One farmer with fourteen cows received $282 for milk sold to cheese factories, $32 for butter sold, $24 for calves, and $40 for butter used in house; total $378 for five months."

Bryant's root beer, which was so largely sold here last season, is again to the front, and already orders have been placed. The ten-cent package continues to have increased demand.

Steamer Taymouth, which arrived this week from the West Indies, brought rather more molasses than was expected. Quantity was not, however, large, consisting of 100 pun. St. Kitts, 80 bbls. Antigua, 40 tierces Antigua, 115 casks Barbadoes.

Huestis & White, Sussex, King's County, who lost quite heavily by fire a few months ago, were this week entirely burnt out, together with the stores of Geo. Suffren, jeweler; John Thompson, tailor; Chas. Fairweather, druggist, and a number of offices. All losses were fairly well covered by insurance.

A MAN FROM WINNIPEG.

Mr. Joseph Carman, of the Winnipeg Produce Co., Winnipeg, was in Toronto last week. He came primarily with the object of attending the convention of the Select Knights of Canada, and secondarily with the object of securing agencies for his firm. He succeeded in both his objects. He said that although business had been quiet in Manitoba, the oulook was reassuring. The farmers in Manitoba had, he said, paid off to the loan companies and other mortgagees and implement manufacturers larger sums than in any previous year.

A. H. Bell, of St. John, N. B., has completed arrangements for the establisment of a cigar factory at Calais, Me. Under Maine laws a Canadian intending to do manufacturing in the State is required to provide double bonds before the necessary authority is given to enable him to do business. The documents for these special privileges were brought from Guilford, Me., by J. S. Williams, Deputy Internal Revenue Collector. The establishment is to be known as the Bell Cigar Factory and will give employment to between twenty-five and thirty hands.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

LAST week business was looking up and it was expected spring trade had set in. Trade this week is dull, and we are forced to the conclusion that we were a few weeks ahead of the season.

The local sugar market is unchanged. Granulated is quoted at the refinery at 4¾c., and yellows at from 3¾ to 4⅛c. The refinery's London cable reports the beet market very strong.

The indications are for an easier market in flour, but no sudden or marked decline is anticipated. It is the opinion prices will gradually become easier.

Cornmeal and oatmeal are easier in price, with very little doing.

Millfeeds and oats are also dull and easier.

The local market for hay is dull.

The molasses market remains unchanged.

There is some excitement in eggs. The market is bare, and has been for some days, and in order to meet demand one dealer had to import several cases from Boston—a most unusual course. Good stocks are selling at 20c. to jobbers. It is expected stocks will soon come in lively, and prices will be down again.

Butter is active. A good article is scarce. Creamery is worth 22c. and good dairy 19c.

Cheese is dull, with only a fair demand. September is worth 10c. and early 9c.

The green fruit market is without change. The market is well supplied.

Dried fruits and nuts are quiet.

The enquiry for canned goods is more pronounced, although the volume of trade is not heavy.

The fish market remains unchanged. Some heavy shipments have been made this week to the West Indies and United States markets.

Provisions are dull and unchanged.

Benjamin Rattenbury, a well known pork-packer, of Charlottetown, died at Washington recently, where he had gone to have an operation performed. He built up a large trade in the Provinces.

George F. Boutilier has taken over the feed business of B. J. Hubley & Sons, Bedford Row.

Henry Shaw, who is associated with Mr. Roop in conducting a grocery business at Middleton, has purchased the stock and good-will of Mrs. E. Frazer, Kentville.

The Maritime Hay and Chopping Co., Ltd.—to carry on the business of purchasing, chopping, selling and exporting hay and chaff—headquarters at Amherst, capital $3,200—is seeking incorporation under the Nova Scotia Joint Companies Act. The stockholders are in Amherst and Halifax.

A delegation is now in Ottawa from the Halifax City Council and Board of Trade to impress upon the Government the necessity of doing something for Halifax in the matter of a winter port.

A letter from a reliable correspondent at St. John's, Newfoundland, says:

over the winter fairly well and without poor relief. We have had no outside aid this winter from any quarter whatsoever. The conclusion fairly to be deducted is that much of what we have had in the past—I mean eleemosynary relief—has been unwanted."

TO PATRONIZE CANADIAN PORTS.

AN important delegation from Halifax, consisting of the Mayor, four members of the City Council, and the president and four members of the Board of Trade, were in Montreal Monday for the purpose of interviewing the officials of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways regarding the commercial interests of the Garrison City. Among those who attended the first informal meeting of the delegates at the Windsor Hotel were : D. McPherson, Mayor of Halfax ; G. J. Troop, vice-president of the Maritime Board of Trade ; W. A. Black, M.L.A, James Morrow, president of the Halifax Board of Trade; H. L. Chipman, and Ald. Musgrave, Gildert, Hamilton and Stewart.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mayor McPherson spoke as follows : "We are here to see what can be done for Halifax, believing as we do in the principle of Canada for the Canadians. At the present time from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 worth of winter imports are coming into Canada by way of Boston and Portland through the agency of American firms, which, we believe, should come through Halifax. Of course the condition of the city with regard to railway connections is against it, and that is a matter which we shall take up with Sir William Van Horne this afternoon and with Mr. Hays to-morrow. We expect to go on to Ottawa on Wednesday or Thursday and see the representatives of the Government, and I can assure you that we are not going to whine to them for favors, but to simply set forth our just claims."

Mr. W. A. Black, M.L.A., spoke very strongly indeed : "We hear a great deal about the National Policy," he said. "Now we want to feel its application. Our mission is not a political one, but we feel that Halifax has been ignored. We in Nova Scotia gave our share to the building of the C.P.R., and now what is our position? The Intercolonial, which was completed as one of the inducements for us to enter Confederation, is, after all, of but little use. As for the Grand Trunk, we do not yet know what the new management will do, but in the past, the object of the company has evidently been to keep the trade for Portland, whence they might have the entire haulage. We want to have the winter port just as much as Montreal wants the summer port trade, and we intend to express our wishes in plain language, which will be understood. It was distinctly understood when we came into Confederation that Halifax was to be the winter port, and yet nothing has been done by the Government of the Dominion to assist us in preserving this business, and as things are getting steadily worse down east, we think the time has now come when we should take some concerted action."

The members of the deputation afterwards visited the Board of Trade.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. J. L. Watt, of J. L. Watt & Scott, sails on Saturday on the Majestic for Europe. He is accompanied by his family, and will be away two or three months.

Mr. T. O. Leonard, of Detroit, representing Kingsford's Oswego Starch Co., was in Toronto on Thursday looking up business.

THE WHITELAW TRADING CO.

A. Whitelaw, of Winnipeg, writes : "I noticed you mentioned in your paper of Feb. 28 an extract from our local newspaper regarding the Whitelaw Trading Co. retiring from the retail trade to engage in the wholesale. Would say that we are now acting as agents for the wholesale grocery firm of G. F. & J. Galt, of Winnipeg ; also in green fruits for the Macpherson Fruit Co., of Winnipeg, and will in connection with these lines handle all farm produce on commission. The style of the firm will remain as the Whitelaw Trading Co. We consider your paper one of the best for information in the grocery line, and would not like to be without it."

WINDOW DRESSING.

No merchant can know too much about window dressing. Harry Harman, of Chicago, the well-known expert, has issued a book entitled "Window Dressing for Grocers." It contains 80 pages and is profusely illustrated. Every grocer and general merchant should have one. Its price is $1. Mr. Harman's address is 125 Clark street, Chicago.

THE MATTER OF BONUSES.

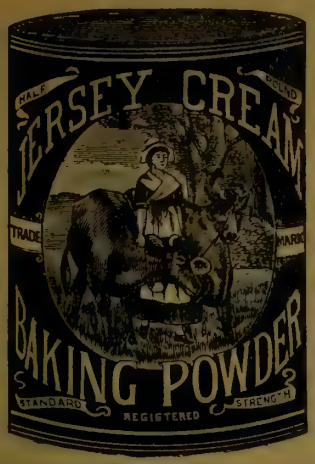
Aside from the consideration of the matter which it discusses, there is a breeziness about the style of The Inland Sentinel, of Kamloops, a wildly, western wooliness, so to speak, which is refreshing to the dweller in this effete east. "Luckery" is the novel but expressive caption that it gives to an article in condemnation of a scheme to bonus a cannery.

"A stranger comes along," remarks the watchful Sentinel, "he says he is a first-rate cannery man; he would like to build a cannery here, and if the people would give him five thousand dollars, or even if they will only guarantee 10 per cent. interest on $15,000 for five years, he'll be jiggered if he won't take a crack at it." The Sentinel continues:

This enterprising gentleman does not burden the public mind with intricate details regarding canneries and their operation, or as to what a cannery would be doing round here at all; whether it would be humming every day the whole year round with a horde of nimble-fingered Asiatics making boiled peas and things, or whether one calm and sad-faced aborigine, for one week or two weeks or three weeks in each year, would continue to hold down the cannery interests of Kamloops, and transversely hold up the gullible taxpayers thereof. No, nothing like that. The main thing is the bonus. That central figure stands out bold and clear cut before the public eye, unencumbered with any obstructing accumulations of cunning metaphor or allegory. There is a swoopingness about it which is brilliant and cheerful.

But it is not so much in this clear and incisive phraseology that Montrealers will be interested, it is rather in the knowledge that there are other places, beside Montreal, which may be tempted at times to buy a pig in a poke.—Herald, Montreal.

NOT INDISPENSABLE.



Mr. L., a good-natured German, was the prosperous proprietor of a considerable shoe business in a country town, according to an exchange. He had in his employ one John S., whom he had advanced from cash boy to head clerk, and who had for many years been an attache of the store. Since his promotion John had several times asked for a raise in his salary, and each time his request had been granted. One morning John again appeared at the old merchant's desk, with another request for an increase of $10 per month. "Vy, Shon," said Mr. L., "I tink I pays you pooty vell alredty; vat for I pays you any more?" "Well," replied John confidentially, "I am your principal help here. I have worked you up a large trade, I know every detail of the business, and, indeed, I think you could not get along without me." "Is that so?" exclaimed the German. "Mein Gott! Shon, vot vood I do suppose you vos to die?" "Well," hesitated John, "I suppose you would have to get along without me, then." The "old man" took several whiffs from his big pipe and said nothing. At last, he gravely remarked: "Vell, Shon, I gess you better gonsider yourself dead."

CANNED GOODS MEN AND CANNED GOODS.

THE annual meeting of the Canadian Packers' Association was held at the Walker House, Toronto, Thursday, March 12th, 1896.

The meeting was called to order at 2.30 p.m. by President Boulter, who made no formal address, but stated in his remarks that he considered it advisable to continue the organization, for statistical and social purposes and also for purposes of influencing legislation. He thanked the association for the continued honors it had conferred on him, and expressed a wish that the association would now relieve him from the duties of president, and elect to the office a younger man.

Mr. Coryell, of Oshawa, being present, was invited to make a few remarks with reference to the operation of a new corn husker, in which he had interested himself, which he did, stating that he had made arrangements to manufacture the same in Canada, and expected to allow the packers to operate them on a royalty.

The members present were as follows: W. Boulter, of W. Boulter & Sons, Picton; W. P. Inness, of the Simcoe Canning Co., Simcoe; T. M. Dunn, of the Strathroy Preserving Co., Strathroy; W. A. Ferguson, of the Delhi Canning Co., Delhi; H. I. Matthews, Lakeport Preserving Co., Lakeport; D. Marshall, of the Aylmer Canning Co.; W. A. Carson, of the Belleville Canning Co.; Fred. Miller, of Miller & Co., Trenton; Mr. Coryell, of Oshawa; W. C. Breckenridge, Morton Mfg. Co., Hamilton.

A resolution to continue the organization of the Canadian Packers' Association, for statistical and other purposes, was strongly endorsed by all the members present, and carried unanimously.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, W. A. Ferguson; vice-president, H. I. Matthews; sec.-treas., W. C. Breckenridge; Executive Committee—Messrs. Boulter, Marshall and Carson; Auditing Commitee—Messrs. Inness and F. Miller.

A general discussion of freight rates was entered into, and a deputation appointed to wait on the Traffic Association in April for the purpose of having the tariff in connection with canned goods revised. The Executive Committee were authorized to act for the whole association and secure the best rates possible.

A resolution was passed instructing members to make monthly reports of their pack, sales, and goods on hand to the secretary, and also to report from time to time the condition and prospect of crops.

The meeting was continued the following morning. Before proceeding to the business of the association the following resolution was introduced and carried unanimously. Moved by Mr. Inness, seconded by Mr. Matthews, and resolved:

That it is the sense of this meeting, that in parting with Mr. Boulter, as president of this association, we do so with, profound regret." We realise that Mr. Boulter has been a faithful and efficient presiding officer, and has spent more time and money in connection with the duties of president than many, and perhaps any, of the other members of the association.

Resolved, that as a token of our respect and esteem for Mr. Boulter, as a man and a friend, and our appreciation of his long and faithful services as president of this association, we now ask him to accept from this association a gold watch, with the hope, that as time wears on, and he looks on its face from day to day, it may be a gentle reminder of the faces of his friends whom he has met so many times and whom he has served so faithfully and long. While there have been differences between him and members of the association at times, Mr. Boulter has always been ready to forget and forgive, and the meetings of the association have always closed harmoniously. The fact that Mr. Boulter has been for ten years consecutively the unanimous choice of this association for its presiding officer, is better evidence that his services have been satisfactory and appreciated than any words that can be put into this resolution.

Resolved, that we each and all unite in wishing Mr. Boulter long life and prosperity, and hope that in the future, as in the past, he may continue to be with us, assisting us by his wise counsel and friendly advice.

Mr. Boulter responded to the above resolution in an appropriate and feeling manner, thanking the association for the gift and the kindly sentiment expressed in the resolution.

The following resolution was proposed by Mr. Boulter, seconded by Mr. Matthews, and carried unanimously:

That the Canadian Packers' Association, at this, their annual meeting, take the opportunity of expressing their sympathy with Mr. Fenton, of Ont. Pure Food Co., in his prolonged illness, which prevents his presence with us at our meetings, and his inability of attending to his regular business; and would hope that he will soon recover his usual good health, and that the secretary be instructed to communicate this resolution to Mr. Fenton.

It was moved by Mr. Carson, seconded by Mr. F. Miller, and carried unanimously:

That this association tender a vote of thanks to the Western Canned Goods Association for the courtesy and cordiality extended to the visitors from Canada to their meeting in February. They are pleased to know that the president of the Western Association, Mr. Seager, is anticipating a visit to Canada during the coming summer, and the members hope that they may be permitted to reciprocate the hospitality that has been extended to them on so many occasions.

A report of the pack was then entered into and furnished by each member present. Figuring up the quantity of goods on hand, they find that there is less quantity, by considerable, in nearly all lines in hands of packers than there was a year ago, or even in April. The canners all feel confident that the goods will be called for before the season closes.

The meeting adjourned, to meet in June, at the call of the president.

A HANDY FOLDER.

The Laing Packing and Provision Co. have just received from the press a handsome folder giving the full range of prices on the canned meats and provisions packed by the company. The face of the folder depicts a dainty cook-maid holding up to the admiration of the world a tin of the Laing corned beef, and the back is a lithograph cut of the same tin. The interior pages of the folder are of value as they give the full range of the provision market. Buyers of provisions and canned meats can have one sent them by writing the Laing Packing and Provision Co., 839-841 St. Catherine street, Montreal, and mentioning THE CANADIAN GROCER.

TRADE CHAT.

IT is estimated that 1,250,000 bushels of corn were raised in Essex County last year, at present prices worth $350,000.

Lobsters are sold at a good price in the Boston market, $21 per crate being the latest quotation. As there are hundreds of fishermen along the shores making ready to catch lobsters it is expected that before long the market will be well snpplied and prices will go down.—Yarmouth Light.

Secretary John E. Searles, of the Sugar Trust, said a few days ago: "Unless the Cuban war ends at once the sugar crop from the island will be practically nothing. It is now very ripe, and must have attention at once or not at all. While the insurgents agreed to protect the milling of 200,000 tons of sugar by their friends, the Spaniards, in turn, will prevent the milling of the crop of the friends of the insurgents. The American Sugar Refining Co. will, therefore, be obliged to seek its sugar elsewhere. It will obtain most of it in the form of beet sugar from Germany."

HINTS TO BUYERS.

CLEMES BROS. are this week in receipt of one car of California seedling oranges, and two carloads of Messina oranges; also a carload of bananas.

Davidson & Hay are showing some good values in Japan teas.

Warren Bros. & Boomer are in receipt of a shipment of "Sphinx" prunes.

New maple syrup has been a feature of the Eby, Blain Co.'s trade this week.

A large consignment of currants arrived this week for Davidson & Hay.

The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. report some large sales of Pure Gold tomato cutsup.

Davidson & Hay offer Douglas & Stuart's rolled oats, put up in 2-lb. packages.

John Sloan & Co. have in stock another shipment of California evaporated fruits of all kinds.

Davidson & Hay have in stock "Royal" table jellies, pints, to retail at 10c. per package.

Canned mackerel is scarce at present. H. P. Eckardt & Co. have a small quantity, quality extra good.

Warren Bros. & Boomer have a shipment of fine sugar syrup near at hand. It is as bright as corn syrup.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co. report that although they are getting in a good deal of butter, their receipts are not sufficient to supply the increased trade which they are experiencing.

Dawson & Co. are in receipt of a carload of California Washington navel oranges; also a carload of bananas.

Special lines in jams are being offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol for shipment direct from factory.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering trout, white fish and F.W. herrings at reduced prices to clear out.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have sent out during the past two or three weeks over 200 packages of their standard blended teas.

Pure Gold sweet tomato catsup has been introduced into the United States market, in spite of the protective tariff.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., have received a shipment of fine New Orleans molasses in barrels and half barrels.

W. H. Gillard & Co.'s genuine Seville orange marmalade is having a large sale, hundreds of pails being sent out daily.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have an assortment of Nelles' jams in 1-lb. glass which they offer at $1.50 per doz.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering special values in jams in 7-lb. pails, and will be pleased to quote prices on application.

"Yes," report Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "our Indian and Ceylon tea sales are increasing. In spite of the dull trade last week, our sales were away ahead of last year."

Gunn, Flavelle & Co. announce that they have about caught up with local orders for butter, but that they have still a large trade for a limited supply.

The Seville orange marmalade put up under the Eby, Blain Co.'s own labels, made after an old English recipe, is in good demand at the moment.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol are always pleased to furnish tea samples on application. Their last week's "ad." brought many enquiries, they report.

Rev. W. P. Herron, of Milford, Indiana, writes P. C. Larkin & Co. as follows: "While in Toronto last September I got a quantity of 'Salada' Ceylon tea from you. We liked it very much, and would like to get some more. Now we cannot get it here, and I do not know where we can get it. Several who have tasted it here would like to get some also. Now there is no duty on tea coming over here from Canada, and I write you to know if I cannot make some arrangement with you to have me some shipped."

NUTRITIVE VALUE OF CANNED MEATS AND FISH.

IN Farmers' Bulletin No. 34, by Charles D. Woods, of the Storr's (Conn.) Experiment Station, is a very elaborate table showing the chemical composition and fuel (food) value per pound of meats and fish. We take the edible portion of ribs of beef, veal cutlets, hindquarter of lamb, hind leg of mutton, loin of pork, bologna sausage, chicken, turkey, mackerel, striped bass, salmon, and compare them with canned meats, soups, poultry, fish, as follows :

Kind.	Water free Substance. Per ct.	Fat Per ct.	Fuel value per lb. Calories or units of energy.
Beef, ribs	44.4	26.8	1.445
Veal cutlets	31.7	9.9	805
Lamb, hind leg	36.1	16.5	1.040
Mutton, "	37.2	18.0	1.100
Pork, loin	48.0	30.3	1.590
Bologna sausage	40.5	18.2	1.115
Chicken	25.8	1.8	500
Turkey	44.5	22.9	1.350
Bass, striped	22.3	2.8	460
Mackerel	26.6	7.1	640
Salmon, Columbia	36.4	17.9	1.080
Beef, corned rump	41.9	23.3	1.270
Beef, canned	46.9	14.0	1.120
Tongue, canned, whole	78.7	23.2	1.380
Tongue, " ground	50.1	25.1	1.450
Ham, " deviled	54.7	32.9	1.740
Soups, canned :
Bouillon	3.5	0.1	45
Chicken	6.2	0.1	100
Consomme	4.0	....	55
Mock Turtle	10.2	0.9	185
Ox Tail	11.2	1.3	210
Tomato	10.0	1.1	185
Chicken, canned	53.1	30.0	1.645
Turkey, canned	52.6	29.2	1.400
Salmon, canned	35.5	11.6	890
Sardines, canned	43.6	12.7	1.010
Lobster, fresh	20.8	1.8	390
Lobster, canned	22.2	1.1	395

From the above it is found that canned corn beef is of greater food value than fresh lamb, veal or mutton, but not equivalent to the better cuts of fresh beef, while superior to the round, shank, shoulder, or chuck with shoulder.

Canned salmon is of greater food value than any sort of fish, except fresh salmon, and is not much behind the edible portion of that, and if compared with fresh salmon as purchased, quite as valuable, the calories of the latter being 925 against 890 for the canned salmon.

Canned chicken or turkey is nearly equal to the best cuts of fresh beef; decidedly better than fresh veal; on a par, in fact ahead, of lamb, and as good as mutton.

Deviled ham has high nutritive value and is better than fresh pork.

Sardines must rank high as a nutritive article of diet. Canned lobster is on a par with fresh.

Soups show from 88.8 to 96 5 per cent. of water and cannot be regarded as of high nutritive value. They make a good prelude to more substantial food; the lighter or thin sorts are not comparable in nutritive value with oysters or clams. Professor Woods defines the fuel value of food as follows :

Heat and muscular power are forms of force or energy. The energy is developed as the food is consumed in the body. The unit commonly used in this measurement is the calorie, the amount of heat which would raise the temperature of a pound of water 4 degrees F.

The following general estimate has been made for the average amount of potential energy in 1 pound of each of the classes of nutrients :

	Calories.
In 1 pound of protein	1,850
In 1 pound of fats	4,220
In 1 pound of carbohydrates	1,860

In other words, when we compare the nutrients in respect to their fuel values, their capacities for yielding heat and mechanical power, a pound of protein of lean meat or albumen of egg is just about equivalent to a pound of sugar or starch, and a little over 2 pounds of either would be required to equal a pound of the fat of meat or butter or the body fat.—American Grocer.

CLEANED CURRANTS EXCLUDING UNCLEANED.

A WELL-KNOWN merchant broker expresses the opinion that the time is soon coming when uncleaned currants will not be marketed, the trade being confined to the cleaned variety entirely. A look around the trade seems to confirm this idea entirely. The trade appears to be tending more and more to the cleaned currants, apparently to the coming exclusion of the ordinary fruit.

There are various methods of cleaning currants. Some cleaners use a sieve, and clean with revolving brushes and water. Others use steam and brushes, and still others merely brush with the dry brush. It is surprising how much dirt a pound of currants can accumulate in the process of drying. Some of these processes absolutely remove the dirt, but some of them only take off a layer.

Up to about four years ago, the only currants known were the uncleaned. The process of cleaning came into immediate favor, and has been growing ever since. It is estimated that the first year the clean fruit was marketed, it probably amounted to 15 to 20 per cent. of the total trade. Every year since then has witnessed an increase, until in 1895, fully 75 per cent. of the business was done in cleaned currants. From this tendency, uncleaned currants will be withdrawn from the market before a great while. The demand for them is growing less and less.

There is a difference of ⅞c. per pound between the price of cleaned and uncleaned currants. This seems at first glance exorbitant, but considering the amount of shrinkage involved in cleaning, which is included in the difference in price, it is entirely reasonable. Currants which will weigh 100 pounds uncleaned will probably not weigh more than 90 pounds after passing through the cleaner. This reduces the actual allowance for cleaning to a small figure.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

THAT WINDOW AGAIN.

IT is a comparatively easy matter, says The Trade Magazine, for the city merchant to make his windows attractive. They are very large, of plate glass, and he not only has an immense stock from which to draw, but is possessed of such convenient accessories as gas and electricity. He is within easy reach of a thousand and one pretty little trifles for the setting of his display, and as he goes to business in the morning, can view a hundred windows and take notes. Usually, too, if he be not able to obtain the assistance of a "professional," he has among his employes men or women whose good taste is at his disposal. So situated, he would be obtuse, indeed, were he not able to adorn his windows in a way that compels more than a casual glance from the passers-by.

But things are different in the rural villages. The windows are small, and oftentimes of common glass. The stock is limited, also, and usually does not contain those little trifles that do so much to fill out and complete an artistic exhibition. Gas and electricity are beyond reach. Indeed, the facilities are so limited that the vast majority of the small rural merchants, if they ever think of a window display, only do so to dismiss the thought as altogether impracticable, and so miss one of the cheapest and most profitable advertisements within their reach.

It is impossible, of course, to give more than a few general hints, although we shall be glad to furnish advice to any who will write us the particulars relating to his store. We should say that the very first requisite for a window display is cleanliness. No matter how small the glass, or of what quality, see to it that it is scrupulously clean, and polished up to the highest degree of which it is susceptible. The sash must be clean also, and newly painted in a color that is most likely to harmonize with the surroundings.

By all means, change the display at least once or twice a week, and, in changing, be sure to have as much variety as possible. If you have a general store, your facilities in this particular are exceptionally good. The same display attracts a person only once. No matter how "taking" it may be, it is practically valueless as a drawing card after a few days.

Do not attempt to show too many goods at any one time, nor a large variety. Take one article—tobacco, soap, ribbons, or what not—an article upon which you are prepared to make an attractive price, and make it the leading feature. Whatever else is in the window must be made accessory to this.

Then call in your wife. Ten to one she knows more about such matters than you, and, besides, she is certainly more able to satisfy the taste of ladies. It is ladies who do the most of the buying, and it is ladies, too, who are most susceptible to the fascination of the store window. By all means, summon your wife, and your daughters, too, and when your business sense is combined with the womanly tact and taste, you are pretty sure to have made about as much out of that window as is possible under the circumstances.

As long as there are failures, subjects that furnish information how to prevent them will always be timely. We have published, in pamphlet form, three admirable papers on the above topic, in which Over-Stocking, Expense, Capital, Credit. Discounts, Buying, etc., etc., are ably discussed. We will mail the whole three essays to any address on receipt of 25 cents

NOVA SCOTIA FIBRED CODFISH

REPRESENTS the highest achievement in the art of curing and preparing Codfish ready for cooking.

NOTHING is used in this product but the finest of shore Codfish especially cured and dried for it.

THE disagreeable odor usually considered to be a necessary evil to be endured while cooking Codfish will be found to be entirely lacking in this.

EVERY particle of skin and bone being removed and the water evaporated, there is absolutely no waste. The contents of each package, therefore, is worth to the housekeeper about three times its weight in Codfish as ordinarily sold.

PUT UP in half-pound cartons, 3 doz. cartons to the case, and sold by the wholesale and retail grocers throughout Canada.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

TORONTO, Mar. 19, 1896.

This list is corrected every Thursday. The prices are solicited for publication, and are for such qualities and quantities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations in this department are under the direct control of the Editor, and are not paid for or doctored by any manufacturing or jobbing house unless given under their name, the right being reserved to exclude such firms as do not furnish reliable information.

Success with Canned Meats

It is not a matter of chance. The full and habitual satisfaction of your customer; furnishing goods of unvarying excellence; goods that are certain to please to-day, to-morrow, every day—that is the way to win success. Grocers the world over know that canned meats bearing the "Helmet" trade mark are certain to please. They can be depended on for uniformity day in and day out, and they are prized best by customers who use them most. There is a world of satisfaction in selling them, and a good profit for the grocer, of course.

If your jobber does not sell you the "Helmet" brand, write to

DEAR SIRS,—Seeing your cheese on sale to-day I purchased a small pot, and although I cannot help remembering the satisfaction it gave us, at the Hotel Manitoba (Chicago) during the World's Fair, I feel that not only have you kept up the standard, but you have made it a more perfect cheese, if possible, than that with which you served us at that time. I just wish to compliment you upon your success, unsolicited. I am, yours truly,

From time to time new brands of matches are boomed and advertised till the public discovers their worthlessness. Then they disappear and are heard of no more for awhile---till they make their appearance again under another name.

Various names are used as brands that signify Royalty.

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Few dimes is the result of bad times.

The evil of speculation is that it sometimes induces peculation.

Dear at any price is the clerk who sets no value upon the little things.

More property has been drowned in drink than was ever carried up in smoke.

Canada is not a hog, but she desires to push her bacon on the English market.

Unsatisfactory surprises in business are frequently the fruit of immature surmises.

We have no particular antipathy to winter, but it is to be hoped we have seen its dying kick.

Unnecessary expense in the store, like a moldering branch on a tree, retards development.

Window dressing in its essence is to make people buy something which they did not know they wanted.

It is good to have fresh goods in the store, but it is bad to have "fresh" clerks therein: they spoil custom.

An expert salesman is one who can gauge the taste of a customer without looking at his or her tongue.

When a merchant courts trade it is with a view to making it his own for "richer" and not for "poorer."

Fate, like Old Lucifer, is often erroneously blamed for failures, when inaptitude for business is the cause.

He who is "crooked" in business is steering a straight course for the penitentiary or perdition. Perhaps both.

Now that the Dominion Parliament has a ittle spare time on its hands it is to be hoped that it will utilize it in doing something for the business interests of the country.

A merchant should be as ready to advertise his goods as is the common barn-yard fowl to cackle over her products.

The pedlar may be an itinerant merchant, but he appears to be a permanent thorn in the side of the average merchant.

The Fiji Islanders are beginning to buy Canadian flour. What better evidence could we have of their advancing civilization?

Merchants who refuse to give clerks latitude for the excercise of their brains are sadly wanting in common sense themselves.

A sign should not be allowed to indicate decay more strongly than it does the character of the business and the name of the proprietor.

The current of trade as well as the current of rivers changes, and merchants who are not always on the alert may find their trade carried away from them.

If spring courts the disapprobation of the business world she had better linger a little longer in the lap of a winter that has already passed its allotted age.

If the same energy was displayed in collecting accounts as there is in selling goods business men would be fatter and dead beats thinner than they are to-day.

Raising money on a mortgage is one thing and raising money to raise a mortgage is another. A fool can do the one, but it takes a wise man to do the other.

The Oregon canned horse factory, which started up about a year ago, has been shut down for the want of business. Driven out of the strreet car business and his use being ignored for vehicular traffic generally, what, with the canning business shut against him, is going to become of the horse anyhow? This is an unsympathetic as well as a horseless age.

A sleepy town is often the result of possessing sleepy merchants.

Care should be taken that the advertisement does not cast reflection on the goods it is designed to sell.

A little leak in business is sometimes more dangerous than a large one: because of its smallness it is unobserved, and being unobserved it flaws uninterruptedly.

In these days of ample facilities the merchant has no more excuse for slovenly windows than has a tramp, in these days of cheap soap, an excuse for a dirty face.

In the rush and turmoil of to-day business men have got to advertise, if for no other purpose than advising the public that they are still doing business at the same old stand.

The country will one of these days become so sick of rule by professional politicians that it will suddenly arise some general election morn and spew them out of its mouth.

A young man cannot learn the art of selling goods by devoting his time to loafing any more than can a tree be trained to grow straight by being planted where the north wind will strike it.

Whether he be good-looking or bad-looking, a merchant should always be able to create a good impression by his bills and business letters. As the art of doing this can be acquired, it should be studied.

There is one good thing the bad parliamentarians at Ottawa are doing: they are compelling business men to turn from the professional politician to the practical business man as a fit and proper person to devise and make the laws of the country.

THE HOG AND ITS PRODUCTS.

IMPROVED quality can be reported in this Canadian export trade during the past year. Indeed the improvement has been such that the trade now recognises the superiority of the Canadian over the United States product, and the Canadian Wiltshire cut bacon has quite driven out of the London market the United States Wiltshire cut bacon, in which a large trade was formerly done. The Canadian Wiltshire cut bacon now enters into competition with the Irish and Danish Wiltshire bacon, but at a lower range of prices. If Canadian farmers would make their hogs less fat they would secure the premium which buyers are always willing to pay for lean bacon. Another point which is held to account in a measure for the lower price for Canadian bacon relates to the cure. The Englishman likes a mild-cured bacon, and the Irish and Danish bacons are often to his taste in this respect. Does the distance of the Canadian farmer from the place of killing to the place of consumption make it impossible to secure as light a curing for Canadian bacon? The improvements of the past should stimulate Canadian packers to renewed exertions. During the past twelve months there has been a marked change for the better in the cut, cure and quality of the meat. It should now be the aim of Canadian packers to maintain and even improve on this standard. Regularity in packing is one essential—lean meat being packed by itself and distinct from stout stuff. Packers may then expect the best returns, and the market here will gain confidence in them.—Canadian Gazette, London.

EGGS vs. EGGS.

Somehow it seems to be extremely difficult to get away from the idea that an egg is an egg and so long as the market will accept, there is no reason for such difference in value. Looking over the large supply in the hands of a well-known Boston firm, the question of grade came up, and we confess to not a little surprise as case after case was opened for inspection. One lot would be uniform in size and color, clean and attractive, while the next, although marked by the shipper "first quality," would be of all sizes, colors, and in every stage of decay. One case of ducks' eggs was marked 36c., while alongside was another marked 12c., the difference being in size, want of cleanliness and uncertainty about age.

It is just this easy-going, happy-go-lucky way which ruins so many poultry men. Eggs sell on quality, and this means not only cleanliness, uniform size and color, but unmistakable evidence of freshness. Why a man should allow an egg in the case which in either respect mars, is a mystery, because that one egg will be taken as evidence of the possible condition of the whole, and away goes the price. Commission dealers do not repack for their customers, and the case of eggs is rated by the poorer, not the better samples. To get the top price, every egg must be what it purports to be, and a single soiled or inferior one will knock the price of the whole. This question of grading has often been urged, and each year it becomes more and more necessary. Maine produces enough eggs to have a recognized place in the market, but loses that, and the profit possible by reason of it, solely through lack of systematic grading of the stock sent to market. In other countries eggs are graded according to weight. In France and Italy the firsts are seven to the pound, seconds, eight, and thirds, nine. Danish eggs are divided into six grades, 12 to 17 lbs. per long hundred (120). To some such system must the business be brought here, in order that out of greater care in grading more may be secured.—Maine Farmer.

NO SELLING TO RETAILERS THIS SEASON.

It has not yet been officially announced, but it is generally understood, that the manufacturers of prints in Canada will not sell to retailers this fall. It will be remembered that while the proposition to sell at fixed prices was generally approved of, there was a decided objection to a number of retailers being permitted to buy, subject to the same discounts as wholesale houses. This fall there will be no retailers on the list. In some cities there are firms which do a wholesale and retail business. For the protection of the other retail houses in the town who have to compete with them, the mills should make such an arrangement that these houses shall not take advantage of their extra discounts by cutting the retail prices. The experiment has been a success The wholesale houses have made a better profit on prints and they have sold more of them. The mills say the output has been 20 per cent. ahead of last year, and they are running on full time.

It is among the probabilities that the same system of fixing prices will be applied to cottons and several other lines in the near future. —Canadian Dry Goods Review.

N.Z.'S MEAT EXPORTS.

The following is a statement of the quantity of frozen meat exported from New Zealand, twelve ports of which colony are engaged in the trade, Lyttelton enjoying the largest share. The exports for the last two years may be thus summarized :

	Mutton.	Lamb.	Beef.
	Lbs.	Lbs.	Lbs.
1895	99,838,929	26,619,737	1,680,856
1894	98,716,617	17,819,885	192,602

The trade is the growth of the last dozen years, and the export for 1896 was more than double that for 1888, as will be seen from the following statement of exports of frozen meat in each year since 1882 :

	Lbs.		Lbs.
1882	1,707,328	1889.....	73,564,064
1883.....	9,853,200	1890.....	100,934,756
1884.....	28,445,228	1891.....	110,199,082
1885.....	33,204,976	1892	97,636,557
1886.....	38,758,160	1893	100,262,453
1887.....	45,035,984	1894.....	116,729,104
1888.....	61,857,376	1895	128,039,522

24TH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CONFEDERATION LIFE ASSOCIATION

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

AN INCREASED VOLUME OF NEW BUSINESS WRITTEN—A VERY FAVORABLE DEATH RATE—A REDUCED EXPENSE RATE—INCREASES IN ASSETS, INCOME AND SURPLUS.

THE annual meeting of the Confederation Life Association was held at the Head Office of the Company, Yonge, Richmond and Victoria streets, Toronto, on Tuesday, the 17th inst., at the hour of 3 p.m. There was a good attendance of policyholders, shareholders and members of the agency staff.

On motion, the Hon. Sir W. P. Howland, C.B., K.C.M.G., was called to the chair, and Mr. J. K. Macdonald, Managing Director, appointed secretary of the meeting.

The Report and Financial Statements relating to the business of the company for the year 1895 were submitted as follows :

REPORT.

During the past year the Directors have had under consideration 2,540 applications for insurance to the amount of $3,736,150. This includes five applications for $8,000, which were deferred at the close of 1894, 2,389 for $3,474,150 were approved, while 134 for $230,000 were declined, not being up to the standard ; and 17 for $32,000 were incomplete at the close of the register and were deferred. Adding to the above issue the revived policies of previous years, which had been written off, and the bonus additions, the total issue for 1895 was 2,421 policies for $3,544,920. The total business on the books at the close of the year was $26 611,718, under 17,590 policies on 15,413 lives. From this it will be seen that, though the year was quite unfavorable for the life insurance business and many companies fell behind in the volume of new business as compared with the previous year, and while the total insurance written by all the companies for the year is a good deal less, we have been able to maintain an equal volume with a lesser expenditure by several thousand dollars than in 1894.

The claims by death were 107, calling for $171,847 under 121 policies. In view of the amount at risk, it will be observed that the death-rate was very favorable, a fact which bears continued strong testimony to the care exercised in the admission of only good, healthy lives.

The Financial Statements which form part of the report will be found to furnish full information regarding the position of the Association.

The past year, on account of the continued and intensified commercial depression, called for more than usual care in conducting a business such as ours, combining insurance and investment ; it cannot, therefore, fail to be a source of gratification to our policyholders and shareholders to observe the very substantial advances made in all those features which indicate real progress and careful management. Some of these are :

1st—Maintaining an equal volume of new business and carrying on the old with a total expenditure over four thousand dollars less than in 1894.

2nd—Increased income.

3rd—Increased assets.

4th—Increased surplus, notwithstanding the payment to policyholders during the year of over $87,000 in profits.

These facts will prove the wisdom of the policy pursued by your Directors and Management to secure a fair volume of business at a fair cost. The business has been sought for on strictly business principles, and means unfortunately too frequently used to procure applications, such as rebates, are strictly prohibited.

The report of the Auditors, who have continued to give regular and careful attention to their duties, will be found appended to the report.

It is a source of deep regret that we have to announce the death, since the completion of the audit for the past year, of Mr. William

AUDITORS' REPORT.

We beg to report that we have completed the audit of the books of the Association for the year ending December 31st, 1895, and have examined the vouchers connected therewith, and certify that the financial statements agree with the books and are correct.

The securities represented in the assets (with the exception of those lodged with the Dominion Government, amounting to $84,500, and those deposited with the Government of Newfoundland, amounting to $25,000) have been examined and compared with the books of the Association and are correct and correspond with the schedules and ledgers.

The bank balances and cash are certified as correct.

WM. E. WATSON, F.C.A.,

Toronto, February 27th, 1896.

The retiring Board of Directors were all re-elected, and a meeting of the new Board was held immediately after the annual meeting adjourned. Sir W. P. Howland, C.B., K.C.M.G., was re-elected President, and Messrs. Edward Hooper and W. H. Beatty, Vice-Presidents.

CANADIAN VS. ENGLISH SALT.

Ten years ago Mr. C. R. Cooper established the Toronto Salt Works, with the intention of bringing the value of Canadian salt, for meat curing purposes, more forcibly before the packers of Toronto and vicinity, and to exclude the English salt almost entirely used at that time. Then the amount of Canadian salt used in Totonto packing houses was about 1,000 sacks per season, while of the imported salt about 20,000 sacks were used. The persistency and success with which Mr. Cooper upheld his faith in the Canadian salt is shown by the fact that, during the season of 1895-6, the entire supply of packers' salt in Toronto has been supplied by the Toronto Salt Works, and has given such satisfaction that, within the past week, they have closed contracts with two Toronto firms for their next season's supply, of about 15,000 sacks of salt. The Toronto Salt Works evidently believes in "Canada for Canadians."

The Boston Board of Police Commissioners has decided to raise the price of liquor licenses for the coming year. The increase comes on the innholders of class A, who will be taxed $2,000, instead of $1,900; on the retail dealers of the first class (those who sell over the bar), who will be taxed $1,900 instead of $1,000, and on the grocers, whose licenses will be assessed at $600 instead of $300.

THE DRIED APPLE SITUATION.

MARKETS often go by the rule of contrary: If everybody looks for them to go in this direction they frequently go in that. This has been about the case with the market for dried apples.

Last summer and fall, when people were counting on a greatly diminished crop of apples in Canada, there was a great conserving of apples for drying purposes, it being anticipated that good prices would rule for both dried and green apples. In pursuance of this belief, holders of dried apples got big in their ideas as to price; and many sales that might have been made for export were precluded on account thereof. Five and a half cents per pound f.o.b. point of shipment was commonly asked, and in many instances it was paid by wholesalers.

But the crop of apples in Canada was not nearly so small as expected, while other influences contributed to destroy the hopes of those who were looking for big prices for dried apples.

In the first place, the export demand did not materialize as well as formerly. More than one cause contributed to that. Europe for instance, had a large crop of apples. But probably the greatest factor was the enormous yield of apples in the United States.

Dried apples, the product of the United States, are, as a rule, inferior in quality to the Canadian article, and consequently, the price obtaining for them on the European market lower.

What has hitherto been the rule is this year the exception: The quality of the United States product has been generally better than the Canadian. The reason for this change is that the apples produced in the latter country last year were better in quality as well as larger in quantity than in previous years, and this fact was reflected in the dried article.

The reason why the average quality of dried apples in Canada was not up to the standard of other years is this: Under normal conditions, the greater and the better proportion of the stock comes from Western Ontario. One exporter in Toronto informs THE CANADIAN GROCER that where formerly he obtained 90 per cent. of his fruit in Western Ontario, he this season received only about 10 per cent. therefrom, the 90 per cent. being secured from Eastern Ontario. This explains the depreciation in the average quality: The quality of that produced from the west was about as good as usual. And, although the fruit obtained from the east was sweet and even in color superior to the average United States product, it lacked uniformity in size, an evil indeed in the sight of the consumer in Europe. The preponderance of small cuts in the samples obtained from the east is most marked. And exporters ascribe to this the chief cause of the diminished export trade. The quality is all right for local consumption, but there is other trade to cater for besides that. The export trade in dried apples has grown wonderfully during the last few years, as this table shows:

1891	800,650	$ 49,029
1892	256,729	14,392
1893	3,476,837	199,699
1894	1,429,846	98,924
1895	4,176,950	250,320

This represents an increase of over 400 per cent. for the five years. The chief consumers of our dried apples are Germany, the United States and Great Britain, these countries last year taking 2,120,267 pounds, 1,063,962 pounds and 568,347 pounds respectively. In 1891 Great Britain took but 67,168 pounds, Germany 47,716 pounds and the United States 611,475 pounds.

It has been asserted by some that one of the causes of the present lack of demand for dried apples is the competition of California dried and evaporated fruit. The assertion no doubt applies to domestic evaporated apples, but scarcely to the dried article.

The great bulk of the home demand for dried apples is on lumber trade account. And the reason is that this fruit acts as a corrective upon the pork that is the staple article of every lumber camp. Now in the first place the California fruits do not contain acid properties to the extent that do apples. Consequently they are not as desirable as a corrective, while the cheapest of them is about 50 per cent. dearer than dried apples, which, in itself, would effectually preclude the possibility of taking the place of the latter in the lumber camps in Canada.

A NEW TEA FIRM.

G. F. & J. Galt have opened a new tea warehouse at No. 42 Scott street, Toronto, one door south of the late Samson, Kennedy & Co.'s premises. The Messrs. Galt will carry a full line of Indian and Ceylon teas, and intend to pack tea for the trade. The warerooms are spacious and well-lighted.

THAT SYRUP TARIFF.

IN spite of the high duty on syrups, several lots of American syrup have been arriving on the Toronto market during the last few weeks.

The greater part of them appear to have been syrups that cost about 15c. per gallon in New York. As the duty on syrups is 10½c. per gallon, the amount the importers had to pay into the Customs was about 67 per cent. Besides this there is the freight, which is 3c. per gallon more, making in all an increase of over 86 per cent. on the first cost. Yet in spite of this fact the cost was slightly lower than would have been the case had the same quality of syrup been bought in Canada.

But the rate of duty is all the more grievous because, notwithstanding the excessive protection they enjoy, the Canadian refineries cannot or will not make these lower grade of syrups, the consumptive demand for which in this country is large, especially for the lumber camps and the poorer class of citizens.

Being a staple article, the trade must of necessity supply the demand for it which usually develops about this time of the year. And as they could not get the syrup in Canada they had no other alternative but to go where they could get it.

The refineries have said that it is altogether a question as to price whether or no they could supply the dark syrups demanded. "Pay the price," is in effect what they say, "and we will make the dark syrups." Surely this is an untenable argument. What figure indeed would they stipulate in order that they could be induced to make the desired dark syrups?

The addition to the price of the New York article by the time it reaches Toronto is over 86 per cent. to the f.o.b. price, and yet the domestic refineries do not come upon the market. On some of the still lower grades, and grades suitable for this market, the duty is still higher. When prices were lower than they are now the duty sometimes nearly touched the 100 per cent mark.

If this means anything, it means that the price which would induce the Canadian refineries to make and supply dark syrups would be past all reason. The fact of the matter is, they do not intend to make dark syrups. And because of this fact the importers are compelled to pay an unreasonable rate of duty for something which is not produced in the country.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has yet to hear one word of objection against the duty as it bears upon bright syrups. In the first place, bright syrups are made in Canada, and in the second place, the duty on the bright syrups is not so heavy as on the dark, being specific. We may take it for granted, then, that the duty on bright syrups is satisfactory. But that is no extenuation for the duty on the dark article, which is so generally used in the lumber camp, on the farm, and by a large mass of people in other avocations.

The Government ought not to let the present session pass before devising some measure of relief.

THE DUTY ON WINE PACKAGES.

The 20 per cent. duty on wine packages again occupied the attention of the Montreal Chamber of Commerce on Friday last. A letter to Sir Charles Tupper from one of the largest wine importers was read, and it was shown by the records of the Council that the Honorable Minister of Commerce had been petitioned on the 6th November last to ask the Government to remove such duty, it being deemed very detrimental to the importers. It was resolved to again lay the matter before the Government, and to ask one of the members of the House of Commons to put a straight question in Parliament about the matter, if it should prove necessary; the Council thinking that this matter should have received the Government's attention long before this.

MEDITERRANEAN FRUIT.

The indications at present point to a large turnover of Mediterranean fruit, direct shipment, at Montreal this spring.

Advices received on Friday last, stated that 103,000 boxes of lemons alone had been contracted at Messina, and that 40,000 of these had been purchased in advance, laid down Montreal.

The three steamers in question, the Flambro, Fremona, and Bellona, have to call at several other ports in Italy and Spain for oranges, etc., so the presumption is for heavy sales of fruit this spring.

AN ARBITRATION PROPOSITION.

Secretary Hadrill, of the Montreal Board of Trade, has received a communication from the London, Eng., Chamber of Arbitration that will be interesting to importers and exporters generally throughout the Dominion.

Owing to the good understanding that exists between traders in Canada and those in Great Britain the necessity for arbitration does not often arise. Still it is a necessity at times, and the London Chamber wishes to be useful in this connection.

After citing some of the cases which it has adjudicated, it suggests that the Board, if it is satisfied that matters are all right, advise its members that in the case of all contracts a clause be inserted providing that business difficulties which may arise shall be dealt with by the London Chamber of Arbitration.

CANADA ACCORDS TARIFF FAVORS TO SPAIN.

AN Order-in-Council was passed by the Dominion Government on Tuesday admitting Spain to the advantages conceded to France under the French Treaty.

The treaty, which, it will be remembered, went into force in October last by proclamation of the Governor-General, provided that French goods entering Canada should enjoy the following advantages :

1. Non-sparkling wines gauging 15 deg. by the centesimal alcoholometer or less ; or, according to the Canadian system of testing, containing 26 per cent. or less of alcohol ; and all sparkling wines shall be exempted from the surtaxe or ad valorem duty of 30 per cent.

2. The present duty charged on common soaps, savons de Marseille (Castile soap), shall be reduced by one-half.

3. The present duty charged on nuts, almonds, prunes and plums shall be reduced by one-third.

It will be furthermore remembered that, at the solicitation of Great Britain, who had refused her assent to the bill until such had been done, the Dominion Parliament passed a bill extending to Great Britain and her colonies ; and all foreign countries having favored nation treaties with her the same advantages as accorded to France.

The countries at that time, outside of Great Britain and her several colonies and dependencies, which, with France, were entitled to share in the lower tariff were : Argentine, Austra-Hungary, Belgium, Bolivia, Chili, Columbia, Costa Rica, German Zollverein, Muscat, Russia, Salvador, Sweden and Norway, Uruguay. There were others whose right was not so clearly defined. Now Spain has been added to the list.

Spain is not in the position of some of the favored-treaty nations that already have the privilege of the lower Canadian tariff, but which cannot, or do not, do business with us in the particular articles specified in the French treaty : She already supplies us with goods in these particular lines.

Wines, testing less than 26 per cent., she last year sold us to the extent of 97,343 gallons, valued at $33,618. All the champagne we took was only valued at $56. Our imports of nuts from Spain were 271,434 pounds, valued at $24,305. We also took a few prunes—5,720 pounds, valued at $140. The total value of all goods taken from Spain, which will now have the advantage of the lower tariff, was $58,119.

With the provisions of the French treaty extended to Spain we may naturally look for an increase in the importation of such articles as are affected by it. Wines, for instance, not above the stipulated test, will come in on payment of 25c. per gallon, instead of 25c. per gallon and 30 per cent. The ad valorem of 30 per cent. is also removed from champagne and sparkling wines. Then prunes will pay ⅔c. per lb., instead of 1c. as formerly. Tarragona almonds and pecans will contribute 2c. per lb. to the Dominion Treasury instead of 3c., and shelled almonds 3⅓c. per lb. instead of 5c.

The total duty paid last year by Spanish goods which will now be entitled to the lower tariff was $9,313 28, of which $3,950 70 was in shelled almonds and $4,298.79 on unshelled almonds.

THE APPLE TRADE.

The apple market in England has ruled a little better during the past week, but there are not many going forward just now.

For the week ending Wednesday, 18th inst., the shipments from Canadian and United States ports were: Portland to Liverpool, 3,882 barrels ; New York to Liverpool, 203 barrels ; Halifax to Liverpool, 1,588 barrels ; Halifax to London, 8,055 barrels ; New York to London, 519 barrels ; New York to Glasgow, 552 barrels. On Thursday, the 19th, there were shipped from Portland to Liverpool 2,638 barrels, and from Boston to Liverpool 126 barrels.

The Toronto market has during the past week experienced a good demand for apples, and, as receipts have been almost nil on account of the snow blockade, there is a firmer feeling in regard to prices. A liberal supply is, however, anticipated in the course of a few days.

A ST. JOHN DELEGATION.

St. John, N. B., is not going to be behind Halifax in the matter of securing attention to her merits as a winter port. On Tuesday last Montreal was visited by a large delegation from the lumber city who came up to confer with the Executive of the two big railway companies and make representations to them.

Mayor Geo. Robinson headed the delegation, which was composed of Aldermen Wm. Christie, Thos. Mudge, J. M. McRobie, Jno. McGoldrick, S. E. Blizzard and D. J. M. Campbell, also H. P. Timmerman, and J. A. Christie and J. Douglas Hagen, M. P.'s.

Besides waiting on the railway people the gentlemen paid a visit to the Board of Trade.

LOOKS AFTER THE CHILDREN.

I make it my business, said a grocer to a representative of Retail Grocers' Advocate, to wrap all the change (if a child is sent to my store) in a piece of paper, thereby avoiding losses of pennies, or small or large pieces of silver coin. I have the goodwill of the parents, as they are certain of receiving the right change, and they will prefer to send their children to my store.

A store to which children have been accustomed to go will be patronized by them when they grow older, get married and have a family, providing they remain in the neighborhood.

THE CHEESE OUTLOOK.

THE unusual depression in the price of cheese this spring is becoming a serious problem as the period approaches for the opening of the new season.

Never in the recollection of the oldest members of the export trade in Montreal has cheese previously exhibited the depression prevailing at present. Their disappointment is all the greater, inasmuch as they confidently expected an entirely different result.

When the year opened it was believed that there would be a healthy brisk wind-up for the output of 1895. The price was considered cheap, being fully 2c. below that for the same period last year, the stocks declared in Great Britain on the first of the year much lighter than in 1895, and the stock in Canada comparatively moderate. Despite all these influences, however, prices stubbornly refused to mend. On the contrary, they have sagged off until they are now 3c. below the level usual to this time of the year.

A variety of causes have contributed to this result. Large importations of provisions, beef, mutton, and other articles into Great Britain during the last six months have been a strong influence, the drought in Australia necessitating the slaughter and shipment of sheep from that colony for anything that they would fetch. The competition of New Zealand in cheese itself has been another potent factor, for it sent to the London market since the opening of the year 13,440 crates of cheese, against 11,230 in 1895 ; and that it will send more every spring the figures of previous years clearly show, its exports in 1892 being only 2,426 crates for the spring months, there being a steady increase each successive spring since then. This, added to our exports and the stock carried over from last season, overstocked the market. Besides, the absence of demand led to holders on this side consigning largely, fully 80,000 boxes having been sent from Montreal on this account during the last month.

This flood of goods places the British buyer in an independent mood. He has enough to supply him for the time being, and, with the heavy consignments from this side in mind, believes that more goods will be sent forward and that he will get them at his own price.

This glut in the chief consuming market has led the trade in Montreal to a serious consideration of the advisability of restricting or totally preventing the manufacture of fodder cheese this spring. There is a natural distaste to spring fodder cheese in England. It also competes at this time of the year with the best Australian cheese, and just at the time when the Canadian dairymen are about commencing to market their grass make.

The production of a quantity of undesirable fodder cheese this spring is certain, with conditions as they are, to result in an abnormally low price for Canadian cheese.

To speak plainly, the dairymen, if they do make it, will have to take 5c. or less, and it is a question whether it would not pay them better to leave fodder goods alone and manufacture butter. At present ruling prices in London, the latter would certainly pay them best.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS.

The other week the Grand Trunk Railway ceased posting the receipts of produce daily at the Montreal Board of Trade. The officials did not give any explanation for this action, and as the figures are valuable to jobbers and provision and produce dealers, the Board of Trade Council were asked to take up the matter. They have accordingly written to General Manager Hays asking if the posting of the figures cannot be continued as heretofore.

FILLED CHEESE.

A Washington despatch says: The subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee, having in charge the many bills relating to "filled cheese," have agreed on a substitute bill therefor, "defining cheese and imposing a tax upon and regulating the manufacture, sale and exportation of filled cheese." It defines "cheese" as the food product known as cheese, which is made from milk or cream and without the addition of oils, fats, vegetable or other foreign matter. Substitutes for this article are to be known as "filled cheese," upon which special taxes are imposed as follows:

Manufacturers to pay $400 per annum for each factory operated ; wholesale dealers, $250 per annum, and retail dealers, $50 per annum.

"Filled cheese" is to be branded as such, and failure to do so is made punishable by a fine of $500 and imprisonment for one year. This is the first attempt at national legislation on the subject, and the bill is broader than the oleomargarine law, in that it imposes a tax of one cent per pound on all filled cheese exported. This tax is to be paid by the manufacturer. The passage of the bill has been urged by dairymen from all sections of the country, especially those in the north and west, who claim that the "filled cheese" business is ruining the legitimate dairy business.

HAS ONE OF THE BEST STORES.

J. G. Reiner, of Wellesley Village, the old and reliable general storekeeper of Waterloo County, has just repainted and renovated his store and offices, and with his genial clerks, has one of the most attractive stores in the county to-day.

"REMINDERS" FOR DEBTORS.

SOME time since The Grocery World recommended the sending out of monthly statements to debtors. Very often grocers will allow the purchases of several months to accumulate before even one bill is sent. In many cases money could be collected much earlier if the debtor was apprised through the medium of a monthly statement how the amount was growing.

A retail dealer of Scottdale, Pa., testifies that the idea of sending out periodical statements is a valuable plan. With every bill he sends out is included a "reminder," and these, continually rubbed in, usually secure the payment of the account much earlier than would have otherwise been the case.

Following is the method used by the merchant named : First comes the statement, then the "reminders" in their order :

STATEMENT OF ACCOUNT.

In case of error return this bill for correction.

Of all the sad and doleful words
That mankind ever writ,
There are no sadder ones to write
Than these two — Please remit.

First Reminder.—An early settlement of this account, with your further esteemed orders, will greatly oblige.

Second Reminder.—This account has apparently escaped your personal attention.

Kindly oblige by an early settlement.

Third Reminder.—This account being much overdue, a prompt remittance for same is requested.

Fourth Reminder.—The large percentage of charge which repeated applications for small sums entails will, we trust, be sufficient reason for our respectful request for prompt remittance on receipt of annexed account.—Grocery World.

COSTA RICA DEPARTMENT STORE.

Mr. Delgado, the Consul at this port from Costa Rica, informed a representative of this journal yesterday that a company, the Sociedad Mercantil, had been formed in San Jose, the capital, for the purpose of erecting a large department store. The concern has a capital of $300,000. There will be separate departments for men and women, which will be in charge of male and female clerks respectively. The employment of women in stores at that place, he said, was a new departure.

The Consul also said that he doubted the report of the burning of the Custom House at San Jose, as it was a fire-proof building. He thought it more likely that only some of the merchandise in the building was destroyed.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

TICKETS FOR TRAVELERS.

The Scientific Varnish Co., of Toronto, are offering any traveler who sells twenty-five gross of Scientific Stove Enamel before August 1, a family ticket for the Niagara boats or a ticket for the Hamilton boats if fifteen gross are sold.

DISSATISFIED APPLE SHIPPERS.

SOME of our apple shippers are complaining bitterly, and with just cause, of the treatment they have received of late from certain steamship people. On one steamer alone shippers lost $10,000, owing mainly to the condition in which the fruit was landed. The state of the market was fairly good, and the apples were in first-class condition when shipped at Halifax. But the boat was overloaded, had little or no ventilation, and sank so deeply in the water that the hatches had to be battened down to prevent the waves, which broke over her, from getting in. Then she was nearly three weeks in making the voyage, and as a result of such conditions the apples were partly cooked on the way, and did not sell for much more than enough to pay the freight. On a good part of the cargo shippers lost about two dollars a barrel, and on none of it less than one dollar per barrel. The same steamer, we are informed, spoiled a cargo of oranges the last trip she made previous to this one. There surely ought to be some remedy against the owners of such a boat. They assuredly know she is not fit to carry fruit, and it is little short of fraudulent to represent her as being suitable for that trade.

Again, a good many of our shippers are beginning to become a little suspicious of the treatment they receive from certain commission houses in London, and a project is now on foot to send a trustworthy man to the other side next season to superintend, or at least to be present at, all auction sales. These commission houses profess to ask but five per cent. commission as their remuneration, while they give back to the shipping agent a return commission of one per cent. in all cases, and in some as high as two and a half per cent. In addition to this several houses employ general agents in this province to whom they pay a straight salary of from $1,000 to $1,200 a year. What our shippers are asking is this: Are all these expenses paid out of the five per cent. commission which these houses profess to charge?

It is more than probable, we learn, that some different arrangement will be made before another season's crop is shipped. The conditions could not be much more unsatisfactory than they have been to our shippers this year.—Bridgetown (N.S.) Monitor.

SALTED ALMONDS.

To prepare salted almonds, blanch them by pouring boiling water over them and rubbing the brown skin off with a rough cloth. When they are blanched and quite dry measure them, and over each cupful of nuts pour a tablespoonful of the best olive oil. Let them stand for an hour, and then sprinkle a tablespoonful of salt over each cupful, mixing it thoroughly. Spread them out on a flat tin pan, and put them in a not-too-hot oven until they have become a delicate brown.

THE CANADIAN HORSE SHOW.

The second annual Canadian Horse Show will be held in the Toronto Armories on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th. Last year, when the Show was first inaugurated, its success was so pronounced that this season the interest and enthusiasm which the event is arousing throughout the country is well warranted. The Horse Show appeals to all classes, from the wealthy merchant prince, with a superlative pair of carriage horses, to the small farmer who possesses a likely colt, the product of a thoroughbred and one of his farm mares. In Dublin and New York, Horse Show week is now the greatest week of the whole season, and these annual gatherings are great incentives to business. Such the gentlemen who founded it hope the Canadian Horse Show will become to Toronto and Canada, and Horse Show week this year promises to be an active period for the city's business men and their friends and customers from the country. It is enterprises of this kind that the business community should encourage, as the experience of the Industrial Exhibition proves. Intending exhibitors are reminded that entries close on Saturday, April 4th, and should be addressed to Henry Wade, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. Boxes will be sold by auction at Hyslop's Bicycle Emporium, 14 King street east, on Tuesday, April 7th. The chairman of the committee is Mr. Robert Davies, and the secretaries are Stewart Houston, 18 Toronto street, and Henry Wade.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THE snow storm of last week knocked business endways. Some of the houses did not see one of their travelers on Saturday, they being corralled in a snow bank or some out-of-the-way railway station or backwoods village. During the last few days there has been a slight recovery, but trade still lacks life. A little better business is being done in sugar, some carload lots of which have changed hands on country account. The usual spring demand for foreign dried fruits shows some signs of developing. Canned goods are still in moderate demand only. Syrups of low grade are in demand, but there are practically none on the market. Demand for molasses is also fair. Teas are quiet and without special feature. Further improvement is to be noted in the demand for foreign green fruit. Payments show little or no improvement.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation is much the same as a week ago, scarcely any business passing outside tomatoes and peas. Canned fruits are neglected. Prices remain much as before. We hear of a few offerings of tomatoes by packers at 80c. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 70 to 80c.; peas, 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2.00; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.35 to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.35 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.10 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.45; 2's, $2 25 to $2.35; 6's, 7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

COFFEE.

Business continues to be moderate and devoid of special feature. We quote: green in bags: Rio, 18c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

There is a fair demand for low-grade syrups at a price, but there are practically none of these to be had. Several lots of American bright and medium syrups are arriving in spite of the high duty. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.

MOLASSES.

The demand is fair. The primary markets are firm. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 35c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Both the refineries and the wholesalers report a slightly improved trade, a few more orders for carload lots having been received from the country. The raw markets are strong and the receipts from Cuba continue very small compared with previous seasons. As soon as the country roads in Canada open up and the demand for sugar improves, a further appreciation in the price of domestic sugar is looked for by both refiners and wholesalers. The refiners will not shade prices under any consideration. Wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅝c.; yellows, 3⅞c. up.

SPICES.

Trade remains much about the same as a week ago. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

Business is quiet, with 3½ to 3⅝c. still the ruling price.

NUTS.

Business is quiet and the market featureless. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 14 to 15c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

The tea trade has ruled quiet. The only movement has been in Indian and Ceylon growths, and a few parcels of Young Hysons for price. Japan teas are unsought for. We quote ruling prices to retailers: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

The consumption of currants is increasing every day, and the demand is now fair. We quote as follows: Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

Valencia raisins are quiet, but an improvement will soon be in order. We quote: Off-stalk 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; selected, 6 to 6¼c., and layers, 6½c.

The past week has witnessed a much better demand for California dried and evaporated fruits, particularly in prunes and peaches. The latter have advanced about ¼c. on the Coast on the lower grades, recent heavy frosts having materially injured the prospect of the coming crop. Stocks in the hands of growers are light. It is said that but seven carloads of Chinese peaches are in the hands of growers to-day. Three-crown loose muscatel raisins are getting firmer, and some of the large shippers on the Coast have not been able to keep up with their orders. Egg plums are also getting exhausted. The wholesale trade reports an increasing demand for California goods. We quote: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 6½ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.; loose muscatels, 4½ to 6½c. per lb.

Prunes are in fairly good demand, especially the lower and medium grades, at from 3½c. per lb. in barrels and 5½ to 6c. in cases. Those of Californian growth are receiving nearly all the attention, although quite a few cheap Bohemia prunes are going out. We quote: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c., "U," 102 to lb., 6½ to 6¾c.; California prunes, 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70 80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80 90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

Eleme figs are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Eleme, 14 oz., 9 to 10½c.; 10 lb., 9½ to 12½c.; 12 lb., 12½c.; 28 lb., 15c.

Sultana raisins are quiet and unchanged at 5½ to 6c.

Dates still rule quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

A still stronger feeling has developed in oranges of all kinds. Valencias have advanced in Liverpool, and in Boston and New York there has been an appreciation of 25 to 50c. per box. The demand here is steady, more particularly for Valencias and Messinas. Lemons are in good demand, and with the advent of warm weather higher prices are looked for. The spring trade in bananas is showing signs of developing, there having been quite an improvement during the week. Prices are steady and unchanged. Spanish onions on the local market are pretty well cleaned out.

There has been a good demand for apples on the local market during the past week, and prices are firmer on account of lighter receipts; the snow-storm having almost cut off supplies. The English market is a little better, but there are not many going forward. We quote: Lemons—Messina, $2.50 to $3.50 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, 3.50 to $4.75, according to size; ditto seedlings, $3.25 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $6 to $6 25; Jumbo's, 420's, $6.75 to $7; ditto, 714's, $6.75 to $7; Sevilles, $2.75 to $3 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $2 to $2.50; ditto, boxes, $3 75 to $4.25. Bananas, $1.25 to $1.75; cocoanuts, $3.50 to $4 a sack; apples, Spies, $3 to $3.50, Baldwins, $2 50 to $2 75, greenings, $2.25 to $2.50 a barrel; Russets, $1.75 to $2.50; Malaga grapes, $5 to $7 per keg; domestic onions, 60 to 65c. per bag; Spanish onions, 75c. per small crate; pineapples, 25 to 35c.; sweet potatoes, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; cranberries, $5 to $8 per bbl., and $2.50 to $3 per case, according to quality.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The storm last week practically shut off Toronto receipts of butter, and as the demand was good there was not enough to supply the demand. Receipts are better this week, but still there is not enough good butter to supply the demand. Prices are as a rule higher all round. In creamery butter, the demand is chiefly for pounds prints. There is a shortage of creamery tubs. We quote: Early summer dairy store packed, 8 to 10c; good to choice fresh packed, 15 to 16c.; large rolls, fresh, 16½ to 17½c.; dairy pound prints, 18 to 19c. Fresh creamery—Tubs, 21 to 22c.; do., pound prints, 23 to 24c.

CHEESE—The market is quiet at 9 to 9½c. for late makes, and 8½c. for early makes. The export demand is nil.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Business is light, with 90c. to $1 still the ruling prices.

DRIED APPLES—There have been some offerings at 3¾c f.o.b. outside points, and we hear of a carload changing hands at that figure. The jobbing price is nominal at 3¾ to 4c. per lb.

EVAPORATED APPLES—The market is still dull, with the jobbing price still 6½ to 7c.

EGGS—In the absence of receipts on Saturday last the market was cleaned up, and prices advanced ½c. or more. Tuesday, however, brought in liberal supplies, and the market is now easy at 13 to 13½c. for new laid.

HONEY—The market is bare of comb honey. There is not much demand for any kind however. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—There is a good demand for light turkeys, but heavy are not much wanted. Receipts continue light. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

POTATOES—Are a little scarce, and in consequence prices are a little higher; 20c. is now the idea for carload lots on the track and 25 to 30c. per bag out of store.

MAPLE SYRUP—There is not much doing. We quote old as before: Syrup, small packages, 90c. to $1; ditto, 5 gallon tins, 80c.; sugar, 10c. per lb.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The home demand for provisions is good at unchanged prices. Deliveries of dressed hogs have been light, and prices are higher. For choice weights of 110 to 150 lbs. $4.65 to $4.75 is being paid, and for anything above, 25c. less.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 6½c. for carload lots, and 6¾ to 7c. for small lots; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS — Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7¼ to 7½c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10c.; small hams, 10c.; backs, 9 to 9½c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8 to 8¼c.; tubs, 8½ to 8¾c.; pails, 8¾ to 9c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $14 00; Canadian short-cut, $14 to $14.50; clear shoulder mess, $12; shoulder mess, $11.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Business is still limited, and prices are unchanged. We quote oysters: Standards at $1 30 to $1.35, and selects $1.70. Fish are quoted as follows: Skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; haddock, 5 to 6c.; Labrador herring, $3.25 to $3.50 half barrel and $5.50 to $5 75 per barrel; Newfoundland herring, $2.50 per half barrel, and $4 50 to $4.75 per barrel; fresh water salt herring, $3 per barrel; blueback herring, 4c.; pike, 6 to 7c. per lb.; flitched cod, 5c.; finnan haddies, 7c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 11c.; ditto, lengthwise, 10c.; large halibut, 12 to 15c.; Restigouche salmon, 20 to 25c.; British Columbia salmon, 14 to 15c.; mack-

SALT.

Trade continues fairly good at quotations. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

The snow blockade, together with the general backward condition of the country, which has interfered with seeding, has caused business to be of a limited character indeed. Present values at outside points range from $4.65 to $4.80 for red clover, and $3 to $4 25 for alsike. Timothy, which is only being offered in limited quantities, is quoted at $1.50 to $2 at outside points. Jobbing prices for clean stock out of store range from $4 95 to $5 25 for red clover, $1.90 to $2.25 for timothy, and $3.50 to $5 for alsike.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES — Unchanged, with limited demand. Dealers pay 5c. for No. 1, 4c. for No. 2, 3c. for No. 3. Cured hides unchanged at 6c.

CALFSKINS—6c. for No. 1 and 5c. for No. 2. Sheepskins are firm at 90c. to $1.

WOOL—Trade dull and prices unchanged. Fleece quoted at 21 to 22c., and rejections 17 to 18c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras 22½ to 23c.

WHEAT, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

WHEAT—Receipts are light. White is quoted at 81c., red at 79c., and goose at 61c.

BARLEY—There is very little coming forward, and the idea as to price is 38 to 41c.

OATS—Are easier at 27½ to 28c.

PEAS—Peas are nominally 56c.

FLOUR—The market is quiet and easier. We quote: Straight roller, $3.60 to $3.65, carload lots, Toronto freights, and $3 75 to $3.90 in job lots; Manitoba patents, $4 to $4.10 per bbl.; Ontario patents, $3 80 to $3 90 per bbl.; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.75 to $3.90.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is quiet. We quote: Oatmeal, cornmeal and pot barley from 10 to 15c. lower; Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3; rolled wheat, $2.30 to $2.40 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.60 to $2.75; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3 50.

BALED HAY—The market is dull. For car lots on the track here we quote: No. 1, $14 to $14.50; No. 2, $13 to $13.50.

BALED STRAW — The market is unchanged. Car lots are quoted at $8.50 to $8.75.

PETROLEUM.

Trade continues fairly good with prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16½c.; carbon safety, 18c.; Canadian water white, 18c.; American water white, 21c.; Pratt's astral, 22c.

MARKET NOTES.

Oranges are dearer.

Butter is slightly higher than it was a week ago.

Eggs are down to 13c.

The Toronto agent of a California dried fruit firm is now handling his eighteenth carload for the season.

The spring banana trade is beginning to open up.

The Toronto Salt Works has during the past week closed contracts with two Toronto firms for their next season's supply of about 15,000 sacks of salt.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, March 26, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE week has not developed any striking change in any of the leading staples, which, so far as spot values go, with few exceptions, stand precisely where they were a week ago. In sugar the fluctuations outside have not caused the slightest variation in local prices. Syrups are unchanged, but stocks of low grades are almost all cleaned up. Molasses continues unchanged, and importers still decline to show any hurry about contracting for spring supplies. The same disposition animates them with regard to May tea shipments, about which they manifest little anxiety. Coffee and spices continue unchanged, as do dried fruit and nuts, with the exception of dates, which rule rather firm. In green fruit oranges are scarce and higher, while canned goods are featureless. Fresh fish are inclined to heaviness under increasing receipts, and there is no important change to record either in produce or provisions.

SUGAR.

The refined sugar market continues quiet, and notwithstanding the firmness outside, the local market presents no change. Demand both at the refineries and from jobbers' hands is quiet, as buyers don't appear to be at all anxious. In fact, the only appreciable change that refiners have noted during the week has been rather more enquiry for yellow sugars. In a jobbing way we quote granulated 4⅞c., and yellows 3¾c to 4⅜c.

SYRUPS.

Demand for syrup has been slow, but the market is very firm in its tone. Indeed, it would be difficult to get anything but ordinary low grade stock at present if a round lot was wanted, and we quote prices firm at 2¼ to 3c.

MOLASSES.

There has been no change in molasses, which we quote as before, while advices from primary markets fail to show anything new. We quote: Barbadoes, 36 to 37c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 35c., and New Orleans, 25c.

RICE.

There has been a limited demand for rice, and prices are quiet and firm. We quote: Japan standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

There has been a fair enquiry for spices of all sorts, but no quotable change is to note; advices, however, from abroad on pepper are very strong both from Singapore and Holland. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 12 to 15c.

COFFEE.

There are few signs of an improving tone to the coffee market, demand for it being restricted to small lots of bag stock for actual wants. We quote: Maracaibo, 19 to 21c.; Rio, 16½ to 20c.; Java, 28c.; Jamaica, 20c., and Mocha, 29 to 32c.

TEAS.

There is very little business reported in the tea market apart from a small distributing trade, while prices furnish no change of consequence. Japan dust is a scarce line here and seems to be wanted pretty badly at 5½ to 6c. We quote: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The California raisin market furnishes some irregularity as to values. On the one hand, some jobbers assert that they are sellers of 4-crown at 6½c. and 3-crown 4¾c., but on the other it is remarked that prices are steady on the Coast. We quote: 4-crown, 6¼ to 6¾c.; 3-crown, 5¼ to 5½c., and 2-crown, 4½ to 5c.

Valencia raisins are getting into smaller compass every week, but the fact does not seem to affect the market which is essentially unchanged. We quote: Ordinary, 3¾ to 4¼c.; fine, 4½ to 5c., and selected, 5 to 5¾c., with layers 6 to 7c.

Sultanas are quiet in a jobbing way at 5¾ to 6c.

The currant market is steady with no new feature. We quote: Barrels, 4c.; half-barrels, 4¼c., and cases, 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

Prunes are in moderate request at steady prices. We quote: French, 4 to 5½c.; Bosnia, 6 to 6½c., and California, 8 to 12c., as to grade.

The fig market was quiet, but steady, as follows: Bags, 4c.; ordinary boxes, 8½ to 9c., and fancy, 12 to 17c., as to brand.

Dates are not plentiful. We quote 4½ to 5c., as to grade, for new stock with other stock ranging down to 4c, and even below that figure.

NUTS.

The nut market is featureless and business dull. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods has been of moderate dimensions, and confined chiefly to fish and vegetables. Prices all round are steady. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 85c.; peas, 95c. to $1 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1 40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2 40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c; gallons, $1.90 to $2 25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.35 to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.25; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1 30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.10 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1 45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

Business has been fairly active in green fruit, and prices either steady or firm. The strength noted last week in oranges continues, and prices are higher on Valencia oranges. Apples are steady, and evaporated are firmer at 5¾ to 6c., though a car lot could still be had at 5½c. Receipts of bananas will increase next week, but at present are only offering in a small way at $3 to $3.20. Next week to arrive, however, $2.25 is being asked. We quote: Oranges—California navels, $3.50 to $4.50; Valencias, 420's, $4.75, and 714's, $6. Lemons, $2 to $3. Grapes, $5 to $6 per keg. Cranberries, $5.50 to $10 per barrel. Apples, $2 to $4 per barrel. Dried do. 3½c. Evaporated do., 5¾ to 6c. Spanish onions, 30 to 40c. per crate. Pine-apples, 25 to 40c. as to size; bananas, $3.

FISH.

The continued cold weather has arrested the fish trade. Demand for all lines has been steady in a small way. Large arrivals of fresh fish, especially haddock and herrings, have lowered the price on these, and they have a lower tendency. New haddock, in case lots, have sold at 2⅞ to 3¼c., and in small quantities at 3½c. Smelts are about out of the market. Green cod has ruled decidedly weak, prices breaking 50c. to $1 per bbl. Other lines of dried and smoked are featureless. We quote as follows: Fresh haddock, 2⅞c. per lb.; fresh frozen B. C. salmon, 7 to 8c.; Manitoba whitefish, 7c.; dore, 7c.; trout, 7c.; tommycods, 50 to 75c. Choice pickled Labrador herrings, $5.25; No. 1 N.S., $3 to $4; No. 1 green cod, $3.50 to $4; No. 2, $1.75 to $2; No. 1 haddock, $3; No. 1 large codfish, $6; No. 1 lake trout, $4 to $4.25; B C. salmon, $10.50; No. 2 Labrador salmon, $13; No. 1 mackerel, $18.50; Loch Fyne herrings, 85c. per keg, and $11 per bbl.; No. 1 sardines, $4 50; No. 1 dried cod, $4 to $4.25; boneless cod, 6c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¼c.; boneless haddock, 5c.; shredded, 11c.; haddies, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.; bloaters, 90c. per box, and smoked herrings, 8 to 9c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

There has been little change in provisions since last report, and prices are much as as they were a week ago. Demand was quiet throughout. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $13 50 to $14; Canadian short cut, mess, $14 to $14.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market has taken another decline on fresh stock 1½ to 2c. since last report. Receipts continue liberal, but at this writing demand is brisk and keeps the market well cleaned up. We quote: Fresh, 14½ to 15½c.; Montreal limed, 10 to 11c.; Western limed, 9½ to 10c. per dozen.

BEANS—There is no change in beans, the market being dull and steady. We quote: Carlots at $1 to $1.05, and small quantities, $1.10 to $1 20.

POTATOES—The demand for potatoes continues slow, sales being principally in small lots to fill actual wants. We quote: Car lots, on track, 30 to 32c. per bag, and small quantities, 35 to 40c.

ONIONS—Continue steady as quoted last week: Yellow, $1.60 to $2 per bbl. and red, $2.50.

HAY.

The demand for hay continues slow and prices are lower than a week ago at $13 for No. 1 and $12 for No. 2 on track here in car lots. Smaller lots necessitate 50c. per ton advance on these figures.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

There has been no important change in flour, demand being strictly of a jobbing character, while prices here are precisely the same. We quote: Winter wheat, $4 35 to $4.40; spring wheat, patents, $4.25; straight roller, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, bags, $1.95 to $2; extra, bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.

There was no improvement in the demand for oatmeal and the market continues to rule quiet and about steady. Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10; granulated, barrels, $3.10 to $3.20; rolled oats, barrels, $2 90; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.

A fairly active trade was reported in feed, the demand being fair at quotations: Bran, $14 to $15; shorts, $15 to $16; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese does not show any pronounced change, but holders refuse to let go finest at 8½c., and demand more money. In fact, it is not improbable that more has been made for finest fall makes, as a result of the enquiry noted towards the close of last week. To be plain, 8¾ c. represents holders' inside views to-day, and some want more than that for their western fall makes. White goods still are at a premium over colored. The butter market is quiet and steady, with no change. Creamery meets a steady jobbing enquiry, sufficient to keep prices at the old range of 21 to 22c., while Townships dairy, when choice, easily finds buyers at 18 to 19c.

ASHES.

There was no change in the ashes market. We quote: First pots, $3.50; seconds, $3.75, and pearls, $5.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Robert Greig & Co. are ready to quote on olive oils for spring trade. Their prices are close.

A. P. Tippet, of A. P. Tippet & Co., is away from town on a short business trip in Ontario and the western district.

Laporte, Martin & Cie., owing to the approaching end of Lent, are making a great drive on fish. They are offering full lines at a sensible reduction to close out stock. Prices gladly given on application.

D. H. Rennoldson has now near at hand a full assortment of Batger's jams and new marmalades arriving ex British Empire via Boston. They will be on hand here by the end of the week.

Rose & Laflamme have just put into stock a consignment of Snowflake salt in 2 and 4-lb. packages. This salt is guaranteed not to cake under any circumstances whatever.

Marshall's Farola and Semella have a immense sale in Great Britain. Robert Greig & Co. have just landed a consignment.

Advices from Barbadoes on molasses continue in much the same tenor. Best offers so far made for importation have been equivalent to 33c. laid down. These offers, however, are not fair criterions to go by. To

GRAND MOGUL TEA COMPETITION

You've heard about the grand Mogul,
On India's coral strand,
The greatest of all eastern kings,
In that celestial land.

This potentate as history shows,
In various things excelled—
As for his judgment and good taste
Was in great honor held.

And chief among his virtues was
The certain way that he
Could tell the best and purest of
The different brands of tea.

When traveling men to Delhi came—
This monarch would command
That none should come within its gates
Except they brought his brand.

And thus it came that only one
Could stand the regal test—
And that the one the Mogul chose—
Because it was the best.

Now, when the nations far and near
Had heard the king's decree:
They all refused inferior goods—
And took "Grand Mogul" Tea.

They found no poisonous tannin there,
Nutritious theine instead—
And vendors of inferior grades
Soon found their business dead.

And people bought the very best
And gave up drinking frauds
And all pronounced "Grand Mogul" Tea
"The nectar of the Gods!"

For purity and healthfulness
Its equal cannot be found,
And then its price—so very low—
But Fifty Cents a Pound!

Its use promotes both health and wealth,
It soothes the tired brain—
The young increasing vigor get
And the old grow young again.

Then do not fly to wine or ruin,
If feeling sad or dull,
Imbibe the King of Teas instead—

be plain, not a single contract has been put through yet this spring.

Grocers handling quantities of Bryant & May's English wax vestas can have their name lithographed on each box. Robert Greig & Co. are sole Canadian agents.

Robert Greig & Co. have just booked some large orders for "Crown" brand extracts. The popularity of this brand is increasing every day.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.
ST. JOHN, N.B., March 26, 1896.

DURING the week business has improved. The packets which carry freight to Nova Scotia points are beginning to arrive. This is a sure sign spring trade is opening up. It makes a look of business about the wharves. Another sign that the busy season is again to hand is that the lumber mills are starting their season's work. A good summer is looked forward to. There is no particular feature in the market. Some nutmegs are reported bought at very low prices. Apples are coming in more freely, and the warmer weather tends to cause a much larger movement in all lines of green fruit. The cargo of Porto Rico molasses which was expected here, but which got into trouble owing to heavy weather and put into Bermuda, has been reshipped from there, and is expected shortly. There is another small cargo reported on the way. Though there is as yet little change, cream of tarta tends easier. Collections continue to come in slowly.

OIL— Market continues as quoted last week. There is little of interest. The quiet season for burning oil is beginning, though the spring trade opening helps it a little. There is rather better demand for lubricating, as the mills are beginning to start work. Cod oil continues scarce. We quote: American, 23¼c.; best Canadian, 21½c; prime, 19c.; no charge for barrel.

SALT— There is no change to note. A small quantity continues to arrive weekly by steamer, and, as noted, there are two cargoes bought to come forward by sailer. There is, however, as yet but light demand, and a fairly large stock is held here. Coarse in quantities could be bought rather below quotation. We quote as follows: Coarse, 50 to 55c.; fine factory-filled, 95c. to CANNED GOODS—There continues to be a fairly steady demand with a continued improvement expected. Peas are getting in small compass, and quite a few have been sold by factories represented here. Most sellers will only quote peas with corn. A number of the factories are sold out. Some new goods were lately sold in this market, being 2-oz. tins of potted meat and fish. They are put up in England, and it is expected they will retail at 5c. a tin. Canned beef is held firm. We quote as follows: Corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 90 to 95c. ; tomatoes, 90 to 95c. ; corned beef, 2-lb. tins, $2.50 to $2.65 ; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25 ; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, $2.85 to $2.90; 2's, $1.90; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; haddies, $1.40; salmon, $1 35 to $1.50 ; flat, $1.75; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $3 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 ; pineapples, $2 to $2.35 ; kippered herring, $1.10 ; American peaches, $2.40.

GREEN FRUIT—There is a good demand, though rather less active than last week, owing somewhat to the higher price of Valencia oranges, as well as to the fact that the market is becoming well supplied with apples, which for a few weeks were scarce ; values are rather easier. In Californias there is but quiet demand. Cranberries are in but light demand, and are being sold in bushel boxes. Bananas, though moving more freely, will not be in full swing for another month. A few Blood oranges are to hand. In apples a good demand is noted for Spies and Baldwins. There is a fair stock held here, largely Nonpariels ; there is, as noted, a rather easier feeling. We quote : Valencia oranges, $5 to $5.50 ; lemons, $2.75 to $3.50; pippins and winter fruit, $2 to $3.50; Cape Cod ditto., $3.22 per box ; California oranges, $3.50 to $4 50 ; pineapples, $2 to $3 per doz.; bananas, $2 to $2.50 per bunch.

DRIED FRUIT—There is little, if anything, new to report. There is a fair movement in onions, principally American, which at this season give better satisfaction than Canadian. Holders of Nova Scotia dried are looking for buyers. If they would learn to pack them right a better business could be done. This season, however, all grades of dried are low. Evaporated continue easy, with a quiet demand. Good stocks are held. About the only raisins in the market are California, but there is small movement. Currants are also small movement. Dates show good demand. In prunes, California continue to move freely ; being packed in a very dry climate, they tend to turn grey in this more moist one. This is thought by some to result from the fact that they are old goods sugaring, but this is not so. Evaporated apricots and peaches continue to have good demand. We quote : Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; figs, 10 to 12c.; 4-crown Cal. L. M. raisins, 6 to 7c.; 3-crown Cal. L. M. raisins, 5 to 6c.; keg prunes, 4c.; boxes, 4¾ to 6c.; Cal. L. L. raisins, $1.50 to $1.75; currants, bbls., 4 to 4½c.; half-cases, 4¼ to 4¾c.; evaporated apples, 7 to 7½c.; dried apples. 5 to 6c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; California evaporated peaches, 12 to 13c ; do. apricots, 12 to 14c.; do. pears, 12 to 13c.; California prunes, 6½ to 10c. ; clean currants, bulk 5½ to 6½c.; 1-lb. cartoons, 7 to 7½c.; onions, $2.25 to $2.50 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100.; Valencia layers, 5½ to 6c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Makers of cheese who shipped to England are fairly well pleased with results, though price obtained was under that they would take here last fall The last season was a bad one, and those merchants who bought early at a price extending through the season found it a mistake. There is a rather better local demand. No change in price. Eggs are lower with prices easy. Some were offered during the week from Toronto, but found no buyers. In butter there is still a dull market, though best will sell at a price. Stocks are not large. We quote : Cheese, 9 to 9½c.; butter, 16 to 18c.; eggs, 15 to 16c.; fresh creamery prints, 22 to 24c.; tubs, 20 to 22c

MOLASSES—There is but light demand. The new, so far to hand, is of but fair quality, particularly as regards color. It was expected there would be a cargo of Porto Rico to hand before this, but it met bad weather, and is at Bermuda. Another small cargo is reported on the way. There were quite a few small packages of Antigua by the last steamer. They were fair flavor but dark. New Orleans is held very firm. Syrup demand is about over. We quote : Barbadoes, 33 to 35c.; St. Croix, 28 to 30c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 36c.; syrup, 35 to 38c.; New Orleans, bbls., 35 to 36c.; Antigua, small package, 28 to 30c.

SUGAR—Demand continues regular, with market held firm. There are fair stocks here. We quote : Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4¼c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

FISH—The season for frozen fish is over. There has been a good demand, but owing to small supply the season has been a most unsatisfactory one. There were large quantities of smelt caught in the north of the province ; in fact, toward the close of the season more than the American market would take, as weather was getting warmer and there was quite a falling off in price. Very little of this business is done at St. John. Smoked herring continue dull, returns from those shipped by first steamer to Porto Rico not being satisfactory. Expences were very high. A fair trade is moving in bloaters and smoked haddies. Fresh haddies have been brought from Boston to supply the trade. Quite a quantity of dry fish are arriving caught late last fall. There is fair demand. In boneless a good season's business has been done. Supply of pickled bay herring is light. Shelburne and Canso continue at low price. There is quite a quantity of shad held, with but light demand. We quote : Bloaters, 60c.; haddies, 5½c. ; Medium cod, $3.45 to $3.50; large, $3.60 to $3.75; small, $2.35 to $2.50; pollock, $1.45 to $1.50; bay herring, $1.35 to $1.50; Grand Manan, $1.35 to $1.50; ripplings, $1.65 to $1.70; Quoddy River, $2.75 to $3; smoked, 5 to 5½c.; shad, half-bbl., pickled, $4.50 to $5; Canso, $4; halfs, $2.25; Shelburne, $2.75 to $3 per bbl.; do. No. 2, $2 35.

PROVISIONS—Pork continues easy. There are good stocks held and prices quoted are only about what it would cost to import. Lard is held firm. Beef shows no change. In smoked meat a fair business is doing. In hams, Ontario smokers offered a great difference in price. The lowest secured the business. We quote : Domestic mess pork, $14 to $14.25; American, $14 to $14.50; clear pork, $15 to $16; beef, $13 to $14; pure lard, 9 to 9¼c.; compound lard, 8c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; hams, 10 to 12c.

is strong. Very large quantities of Manitoba have been moving. Oats are fair sale. In oatmeal there is no change. Cornmeal is in demand, and at the very low price effects the sale of all other lines of feed. Peas are easier, market being well stocked at rather higher prices. The demand for buckwheat meal is about over. The first car of American timothy seed is to hand. We quote: Manitoba, $4.70 to $4.80; best Ontario, $4 60 to $4.65; medium, $4.45 to $4.50; oatmeal, $3 40 to $3 50; cornmeal, $2.20 to $2.30; hand-picked beans, $1.20 to $1.25; prime, $1.10 to $1.15; split peas, $3.70; pot barley, $4.10 to $4.25; hay, $12 to $13; oats, 35 to 36c.; middlings, $19 to $20 on track; bran, $18.; buckwheat meal, domestic, $1.25 to $1.30; western, $1.75 to $2; Yellow-Eye beans, $1 75 to $1.85.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

THE GROCER regrets to have to report the death of Mr. Benjamin Rattenbury, of Charlottetown. He was very widely known through the provinces, being for many years in the pork packing business. The pork, lard, and smoked meats turned out by his firm have a large sale in this city, and it was with deep regret his many friends heard of his death. He was but 38 years old.

The export business passing through St. John continues very large. Among the goods passing through last week were eight cars of tallow from Chicago for Hamburg.

J. Hunter White received a car of choice Nonpareils from Nova Scotia this week, which he offers low to the trade. He expects a quantity of No. 1 Baldwins this week.

At Charlottetown pork continues low, selling at 4½ to 4¾c.; oats, 32c.; eggs, 14 to 16c.

Large lobsters are scarce. The catch is being much interfered with by the high winds. The American Government not allowing lobsters to be packed that are under 10 inches has caused a number of Americans to remove their factories to this side. Large quantities of small lobsters are being caught, so many, in fact, that if something is not done lobster-fishing is in danger of being destroyed.

Large quantities of hay are being received at Fredericton. It amounts to upwards of 30 tons per day. Shipments were made from St. John to Boston this week, but prices at that market are not very tempting.

Taylor, Dockrill & Co., of this city, have been appointed New Brunswick agents for the Havelock Mineral Springs product.

Frank Spicuzza, the Italian fruit dealer of Hamilton, has begun an action against Joseph & M. E. Livernois for damages for the alleged illegal seizure of his goods.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

LAST week I reported trade very quiet. This week shows no improvement, and wholesale men tell us the month has been the dullest March on record. There is, however, a prospect of a good spring trade after all. Everything points that way, and I should be surprised if the end of the month does not show a decided improvement.

The sugar market remains unchanged.

Dried fruits are in good demand, especially prunes, which are quoted at 5¼c. for French and 6c. for Bosnian. Dates are also in good demand at 4¾ to 5c. New evaporated apples are worth 7 to 7½c. and old 5½c. Off-stalk Valencias are selling at 4¼c and best 4¾ to 5c.

There is no change in green fruits. The market is well supplied. Bananas are coming in freely and are of a superior quality. Cranberries, one bushel boxes, are worth $3. Canadian onions sell at 1¾c.

There is very little doing in fishstuffs. The Lenten trade has been a disappointment. Live lobsters are being shipped to Boston in large quantities, and command a good price.

There is a fairly good demand for molasses. Jobbing prices are: Fancy Demerara, 38c.; fancy Porto Rico, 35c.; ordinary, 33 to 34c.; Trinidad, 30c.; low grades, 28c.

The provision market is dull, and no improvement is looked for before Easter.

Butter and cheese remain quiet and unchanged.

Eggs are coming in freely, and are consequently coming down in price, the quotation being 17 to 18c. by the case.

A company has been organized in Charlottetown for the purpose of canning butter, principally for the southern market.

A ton of butter was received last week by Hutchison & Power from the Central Creamery, Charlottetown.

A merchant at Digby says there is enough flour stored in that town to last them all summer.

Our winter port delegation has arrived home from Ottawa and reports that Sir Charles Tupper has promised to consider their prayer.

GAINED A POUND.

I watched a woman weighing herself in a grocery store the other day. She had just purchased a pound of saleratus and had it in her hand when she stepped on the scales. "Why, I've gained a pound," she remarked to herself when she had finished manipulating the weights. Then, remembering her saleratus, she exclaimed: "Oh, gracious! I forgot I had this," and hastily popped the package into her pocket. Then she began to work the weights and wondered why she could get no different result. When she left the store, with knitted brow, she was still evidently trying to fathom the mystery. —Roxbury Gazette.

MACARONI.

IN the manufacture of macaroni, explains a contemporary, the hardest and flintiest varieties of wheat are selected, first washed and then thoroughly dried in the sun. This wheat is then coarsely ground and run through an immense revolving sieve to separate the starch from the bran and flinty portions. It is then successively passed through a series of six hand sieves, each a little finer than the preceding, for the purpose of separating the flinty portions from the bran. This apparently simple process requires considerable skill and a certain knack which it takes time to acquire. The motion which is given to the sieves by the sifters is half rotary and half up and down, with an indescribable side motion which can only be characterized as a "boomerang," for it throws the mass which is being sifted in an opposite direction to that taken by the sieve. Every few minutes each sifter pauses and skims off the bran which has worked to the top and centre of the sieve, and after these various manipulations there remains a clean, flinty farina, known as semolina. This is then mixed with warm water into a stiff dough, and this dough is thoroughly kneaded by means of a long, prism-like, hardwood lever, so adjusted that the spring of the timber may be utilized in alternately raising and depressing it upon the mass of dough, which is then pressed and kneaded into the required consistency. It is rather amusing to see two or three men sitting on the end of this lever and bobbing up and down, so as to throw their weight at one instant on the lever, bringing it down into the dough and then allowing it to spring up again in order that it may be brought down in a new place.

After it has been thus mixed and kneaded for about an hour the dough is put into presses with perforated bottoms, and pressure being applied, it comes out through these holes in the shape known to us as macaroni. At this stage of the process it is, of course, soft and flexible, and in order to keep the various little strings of dough from sticking together it is constantly fanned by a boy in order that the current of air thus made may slightly dry the outside of the strings and prevent them from adhering. It is then cut off and hung on racks or frames made of bamboo to dry. As it hangs on the frames the different pieces are of unequal length, and a boy passes over them, wringing off the longer ends to make them uniform. The drying has to be done in the shade, and in a place not exposed to the wind ; for if dried too quickly, or if the slender pieces were blown against one another they would be apt to break. When sufficiently dry it is removed from the frames and packed in boxes, such as are familiar to all grocers.

The different sizes are made by changing the movable bottoms of the press and employing different sized perforations. Each of these perforated holes has a core or centre, around which the dough has to pass, and this produces the hollow, which is a characteristic of the macaroni. The reason of this arrangement is, if the macaroni is made solid it would take very long to dry when hung upon racks, and also when dried it would be very difficult to cook it without a great deal of boiling, and impossible to do so uniformly. So important is this considered and so defective do the Italians regard the product if not thus perforated, that a proverb has arisen in Italy to the effect that "A foolish person is like macaroni without any hole in it."

Vermicelli is made from the same material and in the same way as macaroni, except that it is not hollow, it being so small that it is neither practicable nor necessary to make it so.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. W. A. Bradshaw, late of Toronto Soap Co., returned Monday from a three-months' trip in the east. He happened to be in Naples when the report of the defeat of the Italians reached there.

J. McCrae, of the Snowdrift Co., Brantford, Ont., was in town this week. Mr. McCrae says that business prospects are improving.

TRADE CHAT.

THE following tenders were received for the supply of groceries for the Hamilton Asylum for the year: T. Small & Son, $5,114.85; J. L. Carpenter, $5,155 60; C. H. Peebles, $5,227.55, and Peacock Bros., $5,264.15. The first-mentioned tender was accepted.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Wood answering Mr. Choquette, said the quantity of rice meal exported from Montreal by the Mount Royal Milling Co. for the last calendar year was 261,240 pounds, the duty upon which was $4,665. The amount of drawback allowed was $775.

The wholesale grocery interests of St. Louis feel the necessity of effecting some sort of a combination to reduce the expenses of doing business. For several years there has been general dissatisfaction among these jobbers over the conditions surrounding their business. During that time St. Louis has been forced to meet the keen competition of surrounding markets by granting great concessons. There are nearly forty houses in the wholesale grocery trade there. —Ex.

Lobsters shipped from Yarmouth to Boston on Saturday sold for $25 a crate averaging 140 pounds. There were two hundred packages shipped on Saturday, of which about 70 were of small lobsters for New York, and would probably bring $10 a crate. The whole of Saturday's lobster shipment must have brought nearly $4,000.—Times.

David Stock, deputy collector of Customs at Dundas, has resigned his position owing to irregularities in his accounts. The shortage involves a deficit of about $400, which dates back several years, the books being strictly correct for the past two years. Stock has acknowledged his responsibility of the shortage, and his sureties will make good the amount of the debt.

Recently a pedlar, of New London, Conn., was convicted of violating a city ordinance in not procuring a license for peddling. On an appeal the Supreme Court of the State held that the ordinance was in the nature of a tax for revenue, and as such was unconstitutional because of its unequal application. Many other cities of Connecticut had similar ordinances which were aimed mainly at transient vendors of alleged bankrupt or fire-damaged stocks of clothing.

The big suit of Swift & Co., the big pork packers, against the Grand Trunk Railway Co., which has been pending in the Circuit Courts since 1892, has been dismissed by stipulation. The terms of the settlement did not appear in the stipulation. Swift & Co. sued for $800,000, which, it was claimed, was due them on account of excessive charges for freight on shipments east from 1887 to 1889. It was charged that the railroad company gave rebates to other packers, and charged Swift & Co. regular rates. The case was tried in 1894, but the jury disagreed.

There's a tendency . .

to sacrifice quality for price these days, and alleged "pure goods" are frequently offered at prices which ought to show anyone, with half an eye, that there is something wrong.

Maple Leaf goods are all branded and guaranteed. They sell at the right price and you can't go wrong in buying them.

HUDSON BAY CO., WINNIPEG.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

SMITH & KEIGHLEY have received a new lot of Grenoble walnuts. Their advices show that prices are a little higher than in December last.

Owing to the scarcety of butter top prices are now being paid. H. P. Gould & Co. are open for lots, large or small.

Gunn, Flavelle & Co. are offering special value in cheese of late make.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co. report they are open to buy tub and roll butter in any quantity.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are having big success with their "Ludella" tea, which retails at 25c. per lb. lead packet.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are in receipt of 500 cases of the choicest Patras currants, packed in Greece. The firm make a specialty of currants.

Dawson & Co. have this week received two carloads of Messina and Palermo lemons, and a car and a half of Valencia oranges.

The new "Globe" blend Congou lately introduced by W. H. Gillard & Co. is making friends quickly. The firm have received orders for over 12,000 pounds in the past month.

Hugh Walker & Son, Guelph, report the arrival of one car Valencia oranges, one car fancy California navel and seedling oranges, car extra fancy Palermo lemons, also car extra fine bananas, all in prime condition.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering white fish at $4, salmon trout $3.50, and fresh water herrings $1.50 per half-barrel.

W. Boulter & Sons are very low in their stock of canned goods. All they have left are gal. apples, 3-lb. apples, and a little raspberry and pumpkin.

Marshall & Co.'s Scotch fish delicacies are largely in demand at this season, the agents receiving good round orders.

F. W. Fearman, of Hamilton, has as usual made special preparations for the Easter demand, and is prepared to supply careful selections in hams and bacon, etc., of attractive appearance.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have sold over 700 boxes of Imperial plums since the first of the year, and have only a few of them left. "Consumers say they prefer the flavor to California goods," advise the firm.

Walter H. Wonham & Sons, Montreal, agents for Marshall & Co.'s (Aberdeen) Scotch fish delicacies, are just in receipt of large spring orders from Halifax, St. John, N.B., Winnipeg, London, Hamilton, Toronto.

Jams and jellies have become a staple article in the grocers' stock. T. A. Lytle & Co. are booking orders for this season's delivery that lead us to think household preserving must be going out of fashion.

ADDITIONAL MONTREAL NOTES.

C. H. Anderson, Toronto, is in Montreal arranging to extend the tea business for his India, Ceylon, and China houses from the Lower Provinces to the Coast. He handles Bathgate, Pim & Co.'s teas in Canada. They have offices in Colombo, Calcutta, and Foochow.

Frank Magor & Co. report the arrival of a round lot of new season's orange marmalade, (Southwell's). This brand is rapidly gaining friends from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

"During the recent cold spell we have had quite a run on our stock of Robinson's patent barley and patent groats," say Frank Magor & Co. These popular foods are just what people want during and after an attack of the grippe.

The manufacturers of Keen's mustard have recently sent out a new show card, which is very prettily designed. A monkey, after being teased by a fox terrier, retaliates by feeding the dog with a liberal allowance of Keen's mustard taken from his master's table. A large supply of these show cards will be at once sent out to the trade by the agents, Frank Magor & Co., Montreal.

HURRAH FOR PIERRE CURLE.

A Canadian Legend of Curling.

Why for dose Scotch man be so proud
An' promenade de town?
An mak' big hoorah on de hice
De sam' she's hall ee's hown?

What for she's wear Tom Shanty, ha
Flourish de broom de sam'
If he can swip dees country too
For play Pierre Curle his game?

Dey put de picture on de press
An mak' hup plenty yarn,
An' say heverybody on dat club
'S come from John Tomson ee's barn.

Ha! dass tout blag—juss foolishness,
Before dose Scotch fellah
Was civilize for wear some pants
We have curl on Canada.

On Canada dey's learn for play,
Halso what for call de game
For, Pierre—das stone, and for Pierre Curle,
Curling stone, das d' Hinglish name.

Dere's one grand history—romance also,
Attendez! I'm told you hall;
Who's start de game? Dass hole Pierre Curle, Across from Montreal.

Long time ago, before de bridge,
Before the steamboat, too,
Pierre run the Longueuil ferry boat
Hee's bring the mail also.

Bimeby she's froze up on de fall
An' mak' 'em smoothe an' nice.
But hit's can't pass de mail wagon,
He's not yet strong, de hice.

Marie's live cross de hudder side,
Pierre write 'em hevery day,
De ferry's froze, the mail she's block—
But love ee's find de way.

An' love ee's plenty smaat also,
She's not wait pretty long;
An' p'raps Pierre Curle ee's strong man, too,
But love mak' tree time strong.

Marie, ee's hungry wait for lettre,
She's swip de house an' cry,
B meby she's pass on d'water bank
An' waive de broom hup high.

One sheet of hice join dis two soul,
Also kip dem apart;
Den Pierre on ee's place write "my love,"
An Marie's put "sweetheart."

When Pierre see dat ee's write de lettre,
An' pass close to de shore;
He's tak' one stone—bout hundred poun'—
De love mak' one poun' more.

She's fast de lettre wit' true love knot,
She's swing de harm, once, twice,
An' de message go on hee's sweetheart
Across tree mile of hice.

Sometime de stone turn hin—turn hout—
For pass sum lump, mebbee—
Den cross de ridge—hog back, ye call—
An' stop where ee's mark de T.

Marie she says, "Dass strong love sure!"
She go on de store right straight,
An' buy 'leven yard red calico
For mak' de dress tout suite.

Now dass de sam' hole game dis day,
Since Pierre Curle mak' de start,
De message win de prize for sure
Dat come mos' close on de heart.

Now, hole an' young—some crank also—
De sam' lak broders come,
On school question ee's drown de hax,
Troubl's fly before the broom.

Hole Pierre hee's gone—but, in hour heart—
She's live so long de worl';
An' hevery nation mak' tree cheer
For Canada, also Pierre Curle.

HOW TO LIGHT STORE WINDOWS.

In lighting store windows the aim should be to throw the light on the goods, says an exchange. The old way of having a chandelier with one or two lights in the centre of the window did not meet this requirement. Two lamps, if lamps are used, placed in the corner of the window with reflectors behind them, will produce much better results. Gas can also be arranged in the same position. Of course, by far the best results can be secured from incandescent lights.

The business men of Madison, Wis., have formed an independent telephone company, and have taken as a basis of their new phones the principles of the Bell telephone, on which the patents have actually expired. This service is given to the city at $15 per annum, and it pays the company a very good profit at that. The Bell Company, attempting to crush out this new company, has offered its 'phones at $9 per annum.

CONTINUOUS BUSINESS-PAPER ADVERTISING.

AN ARGUMENT TO PROVE THE ADVANTAGE OF CONTINUOUS ADVERTISING.

By Nath'l C. Fowler, Jr., Doctor of Publicity.

In continuity is strength.

In disconnection is failure.

The builder of the Universe did not build something, Monday; and build nothing, Tuesday; and rebuild, Wednesday; and rest, Thursday.

He built something every day of the week, and only rested when He was through.

The forces of nature are continuous.

The fundamental principle of motion is everlasting.

The brook which runs on forever is the brook the fish live in.

The brook which dries up this month, and is a torrent next month, is the brook folks try to get rid of.

The man who feeds his horse on Monday, and gives him nothing to eat on Tuesday, has a weak horse on Wednesday, and a dead horse on Thursday.

The child who goes to school on Monday, and skips Tuesday, and attempts to connect the end of Monday's lesson with the beginning of Wednesday's lesson, is handicapped by conditions diametrically opposed to progressive education.

All things being equal, the store which has been the longest time in some one place is the store which does the greatest business.

Change of base, and especially change of business base, is only allowable excepting under conditions which make moving essential.

Money is made in specialties and bargains, but the fortunes of trade have been made, and always will be made, along the regular line of regularity; by handling busines to-day as it was yesterday, and by handling business to-morrow as it was handled to-day, subject to the changes of the times, and to the recognition of the conditions of progress.

Continuous good is far better, and more negotiable, than transient good, however good transient good may be.

The most progressive advertisers of the world have advertised continuously.

They advertised not for the fun of it.

They figure business on the hardest slate with the hardest pencil.

All that they do, they do for profit only.

Ninety-nine per cent. of successful advertisers are continuous advertisers.

The man who advertises in January, and discontinues his advertising in February, must advertise more extensively in March, in order to cover the gap his foolishness has created.

It takes more advertising in March to bridge the break of February than it does to advertise in January, February and March altogether.

There are lines of goods which can't be advantageously extensively advertised during certain months of the year, but advertising of those goods should never be completely annihilated.

It can be reduced in size, for any object, but it should be continuous, that there may be no need when extensive advertising again begins of connecting the two advertising periods.

The continuity which regulates all good business should be used in the regulation of advertising.

Advertising is no longer a luxury or a side issue.

It is a commodity.

It never will be successful unless it is handled the same way as are handled other commodities.

In the continuity of advertising is the good of it.

To break the advertising connection is to break trade connection.

Trade connection can be broken, advertising connection can be broken, and the house still remain successful, but the shrewd business man is not satisfied with the minimum of success. He is everlastingly striving for the maximum of success.

When he cuts expenses he cuts proportionately everywhere.

He does not stop advertising.

He advertises a little less, perhaps, but he advertises.

He never allows the medium he uses to go to press without the mention of his name and of his business.

He advertises in off-season, in order that the people may be better prepared to appreciate his efforts in season.

He keeps everlastingly at advertising, and wins.

Open Pan Salt

What is it? It is salt made by the OPEN PAN PROCESS. This is the method of manufacturing salt universally adopted in England, where so much good salt is made.

Open Pan Salt . . .

Is no experiment. It has been tried for years and never found wanting. It produces a medium grain salt that is far better for all ordinary purposes than a very fine grain.

B. Rattenbury, of B. & M. Rattenbury, pork packers, Charlottetown, P.E.I., is dead.

FIRES.

The premises of H. Rochon & Co., grocers, Montreal, have been damaged by smoke and water; insured.

Robert Barfett, general merchant, Newcastle, has been partially burned out. R. Lee, grocer, of the same place, has been burned out.

HOW WOMEN SHOULD SIGN.

Now that women are coming into public life and holding official positions, it is desirable to understand what constitutes a woman's business signature, says an exchange. A married woman signs her name just as a single woman signs hers—that is, with her Christian name, and the surname that belongs to her. This is her only proper signature. When Frances Folsom marries Grover Cleveland she signs herself thereafter as Frances Cleveland, or if she prefers to retain her family name, as most women do, she signs herself Frances Folsom Cleveland. Her address is distinctly different from her signature. A woman's social and business standing is usually conditioned by her husband's. Hence, for social and business convenience, she is known as Mrs. Grover Cleveland. But this is merely a distinguishing title, not her name, and, therefore cannot be used as a signature.

CAUSES OF FAILURE

In the Hardware Trade and How Avoided.

As long as there are failures, subjects that furnish information how to prevent them will always be timely. We have published, in pamphlet form, three admirable papers on the above topic, in which Over-Stocking, Expense, Capital, Credit, Discounts, Buying, etc., etc., are ably discussed. We will mail the whole three essays to any address on receipt of 25 cents

REPRESENTS the highest achievement in the art of curing and preparing Codfish ready for cooking.

NOTHING is used in this product but the finest of shore Codfish especially cured and dried for it.

THE disagreeable odor usually considered to be a necessary evil to be endured while cooking Codfish will be found to be entirely lacking in this.

EVERY particle of skin and bone being removed and the water evaporated, there is absolutely no waste. The contents of each package, therefore, is worth to the housekeeper about three times its weight in Codfish as ordinarily sold.

PUT UP in half-pound cartons, 3 doz. cartons to the case, and sold by the wholesale and retail grocers throughout Canada.

PARKER, EAKINS & CO. Curers and Dealers in Fish for Home and Export Trade YARMOUTH, NOVA SCOTIA

The Profits on "Windsor" Salt . . .

Put up in fine white cotton bags, and packed in paper lined barrels, amount to more per cent. than anything else you handle. Here are the figures:—

	Cost.	Sell for.	Profit.
100-3s.....	$2 75	$5 00	81 per cent.
42-7s.....	2 55	4 20	64 "
50-3s. & 21-7s.	2 75	4 60	67 "
30-10s.....	2 50	4 50	80 "
15-20s.....	2 40	3 75	60 "

Is there any reason why you should handle common salts when the very best pays such profits? You can order at these figures from any wholesale grocer in Toronto. How about a car of Land Salt?

FOR SAIL—

Was the sign on a building. The owner was asked when his house would SAIL, and replied, "Just as soon as the man comes along who can raise the wind."

The above is only put here to catch your eye, as it were. When you see the joke and repeat it to your customers, please say a word for "Cream Sodas" and see you sell the original brand, put up in blue-labelled three-pound tin boxes. They are trade winners. A woman will go blocks out of her way to get a second tin. Drop us a line and we will send you a sample tin at once.

Potted and Deviled Meats

We sold last year just 2,399,112 cans of our "Helmet" brand Potted and Deviled Meats. If figures prove anything, these prove that our Potted and Deviled Meats are good and sought after. We know how to make them just right. We use the best materials in proper proportions, and we spice the meats to a nicety. They open up moist and fresh and spicy. They spread well and make delicious sandwiches. For picnics, hunting, fishing parties and outing generally, these little cans of the "Helmet" brand are indispensable.

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, APRIL 3, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 14

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Peevishness in merchants is neither profitable nor politic.

Circular advertising seldom goes the round of the trade circle.

Merchants who pay attention to children earn the smiles of mothers.

Business men who keep moving are usually those who stick to one place.

On the ground that he cannot afford to be dishonest, every young man ought to be honest.

Taking it day in and day out, it is far safer to lie via the tongue than via the advertisement.

People riding hobbies should be careful: More hobbies are ridden to death than to victory.

Gold is all right as a lubricant, but it cannot take the place of persistency in business building.

The sun that frees the waters from their wintry ice bonds will cause trade to flow more freely.

There are fools who kill business as well as fools who kill men. The price cutter is one of them.

When a man jokes about sand in sugar it is safe venturing that the sand of his jokes is running low.

It is well to look at a business twice before you wed yourself to it: love at first sight is not always wise love.

It is a poor shallow specimen of humanity that skims milk in order to gather a few extra cents for his pocket.

It is significant that the British Government's bill permanently excluding live cattle from Great Britain should have followed closely on the promise in the Queen's speech to do something to mitigate the agricultural distress obtaining.

Those who are not converted to early closing by these warm, spring-like days must be past redemption.

Good trade cannot be secured by bad goods any more than can a wagon be pulled uphill by drawing the linch-pin.

Courteousness in merchants or clerks cannot run and be glorified when weighted down with affectation and formality.

Penuriousness in advertising is not judiciousness. And judiciousness in advertising is one of the secrets of success in business.

If more men were to "post" themselves before going into business there would be less posting of books by assignees afterwards.

Jump is the name of the secretary of the Southport (Eng.) Grocers' Association, which may account for the association's being ever on the move.

Merchants and manufacturers who are not as careful regarding the reputation of their products as they are of their character are likely to lose both.

There is a good deal of "squealing" in Ireland because of the competition of Danish bacon on the English market, and it is not the hogs that are squealing either.

The Proprietory Articles Trade Association of England wields, evidently, a powerful arm: It has decided that retailers' profits on patent medicines shall be 20 to 25 per cent.

Le Prix Courant, of Montreal, came to hand last week in elaborate and substantial form. It was the annual spring number. The cover was handsomely lithographed and its 85 pages showed excellent letter press as well as liberal advertising patronage. Le Prix Courant has reasserted its right to be termed the prince of French-Canadian trade journals.

A merchant can no more exist upon the reputation he made years ago than can a locomotive proceed on its journey by the aid of the coal consumed the day before.

Commercial travelers who were recently snow-bound for three days were surrounded by lots of the "beautiful"; but they did not see it: it was not the business with which they were enamored.

A merchant cannot take his store with him after he departs this life, no matter where his destination may be; but that is no reason why he should be careless about the appearance of his store.

If the gentlemen at Ottawa, Liberal and Conservative alike, instead of fighting on a comparatively barren question, would turn their attention from Manitoba schools to cold storage they would benefit Canada more.

This is what may be termed a carom shot: It hit the nail on the head and administered an undercut to the House of Commons. And Dr. Parkin made it.

With the sap running freely, the man who makes "maple" sugar and syrup in his cellar is out of the race altogether. Nature doesn't say much, but she's all powerful when she settles down to work. There is no competing with her.

An association that does nothing for the benefit of the trade it represents has no excuse for existence; and the members of an association who cannot make it live and health-imparting to business should turn their attention to sawing wood.

No matter how learned and experienced a merchant may be, he cannot without his trade paper know what is going on in the commercial world any more than can a man, be he as tall as a Colossus, see all that is going on in the world around him.

A CANADIAN GROCER ON TEA.

ON Thursday last it was our pleasure to receive a call from Mr. John Sloan, of Galt., Ont., Canada, wholesale and retail dealer in crockery and groceries. Mr. Sloan has made a hobby of tea for the past fifteen years, and keeps in stock some thirty varieties. Experience has taught that little dependence could be placed on books for a thorough knowledge of the article, and therefore he made the leaf his special study until he became thoroughly familiar with the peculiarities of the various sorts and the names of Indian, Ceylon, China and Japan teas. His rule is to buy on cup quality alone, making style a secondary consideration. In order to secure to customers a uniform article and to ensure their receiving the tea which pleases at each purchase, an index book is kept, in which are placed the names of all customers, together with a memorandum of the tea purchased and the date, and this is kept for ready reference whenever a customer buys tea.

Mr. Sloan has made a special study of Ceylon teas, using them, however, largely for blending, as they work together exceedingly well with China blacks, particularly the different makes of Congou. He finds that tea from the same garden in Ceylon varies from season to season, and that one cannot rely upon the tea from a certain garden for uniformity simply because it has been a prize-winner for several successive seasons. Each lot of tea must be studied on its merits. Those Ceylon teas which are best adapted for selling straight must be of a very high order. They are popular in Galt, as are the blended Ceylons. He thinks the variation in the character of Ceylon teas from season to season is to some extent due to the soil, which is shallow, the owners of gardens neglecting to keep them up to proper condition, the result being tea of varying quality.

Mr. Sloan does not use Japans to any great extent for blending, preferring to sell them straight. He is not partial to basket-fired tea. In his district in Ontario the dealer has to contend against the water, which is strongly impregnated with lime, so that the teas which please in that section would not be in such great favor in other markets, even such as are as near as Toronto. Mr. Sloan finds, however, that customers who have become addicted to the use of any one particular sort are so wedded thereto that it is very difficult to induce the use of some other variety, even though it may be of much higher value and merit. When such consumers move away they send back to Canada to get some of the same sort of tea they formerly used.

Mr. Sloan is not at all friendly to package teas, finding they vary in quality, the standard of grade not being maintained; therefore, he favors buying tea on its merits, in bulk, and selling it loose, never putting it up in packages, except in three or five pound boxes for such customers as desire to purchase that quantity.

Mr. Sloan has also found that the heads of the tea departments of some of the jobbing houses are lamentably ignorant of tea and are unable to detect different varieties and to designate them from the leaf; they are also deficient in a knowledge of various matters connected with the cultivation and preparation of tea. Some cannot name the different sorts of Congou and tell in which part of the district they are grown.—American Grocer, N.Y.

Mr. Sloan is one of the oldest of THE CANADIAN GROCER'S subscribers. He is up-to-date and has one of the finest grocery stores in the Dominion.—ED. GROCER.

DEATH OF MRS. ROBINSON.

The wife of Ally Robinson, western representative for Richards' soaps, died in Woodstock, Saturday, March 28th, aged 36 years, and was buried in Parkhill, Monday, March 30. Ally is one of the well-known travelers that cover Western Ontario, and his many friends extend him their heart-felt sympathy in his hour of bereavement. A family of six boys are left to mourn the loss of a mother.

ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR CO.

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery Company (Ltd.,) held at their office Wednesday last, the following Board of Directors was elected for the ensuing year:—Messrs. James Crathern, Robert Hampson, J. M. Douglas, E. A. Reincke, A. Baumgarten, and Theo. Labatt. At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Mr. A. Baumgarten was elected president, Mr. Labatt, vice-president, and Mr. W. B. McNally was appointed secretary.

ABYSSINIA TEA.

An official report from Abyssinia, reproduced in part by The Tropical Agriculturist, states: "Chaat is a shrub very extensively cultivated both in Shoa and in the countries adjacent. It is in general use among the inhabitants as a substitute for tea, which, in all its properties and qualities, it closely resembles. The plant is said to have been brought originally from the western mountains, of which the elevation being from 5,000 to 8,000 feet, agrees with that of the Chinese tea districts, while the average temperature does not exceed 60 deg. Fahrenheit. In a light gravelly soil it attains the height of 12 feet, and the leaves being plucked during the dry season, and well dried in the sun, fetch from 1d. to 2d. the pound. They are either chewed or boiled in milk, or infused in water, and by the addition of honey a pleasant beverage is produced, which being bitter and stimulative, dispels sleep if used to excess. The virtues of the chaat are equally to be appreciated with those of the yerba mate, recently introduced into England from Brazil and Paraguay."

ADVERTISING AXIOMS.

THE following gems of advertising wisdom and advice were sent to the press a short time since by a New York advertising agent:

The reward of the faithful advertiser is certain.

Man advertises and the people make purchases.

"Many men, many minds." Many ads. in many publications, many buyers.

"From nothing (in the leading publications) nothing comes." From something, however, results are sure to come.

"May his fame endure forever"—The advertiser who advertises with sensible copy that appeals to the sense of the people.

"The better the day, the better the deed." The better the "ad." and the better the mediums used, the better the results.

If you have something that the people need, advertise "with courage and faith," and the people at home and abroad will respond to your profit.

Do not forget that an advertisement in "perpetual motion," if it is good, will wear its way into the people's memory, with consequent results to you.

Here is a suggestion—"Make your advertisement an argument deriving its force from the situation, and present it clearly to all to whom it is addressed."

Lack of trade is bitter, but results from good advertising are sweet.

"Art is long, but life is short." Don't make your "ad." too long or too short.

"The effect ceases with the cause." Therefore, advertise with constancy.

"Ads." should be written in words that burn, but not necessarily in glowing language.

The motto of New Mexico: "It increases by going." So does an "ad." Is yours going?

"The burden which is well borne becomes light," and the "ad." well printed brings heavy results.

"Better be wise than rich," says an old proverb, but the majority by far would rather advertise and get rich.

To be prominent anywhere one must have marked characteristics. So it is with an advertisement in the crowded columns of newspapers and magazines; in order to produce the best result it must be clear, definite, conspicuous and fresh.

PRODUCTION OF OLEOMARGARINE

The production of oleomargarine in this country during the past eight years expanded considerably, but latterly the increase has been slow. The Government (internal revenue) figures are as follows:

	Pounds.
1895	53,264,475
1894	66,427,900
1893	65,061,775
1892	47,283,750
1891	43,574,422
1890	309,6 ,286
1889	33,865,120
1888	32,667,755

Judging by the foregoing figures the consumption of oleo in this country cuts but an infinitesmal figure beside that of butter. The production of butter in the United States, it is estimated, varies between 800,000,000 and 900,000,000 pounds.—Merchants' Review.

UNPROFITABLE SERVANTS.

AN agitation has been started in the United States with the object of holding a convention of business men to inform the politicians "of the attitude of the business world on the coinage question."

In Canada we have no coinage question to disturb and unsettle trade. Our currency is quite suitable to our requirements. But our politicians need to be informed of a good many things of which they are now designedly or unconsciously ignorant.

Both Cabinet and Parliament at Ottawa need to be taught the lesson that trimming sails for party exigencies or pandering to race and creed is not transacting the business of the country. On the contrary, while these things obtain, the business of the country is being undone instead of done.

The present session is one of the most lamentable evidences we have had of this since Confederation. For three months, the House has been in session; and what for? Merely to keep boiling the pot of race and creed; dividing race against race and creed against creed; creating food for sharpening the appetites of fanatics, who in the name of religion would tear each other to pieces.

While this is going on not only are the business interests of the country dying of neglect, but the Dominion is retrograding. A country cannot stand still. It must either go forward or backward. There is no middle point where it can lie down and sleep.

Goodness knows when this race and religious war in the hearts of the people will give place to peace. But one thing is certain: every year it continues it throws the country and the business interests of the country back a decade. If this thing goes on we shall ere long be back into the middle ages, instead of stepping into the van of the nations, where the natural resources of the Dominion and where the physique of our citizens entitle us to be.

Had the politicians at Ottawa—we cannot call them statesmen; we have no statesmen, or, at least, enough to act as pall-bearers to a light-weight corpse — passed the three months in discussing ways and means of hoeing corn they would have done more good than they have done in discussing the question they have: they would not, at any rate, have done as much harm.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is fully persuaded that the Manitoba school question could have been amicably settled in three weeks at the outside, had the politicians been as zealous for the interests of this country as they have been for party welfare.

Had the different mercantile institutions of this country been conducted for three months on the same lines as the business of the Dominion has been at Ottawa during the last three months, what would have been the result?

Supposing, for instance, that the clerks and salesmen of the different establishments had arranged themselves into different factions and had spent their time day after day for three months reviling each other with a view to gaining some personal advantage, allowing, at the same time, the interests of their employers to go by the board, what would be the natural consequence? It would be either one or two things: If the employers did not throw these unprofitable servants out root and branch, the creditors would throw out the unwise employers in short order.

The gentlemen who sit in Cabinet places at Ottawa and occupy seats in Parliament there are the servants of the people. The general election—the day of reckoning—is not many moons away, and if the masters do not treat their servants as they richly deserve to be treated they will have proved themselves to be no longer fit for representative government. But the masters are aroused, and if they keep aroused, the next Parliament will see an at least partially refined membership.

The question is not so much now whether a candidate for parliamentary honors is Grit or Tory, as is he possessed of average business common sense. What the business interests of this country need in Parliament is first of all men who are schooled in business practice, and men with whom party is a secondary consideration.

This country is reaching a critical stage in its history. There are questions pressing upon us that demand the attention of statesmen, not ward politicians. Although there is a dearth of these men in Parliament, thank goodness there is not in the country. We want now to bring into public life those who are in private life and relegate to private life the great majority of those at present in public life. There need be no concern for the future of the Dominion then.

BULLISH SALMON NEWS.

TO give anything like an adequate forecast of next season's market for canned salmon would be fallacious: many things may develop to knock it to the winds.

It is perfectly in order, however, to deal with conditions as they are to-day. These conditions are bullish in character, whatever they may turn out to be before the regular salmon-canning season materializes.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is led to these conclusions by advices received in Toronto within the last few days from the Coast.

This is about the time of the year when the canners make their contracts for fish, and the advices in question state that the figure which the canners have agreed to pay per fish next season is 25c. The significance of this will be appreciated when it is remembered that the ruling price last year was 10c. per fish.

Twenty-five cents per fish means that the actual cost of putting up a case of first-class salmon would be something in the neighborhood of $4.75.

Last year the idea for first-class and well-known brands of red salmon was $4.50 f.o.b. Coast. This price was 90c. per case more than in 1894, and led to more careful buying on the part of wholesalers than usual, with the result that some of the standard brands did not come to this market in such large quantities as formerly, purchases having, in some instances, being too long deferred. And if the price last season frightened them, what will that based upon an actual cost of $4.75 per case to the canner do?

At the prices which salmon has been selling this season there has undoubtedly been a check in the consumption, and if the cost of putting up salmon is around what the advices in question assert it will be, the diminished consumption will be still more pronounced next season.

The Canadian consuming public have got into the habit of paying 25c. for two tins of salmon, and when they cannot secure them at that figure a good many will turn their attention to something else. If it is going to cost the packer $4.75 per case, obviously the retailer cannot sell two tins for a quarter.

But salmon fishing is a long way off, and many things may develop in the meantime.

It might be stated that the high price at which canners have contracted for next season's fish is due to competition among the canners themselves. Even the price paid to the fishermen last year was declared by the packers to be unduly high.

MAPLE SYRUP PROSPECTS.

The present weather is favorable to the yield of maple sugar and syrup, and though it is yet too early to speak with certainty the prospect is considered encouraging.

It is understood that an effort will be made this year to introduce this famous

Canadian delicacy to the English consumer. That it will please their palates if the goods are of the right kind is a foregone conclusion, and exporters should bear this fact in mind.

First impressions are everything and they should make it a dead certainty that the 1,000 gallons of syrup and the 500 pounds of sugar which are to be the initial shipment should be A1 in quality.

THE EGG MARKET.

THE egg market is not as satisfactory to sellers as it was a year ago at this time, prices being about three cents per dozen lower.

The cause is quite natural: Last year early in the season the market was cleaned up of pickled and cold storage stock in order to satisfy the demand from the United States. This year no such demand was experienced, with what result every dealer is fully acquainted.

As we write, the wholesale price on the Toronto market is 13c. per dozen for new laid. But what the figure will be to-morrow or next day is problematical. In view of this the buying is of a hand-to-mouth character. The price is ruled from day to-day by the receipts.

A good many people in the country appear to be still sticking to the old custom of holding their eggs as near as possible to the Easter holidays in the hope that better prices will then obtain. This kind of speculation has proved so fallacious in the past that it is surprising that so many people experiment with it again.

No matter how large a market may be, there is a limit to it. Hence, when eggs or any other commodity are sent on the market with a rush that chokes the exit, and causes it to overflow, prices must necessarily fall. There are exceptions, of course, but it it is better to be guided by the rule than the exception.

A SPICE MILL FAILS.

On Friday last, a demand of assignment was made on the Globe Spice Mills Co., 393 St. Paul street, Montreal. The assets consist of the stock in trade, fixtures, etc., and until the accountant, Charles Mignault, makes his inventory, the prospect for the creditors is not known. There are sixty-two creditors, whose liabilities aggregate $13,000, the largest of whom are the Banque Jacques Cartier, $3,842; Bank of Nova Scotia, $1,296; Charles Cote, $410; Doyle & Anderson, $267; Thomas Davidson & Co., $290; J. B. Lafontaine, $287; W. M. Knowles & Co., $221; Lazarus, Rosenfeld & Lehan, $302; William Morandeville, $250; Geo. P. Magann, $700; McKee Bros., $394; E. A. Parrott, $475; J. C. Simpson, $538; R. N. Tomblyn & Co., $233, and the R. T. French Co., $238.

WHOLESALE GROCER FAILS.

PATRICK GRACE & CO., wholesale grocers, Montreal, assigned on Monday last at the demand of A. E. Mallette, wholesale liquor merchant.

The liabilities are in the vicinity of $95,000, and until an inventory is made the prospects for the creditors are not known, but it is believed that they are fair, as there is a quantity of fairly valuable real estate to realize on.

The assets consist of a stock of groceries, liquors, six horses, summer and winter vehicles, harnesses, book debts; also, a share in his inheritance in the estate of the late Patrick Grace, upon which there is a mortgage of $10,000 in favor of W. J. Grace. The immovable properties are: One property in the city of Quebec, one in St. Cesaire, P.Q., one in St. Denis Ward, and one in Casselman, Ont.; all deeds and titles to be deposited with the curator as soon as he is appointed. There are 85 creditors, whose liabilities aggregate between $90,000 and $95,000. The largest creditors are the Banque du Peuple, $23,638; Molsons Bank (direct), $4,950; J. Barsalou & Co., $339; J. Dugal, $454; V. Gauvreau, $516; Globe Spice Mills Co., $535; W. J. Grace, $2,500; M. T. Grace, $3,200; Estate Patrick Grace, $2,225; C. Gratton, $244; C. Jobit & Co., $355; Laporte, Martin & Co., $675; M. Lefebvre & Co., $13,000; D. Masson & Co., $228; Morin & Co., $717; A. E. Mallette, $205; E. Neoreau, $263; Jas. O'Farrell, $2,540; T. Patenaude, $210, and W. R. Wonham & Sons, $206.

Indirect—Molsons Bank, $19,821.

Mortgages—W. J. Grace, mortgage on one-fifth of any inheritance in estate of late P. Grace, $10,000; on Quebec property, $150, and on St. Denis Ward property, $100.

SUMMER FREIGHT RATES.

The Montreal Board of Trade were notified on Tuesday last by the G.T.R. and C.P.R. that the summer freight rates on all kinds of merchandise went into effect on April 1st. This, it is expected, will brighten up trade materially.

QUALITY OF CANADIAN MILK.

The following figures are taken from Bulletin No. 43 of the Inland Revenue Department, and give the result of the analysis of milk last year, together with a comparison with the analysis of 1892:

	Percentage of genuine samples.
	1892.	1895.
All the localities	60.6	71.9
Halifax	58.3	66.6
Quebec	61.5	86.1
Montreal	72.2	72.7
Ottawa	73.1	62.5
Toronto	50.0	50.0
London	55.5	66.6
St. Thomas	75.0	100 0

Commenting upon these figures, Chief Analyst McFarlane says: "From these figures, it would appear that there has been a general improvement in the quality of the milk supply, and that this is also observable in the cities of Halifax, Quebec, London, and St. Thomas. On the other hand, the quality has remained stationery in Montreal and Toronto, and has deteriorated in the case of Ottawa."

MAKE A GOOD IMPRESSION.

A customer who comes into the store for the first time and is satisfied with the prices, the treatment she receives, the appearance of the store and the clerks therein, will surely come again; but it takes some time until a customer gets enough confidence in a storekeeper to call him his or her grocer, says Retail Grocers' Advocate.

It is a very good recommendation if a lady says "Mr. So and So is my grocer," providing such a lady is a good customer, good payer, and well known in your neighborhood.

The more those customers call the same grocer their grocer, the better it is for him and his business.

SYSTEM IN THE STORE.

EDITOR GROCER.—System sounds very nice and plausible on paper, but the next thing is to get it in working order. I can readily understand it in a large city store, where everyone has his particular department and work laid out; but how can it be accomplished in a general store, where we go out and take orders in the country four times a week, delivering them the following day or so, and when everyone seems to have a finger in the pie of all the work, and the old saying, everyone's business is nobody's business?

Take it in a store where there are four or five employed, and when orders are taken outside of the store, it is a difficult task to lay out the work.

I have received many valuable hints from THE CANADIAN GROCER, and would like to know how some situated similar to us get it down to a system so as to expedite the amount of work.

Would you give us your views on the subject, and ask some of the successful general storekeepers their experience. I am sure it would be of great interest to us and a benefit to a number of the numerous readers of your widely read journal. Would prefer if you would ask the question as if you were desiring the information yourself.

I put in an oar for you whenever the oppartunity occurs, telling travelers we saw so-and-so mentioned or quoted in THE CANADIAN GROCER. Please excuse my numerous questions, but that seems the only way to keep up with the times.

Yours, etc.,

A SUBSCRIBER.

REMARKS: THE CANADIAN GROCER is firmly convinced that system can obtain in all branches of trade, the difference being only one of degree. Will some of our readers give us their ideas and experiences in short and terse letters? THE EDITOR.

SUBSTITUTION OF GOODS IN WAREHOUSE.

THE question of the substitution of goods held under a warehouse receipt has been receiving a lot of attention from the mercantile public of late. The cause was the testimony of General Manager Hague, of the Merchants' Bank, in an insurance case at Montreal recently. This was an action taken by the bank, and one Chisholm, a warehouseman, for the recovery of some insurance from the Citizens' Insurance Co.

Evidence was adduced showing clearly that goods were regularly substituted for others in Chisholm's warehouse. In the course of his examination Bank Manager Hague stated that substitution was allowable under certain circumstances.

This stand was disputed by several other bank managers, and at last individual merchants demanded that the Montreal Board of Trade should take such action as would correct any impression that might arise that the substitution of goods under a warehouse receipt was the custom, and allowable in Montreal.

The Executive of the Board held a private meeting which is currently reported as a pretty hot one, and opinions were not minced, it is understood. It finally culminated in the following resolution, taking a directly opposite stand from that of Manager Hague, in fact declaring the practice criminal. The resolution was : "That the Council of the Montreal Board of trade desires to correct an impression which appears to prevail, that the substituting of goods held under warehouse receipts is allowable, and the custom in Montreal. And the Council desires to make known the fact that that substitution is a criminal offence."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Geo. I. Middleton, late with H. P. Eckardt & Co., has joined the traveling staff of the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., and will cover the Western Ontario territory — Grand Trunk, Main Line and Southern Division West, Brantford, Woodstock, Stratford, St. Mary's, Sarnia, Chatham, etc. Mr. Middleton has covered this territory for the last seven years, and, by carefully watching his customers' interests and close application to business, has justly gained a high reputation on the road.

PROFITS VS. QUALITY.

Too many grocers think of their profits to the exclusion of every other consideration, which is a mistake, says Grocery World. A grocer may make 50 per cent. on one article and only 15 per cent. on another, yet in the end the 50 per cent. article may prove to have netted him an actual loss. Quality is the main thing. Every article which leaves the establishment is an advertisement, and will impress the purchaser more strongly than any newspaper advertisement ever written. If it is shoddy, and embodies poor value for the money charged, the buyer's trade will be lost, and the apparently handsome profit reaped on it will turn into a heavy loss. On the other hand, a strictly high-grade article embodying unusually or even ordinary good value for the price, even though the profit on it be but half that made in the former case, may, by trade held and extended, result in a splendid profit.

BUILDING UP A BUSINESS.

THE man who aspires to establish a permanent paying business will take great care in laying his foundations, writes John G. Graham, in Printers' Ink. No matter what particular line he may be in, he may have the very laudable ambition to lead in his trade, to make his name pre-eminent among his fellows and to have his goods mentioned as the best of their class. The grandest advertisement ever penned is poor compared to a reputation for keeping honest goods and telling the truth about them. In building up a business be careful not to make a false start by neglecting this. Found your business on truth, and the superstructure is bound to be a success, but if your foundation rests on false goods and false statements, your business is in danger of tottering at any minute, and is almost certain of collapse sooner or later.

If you are in business "for keeps" you must strive to please the public permanently. It won't do to give real bargains occasionally and practise a "skin" game in between. Never advertise what you haven't got and can't supply. To the crowd who visit your store in response to such ads you are simply furnishing an object lesson in lying. You will make more enemies than friends that way. It is a great thing to have your advertisements implicitly believed. It is easy, too, if you always tell the truth. People are as quick to appreciate the truth as they are to condemn falsehood.

In building up a business you should choose your employes with great care and discrimination. Everyone of your salespeople should be polite. Courtesy to all is one of the first essentials in a well organized store. And the best way to teach your employes politeness is to set the example yourself in your relations with them. Don't earn a reputation for being mean or over-strict with your help. Try and make each individual feel that he or she is a part of the firm, and that much depends on his or her personal efforts. Do everything you can to make your help comfortable—kindness goes further than bullying. Well treated employes are great advertisements. People will talk about where they work and how they are treated. Don't forget this item—it is a very important one. Your help when out of the store can do you a great deal of good or harm—just according to the way they are treated. And the more help you employ the more good or bad advertising you will get.

No big business is built up in a hurry. It takes time, patience, care and watchfulness. It can't very well be done without advertising, and plenty of it, but such advertising is not so much an expense as a source of profit. Without it the business could not grow so fast or so extensively. With it, done judiciously, it can't help growing.

The advertising should be proportionate to the business. Never do more than you can afford to. At the commencement you have to be sparing of space. As the store grows so should your space—you can pay for it better, and the added advertising will make the store grow still bigger.

Another point in building up a business is to get a reputation for prompt pay. That's a big advertisement in itself. If you can pay cash for everything you buy you'll get the best, and you'll get it cheaper than the thirty or sixty days man could. People will be glad to deal with you, are sure to talk favorably of you, and you'll get plenty of first offers or "options" on goods that credit men would not be asked to buy. The big businesses that have been built up in this and other countries were chiefly started and managed on the above lines.

ONE TRADE TRICK.

"These goods are marked down one-half in order to clear out old stock," read the sign in the store window.

The retired tradesman sighed as he saw it. "Life is full of deceits," he said, reflectively, "and especially business life. Now, if these goods were really old stock, do you suppose they'd be marked down?"

"Why not?" said I.

"Because the firm never could get rid of them. If you ever go into trade, John, and find yourself possessed of a lot of old stock that you want to get rid of, the thing to do is to mark up the price instead of marking it down."

"How so?" said I.

"When I was in business," he replied, "I remember one time we had a lot of fancy shirt-fronts—gaudy things you know, moons and stars on them, and all that. They were in wretched taste, and we could not sell them. So, after they had lain around for awhile, we marked the price up one-half and stuck them in the window as the very latest Paris importation. If they had been cheap, nobody would have had them. But the average buyer judges almost wholly of value by prices. So, when we put the price up, everybody thought they must be something extra, and so we sold the whole lot inside of three days. There's tricks in all trades, John."—Buffalo Express.

THE RISE AND FALL

Of man is not half so perplexing a question to a good baker as the "rise and fall" of a batch of cakes. The cakes are mixed all right—all the conditions are favorable—but the ultimate result depends upon the baking powder.

How important, then, is it to have a good reliable article—one that does its work accurately and effectively at all times.

Now, Baking Powder is a specialty with us. We put it up under special labels for the trade, thus enabling them to reap directly the results of their push and energy, and have a trade exclusively their own.

There is no question about the merit of the powder. It is compounded upon strictly scientific principles, and was only offered to the public after exhaustive and satisfactory tests. Another thing—there is a handsome margin in it for you.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

TRADE exhibits a little more life this week. It is by no means active yet. All that can be said is that there is an improvement. During the week quite a few sorting up orders have been received from the country, dealers evidently being desirous of getting their stocks into shape before the usual break up of the country roads. While country trade has improved, city trade has gone the other way during the past week. Sugar is stronger in the outside markets, and a little more business is being done by the Canadian refineries. High-grade coffees are also a little firmer in price on the primary markets. The canned meat trade is beginning to pick up, and retailers are a little more disposed than they were to buy canned salmon. Tomatoes and peas continue in strong position. Spices are quiet and steady. There is not much doing in teas, although, if anything, the demand is a little better than it was. Foreign dried fruits are in moderate demand at unchanged prices. Payments still are slow.

CANNED GOODS.

Salmon is experiencing a slightly better demand this week, although the output is still light. The wholesalers are this week beginning to place orders for canned meats. Peas are getting very scarce, and the position of tomatoes is becoming stronger. Corn is weak and can be obtained at almost any price. The low price at which corn is being sold has induced an increased consumptive demand. "I am inclined to think," remarked a well-known and conservative wholesaler, "that all the corn will be used up yet." We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 70 to 80c.; peas, 95c. for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2.00; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.35 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.10 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, 7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

COFFEE.

A cable received by a Toronto house this week announced that fine grades of Rio coffee will cost ½c. per pound more than they did three weeks ago, and that in these descriptions of coffee no decline was anticipated. The local market remains much the same as it was a week ago. We quote green in bags: Rio, 18c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

There is no special feature to note. The Canadian refineries have little syrup to offer; some have none. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.

MOLASSES.

Trade is fair, but without any special feature. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 35c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The sugar market is attracting a little more attention this week, although it is not on account of the volume of business that is being done: It is because of the appreciation in the outside markets. Prices fell off a little on the London market on Saturday, but this week opened out with a steady tone, while New York, on Monday, advanced 1-16c. per lb. on granulated, which is now quoted at 5c. by the Trust. Receipts from Cuba are almost nil and are expected soon to reach the vanishing point. Business on the Toronto market has improved a little during the week, but the turnover is still small. Prices rule as before. Demerara sugar in sacks is in stock with some of the Toronto wholesale houses this week. Wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅝c.; yellows, 3⅞c. up.

SPICES.

Business is picking up a little. Prices in the primary markets have a firmer tendency all round. Pepper has advanced. Quotations locally are as before. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

Japan rice is firm at outside points; locally there is no change. Business is quiet at 3½ to 3⅝c. for ordinary.

NUTS.

New season's Brazil nuts are on the market this week. They will sell at about 11c. per lb. Trade is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 14 to 15c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

The market has ruled dull on all kinds. A few transactions are reported in low-grade Young Hysons, in which kind some of the shippers have nearly cleaned out last year's stock. China blacks are neglected, and there is nothing doing in Japan teas on wholesale account. A few parcels of Indian and Ceylon teas have changed hands during the week, principally in low and medium grades. Wholesalers report a little better enquiry for Japan teas. We quote ruling prices to retailers: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

Currants are in fair demand at unchanged prices. We quote as follows: Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

The demand continues fair for Valencia raisins. We quote: Off-stalk 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; selected, 6 to 6¼c., and layers, 6½c.

An improved demand for California loose muscatels has developed. Apricots are dull, and slightly higher prices are ruling for peaches. We quote: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 6½ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.; loose muscatels, 4½ to 6½c. per lb.

California prunes are strong. There is a fair demand in the local market for prunes, those of California growth still getting the preference. We quote: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c., "U," 102 to lb., 6½ to 6¾c.; California prunes, 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70 80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

Stocks of Sultanas in Smyrna are about exhausted, and there is a general scarcity of low and medium fruit in London. Prices are firm. Locally the conditions are much the same as a week ago. The idea as to price is still 5½ to 6c.

Eleme figs are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Eleme, 14 oz., 9 to 10½c.; 10 lb., 9½ to 12½c.; 12 lb., 12½c.; 28 lb., 15c.

Dates still rule quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges have found a ready sale during the week, and stocks have been kept fairly complete by the arrival of fresh shipments. Prices rule slightly higher than a week ago. The demand is principally for California navels, although a good many Messinas are being asked for on account of their price. The price of California oranges continues to stiffen. The tone of the lemon market is easy, but prices are already so very low that the trade can scarcely conceive that they will go any lower. On the contrary, they look for higher figures with warmer weather and an increased demand. The demand for lemons is good. Pine apples are slow of sale, and there are not many coming forward. Bananas are experiencing a good demand. A number of carloads have arrived during the week, but the fruit, which is coming forward green, is slow to ripen. There is a good enquiry from the country for bananas. The demand for apples is good, but the supply is limited, with prices firmer. Returns denote further improvement on the English market. We quote as follows: Lemons—Messina, $2.25 to $3.25 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $4 to $4.75, according to size; ditto seedlings, $3 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $5.50 to $6; Jumbo's, 420's, $6.75 to $7; ditto, 714's, $6.75 to $7; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $2 to $2.25; ditto, boxes, $3 75 to $4.25. Bananas, $1.25 to $1.75; cocoanuts, $3.50 to $4 a sack; apples, Spies, $3.50 to $4, Baldwins, $2.50 to $2 75, greenings, $2.25 to $2.50 a barrel; Russets, $1.75 to $3; domestic onions, 75c. per bag; Spanish onions, 75c. per small crate; pineapples, 25 to 35c.; sweet potatoes, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; cranberries, $5 to $8 per bbl., and $2.50 to $3 per case, according to quality.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Although a little more butter has been coming in, the supply of good butter is still insufficient for the demand, and prices rule fractionally higher than a week ago for large rolls. There is practically no tub butter except low-grade coming forward, and there is little demand for that. We hear of some enquiry from Montreal for low-grade butter, but it does not appear to have led to any transaction. There is a lot of low-grade butter on this market that dealers would only be too glad to get rid of. We quote: Early summer dairy store packed, 8 to 10c; good to choice fresh packed, 16 to 17c.; large rolls, fresh, 17 to 18c.; dairy pound prints, 18 to 19c. Fresh creamery—Tubs, 21 to 22c.; do., pound prints, 22 to 23c.

CHEESE—The Old Country markets are a little better, and there is a fair demand locally. The demand is principally for late make cheese at 9c., although the range is from 8½ to 9c. Early make is quoted at 8 to 8¼c., but the quality is not desirable.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Trade continues quiet, at from 90c. to $1.

DRIED APPLES—Market is still quiet, with the jobbing price unchanged at 3¾ to 4c.

EVAPORATED APPLES — Are neglected with prices easy at 6 to 6½c. per lb.

EGGS—As we write 13c. is the idea for new laid eggs, but this price is subject to change from day to day just in proportion as the receipts are large or small. The demand is only of a hand-to-mouth character.

HONEY—The market is still quiet, with prices nominally as they were before. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—There is practically no poultry on the market, and quotations are nominal. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

POTATOES—The market is firmer, and we hear of transactions on track at 22c.; out of store dealers are asking 30c. per bag.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—Are quiet and unchanged. We quote old as before: Syrup, small packages, 90c. to $1; ditto, 5 gallon tins, 80c.; sugar, 10c. per lb.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The demand is fairly steady for all lines of provisions, although orders are small. The demand for smoked meats has been a little better lately. There has been a good demand for lard, stocks of which are light. Prices are a little easier both on lard and bacon.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 6¼c. for carload lots, and 6½ to 6¾c. for small lots; backs, 7¼ to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS — Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7 to 7¼c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 8½ to 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 9½ to 10c.; small hams, 10c.; backs, 9 to 9½c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8c.; tubs, 8½c.; pails, 8¾c.

The Toronto Cold Storage Co. are prepared to store all kinds of meats, produce, etc., at very reasonable rates.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The fish trade continues dull for the Lenten season. The feature of the trade this week is the arrival on the market of fresh caught trout. They are caught through the ice, and sell wholesale at from 7½ to 8c. per lb. The oyster trade is nearly over for the season. We quote oysters: Standards at $1.30 to $1.35, and selects $1.70. Fish are quoted as follows: Skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; haddock, 5 to 6c.; Labrador herring, $3.25 to $3.50 half barrel and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; Newfoundland herring, $2.50 per half barrel, and $4.50 to $4.75 per barrel; fresh water salt herring, $3 per barrel; blueback herring, 4c.; pike, 6 to 7c. per lb.; flitched cod, 5c.; finnan haddies, 7c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 11c.; ditto, lengthwise, 10c.; large halibut, 12 to 15c.; Restigouche salmon, 20 to 25c.; British Columbia salmon, 14 to 15c.; mackerel, 20 to 25c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; black bass, 9 to 10½c.; white fish, 7c.; salmon trout, 7c.; Lake Superior whitefish, 7½c.; Lake Winnipeg whitefish, 7 to 7½c.

SALT.

Trade continues fairly good with prices unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

Seeds are moving more freely. Red clover and alsike are offering with considerable freedom at outside points. Jobbers are getting most of their supplies of timothy seed from United States western markets. Present values at outside points range from $4.50 to $4.70 for red clover, and $3 to $4.25 for alsike; timothy, $1.50 to $2. An improved jobbing demand is to be noted, and prices out of store are $4.80 to $5.10 for red clover, $1.90 to $2.25 for timothy, and $3.50 to $4.80 for alsike.

WHEAT, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

WHEAT—Receipts light and prices lower. White is quoted at 78 to 80c., red at 78c., and goose at 61c.

BARLEY—Quiet at 39c. per bushel.

OATS—Are steady and in fairly good demand at 29c.

PEAS—Are quiet at 58c.

FLOUR—Continues dull with prices easier. We quote: Straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50, carload lots. Toronto freights, and $3.75 to $3.90 in job lots; Manitoba patents, $4 to $4.10 per bbl.; Ontario patents, $3.80 to $3.90 per bbl.; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.65 to $3.75.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Prices are easier with business moderate. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3; rolled wheat, $2.25 to $2.30 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.50 to $2.60; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

BALED HAY—Demand has improved. For car lots on the track here we quote: No. 1, $14 to $14.50; No. 2, $13 to $13.50.

BALED STRAW — The market is unchanged. Car lots are quoted at $8.50 to $8.75.

PETROLEUM.

Trade continues fairly good with prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16½c.; carbon safety, 18c.; Canadian water white, 18c.; American water white, 21c.; Pratt's astral, 22c.

MARKET NOTES.

Seeds are easier.

Bacon and lard are fractionally lower.

Wholesalers are beginning to buy canned meats.

Oranges are slightly dearer.

There is an easier feeling in lemons. It is thought to be temporary.

Roll butter is higher.

Slightly higher prices are ruling for apples.

California prunes are stronger.

W. Hannah & Co., produce and commission merchants, 78 Colborne street, Toronto, have moved from the ground floor to the first floor, where they are afforded larger and more commodious premises.

Potatoes have advanced to 22c. on track and 30c. out of store.

There is a good demand for turnips for export to the United States.

High grade coffees are cabled ½c. per pound dearer in the primary markets.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 2, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE week under review has furnished improvement in one or two lines that has led to a larger turnover in the aggregate. This is notably the case with tea, of which jobbers have been buyers of medium Japans and Young Hysons to a considerable extent. On the latter, duplicate orders mean an advance in price. Raisins, both California and Valencias, also were firmer, prices stiffening a trifle under an expanding demand and well concentrated stocks. Enquiries are also noted regarding currants, but no import contracts are noted. Green fruit felt the Easter demand, as did also smoked and canned meats. In fact, the only dull lines were sugar, syrups and molasses, which, however, showed no change as to price. In country produce the only change was a further decline in eggs, which, however, are now near their summer level.

SUGAR.

The situation in refined sugar is practically unchanged, prices being maintained as last noted. Western and eastern buyers have been rather freer, but the volume of business actually passing is small, and as no change in prices seems likely, buyers are in no hurry about ordering ahead. Raw sugar was cabled easier at the close of last week, but recovered slightly, and at this writing is fractionally higher. Operations have been pretty heavy recently in New York, in raws some 40,000 bags of 96 deg. best centrifugals changing hands. We quote the jobbing range firm, 4⅞c. for granulated, and 3¾ to 4¼c. for yellows, as to quality. At the refineries yellows sell at 4⅛c., and granulated at 4¾c. for 100-bbl. lots.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in syrup, the firm tone continuing, though demand is dull. We quote prices: 2¼ to 3c., as to grade.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market is quiet, and no business of importance for import is noted yet either in Barbadoes or Porto Rico. There is a fair distributing trade doing here at steady prices, and we quote: Barbadoes, 36 to 37c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 35c. Cables from Barbadoes continue easy in tone, offers being made at 13c. first cost, but the fact fails to induce any contracting.

RICE.

The rice market continues quiet and without feature, prices ruling firm, as last noted. We quote: Japan standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

Demand for spices is not as active as it was, enquiry having fallen off since the warm weather set in. Prices are steady as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 12 to 15c.

COFFEE.

There has been a fair jobbing trade in coffee at steady prices. We quote: Maracaibo, 19 to 21c.; Rio, 16½ to 20c.; Java, 28c.; Jamaica, 20c., and Mocha, 29 to 32c.

TEAS.

Jobbers have been enquiring more for teas this week, chiefly for Japans, some 500 half chests changing hands at 14c. Young Hysons are very scarce, and what few small lots are offering here meet a good sale at 10c., but these could not be duplicated except at an advance. Enquiry for Ceylons and Indians is also picking up. Spot prices are unchanged. We quote: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is a fair demand for California raisins, in fact, business is brisk at full prices, somewhat higher figures being realized in some cases during the week. We quote: 4-crown, 6½ to 7c.; 3-crown, 5½ to 6c., and 2-crown, 4¾ to 5c.

There has been more demand for Valencia raisins also, several jobbers being compelled to stock up during the week with these goods, some 5,000 boxes in the aggregate being turned over at a range of 4 to 4½c., according to quality. We quote: Ordinary, 4 to 4¼c.; fine, 4½ to 5c., and selected, 5¼ to 6c., with layers 6 to 7c.

There is no change in Sultanas, which job out steadily at 5¾ to 6c.

Importers have been enquiring regarding currants and quotations for this trade, but no contracts have transpired. Advices from the outside are firm, and spot prices are held steady here on the small stocks remaining in jobbers' hands, which cannot last much longer. We quote: Barrels, 4 to 4¼c.; half-barrels, 4½ to 5c., and cases, 4¾ to 5½c., as to grade.

The prune market is steady, with a fair demand noted for Californias. We quote: French, 4 to 5½c.; Bosnia, 6 to 6½c., and California, 8 to 12c., as to grade.

There is no change in figs, which range as follows: Bags, 4c.; ordinary boxes, 8½ to 9c., and fancy, 12 to 17c., as to brand.

Stocks of dates are light, and jobbers hold prices firm at 4½ to 5c. for new, as to grade, but old stock here sold down to 3c.

CANNED GOODS.

The prominent feature in the canned goods market this week has been the enquiry for tomatoes, and some round lots have changed hands, sales of 1,000 case lots being noted at 80c. French peas also are very scarce and firm. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 80 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 85c.; peas, 95c. to $1 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.35 to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.25; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.10 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

NUTS.

The market is featureless with business very quiet. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The Easter demand has led to more activity in green fruits of all sorts, but prices do not exhibit any material change. We quote: Oranges—California navels, $3.50 to $4.50; Valencias, 420's, $4.75, and 714's, $6. Lemons, $2 to $3. Grapes, $5 to $6 per keg. Cranberries, $5.50 to $10 per barrel. Apples, $2 to $4 per barrel. Dried do. 3½c. Evaporated do., 5¾ to 6c. Spanish onions, 30 to 40c. per crate. Pineapples, 25 to 40c. as to size; bananas, $3.

FISH.

There has been a fair trade in fresh and smoked fish during the closing week of Lent. We quote as follows: Fresh haddock, 2⅞c. per lb.; fresh frozen B. C. salmon, 7 to 8c.; Manitoba whitefish, 7c.; dore, 7c.; trout, 7c.; tommycods, 50 to 75c. Choice pickled Labrador herrings, $5.25; No. 1 N.S., $3 to $4; No. 1 green cod, $3.50 to $4; No. 2, $1.75 to $2; No. 1 haddock, $3; No. 1 large codfish, $6; No. 1 lake trout, $4 to $4.25; B.C. salmon, $10.50; No. 2 Labrador salmon, $13; No. 1 mackerel, $18.50; Loch Fyne herrings, 85c. per keg, and $11 per bbl.; No. 1 sardines, $4 50; No. 1 dried cod, $4 to $4.25; boneless cod, 6c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¼c.; boneless haddock, 5c.; shredded, 11c.; haddies, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.; bloaters, 90c. per box, and smoked herrings, 8 to 9c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

Easter necessities have led to a brisker demand for hams and bacon, but prices are unchanged. Pork and lard rule very quiet. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $13.50 to $14; Canadian short cut, mess, $14 to $14.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

GRAND MOGUL TEA COMPETITION

You've heard about the grand Mogul,
On India's coral strand,
The greatest of all eastern kings,
In that celestial land.

This potentate as history shows,
In various things excelled—
As for his judgment and good taste
Was in great honor held.

And chief among his virtues was
The certain way that he
Could tell the best and purest of
The different brands of tea.

When traveling men to Delhi came—
This monarch would command
That none should come within its gates
Except they brought his brand.

And thus it came that only one
Could stand the regal test—
And that the one the Mogul chose—
Because it was the best.

Now, when the nations far and near
Had heard the king's decree:
They all refused inferior goods—
And took "Grand Mogul" Tea.

They found no poisonous tannin there,
Nutritious theine instead—
And vendors of inferior grades
Soon found their business dead.

And people bought the very best
And gave up drinking frauds
And all pronounced "Grand Mogul" Tea
"The nectar of the Gods!"

For purity and healthfulness
Its equal cannot be found,
And then its price—so very low—
But Fifty Cents a Pound!

Its use promotes both health and wealth,
It soothes the tired brain—
The young increasing vigor get
And the old grow young again.

Then do not fly to wine or ruin,
If feeling sad or dull,
Imbibe the King of Teas instead—
The cheering "Grand Mogul!"

Receipts of fresh stock keep increasing, and prices have now dropped to 14 to 14½c., or 1c. below the range at this time last week.

BEANS—The market for beans continues to rule very quiet and steady. We quote: Carlots at $1 to $1.05, and small quantities, $1.10 to $1.20.

POTATOES—The demand for potatoes was better, and some fair sized sales were made at firm prices. We quote: Car lots, on track, 30 to 32c. per bag, and, in small quantities, 35 to 40c.

ONIONS—Red onions rule steady at $2.50 per bbl., and yellow, $1.60 to $2 per bbl.

HOPS—Range from 6 to 8c. for good stock and 5c. for medium.

HONEY—Demand is slow at 7 to 8c. for extracted, and 12 to 14c. for white comb.

HAY.

Hay continues slow and prices unchanged at $13 for No. 1 and $12 for No. 2.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.

There was no improvement in the flour market. The demand for all grades was slow, and business rules quiet at steady prices. We quote: Winter wheat, $4.35 to $4.40; spring wheat, patents, $4.25; straight roller, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, bags, $1.95 to $2; extra, bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.

The demand for oatmeal was slow, and the market was dull. We quote: Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10; granulated, barrels, $3 10 to $3.20; rolled oats, barrels, $2.90 to $3; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.

A fairly active business continues to be done in feed, and the market is steady. We quote: Bran, $14 to $15; shorts, $15 to $16; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market presents a rather steadier feeling, and it is understood that shippers have been looking around for finest fall white, which are hard to get. It did not transpire definitely whether business was put through, but it was currently reported that 8¾c. had been refused by one holder for these goods, his figure being 9c.

There was a good jobbing demand for butter, and fresh made creamery met with a ready sale at 22c.; fall creamery quiet, at 20 to 21c.; fresh made dairy, 20 to 21c., and fall dairy, 17 to 18c.

ASHES.

The ashes market is quiet at $3.50 for first pots and $3.75 for seconds; pearls, $5.

trade. It can be had on application to the company's office, 839 St. Catherine street, by mentioning THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Ewing, Herron & Co. are making a leader of their high-grade "Club" coffee, for which they desire agents at all leading points in the Dominion. Communications in regard to the matter should be addressed to them at their offices, on St. Paul street, Montreal.

A. P. Tippet & Co. now have on the way their last carload of the well-known G. & S. 3-crown California raisins. They still have a few carloads of 4-crown.

Ewing, Herron & Co. are offering a line of chicory at present which they consider very special value.

A. P. Tippet & Co. note a brisk trade for spring importation, both in Lazenby's specialties and Stower's Lime Juice Cordial, orders for which are very liberal.

Robert Greig & Co. have just put through a large sale of Rowntree's Elect Cocoa, amounting to several hundred dozen, which goes west this week. This is the largest sale of these goods for some time.

Robert Greig & Co. are pushing Italian olive oil in gallon tins at present.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 2, 1896.

THE first quarter is gone of this, which but so short a time ago was the new year. Although nothing unusual, the trade has been good, and with this month the busy season is here. Part of our city is very quiet during the winter, but a very busy place in summer. Indiantown is, as the ice begins to come out of the river, making ready for the busy season. In markets during the past three months the greatest changes have been to the advantage of our merchants, and in flour and sugar a good profit has been made. This is somewhat offset by the continued weakening in beans and evaporated apples, and in pork those who bought largely begin to fear the profit they looked for will not come. Cheese has continued dull. Cornmeal, of which a large quantity is made here, is again quoted lower.

OIL—There is nothing to report, prices remaining unchanged. A fair and increasing demand is noted for lubricating oils. We quote: American burning oil, 23¼c.; best Canadian, 21½ to 21¾c.; prime, 19c. No charge for barrels.

SALT—A better demand is noted, and with the beginning of the Gaspereaux season, and other salt requiring trades, now about to start for another season's work, it is expected to continue. The steamer arriving this week from Liverpool brought quite a quantity, which, with a good stock on hand, and some on the way out by sailer, there will be lots for all. Salt to arrive, to be shipped from ship's side, is quoted low. Out of store we quote as follows: Coarse, 50 to 55c.; fine factory-filled, $1.10; 5-lb. bags, $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; salt, bulk, $2.70 to $2.80 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—As with other lines, a better movement is also noted here. Peas are held firm and higher prices are looked for. In corned beef, of which the Canadian this season is having a very large sale, there is quite a difference between the price at which it is quoted and the price of American, to the disadvantage of the latter. Oysters move more freely. The wholesalers complain very much that profit, particularly on vegetables, are such that they would be at least as well off without the business. We quote as follows: Corn, 80 to 90c.; peas, 90 to 95c.; tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; gallon apples, $2 to $2.25; corned beef, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.70; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, $2.45 to $2.85; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2 to $2.40; salmon, $1.40 to $1.50; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; haddies, $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2 75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

GREEN FRUIT — In Valencia oranges, which have been the most interesting feature for some time, prices are higher; one reason, though not the only one, is that those by last steamer were not in good order. There is a complaint that California oranges are not up to the mark this season. A fair business is done. Lemons continue low. Bananas are beginning to arrive freely. Apples are rather firmer again, and stocks are light. A small quantity of California grape fruit is seen in the retail stores; it sells at 25c. per lb. We quote: Apples, $2.50 to $3.50; Lemons, $3 to $3.35; Valencia oranges, $5 to $6.50; California oranges, seedlings $2.50; navels, $4 to $4.50; pineapples, 18 to 30c.; cranberries, $10 per barrel; bananas, $1.50 to $2.25.

DRIED FRUITS—This is the quiet season. A fair trade is doing in onions, chiefly American. The Canadians, last season, were not as good as usual, and for spring trade, the former are preferred. In raisins, a better inquiry is noted, but trade at this season is light. Currants, if there is any change, are easier. Evaporated apples and dried continue dull. In California prunes and evaporated fruits demand is rather less, though a fair trade is moving. One merchant has a quantity of Bosnia prunes about to hand; these are sold well below the California. We quote: Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; layers, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M. 4-crown, 6 to 7c.; 3-crown, 5 to 6c.; London layers, $1.70 to $1.85. Currants, bbls., 3¾ to 4c.; cases, 4¼ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½c.: prunes, kegs, 4c.; boxes, 4½ to 5c.; half-boxes, 6 to 8c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 5c.; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c.; California evaporated peaches, 8 to 13c.; apricots, 12 to 14c.; pears, 12 to 14c.; onions, $2.25 to $2.50; cocoanuts, $3 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 8c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—At this season a large demand is noted for eggs, one merchant selling during this week last season 2,000 dozen. At the time of writing they are scarce, and a rather better price than that obtained for the last could be got for a small quantity, but there is no doubt there is a quantity near to hand. It is hard to give a price; they have retailed at 15c. Butter is still slow. A real good article would sell freely, but not at very high figures; it is scarce. Cheese, of which a fair stock is still held, shows no improvement and not a large sale. We quote: Common dairybutter, 15 to 16c.; dairy, 17 to 18c.; new creamery prints, 22 to 23c.; cheese, 9 to 9½c.; creamery, tubs, 20 to 21c.; eggs, 13 to 15c. by case.

THE IMMEDIATE PROFIT

Is not the only thing or even an important thing to be considered by the trade. You receive an order from a customer. You fill the order with inferior goods. You may make greater profit on the single sale, but the order is never repeated. Solid business success and an increasing trade are founded on the regular trade of your customers—the same, day in and day out—trade which competitors are unable to win from you because they cannot better your goods or prices.

No one can better our goods or our prices. Every article we offer is the best of its kind—every article has an increasing demand from Halifax to Vancouver.

FOUR TRADE WINNERS

These are goods, once tried by a customer, will always be asked for. Goods on whose superior qualities we stake our reputation :

CROWN BRAND FLAVORING EXTRACTS

Made on most approved principle. Pure, rich, strong—in forty different flavors. We know—we make them.

CARR & CO.'S BISCUITS

Immense variety. Quality proven by enormous increase in sales during the past year, especially of the "Cafe Noir."

BRYANT & MAY'S MATCHES

The best known and the best made match in the world. "Safety" and "Tiger" for household use. Wax Vestas for smokers.

MONTREAL

SUGAR—It is impossible to say much. Market, though firmer, shows no change. There is a regular demand and good stocks. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—There is a fair movement. As yet stocks are light. The next steamer, arriving in about two weeks, will have a quantity on board. Prices in Barbadoes are back to the figure at which they opened, but that to arrive first will not represent the lowest figure, so that at present the market is easy. New Orleans, for which the demand continues, is held very firm. There are now several qualities on the market, so that in comparing prices quality should be noted. We quote: Barbadoes, 34 to 35c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 36c., bbls.; New Orleans, 30 to 36c.; St. Croix, 28 to 30c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Antigua, 18 to 30c.

FISH—Gaspereaux season is here. This is a large business with us. A large quantity are sold fresh, and a much larger quantity sold for bait. The bulk are pickled and shipped to the American market. They are caught very largely right in our harbor. Very few fresh haddock are to hand; a few coming from Boston. In pickled the season is about over. Fair stocks are held, and prices are easy. In dry there is no change, but feeling is, as in other lines, easy. Smoked herring show no improvement. We quote as follows; Large cod, $3.70 to $3.75; medium, $3.25 to $3.50; pollock, $1.40; bay herring, $1.35 to $1.40 per half-bbl.; new smoked, 5 to 6c.; Canso, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; shad, half-bbl., $5 to $6; Shelburne, $3.75 bbl., $1.65 half-bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.

PROVISIONS—In pork, though there is no change here, there is not the firmness that was expected, and holders are disappointed. Beef, though firmer than pork, also shows no change. A better movement is noted in smoked meats, but there is no large demand. Lard firm. We quote as follows: Clear pork, $15 to $16; mess, $14 to $14 50; beef, $13 to $14; domestic mess pork, $14 to $14.25; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; pure lard, 9 to 9¼c.; compound, 7¾ to 8c.

FLOUR, FEED, MEAL AND SEED—There is a rather easier feeling in flour, but no change here. Stocks held are still large. In cornmeal there is another drop and price easy. Beans have disappointed buyers again, and are quoted lower. There is a a fairly large stock here. In seed, American has the market here. Prices are firmer, but are still below those at which the season opened. Hay, though light movement, is firm. Oats show little change, but the feeling is easy and a light movement is noticed. Prince Edward Island will soon be again shipping to this market. Buckwheat is in but light demand, season being over. Native yellow-eye beans have quite a large movement. We quote: Manitoba, $4 65 to $4.70; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4 60; medium, $4.40 to $4.50; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.50; cornmeal, $2.10 to $2.15; middlings, $19 to $20 on track; bran, $18 to $19; hand-picked beans, $1.20; prime, $1.10 to $1.15; oats, 34 to 35c.; hay, $12.50 to $13; barley, $4; round peas, $3 65; split peas, $3.70 to $3.80; yellow-eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat, native, $1.30 to $1.35.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

C. & E. Macmichael have received this week a shipment of Fruit Puddine.

Maple Leaf birdseed, packed by Nicholson & Brock, of Toronto, lately introduced in this market, is making many friends, and repeat orders are being taken.

It is said a number of city merchants intend forming a company to carry on the poultry business.

Quantities of hay continue to be shipped to Boston via steamer.

Sussex is talking of having a board of trade. A large business is done at this point and good work could be accomplished.

The last West India steamer took away 25,000 onion crates to Bermuda, upward of 8,000 boxes herring, 1,400 barrels potatoes, besides a large quantity of hay, shingles and other goods. She carries a lot of Chinese goods every trip.

St. John is very proud of the ss. Prince Rupert, running to Digby. Her time one day last week was 1 hr. 56 min. from light to light, and 2 hr. 20 min. from wharf to wharf. Beaides being fast, she is a handsome boat.

Last week Chas. Burrill & Co.'s place of business, Weymouth, N.S., was burned. Loss about $55,000; insurance about $40,000.

Lobster fishing is attracting attention and prices are ahead of last season. Quantities are going forward from Yarmouth to Boston. So far, the catch down the shore has been light. The new factory at Grand Manan is about ready to begin canning.

THE CANADIAN GROCER regrets to have to report the sudden death of Geo. A. Colwell, grocer, of apoplexy.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THERE was a slight improvement in business towards the last of last week, but the month ended with the record of being the quietest for many years. Merchants, however, look for a good spring trade notwithstanding.

The flour market is unchanged.

The refinery reports business quiet and no change in quotations.

The molasses market is quiet. Some stocks have been received, which keep supplies well up.

The fish market is unsatisfactory. Lent is over and it cannot be said to have helped trade much, particularly local. This is the season between old and new fish and the market is featureless. Soft cured cod continue dull and neglected. The Brazilian and Mediterranean markets are looking up somewhat. Medium and large hard cured cod are scarce in Newfoundland and holders are firm, as higher prices are anticipated. West India fall herrings, held back since last fall, are hard to sell at $1.40 and $1.50. A few winter caught grocery cod have arrived.

The provision market remains dull. Beef was never so low at this time of year. Ontario is worth from $5.50 to $8 by the body, wholesale. Fancy Easter beef is considerably higher. Beef will be worth $7 to $9 this spring and summer. Native cattle will be in demand in about three weeks' time, as warm weather will prevent the importation of Ontario stocks.

Ontario hogs are worth from $5.50 to $5.60 by the carload. There is very little doing in this line. What enquiry there is, is for hogs of 100 or 120 lbs.

Mutton sells from 4 to 6c. The demand is limited. Some Ontario spring lambs have arrived this week.

There is little or nothing doing in poultry. Held stocks will suffice for the Easter trade.

Good veal is scarce and sells at 6c.

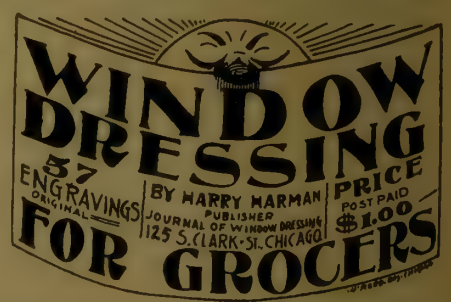
There is some demand for good dairy butter. Tub is worth from 15 to 20c. Factory and best dairy prints bring 23c. wholesale.

Eggs are becoming plentiful, and are jobbing at 14 and 15c.

Produce remains dull. Potatoes sell at 20c. and less from vessels, and oats at 35 to 38c.

Hay is worth from $10.30 to $12 by the carload at the station.

The market is well supplied with green fruits, and prices remain low.



There is a better demand for canned goods.

Dried fruits are dull, except dates, prunes and figs.

Incorporation has been applied for "the M. O. Wier Grocery Co., Ltd.," for the buying, selling, dealing in and exporting of all kinds of merchandise whatsoever, and carrying on the business of traders, merchants, forwarding agents and general commission merchants. Place of business, Halifax. Capital, $5,000, in 1,000 shares. The applicants are: Melville Orley Wier, grocer; Lewis Brent, carpenter; Walter Crowell, contractor; Lewis Wier, gentleman, all of Halifax, and Ascenith Mosher, of Newport. The three first named to be provisional directors.

Fader Bros. have taken the store on Argyle street lately occupied by Wm. Woodrill, and have opened a general market.

The Central Creamery at Charlottetown has shipped a large quantity of butter to this market, which is meeting with ready sale.

Clemes Bros. have received during the week one car of fancy lemons and two cars of bananas.

Dawson & Co. received two shipments of Valencia oranges this week, which are showing excellent condition.

D. Gunn, Flavelle & Co. report an increased Easter demand for "Maple Leaf" smoked meats and lard.

John Sloan & Co. are in receipt of a shipment of California fruits.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.. are in receipt of a shipment of Demerara sugar, in sacks.

Jas. Turner & Co. are offering their numerous customers Golden finnan haddies. They are receiving some this week.

A reduction of from ¼ to 1¼c. per pound is announced in the price of Edwardsburg culinary starch, the quotations now being : W. T. Benson & Co.'s prepared corn, 6½c, was 7¼c.; Canada pure corn starch, 5½c., was 6¾c.

Davidson & Hay offer an imported olive oil in gallon tins at a low figure.

The Brantford Starch Co. has reduced the price of its prepared corn ¼ to 1¼c. per lb., the quotations now being : Challenge prepared corn, 5½c., was 6¾c.; No. 1 pure prepared corn, 6½c., was 7¼c.

A shipment of flowery broken Ceylon Pekoe, packed in 10 and 20 lb. boxes, is in store with Davidson & Hay.

John Sloan & Co. have just received Golden finnan haddies. This brand of haddies is giving their customers the best of satisfaction.

Davidson & Hay are offering maple syrup put up in bottles, also ½ gal., 1 gal. and 5 gal. tins.

Buyers should get Lucas, Steele & Bristol's figures for California peaches before buying. They have another carload, extra choice, arriving in a few days.

Davidson & Hay have a handsome sample of fancy imported Japan rice arriving this week.

T. A. Lytle & Co. report large sales of catsup and pickles last week, with orders still coming in.

T. Kinnear & Co. have been appointed wholesale agents for Toronto and Western Ontario of Joseph Tetley & Co., of London, Eng. Messrs. Kinnear will carry a full line of this firm's packet teas.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns—we know where—but the grocery trade are now turning their attention to improving business. This is the season for spring washing and house-cleaning, and dealers generally report an increase in their sales of that excellent household article Keen's Oxford blue.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have arriving some excellent bargains in California evaporated peaches, which it would pay the trade to see.

The Toronto Salt Works report the delivery of a car lot of Windsor table salt, in assorted sizes, to the Eby, Blain Co.

"Yes," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "our sales of Young Hyson and black teas have been phenomenal this past month. We are again in receipt of about 600 packages of the 10 to 12c. lines."

W. H. Gillard & Co. report that their tea business never looked in a healthier state than at present, and, with not an old line in their warehouse and prime values in all grades, large future sales are anticipated.

Another consignment of the Ting Ling Orange Pekoe Darjeeling tea is to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. The firm also offers exceptional value in Japan nibs and Nagasaki Pekoes, in 30 lb. boxes.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have just received a large shipment of their celebrated Glasgow T D pipes, 200 per box.

Oxford University has again won the boat race, and Keen's Oxford blue has won the race for popularity in Canada, and means to keep it.

A. E. Richards & Co., of Hamilton, have been appointed agents for Canada for the new East India pickles.

"Business is improving," say Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, "and we are already booked ahead for delivery of goods on April 1st., when the summer rates of freight per C.P.R. and G.T.R. go into force."

DIPLOMACY IN THE GROCERY STORE.

OFTEN grocers make a big mistake in being impolite to the servant girls who have occasion to call at their stores, remarks a writer in Grocery World. Many merchants have lost customers through impoliteness to servants, which they have never been able to account for.

If the grocer will take into consideration that the servant who does the buying occupies almost the same position as the buyer of a large wholesale house, probably he would change his tactics and be a little more diplomatic. When the buyer calls on a manufacturer he receives the most polite attention imaginable, and yet he is merely a servant in one sense of the word; therefore it would be good policy to follow the tactics of the manufacturer. If the buyer takes offence at any impoliteness, he can, in possibly nine cases out of ten, take the trade of his house elsewhere. It is the same with the servant. She does the buying for the family, and as long as she can buy as well at some other store where she is treated politely, she will leave the store where proper consideration is not shown her.

Place yourself in the servant's position. You go to your jobber, and are treated impolitely, perhaps by one of the salesmen or the merchant himself. Do you continue dealing there? No, not if you can deal as reasonably with some other house. The servant is in the same position.

There recently came to my notice a case exactly like the above, in which the grocer lost one of his best customers. The servant's mistress was in the habit of calling at the store herself, but when she was taken ill sent her servant. The grocer looked upon the servant as an inferior, without any special influence, and, by his indifference, gave her cause to complain to her mistress. After the lady had received several such complaints, she told the servant to go and deal with some other grocer in the vicinity The new grocer, through his politeness and business-like manner, won the esteem of the servant, and the lady, when she recovered, decided to give him a trial. Finding herself able to buy as reasonably as at the old store she continued to patronize the second grocer, and the first, who thought the servant amounted to little, lost her mistress' trade.

The correct manner in which a business man should conduct himself is this: Be courteous, not cringing, to superiors; affable, not familiar, to equals; and kind, but not condescending or supercilious, to inferiors.

PUREST & BEST

Windsor Salt

Is manufactured by the "Vacuum" Process, the most modern and the best system known to the Salt industry. We use this process in order to be able to make the best Salt.

That we have succeeded in this, is evident by the fact that in every City, Town and Village in Canada you will find Windsor Table Salt coming into general household use. Housekeepers want it and you should Keep it in Stock.

You can order Windsor Table Salt from any wholesale house.

But you can ALL sell your customers some of the wonderful, cheering, healthful teas of Ceylon for their

Easter Dinner

(The Poetry of it)

Every man upon this earth,
Be he a saint or sinner,
Should have upon his Easter board,
Some Ceylon tea for dinner.
Then all ye grocers through the land,
Be thoughtful, wise, and prudent,
And if you do not know these teas—
'Tis time to be a student.

(The Prose of it)

TRADE CHAT.

THE first maple syrup of the season was in the market on Monday at St. Thomas. It sold at $1 per gallon.

It is reported that Humphreys & Sons, pork packers, of Cannington, are about to begin operations at Moosomin, Man.

Messrs. D. C. McDougall & Co., of Campbell's Cross, general merchants, have leased the corner store in Mrs. Secord's block, Acton, Ont.

The Fort William correspondent of The Winnipeg Free Press says: John King, the enterprising merchant of Victoria avenue, has just completed a large addition to his block, and is branching out into a departmental store. He is busily engaged opening new spring goods.

The lumber cut in Cumberland, N.S., this winter, says The Amherst Sentinel, will be extensive. About 20,000,000 feet, board measure, will be cut.

The London Board of Trade have elected the following officers: President, John Bowman; vice-president, A. B. Greer; secretary-treasurer, J. A. Nelles.

The Dominion Cold Storage Co. can lease the old drill shed and adjoining lot fronting on Esplanade street, Toronto, for a term of 21 years on these conditions: The annual rental to be $1,300; the property to have a fixed assessment of $50,000; the balance to be exempt from general taxes.

The city of Toronto applied again on Friday to the Municipal Committee of the Legislature for legislation. The rate of pedlars' licenses was fixed so that a man with two horses shall not be charged more than $50, a one horse rig $30, a push cart $15 and a basket $1.

Winnipeg is to have another wholesale fruit firm. Mr. A. Bright, the retail grocer, and Mr. K. J. Johnston, for years the well-known city traveler of McKenzie, Powis & Co., will enter into partnership and begin business shortly.

TENDERS

INDIAN SUPPLIES

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of TUESDAY, 21st April, 1896, for the delivery of Indian Supplies, during the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1897, at various points in Manitoba and the North-West Territories.

Forms of tender, containing full particulars, may be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Indian Commissioner at Regina, or to the Indian Office, Winnipeg. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

This advertisement is not to be inserted by any newspaper without the authority of the Queen's Printer, and no claim for payment by any newspaper not having had such authority will be admitted.

OX TONGUES

We think we know how to put Ox Tongues in cans just a little better than anybody else in the business. There is an art about it; the delicious juices have to be retained, and yet the tongue must be cooked sufficiently, so it will keep. Home cooking is very good; some housekeepers excel in this line. But we are safe in the assertion that no housekeeper on this continent can cook a tongue so it will have the delicate, delightful flavor that ours have. We don't sell our tongues cheap, but they are worth all the money we ask. The yellow label and the Helmet Brand on each can will serve to distinguish our brand.

THE CANADIAN GROCER

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, APRIL 10, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 15

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Vacillation does not facilitate trade.

Careless habits cost money and remorse.

The clerk is usually what the merchant makes him.

Bad weather and bad politicians are Canada's bane just now.

Industry reaps its own reward, and, not infrequently, honors besides.

Every merchant should be a molder—a molder of his customers' tastes.

If half the intentions were put into action business would be in a millennium.

The grocer who has sand in his backbone is not likely to put sand in his sugar.

Intermittent advertising, like intermittent fever, is not a thing to be encouraged.

A well-dressed window is a standing invitation for people to come in and buy.

The successful merchant may not necessarily be a pugilist, but he must be a fighter.

The office of the house organ is to play tunes that will suit its maker the live-long day.

The wide-awake merchant is he who aims to educate his customers as well as his salesmen.

The versifying young man is not usually good for business, but the versatile young man is.

Without bookkeeping the merchant cannot enter into that rest which comes of successful business.

Even were he to lie in a vat of lye the lying advertiser could not avoid getting "played out."

Manitoba has got rid of its big crop of ice and snow, and is beginning to talk of big crops of cereals. Those Manitobians are great people for big things.

Business properly selected and properly conducted is not a lottery: it is an ensured success.

What this country needs is more legislation in the interest of trade and less in the interest of party.

The fool is not content to let cash slip away from him, but precipitates its going by throwing it away.

As much politeness should be shown in asking the wants of customers as in asking for a lady's hand.

Business pirates cannot always sail under false colors, for the colors under which they sail are not fast.

Persistent pushing builds up dislike in the breasts of penurious competitors as well as success in business.

Cancelling orders without good and sufficient reason is to court the cancellation of your name for honesty.

Because failure is met on one tack it is no reason why the business ship should be allowed to drift on the rocks.

If thought were generated by the action of the tongue what brilliant thinkers the country would have at Ottawa!

Honorable success can no more be won by dishonorable methods than can turnips be raised by planting carrot seed.

The window may not be a reflection of the store, but where there is a dirty window people will look for a dirty store also.

The Retail Grocers' Association of Paterson, N.J., is offering a reward of $500 for the apprehension of a murderer. Would it not be well to offer a similar sum for the discovery of those who are murdering prices? It would be more compatible with the office of a grocery association, anyhow.

A merchant, clerk, or anybody else who cannot stand teaching will never be able to stand before the world as a type of success.

A bargain is a bargain only when you can sell it or require it. A dollar article is dear at ten cents unless it has utility for you.

Persons who jump into positions they are not qualified to fill usually have to jump down again. Men, like water, find their level.

Fire insurance does not prevent a man's business being licked up by the flames, but it prevents the flames kicking him out of business.

Merchants cannot afford to spend much time or money on horse racing. The race for business demands all their time and all their money.

One does not require to be a clairvoyant to see that many of the politicians now in Parliament will be political bankrupts after the next general election.

The country store is an ancient institution, but it promises to be flourishing like a green bay tree while the city store is withering in the blast of the department store wind.

The ranks of the world's famous people would soon be swelled if fame could be reached by flying and not by climbing. But he who would succeed must climb, and that pretty hard too as a rule.

It is said that the department stores are at the back of the movement which is agitating the United States for a one-cent letter postage. It is quite possible. A one-cent rate would mean a reduction of 50 per cent. in the cost of postage, quite an item to the department stores, who use the mails extensively.

HOW HE KEPT BOOKS.

"TALKING about bookkeeping," said Milt Brisbane to a reporter, "there used to be a man in Yankton whose system of bookkeeping accounts was wonderfully efficient. He kept a hotel, and he could neither read nor write. He did not know how to spell his own name, but he did a thriving business, and collected every dollar of his accounts. Once, years ago, when I first came to this country, I went to his hotel, and stopped there two weeks. When I left he presented me with a statement of what I owed him, and it was a curiosity. He had copied it from his ledger.

"At the top of the sheet there was a rude picture of a soldier on the march, and after it three straight marks. Then there was a scene, showing a man at a table, eating. Then appeared a bed with a man in it. In the amount column there was a picture of a doll, and after it the two letters RS. After the picture of the man eating there were 42 marks. After the view of the man in bed there were 14 marks. I looked at the account, then at the proprietor, and told him it would take me a week to answer that conundrum. I was completely stumped, and when the hotelman deciphered the account for me, it was this :

"The picture of the soldier meant March, and the three marks supplied the date, March 3, when I began boarding. The man at table, with 42 marks after it, indicated that I had eaten 42 meals. The man in bed, with 14 marks, showed that I had slept in the bed 14 night. The doll with the RS after it meant 'dollars,' and in the figure column appeared the figure 14, which was the amount I owed him. And it was a true bill."—Michigan Merchant.

A HINT TO MERCHANTS.

EDITOR GROCER,—This week's issue of THE GROCER is just to hand, and, like all other numbers, I find it full of valuable information such as every dealer requires, and which is impossible to get except through a live journal like THE GROCER. The trade have good reasons to be proud of their organ. And so they are. I have just written after samples of a special line I saw advertised in this issue. I mentioned THE GROCER. I would suggest to other merchants to do likewise when ordering goods or samples when indebted to this valuable journal for the information. I believe that it is pleasing to advertisers to have evidence that a well displayed advertisement in a trade paper like THE GROCER always brings good results. In this way merchants can help to make THE GROCER still more popular, if that is possible, as a trade journal.

Yours, etc.,
A. BRAND.

Embro, April 3, 1896.

REMARKS: THE CANADIAN GROCER thanks Mr. Brand for his unsolicited testimonial. We will try to merit his good opinion. Regarding his suggestion that merchants should mention this journal when ordering goods because of an advertisement or notice in THE GROCER is timely. A great many already make it a practice of doing so, but we fancy there are a great many who do not. THE EDITOR.

THE BEST GROCER'S BOY.

I saw the best grocer's boy last week that I ever saw and ever expect to see, says a writer in The Grocery World. He was employed by a grocer way out in the wilds of central Pennsylvania, and practically ran the store. That's right. I happened to be in this store on business, and the first thing that impressed me was this boy. The grocer was sick, had paralysis, and couldn't even hobble around. The boy waited on customers, charged the accounts in the book, wrapped up the packages, and then delivered them while the grocer's wife tended store. His business-like aspect impressed me so that I wanted to talk to him.

"Here, stop a minute, I want to talk to you," I said, as he passed me.

"Ain't got time," was his laconic reply, and I didn't get any conversation after all.

While the boy was gone on one of his delivery trips I questioned the grocer's wife about him.

"I don't know what on earth we would have done without Jim," she said. "My husband was taken down, and I didn't know much about the business. But Jim took right hold, and has really run the whole store ever since. He does everything in the store, and even makes out the bills and collects them. Jim gets the money, too," she added, which is worth mentioning.

"Has the boy been able to hold all your husband's trade?" I asked.

"Why, Jim has really gotten new trade himself," she said. "He's only fifteen, but Jim's got the making of a splendid business man in him."

How many Jims are there in the world? Hard to get, aren't they? My chief reason for publishing this is the hope that it will somehow get before some other store boy or clerk and stick in his noddle.

CHARITY BEGINS AT HOME.

But in some cases it steps abroad, for we see by the report of the trustees of the Berlin and Waterloo Hospital Trust an acknowledgement to the E. B. Eddy Co., of Hull, of a substantial donation of indurated fibreware. If we thought the Eddy Company would take it as a joke, and not, as appears to be the fashion just now, institute a libel suit against us, we might suggest that, perhaps, evidently they think that as "charity covers a multitude of sins" it's a good plan for them in this cold spring weather not to go about naked.

EUROPEAN SUGAR IMPORT DUTIES.

FRANCE—On foreign raw sugar yield more than 98 per cent. the duty is 72 francs per 100 kilos, which is 6.31c. per lb. Refined sugar minimum duty 6c. per lb., while other grades pay 7.88c. per lb. and 7.45c. per lb. Molasses from the French Colonies for distilling purposes is free. Best syrups from other countries for distilling are taxed 009⅝c. per degree of saccharine.

GERMANY—Sugar and molasses, syrup, etc. from foreign countries pay 3.90c. per lb. duty, with certain authority by the administration to reduce this to 2c. per lb. when the foreign sugar is forwarded under its supervision to sugar factories to be worked there (new rate as proposed 4¾c. per lb.)

AUSTRIA AND HUNGARY—Raw sugar inferior to No. 17 D.S., 3.09c. per lb., raw sugar No. 17 and above, 4.11c. per lb.; refined sugar, 4.11c. per lb.; sugar solutions, etc., 3.09c. per lb.; syrups and molasses, glucose, etc., 1.25c. per lb.

BELGIUM — Duty on Indian and beet sugar, 3 94c. per lb.; candy, first class, 5.30c. per lb.; second class, 4.80c. per lb. Refined in loaves, granulated, etc., below No. 18 D.S., 4.36c.; syrups, etc., containing less than 50 per cent. sugar, 1⅛c. per lb.

HOLLAND—Sugar produced from foreign cane is taxed with 4.80c. per lb. duty.

RUSSIA—Duty on raws, 6.64c. per lb.; refined, 8.88c. per lb.

ITALY—Duty sugar, second class, under No. 20 D.S., 7.07c. per lb., if polarising not over 98 degrees first class, 8.35c. per lb.; Indian, first class, 5.70c. per lb.; second class, 2.25c. per lb.

SPAIN—Duty on foreign sugar, 4½c. per lb.; Spanish colonial sugar, 2.94c. per lb.; Peninsular sugar, 1.75c. per lb. — Sugar Trade Journal.

TROUT FISHING REGULATIONS.

An order-in-Council has been issued at Ottawa rescinding the various clauses of the general fishery regulations, fixing the close seasons for trout and land-locked salmon in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, and substituting the following clause: "In the provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island no one shall fish for, catch, kill, buy, sell or possess any speckled trout, salmon trout, grey trout, white trout, lake trout, winanish, toag, land-locked salmon, or any other kind of trout from the 1st day of October to the 31st day of March in each year, both days inclusive."

Another clause is added, applying to the same provinces, permitting trout fishing through the ice for domestic purposes for ten days after the expiration of the close season.

IRISH AND DANISH BACON.

THE "manifesto" of the Bacon Curers' Defence (Irish) Association has been issued and does not bristle with those wild amenities so familiar in the Irish press. It is usual in some of the newspapers in that country to refer to a party with whom they don't agree as "ruffians," or something of that sort. They might do well to take a leaf out of the book of the B. C. D. A. suaviter in modo, fortiter in re. The manifesto is a mild, gentlemanly epistle, and perhaps for that reason has not attracted that attention it deserves. Nominally the writer is W. B. Bennett, of Waterford, the secretary to the association, and he successively discusses the subjects of (1) the recent correspondence in the newspapers accusing the Irish packers of responsibility for the existing depression; (2) the assistance given by the association to Irish farmers; (3) competition; (4) the co-operative factory idea; (5) the inferiority of the Irish pigs to Danish, which are cutting out Irish cure in the English markets; (6) the question of maintaining fairs and markets. The letter winds up thus:

"The point of special interest to Ireland at the present moment is whether she can compete with Denmark in raising pigs, and in this connection I may mention that the average price paid by Danish co-operative bacon factories in 1895 was 4s. to 5s. less than the average price paid for pigs in Ireland in the same year."

Doubtless the Irish trade is passing through the worst crisis in its history at the present moment, and the position of affairs is not likely to be improved by the amalgamation of the pig jobbers and pork butchers with the avowed intention of "fighting" the merchants. Such a policy seems suicidal, inasmuch as while all this disturbance is going on the Danish cures are landing ever increasing quantities of bacon in England.

Common report, however, has it that this is only accomplished at enormous loss, and if this be true, the Irish packer may in time be able to drive the Dane from England, and thereby emulate Brian Boru, who performed a similar feat in the days of yore when the Dane tried to own the Emerald Isle.

Our Hibernian friends must not imagine that they alone are affected by this extraordinary and unlooked for competition. American exporters extend them a cordial handshake and beg to assure them of the fact that they are "in the same boat."

On this side we regard the competition as serious for the moment, but are not pessimistic as to the future.—National Provisioner, New York.

Wisdom is it for a young man to aim to be a great merchant, but foolishness is it for him to aim to be a great monopolist, with all the trade of the community his alone.

A PRETTY DEAR TEA.

A sample of tea grown in Summerville, S. C., was shown to-day by Messrs. Williamson & Dutton, who obtained it from the grower, a gentlemen of means who is making tea growing in the United States a hobby, and who is said to have the only tea garden in this country. He produced 300 pounds last year at an average cost of $4 per pound, but expects eventually to get the cost down to a figure that will admit of competition with the imported article.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

HE GOT EVEN.

"This bill," protested the grocer at the gas-office window, "calls for $2.64 for gas burned in June, and there wasn't anybody in the house during the entire month to my certain knowledge."

"The meter tells a different story, sir,' replied the cashier at the gas company's office, "and we have to go by the meter; $2.64 is right."

"Well, I'll pay it," said the grocer, taking out his pocketbook with great apparent reluctance. "Your name, I think, is Ruggles. Here is your grocery bill for last month amounting to $2.96. We have called your attention to it several times, but you have always refused to pay it on the ground that you did not know any groceries were furnished you by us during that month. It wasn't our fault if you didn't know it. The books show that the groceries were ordered, and we have to go by our books. The difference is 32 cents, and if you will just hand over the amount——"—Grocery World.

Mr. Alex. Jardine, of the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., returned on Saturday from a three months' visit to the West India Islands, in search of health. His friends will be pleased to learn that he found it, and brought it back with him.

QUIT WORRY AT BED TIME.

Many years ago, the story is told, that a certain Board of Directors in discussing their need of a manager for their bank, came to the conclusion that the man they wanted was one who would "take the bank to bed with him." If such a man was secured it is not too much to assert that he did not survive the added strain long enough to be of the service that was expected, and the community lost a unit of value not so easily replaced. It is this taking one's business to bed with him that hurts the average busy man. The hours that should be given to lighter matters are cumbered with the shackles of business cares, and the longer they are worn the greater difficulty will be experienced in freeing oneself from their weighty embrace.—Maritime Merchant.

WHAT INCREASED WAGES WILL DO

Grocer (to clerk)—If I should give you the increase of salary you desire, do you suppose so many of your relatives would die, compelling you to attend their funerals, just as soon as warm weather arrives?

Clerk: "Oh, no, indeed, sir! With the additional funds I could purchase many little delicacies that I am sure would prolong their lives indefinitely!"

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

Isn't business and never will be. Good goods demand good prices but good goods insure good trade—It works both ways. You pay a little more but you make a great deal more. Our goods are the best—have a large sale—are staple—well known—largely advertised—right in price.

THE TRADE OUTLOOK.

IT is a fact that cannot be denied: the trade of the country has not made that progress towards recovery which it was six or eight months ago anticipated it would. A great deal of disappointment finds expression in nearly all branches of trade in consequence.

If, however, instead of concentrating our vision altogether on the present, as too many are doing, we were to cast our eyes about us we would see that the cloud after all has a pronounced silver lining.

Although in an organic sense Canada and the United States are separate and distinct nations, financially and commercially they are one. Therefore, what affects the commercial interests of the one naturally affects those of the other.

During the last eight months the United States has suffered a re-action: prices have fallen, failures have multiplied, works have been closed, and business has been unsettled generally.

Trade in Canada has sympathized with the conditions obtaining on the other side. And, being in point of commercial importance and in population smaller than the United States, the Dominion naturally felt the influence of the adverse trade relatively more than would have the United States if the depression had originated in this country instead of where it did.

Now that the business tide in the United States is again rising, that in Canada may be expected to follow. In fact, business has already begun to improve in this country.

The evidence of this is seen in the increased railway earnings, the expansion of our foreign trade, and the improvement of the clearing house returns.

The slowness of payments is no doubt due partly to two things. One is the large quantities of grain which are locked up in the elevators awaiting the opening of navigation. The other is the dulness of the lumber trade.

A well-known lumberman asserted to THE CANADIAN GROCER that the greater part of last season's make of lath and shingles and three-fourths of the lumber cut were unsold. Besides this, it must be remembered that a great deal of the lumber cut of 1894 was in the yards when the mills started up in 1895.

The condition of the lumber trade is largely due to the unsatisfactory state of affairs in the United States, that country being our chief customer in this respect.

Our total exports of manufactured wood to the States last year were valued at $12,479,219. Great Britain came next with $10,096,630. Compared with the previous year this was a decrease of $803,036 in the one instance and $1,443,470 in the other. These figures are for the fiscal year ending June 31 last.

The demand from the United States is just now practically nil, and some of the best houses over there that have been purchasing Canadian lumber have been unable to meet their paper for the same when it fell due. The senior partner of one American house who has been in the lumber trade all his life, a few weeks ago, when writing asking a Canadian mill man for a brief extension, declared that he had never, in all his experience, seen the lumber trade of the United States in such a deplorable condition.

This state of affairs must naturally reflect upon Canada. But it is reasonable to expect that in the general trade recovery that is going on in the United States, the lumber business will not be unaffected. And when the lumber trade does improve we may look for a better demand from the other side for Canadian lumber.

While Canadians can do little or nothing to hasten along the improvement in business in the United States, even were they disposed to try, it is different with their own country. By displaying a little more energy and a little more confidence they can do much to bring about increased activity in trade. And if they will look around them they will find that there is not a scarcity of material for utilizing as a basis for the creation of this confidence.

DIRECT FRUIT STEAMERS.

There are now on the way to Montreal some 95,000 boxes of Mediterranean oranges and lemons via the steamers Fremona and Flambro. Definite details of the Messina consignments have been received. The former steamer has a cargo of 5,800 packages oranges and 42,000 lemons from Messina. She will possibly gather in 10,000 more at Palermo and other ports. The latter steamer has 10,000 packages Messina oranges and 17,500 packages of lemons, and may also be expected to collect possibly 10,000 more. There are two other steamers beside these.

THE POTATO SITUATION.

THE potato market exhibits a more interesting condition than it has for some time. Nearly all the winter the market rulled dull, and prices about as low as they well could. Now, however, the market shows some improvement, and prices in Toronto are three or four cents per bushel higher than they were.

During the last few days deliveries have, however, been more liberal, and as a result a slight re-action is looked for.

Potatoes, however, ought to be rather good property at present prices.

These prices are first of all unusually low. On track this week there have been transactions at 22c., while this time last year the idea as to price was 65c. per bag, over 66 per cent. dearer.

Then although the crop was large last year it must not be forgotten that feed in most country districts has been scarce, with the result that potatoes have been fed to the stock in many instances.

The quantity of potatoes that have been consumed in this way no one of course can even approximately estimate. It is no doubt large. And the fact that potatoes have during the season sold as low as eight cents per bag f. o. b. cars would of itself induce farmers to feed them to stock, whether ordinary fodder was scarce or not.

When, too, potatoes rule at the price they have this winter, not as much care would be taken in looking after them, and a decrease in stocks might be counted on from this source.

At the prices ruling to-day an ordinary load of potatoes would only net the farmer from two to three dollars. Within a few days now spring ploughing will be in full operation. To coax a farmer away from his plough is no easy task, and it is safe venturing that with the price where it is to-day it is not likely that he will be induced to do so in order to bring potatoes to market at a couple of dollars per load.

It must not, however, be forgotten that deliveries from some potato points have been so far very small. But whether the farmers have many potatoes to come forward is a question the answering of which depends on a knowledge of the extent to which the stock has been fed on tubers during the winter. Then, one thing seems certain, deliveries for some weeks can scarcely be other than light, and the longer deliveries are deferred the lighter are they likely to become through continued consumption by stock and loss from decay, and motality among potatoes that have been carelessly kept is usually large.

We still assert that potatoes look like a purchase, judging from present conditions. Between now and the incoming of the new crop is several months, and those who are inclined to speculate should exercise caution.

BREAK IN CANNED CORN.

IT is a long time since corn occupied as much attention on the Toronto market as it does at the moment.

Ever since last season's pack came upon the market it has been about as hard to get corn to move as to persuade a baulky horse to pull. As a result of this stocks have accumulated, and to such an extent that the market has within the last week broken from sheer weight of stock and a fear that, in view of the big pack, holders would not be able to unload before the next season's goods come on the market.

When the season of 1895-6 opened, the price wholesalers paid for corn ranged from 70 to 75c. per dozen. To-day plenty of similar quality corn can be obtained from the wholesale houses at 60c., while wholesalers themselves are buying at 50c. and even less. We hear of one transaction at 45c., but this lacks confirmation. As there has been some very old stock offering it is possible that figure may have related to such goods. A large retail grocer in Toronto was last week offering corn at four cents per tin, but it had an ancient appearance, while travelers tell us that five-cent corn is quite common with the country retailers.

Every wholesaler is making corn a leader, and the result of the unusually low prices ruling is a largely increased consumption.

The total pack of corn last year is estimated at 149,000 cases. This was much larger than the previous season, and the largest on record, it is believed. But with prices so phenomenally low as they are to-day, it is difficult to say what may be the condition of the market by the end of the present season.

The figures now obtaining must necessarily induce consumption, and in fact it already has. The question, therefore, is, will the consumption develop to such an extent as to cause stocks to diminish to a point where they will cause an appreciation in values? Such is quite possible.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT PRICES CONFLICTING.

DESPITE large receipts of cheap, inferior California fruit in Montreal, which resulted in conflicting quotations, sales agents for prime brands both of raisins and prunes found a ready sale for all they had to offer. One agent sold his cars before they arrived at the depot, and at this writing is cleaned entirely out.

Advices from the Coast cite an advance of ¼c. on leading brands of raisins, and the expectation is that what little remains will go into the market at even higher prices.

It is not anticipated that the receipts of inferior stock which came to hand last week will seriously affect the position of first-class 3 and 4-crown loose muscatels. The stock of both in jobbers' hands is small, and one leading sales agent has only 50 boxes of 4-crown in stock, which is about all he can depend on, so there is little to come forward. The same remarks can be applied to high-grade Pacific Coast prunes from the Golden state.

Buyers should be wary of low offers on these, for there have been considerable receipts lately of inferior non-graded stock, which was repacked at St. Louis and Chicago.

The quality of these goods even at the lower prices makes them a dear bargain compared with the standard reliable marks offered at higher prices. One is apt to lie on the shelves, while the other will have a quick turnover.

This business in California dried and evaporated fruit, it may be remarked, is constantly increasing, two or three of the leading agents having turned over this year four times the quantity of goods that they did last.

CANADIAN FLOUR FOR AUSTRALIA

AN order for a considerable quantity of Canadian flour has been placed with W. W. Ogilvie, the well-known miller, for shipment to Australia.

This is a new departure in the Canadian export trade as far as Australia is concerned. That is, unless a barrel of flour valued at seven dollars sent in 1892 and 1893 can constitute it an old departure. We have looked back over the Trade and Navigation Returns for several years and the only exports of flour to the Australian colonies that we have discovered are those of the two barrels to which we have just referred.

The Canadian commercial agent in Australia, Mr. J. S. Larke, in his last published report under date of Sydney, N. S. W., December 18 last, says: "Four months ago a British Columbia firm sent a few cases of wheat flakes made from the Northwest wheat. Some I distributed among consumers, and the balance was sold to grocers at the highest price paid for any breakfast foods. It was proved to be the finest looking article that had come into the market and its flavor was excellent. The firm has since sent some tons to a leading commission house to put regularly on the market. The superior character of the Canadian article and the remission of the duties, may, I trust, enable the Canadian maker to continue the trade."

It is to be hoped that the flour which is being sent from this country to Australia will turn out as promising as have the wheat flakes referred to in Mr. Larke's report.

Although Australia ranks as one of the wheat-growing sections of the world, two of the colonies import considerable quantities of flour. New South Wales, for instance, in 1894 imported $1,042,697 worth of flour, and that year the imports were smaller than usual. The latest figures we have for Queensland are those for 1893, when that colony imported $1,497,853 worth.

If there has been any time, of recent years at any rate, when an opportunity has been afforded for doing business with Australia, in not only flour, but cereal foods generally, it is now. The drought has created a necessity for these things. Even wheat is wanted. And if Canada does not supply the demand other countries will. Our fast direct line gives us an advantage over the United States, and we ought to be wide enough awake to take advantage of it. We do not know what we can do until we try. The trouble with us, as Canadians, is that we do not try enough.

PORTO RICO VERSUS BARBADOES MOLASSES.

THE comparative firmness of offers on Porto Rico molasses this spring as compared with Barbadoes is attracting some attention in Montreal.

Since the first offers were made some time ago at primary markets the former has not varied to any material extent, whereas the latter, which opened strong, has declined over 3c. since the first quotation.

It is possible that the Barbadoes goods are not coming up to expectations regarding quality. It may be noted in this connection that Porto Rico has all along been quoted higher on the New York market than Barbadoes, standing to-day at 28 to 38c. there as to grade for large lots, against 26 to 29c. for Barbadoes. The reverse is the case here, the latter all along being quoted 2 to 3c. above Porto Rico.

Some dealers claim that the difference in price is unfair and misleading. To be plain, they assert that in many cases the goods which are being jobbed as Barbadoes at the scale ruling on the latter are really Porto Rico. They agree that when the Montreal Wholesale Guild arranged the scale last fall there was a difference in the quality sufficient to warrant a premium on Barbadoes.

The early importations of Porto during last summer and fall were, they admit, very dark inferior stock, but these goods have been worked off. Since then the recent importations exhibited a considerable improvement in quality, and these latter receipts have been selling for Barbadoes when they were in reality Porto Rico.

With regard to import contracts only one or two lots of Barbadoes have been booked on the basis of 12 to 13c., first cost, or 29 to 30c. laid down Montreal.

THE DAVIDSON & HAY CO., LTD.

A re-organization of the firm of Davidson & Hay, wholesale grocers, Toronto, is in process. The firm is doing what a great many other firms are doing. It is forming a joint stock company. The firm will be known as the Davidson & Hay Co., Ltd. The old partners, the trade will be pleased to know, will continue in the new concern, which will have ample new capital and will carry on the wholesale grocery trade on even more extensive lines than the present firm.

The new firm will devote its energies exclusively to the wholesale grocery trade.

TOWNS IN THE KOOTENAY.

W. J. Massie, of J. W. Lang & Co., Toronto, returned on Saturday from a three months' business trip to the Coast and the Kootenay and Cariboo sections of the country. His trip was successful. It is four months since he made his last trip, and he told THE CANADIAN GROCER that marked changes had been made during that time in some parts of the country. Where, for instance, four months ago he was compelled to travel on horseback, he could now take the railway train. Then there was marked growth in some of the mining towns. In Trail Creek, for example, where, on his last trip, there was but one hotel, now there were ten, seven or eight stores, a newspaper, a smelter, and as Mr. Massie put it, "many other things."

OLD-TIME SUGAR-MAKING.

ROLAND E. ROBINSON contributes a delightful sketch of old New England to the April Atlantic. He tells of the discovery of maple sugar :

It does not appear that any record was made of aboriginal methods of tapping the maple and converting its sap into sugar, nor is the oldest maple old enough to tell us, though it had the gift of speech or sign-making intelligible to us. We can only guess that the primitive Algonquin laboriously inflicted a barbarous wound with his stone hatchet, and with a stone gouge cut a place for a spout, so far setting the fashion which was long followed by whitemen, with only the difference that better tools made possible. Or we may guess that the Indian, taking a hint from his little red brother, Niquasese, the squirrel, who taps the smooth-barked branches, broke these off and caught the sap in suspended vessels of birch bark, than which no cleaner and sweeter receptacle could be imagined. Doubtless the boiling was done in the earthern kokhs, or pots, some of which had a capacity of several gallons. According to Indian myths, it was taught by a Heaven-sent instructor. The true story of the discovery of maple sugar making is in the legend of Woksis, the mighty hunter. Going forth one morning to the chase, he bade Moqua, the squaw of his bosom, have a choice cut of moose meat boiled for him when he should return ; and that she might be reminded of the time, he stuck a stake in the snow and made a straight mark out from it in the place where its shadow would then fall. She promised strict compliance, and, as he departed, she hewed off the desired tid-bit with her sharpest stone knife, and filling her best kokh with clean snow for melting, hung it over the fire. Then she sat down on a bearskin, and began embroidering a pair of moccasins with variously dyed porcupine quills. This was a labor of love, for the moccasins, of the finest deerskins, were for her lord. She became so absorbed in the work that the kokh was forgotten, till the bark cord that suspended it was burned off, and it spilled its contents on the fire with a startling, quenching, scattering explosion that filled the wigwam with steam and smoke. She lifted the over-turned vessel from the embers and ashes by a stick thrust into its four-cornered mouth ; and when it was cool enough to handle she repaired it with a new bail of bark, and the kokh was ready for service again. But the shadow of the stake had swung so far toward the mark that she knew there was not time to melt the snow to boil the dinner.

Happily, she bethought her of the great maple behind the wigwam, tapped merely for the provision of a pleasant drink, but the sweet water might serve a better purpose now. So she filled the kokh with sap and hung it over the mended fire. In spite of impatient watching, it presently began to boil, whereupon she popped the ample ration of moose meat into it, and set a cake of pounded corn to bake on a tilted slab before the fire. Then she resumed her embroidery, in which the sharp point of each thread supplied its own needle.

The work grew more and more interesting. The central figure, her husband's totem of the bear, was becoming so lifelike that it could easily be distinguished from the wolves, eagles and turtles of the other tribal clans. In imagination she already beheld the moccasins on the feet of her noble Woksis ; now stealing in awful silence along the war-path ; now on the neck of the fallen foe ; now returning jubilant with triumph, or fleeing homeward from defeat, to ease the shame of failure by kicking her, in which case she felt herself bearing, as ever, her useful part. So she dreamed and worked stitch by stitch, while the hours passed unheeded, the shadow crept past the mark, the kokh boiled low, and the cake gave forth a smell of burning. Becoming aware of this obvious odor, she sprang to the fire. Alas, the cake was a blackened crisp, and lo, the once juicy piece of meat was a shriveled morsel in the midst of a gummy dark brown substance !

She snatched kokh and cake from the fire, and then, hearing her husband coming, she ran and hid herself in the nearest thicket of evergreens; for she knew that when he found not wherewith to appease the rage of hunger, he would be seized with a more terrible one against her. Listening awhile with a quaking heart, and catching no alarming sound, but aware instead of an unaccountable silence, she ventured forth and peeped into the wigwam. Woksis sat by the fire eating with his fingers from the kokh, while his face shone with an expression of supreme content and enjoyment. With wonder she watched him devour the last morsel, but her wonder was greater when she saw him deliberately break the earthern pot and lick the last vestige of spoiled cookery from the shards. She could not restrain a surprised cry, and discovering her he addressed her :

"O woman of women ! didst thou conceive this marvel of cookery, or has Klose-kur-beh been thy instructor ?"

Being a woman, she had the wit to withhold the exact truth, but permitted him to believe whatever he would.

"Let me embrace thee !" he cried, and upon his lips she tasted the first maple sugar.

The discovery was made public, and kokhs of sap were presently boiling in every wigwam. All were so anxious to get every atom of the precious sweet that they broke the kokhs and scraped the pieces, just as Woksis, the first sugar-eater, had done. And that is why there are so many fragments of broken pottery, and so few whole vessels to be found.

CONCERNING THE DRUMMER.

Look out for the drummer, he is like a drum with a hole in it—hard to beat.

One of our noted drummers came back from a three weeks' trip through the interior towns. You know how it is, boys, to be waiting for a train at a depot or saloon an hour or two, waiting only to get out, and he was asked by a young lady, who was also waiting, what was his line of goods. He simply replied "hardware," but as dumb luck struck the poor fellow, his valise fell and all the goods scattered around the platform.

At the time he carried only a poor, cheap line of ladies' and gents' underwear.

The lady blushed and the train pulled out.

On the front platform of a train stood a drummer. His shirt bosom was all covered with smoke and soot from the train.

The first store he struck the clerk sized him up and asked "How long do you wear your shirts ?"

He replied, "down to my knees."

Poor fellow, he didn't know the difference, but he got in a good bill all the same.

A warning to young ladies.

Don't smile at a drummer when business is bad, he is liable to forget all about the good times to come. He is like milk in warm weather—might sour on you.

A young drummer walked into a country store and tried to sell a young lady clerk suspenders.

She complained of hard times, and he told her to lay in a supply of suspenders and keep up courage.

I don't blame him, do you ?—Grocer and Country Merchant.

The Demand Proves the Quality

People will never ask a second time for an inferior article if they can get better at the same price. Inferior goods, especially if they are liquors, are always expensive in the end—they are injurious, unpleasant.
These two articles are always asked for the second time. That proves their superior quality. Try Them.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THE volume of business is not much larger than it was a week ago, but the rustle, as it were, of a more active trade is to be heard in the mulberry trees. The improvement this week is not so much in actual business as in feeling ; and the feeling is decidedly better. The low price at which corn is offering is one of the chief features of trade at the moment. Gallon apples are attracting a little more attention. Sugars still rule firm, and while trade is a little better than it was, the demand is by no means active. A fairly good demand is to be noted for bright syrups. Teas do not display much life yet. In dried fruits, those of California production still absorb the most attraction. Payments are not yet showing much improvement.

CANNED GOODS.

Corn is away down in price this week, quotations running all the way from 60 to 80c. Around 60c. appears to be the price at which most of the corn is going out. The low prices have stimulated the demand, but other kinds of canned vegetables are quiet. An increased movement in gallon apples has developed during the week. Jam, in 7 and 14-lb. pails, is also beginning to receive more attention. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 60 to 70c.; peas, 95c. to $1 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2.00; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45 ; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.35 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins ; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.20 ; canned mackerel, $1.10 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, 7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

COFFEE.

The conditions are much as they were a week ago, both with regard to prices and business. We quote green in bags : Rio, 18c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c. ; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

A good movement in bright syrups at from 38 to 40c. is to be noted, but in general the syrup market is quiet. Corn syrups at from 3 to 3¼c. per lb. are in fair request. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There is a fairly good trade passing in baking syrups, but business on the whole has fallen off lately. We quote : New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 35c. ; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The market continues strong, but business is not much better than it was a week ago, although a few more carloads are moving. Refined advanced 1 16c. per lb. on Tuesday. Wholesalers' quotations are : Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅝c.; yellows, 3⅞c. up.

SPICES.

The market for cream of tartar appears to have settled down to a steadier feeling. Spices generally are quiet and unchanged. We quote as follows : Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c. ; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

A larger proportion of the higher grades of rice, particularly Japans at about 5¼c. per lb., have been going out lately. The ruling idea as to price is 5¼c. for Japan and 3½ to 3⅝c. for ordinary.

NUTS.

Business continues quiet and prices unchanged. We quote : Brazil nuts, 14 to 15c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c. ; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots ; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

The wholesale trade report a good many Young Hysons moving this month. Stocks of cheap Young Hysons, ranging from 10 to 15c., are getting pretty well reduced in wholesalers' hands. There has been a good demand for Ceylons ranging from 17 to 19c., and a steady movement in Japans at from 16 to 18c. Ceylon teas both in London and Colombo are higher. This applies particularly to low grades. Ruling prices to retailers are : Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades ; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

Currants are going out nicely for the season, and the market is steady as to price. We quote as follows : Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

Valencia raisins are in moderate demand only. We quote : Off-stalk 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; selected, 6 to 6¼c., and layers, 6½c.

Stocks of good quality 3-crown loose muscatel raisins are about cleaned out on the Coast. On the local market there is still a fair demand to be noticed for California dried and evaporated fruit. We quote : Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 6½ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.; loose muscatels, 4½ to 6½c. per lb.

In prunes the demand for California keeps steady, and those of other growths remain quiet. We quote : Bosnias, " Sphinx " brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c., "U," 102 to lb., 6½ to 6¾c. ; California prunes, 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

Sultana raisins are without special feature. The ruling price is still 5½ to 6c. per pound.

Eleme figs are quiet and unchanged. We quote : Eleme, 14 oz., 9 to 10½c.; 10 lb., 9½ to 12½c.; 12 lb., 12½c.; 28 lb., 15c.

Dates still rule quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The mild weather has induced an increased consumption of both oranges and lemons, and the wholesale houses note a better enquiry in consequence. There has been no material change in the price of either oranges or lemons. Bananas are, if anything, a little firmer. There is a good enquiry for pineapples, but there are none on the market. Spanish onions are about out of the market. We quote as follows: Lemons—Messina, $2.25 to $3.25 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $4 to $4.75, according to size ; ditto seedlings, $3 to $3.50 ; Valencias, 420's, $5.50 to $6; Jumbo's, 420's, $6.75 to $7; ditto, 714's, $6.75 to $7; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $2 to $2.25; ditto, boxes, $3.75 to $4. Bananas, $1.25 to $2; cocoanuts, $3.50 to $4 a sack; apples, Spies, $3.50 to $4, Baldwins, $2.50 to $2 75, greenings, $2.25 to $2.50 a barrel; Russets, $1.75 to $3; domestic onions, 75c. per

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of dairy butter are a little more liberal this week, but all arriving is quickly picked up, and the supply of good butter is still short of the demand, and prices rule steady at quotations. There is, if anything, a little weaker feeling in creamery butter on account of more liberal receipts, but there is no quotable change in prices yet. If this continues the price of dairy butter will naturally be affected. Dealers do not, however, look for any material change in prices until grass butter comes in. We quote: Early summer dairy store packed, 8 to 10c; good to choice fresh packed, 16 to 17c.; large rolls, fresh, 17 to 18c.; dairy pound prints, 18 to 19c. Fresh creamery—Tubs, 21 to 22c.; do., pound prints, 22 to 23c.

CHEESE—The demand locally is moderat 8½ to 9c. for late makes and 8 to 8¼c. for early make.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Trade continues quiet, at from 90c. to $1.

DRIED APPLES—Market is still quiet, with the jobbing price unchanged at 3¾ to 4c.

EVAPORATED APPLES — Are neglected with prices easy at 6 to 6½c. per lb.

EGGS—Receipts continue to increase, and the tendency of values is still downward. The demand is good. The idea as to price is now 13c.

HONEY — Trade is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—Receipts are nearly nil, and quotations are nominal. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

POTATOES—Deliveries are freer, and some improvement is to be noted in the demand. There have been sales on track at 22c.; out of store jobbing lots are quoted at 25 to 30c.

MAPLE SYRUP—A few small lots of new season's maple syrup have arrived on the Toronto market the past week, and some orders have been booked for case lots at $1 to $1.10 per gallon. Lower prices may be expected within the next few days.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The demand is good for smoked bacon, rolls and hams. Lard continues fairly active. The market for dressed hogs in about demoralized. The packers have, as a rule, stopped operations, and there are more light hogs coming forward than the butchers can handle. Prices range from $4.30 to $4.75.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5¾ to 6c. for carload lots, and 6¼c. for small lots; backs, 7¼ to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS — Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7 to 7¼c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 8½ to 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 9½ to 10c.; small hams, 10c.; backs, 9 to 9½c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8c.; tubs, 8½c.; pails, 8¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $14.00; Canadian short-cut, $14 to $14.50; clear shoulder mess, $12; shoulder mess, $11.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Trade continues dull, with prices unchanged. We quote oysters: Standards at $1.30 to $1.35, and selects $1.70. Fish are quoted as follows: Skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; haddock, 5 to 6c.; Labrador herring, $3.25 to $3.50 half barrel and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; Newfoundland herring, $2.50 per half barrel, and $4.50 to $4.75 per barrel; fresh water salt herring, $3 per barrel; blueback herring, 4c.; pike, 6 to 7c. per lb.; flitched cod, 5c.; finnan haddies, 7c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 11c.; ditto, lengthwise, 10c.; large halibut, 12 to 15c.; Restigouche salmon, 20 to 25c.; British Columbia salmon, 14 to 15c.; mackerel, 20 to 25c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; black bass, 9 to 10½c.; white fish, 7c.; salmon trout, 7c.; Lake Superior whitefish, 7½c.; Lake Winnipeg whitefish, 7 to 7½c.

SALT.

Trade locally continues good, and an active demand for carload lots of coarse salt has developed during the week. Prices are steady and unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.50 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

WHEAT, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

WHEAT—Prices are higher. White sold on the street at 78 to 80c. per bushel. One hundred bushels of goose wheat sold at 58 to 60c.

PEAS—Sales at 52 to 55c.

OATS—Sales at 28c.

BALED STRAW — The market is unchanged. Car lots are quoted at $8.50 to $8.75.

PETROLEUM.

Trade continues fairly good with prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16½c.; carbon safety, 18c.; Canadian water white, 18c.; American water white, 21c.; Pratt's astral, 22c.

MARKET NOTES.

Low-grade Ceylon teas are dearer in London and Colombo.

Private mail advices from Liverpool say: "Valencia oranges are of such unsatisfactory character from frosts that we cannot quote, as all are more or less touched."

Pineapples are scarce on the Toronto market.

Refined sugars have advanced another 1-16c. per lb. in New York.

The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. this week received a nice order from the Transvaal for baking powder, flavoring extracts and catsups, shipment to be made via Capetown.

Shipments of new season's maple syrup arrived on the Toronto market this week.

Louisiana strawberries at 20c. per pint, asparagas at $2.40 per dozen bunches and cucumbers at $1.50 per dozen are on the Toronto market this week.

A couple of transactions in off stalk Valencia raisins, aggregating 700 boxes, took place in Toronto this week. Smith & Keighley were the sellers.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 9, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market presents no striking change, but the decline in freights has developed a greater movement. Sugar, for instance, has been more freely enquired for at the refineries by jobbers, while it rules very firm in price. Syrups are strong but dull, while still lower offers have been made on Barbadoes molasses from the islands without inducing any large contracts. Coffees and spices are without feature. In teas some fair-sized lots of low grade to medium Japans and blacks have changed hands between the trade. The strength in dried fruit already noted is maintained, for, despite the receipt of a lot of low grade California raisins, there is a steady enquiry for prime 3 and 4 crown fruit at stiff prices. French prunes are also firmer under decreasing stocks, and in some lines of canned fish values are a shade firmer for the inside figure.

SUGAR.

The past eight days have developed an improved demand for refined sugar on spot, and refineries have been much busier. In fact, increased activity is looked for now that enquiry has commenced. Jobbing prices here are firmly held, and the same is the case at the factory. In round lots granulated sold at 4⅝ to 4¾c., and yellows, 3¾c., but the jobbing range is the same as it was, 4⅞c. for granulated and 3¾ to 4¼c. for yellows, as to grade. Outside news continues firm, but there has been no special feature to note in this respect.

SYRUP.

The syrup market continues slow, but the tone is firm. Receipts of maple stock will affect the demand for these goods for some time. We quote as before : 2¼ to 3c. for bright and 1¾c. for dark grades.

MOLASSES.

Molasses has undergone no striking change, and aside from a small distributing trade from jobbers' hands there is no business to note. Some very low offers have been made to importers on Barbadoes. As low as 12c. at the islands has been cited, but the impression seems to be that no large quantity of goods could be contracted at the price, which is made more for the purpose of inducing demand than anything else. If so they have had no effect, for the contracting put through so far has been a bagatelle. For the regular jobbing trade the range of values is unchanged. We quote : Barbadoes, 36 to 37c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 35c.

RICE.

There is no change of importance to note in the rice market, which furnishes a limited trade. We quote : Japan standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5 ; standard B., $3.45 ; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

The market rules steady, and the feeling is the same ; prices are maintained, except in allspice, which is slightly lower for the inside figure. We quote : Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c. ; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.

COFFEE.

There is a rather firmer feeling in coffee, but values are unchanged, demand being restricted to small lots for actual requirements. We quote : Maracaibo, 19 to 21c.; Rio, 16½ to 20c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29 to 32c.

TEAS.

The tea market has again ruled rather quiet during the past week. A fair sorting up trade is passing, but jobbers are not enquiring as much in regard to spring shipment as eight days ago. A few lots of medium Japans at 15c., some blacks at 15 to 18½c., and green at 9½c. were the only transactions in a large way. We quote: Young Hysons 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades ; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades ; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

Receipts of low-grade California raisins have weakened prices of the lower grades, but the price on the prime article is maintained. Demand has been good at 6½ to 7c. for 4-crown ; 5½ for 3-crown, and 4¼ to 4½ for 2-crown.

The Valencia raisin market continues firm, and there have been further fair sized sales between traders. We quote : Ordinary, 4 to 4¼c.; fine, 4½ to 5c., and selected, 5¼ to 6c., and layers 6c.

High-grade Sultanas are held firm up to 8½c. for Corabournos, but prices range down to 5½c., according to brand.

The currant market is firm and unchanged. Primary markets rule strong, and the small stock here is well held. We quote: Barrels, 4 to 4¼c.; half-barrels, 4½ to 5c., and cases, 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

The prune market is strong, with stocks light and firmly held. Jobbers who ran out of medium to low grade French prunes this week had to pay an advance of ½c. to secure fresh supplies, and 4½c. was the inside figure on these goods. California and Bosnias are strong also, though not quotably changed. We quote : French, 4½ to 5½c.; Bosnia, 6 to 6½c., and California, 7 to 12c.

The fig market is firm, and one jobber paid ¼c. advance for bags the other day. We quote : Bags, 4¼c.; ordinary 8½ to 9c., and fancy, 12 to 17c., as to brand.

Dates continue in light supply, with prices firmly held at 4½ to 5c.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market is not specially active, but jobbers have been doing a little more purchasing. No canned mackerel are available now under $1.20, an advance of 10c., and though lower figures have been quoted, the best price for prime lobsters is $2.25. We quote as follows : Tomatoes, 80 to 85c.; corn, 75 to 85c.; peas, 95c. to $1 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's ; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality ; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20 ; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45 ; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25 ; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.35 to $1.40 ; "Maple Leaf," $1.25 ; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40 ; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins ; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15 ; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30 ; lobsters, $2.25 for tall tins ; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.45 ; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35 ; 6's, $7.50 to $8 ; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

NUTS.

The market remains quiet and unchanged. We quote : Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

GREEN FRUIT.

A good enquiry and advanced prices on Valencia oranges were the main features of the green fruit market here during the week, prices for small lots being fully 50 to 75c. per box higher. Evaporated apples are firmer also, while bananas are easier under increased receipts at $1 to $2 per bunch. Cranberries are almost off the market. We quote: Oranges—California navels, $3.50 to $4.50; Valencias, 420's, $4.75 to $5.50, and 714's, $6 to $6.50. Lemons, $2 to $3. Grapes, $5 to $6 per keg. Apples, $2 to $4 per barrel. Dried do. 3½c. Evaporated do., 5¾ to 6½c. Spanish onions, 30 to 40c. per crate. Pineapples, 25 to 40c. as to size; bananas, $1 to $2.

FISH.

The fish market has furnished a very moderate business. Prices generally not quotably changed. We quote: Fresh haddock, 2⅞c. per lb.; fresh frozen B.C. salmon, 7 to 8c.; Manitoba whitefish, 7c.; dore, 7c.; trout, 7c.; tommycods, 50 to 75c. Choice pickled Labrador herrings, $5.25; No. 1 N.S., $3 to $4; No. 1 green cod, $3.50 to $4; No. 2, $1.75 to $2; No. 1 haddock, $3; No. 1 large codfish, $6; No. 1 lake trout, $4 to $4.25; B.C. salmon, $10.50; No. 2 Labrador salmon, $13; No. 1 mackerel, $18.50; Loch Fyne herrings, 85c. per keg, and $11 per bbl.; No. 1 sardines, $4 50; No. 1 dried cod, $4 to $4.25; boneless cod, 6c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¼c.; boneless haddock, 5c.; shredded, 11c.; haddies, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.; bloaters, 90c. per box, and smoked herrings, 8 to 9c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

There has been little change in the provision market, business ruling quiet, a fair jobbing trade in hams and bacon being the chief feature. Prices are slightly easier on both. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $13.50 to $14; Canadian short cut, mess, $14 to $14.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The market took an advance on Thursday last to 15 to 16c., but it was not maintained, and prices to-day are almost back to their old level at 15c. for fresh laid.

BEANS — Business continues quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Carlots at $1 to $1.05, and small quantities, $1.10 to $1.20.

POTATOES — The market is moderately active and steady. We quote: Car lots, on track, 30 to 32c. per bag, and, in small quantities, 35 to 40c.

MAPLE SYRUP—A few small lots of new maple syrup have been received, for which demand is fair at 70 to 75c. per gallon tin. Small quantities of new sugar have sold at 8 to 9c.

HOPS—Dull and unchanged at 6 to 8c. for good to choice and 5c. for fair.

HONEY—Dull but steady at 7 to 8c. for extracted and 12 to 14c. for fine comb stock, dark selling 1 to 2c. less.

ONIONS—There is no change in the onion market, yellow ranging from $1.60 to $2 per bbl. and red $2.50 per bbl.

TALLOW—Quiet, with a few sales passing at 5 to 5½c., as to size and quality of lot.

HAY.

The market unchanged, baled hay selling quietly at $13 for No. 1 and $12.50 for No. 2

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.

The chief feature since last report was a general decline of 10 to 15c. in all grades of Ontario flour. Manitobas continue unchanged, while enquiry on the whole is fair. We quote: Winter wheat, $4.25 to $4.30; spring wheat, patents, $4.25; straight roller, $35 to $3.90; straight roller, bags, $1.85 to $1.90; extra, bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.

There was no change in the oatmeal market, business being slow and prices unchanged. We quote: Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10; granulated, barrels, $3.10 to $3.20; rolled oats, barrels, $2.90 to $3; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.

The demand for feed was fair and the market is moderately active and steady. We quote: Bran, $14 to $15; shorts, $15 to $16; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market was without striking feature to-day. There is still considerable controversy regarding the quantity remaining here. Despite the heavy weekly shipments, it is held that there is still over 15,000 cheese on spot, and that offers from the district west of Toronto indicate that there is still a considerable quantity up there to move. Prices on spot to-day were purely nominal at 8¾c. for finest fall makes.

A fair jobbing demand continues for butter, sufficient to prevent any accumulation. Late made fresh creamery sells at 22c., while held goods range from 19 to 20c., as to grade. Selections of Townships dairy sold at 19 to 20c.

ASHES.

The market is quiet and steady. We quote: First pots, $3.75; seconds, $3.50, and pearls, $5.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cables from the islands on Barbadoes molasses on Monday offered 12c., first cost. This is about equivalent to 29c. laid down in Montreal.

The price of hams and bacon declined about 1c. during the past week.

First offers of new maple syrup and molasses were made this week. The opening prices given elsewhere are on a par with those of last year.

The two first fruit steamers have sailed. Their cargoes consist of about 95,000 packages of green fruit.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 9, 1896.

BUSINESS during Easter week was very good in such lines as lighter groceries, but the week has not been a particularly active one, though the regular spring trade is well under way. A very large trade is done with the Annapolis Valley by St. John merchants, a large proportion of the goods being shipped in schooners, which make regular trips. In the same way trade is carried on with all Bay ports. These packets do not run in the winter, but have now begun another season's work. The river is not yet open, but the river steamers have all been got in shape for that event. In markets there have been no great changes in price, but what there have been have been to the advantage of the buyer. The winter port business, which has proved so successful, is about over. Everything points towards a much larger business next winter, there being one or two other lines talking of using St. John.

This is the opening of their season and the mill men get but little peace. In burning oil the market continues unchanged, with but light movement. We quote: Burning oil, American, 23¼c.; best Canadian, 21½c; prime, 19c.; no charge for barrel.

SALT—There is an improved demand. The last steamer to bring salt direct is now on the way. As these steamers came weekly it tended to keep prices low. There are three cargoes by sailers now afloat for here; these, with present stocks, will fully supply demand. For cheese and butter-making Canadian salt is being very largely used. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; fine factory-filled, 95c. to $1.10; (while landing in large quantities these prices are shaded) 5-lb. bags, $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $1.90 to $2 per case; dairy, bulk, $2.80 per bbl.; cheese, bulk, $2.70 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—A good steady demand is noted. In lobsters, prices tend higher. Hoegg's season's pack for future delivery is reported all sold at prices rather higher than last season. This brand brings a much higher price in our market than any other. A car of salmon was received this week, but no change in prices was noted. Although season is yet early, some of our merchants have bought their corned beef. Canadian goods have the advantage. Prices show no change during the week. Peas are being held firmer, but on corn and tomatoes market is well stocked. We quote as follows; Corn, 80 to 90c.; peas, 90 to 95c.; tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; corned beef, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.65; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, $2.45 to $2.90; 2's, $1.90; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; haddies, $1.30; salmon, $1.40 to $1.50; flat, $1.75; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $3 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1; pineapples, $2 to $2.35; kippered herring, $1.10.

GREEN FRUIT—There is an improved trade noticed. California oranges find but very indifferent demand, those arriving this season being reported not as good as usual. In Valencias, prices tend higher, and the season is getting late. Lemons tend higher with a good demand. In bananas, large quantities continue to arrive, and quality also shows improvement. In apples, extra quality will bring extra price; stock is light and medium quality shows but fair demand. In pineapples but few are seen. Quite a quantity of cranberries are moving; they come in boxes. We quote as follows: Valencia oranges, $5.50 to $6; lemons, $2.75 to $3.50; pippins and winter fruit, $2 to $3.50; Cape Cod cranberries, $3.25 per box; California oranges, $3.50 to $4.50; pineapples, 20 to 25c. each; bananas, $2 to $2.50 per bunch.

prunes arrived this week and find good demand at firm figures. Californias continue to arrive in fair quantities. Some, thinking they are prepared the same as the foreign prunes, are not pleased with them. The trouble is in the preparing, not in the prune. Attention should be given to this. The grey color which some, particularly the cheaper grades, have is not (as many think) a sign they are old. It is the way they are cured and does not detract from the quality, if it does from the appearance. Cleaned currants tend to be dearer on account of the American duty. Our own tariff appears rather at fault here, as it charges the same duty on cleaned as on the regular fruit, while it takes a quarter to a third more of the regular to make an equal quantity of the cleaned. Dried and evaporated apples are dull. We quote: Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; figs, 10 to 12c.; 4-crown Cal. L. M. raisins, 6 to 7c.; 3-crown Cal. L. M. raisins, 5 to 6c.; keg prunes, 4c.; boxes, 4¾ to 6c.; Cal. L. L. raisins, $1.50 to $1.75; currants, bbls., 4 to 4½c.; half-cases, 4¼ to 4¾c.; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c.; dried apples. 5 to 6c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; California evaporated peaches, 8 to 13c.; do. apricots, 12 to 14c.; do. pears, 12 to 13c.; California prunes, 6½ to 10c.; clean currants, bulk 5½ to 6½c.; 1-lb. cartoons, 7 to 7½c.; onions, $2.25 to $2.50 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100.; Valencia layers, 5½ to 6c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—A rather better demand is noted for cheese, though there is no change in price. A new cheese is having a good sale; it is in about half-pound packages and retails for 12c. It is very nicely put up; it is called "Meadow Sweet" cheese. In eggs, demand has been very active, while stocks have been light. A schooner coming in on the 2nd with a thousand dozen sold to one retailer at 14c. On the 3rd the wholesale price was 15c., and even 16c. could have been got. They were retailed at the same price. In butter, good continues scarce, but the quality of poor in the market keeps the price down. We quote: Cheese, 9 to 9½c.; butter, 16 to 18c.; eggs, 15 to 16c.; fresh creamery prints, 22 to 24c.; tubs, 20 to 22c

MOLASSES—A small quantity of new Porto Rico is to hand—only about 80 casks. It is held firm, a large part of it being sold to arrive. It is but about one-third the importer expected but another small cargo is due. Barbadoes is off another cent at the island, being over a cent lower than it opened, so prices are easy here. It is thought that to arrive will be better quality than that now here. In New Orleans, buyers can have any quantity. Some very choice has been received; also some cheaper grades are to hand this week. Best quality is held very firm. There is some Antigua of fair quality in small packages now on the market. We quote: Barbadoes, 33 to 35c.; St. Croix, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 36c.; syrup, 35 to 38c.; New Orleans, bbls., 33 to 36c.; Antigua, small package, 28 to 30c.

SUGAR—There is nothing new to report. Stocks are still ample, and though market continues firm the expected advance is not yet to hand. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4¼c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

FISH—Gaspereaux begin to demand attention, but so far the catch is light, and those caught are picked up at good price by the retail fish trade. In boneless fish the demand is less active. In smoked, a rather firmer feeling is noted, stocks becoming smaller, and the fishermen being slow to bring them in at present prices. Fresh haddock are still scarce and continue to be brought from Boston to be smoked. Not being as fresh they do not give equal satisfaction with our own fish. Pickled and dry show no change and only a fair business is doing. Small lobsters are plentiful, but large scarce and high. We quote as follows: Bloaters, 60c.; haddies, 5½c.; Medium cod, $3.45 to $3.50; large, $3.60 to $3.75; small, $2.35 to $2.50; pollock, $1.45 to $1.50; bay herring, $1.35 to $1.50; Grand Manan, $1.35 to $1.50; ripplings, $1.65 to $1.70; Quoddy River, $2.75 to $3; smoked, 5 to 5½c.; shad, half-bbl., pickled, $4.50 to $5; Canso, $4; halfs, $2.25; Shelburne, $2.75 to $3 per bbl.; do. No. 2, $2 35.

PROVISIONS—Pork continues to disappoint holders. and demand is quiet. No immediate change for the better is looked for. Beef is as last week. There is a fair demand for smoked meats, but no change in prices. Lard is held firm. Stocks held here are fairly large. We quote: Domestic mess pork, $14 to $14.25; American, $14 to $14.50; clear pork, $15 to $16; beef, $13 to $14; pure lard, 9 to 9¼c.; compound lard, 8c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; hams, 10 to 12c.

FLOUR AND MEAL—Flour tends to easier prices, with but a quiet movement. Millers' agents report very dull business. Oatmeal and oats are easy, with rather lower prices ruling. Seed oats begin to be enquired for. Bean market is very unsatisfactory, stocks in many cases being large, and some dealers selling well below what others paid for their stock. Cornmeal is selling freely at a very low price. Hay shows no change in this market. Quite a quantity is being shipped by steamer to England. In seed the movement is becoming more active, but prices are easy. Feed shows but light demand. Prince Edward Island oats are being offered. We quote: Manitoba, $4.65 to $4.70; best Ontario, $4.60 to $4.65; medium, $4.40 to $4.50; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.40; cornmeal, $2.10 to $2.15; hand-picked beans, $1.10 to $1.15; prime, $1; split peas, $3.70; pot barley, $4.10 to $4.25; hay, $12 to $13; oats, 34 to 35c.; middlings, $19 to $20 on track; bran, $18; buckwheat meal, domestic, $1.25 to $1.30; western, $1.25 to $2; yellow-eye beans, $1.75 to $1.85.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The Dominion Dairy School at Sussex is now in operation. It is being largely attended. The high standing of New Brunswick cheese is largely owing to the careful instructions given at the Government schools.

A. L. Goodwin, fruit merchant, is making many improvements at his place of business, and is also extending his quarters, which will enable him to even better than ever look after his rapidly increasing business.

Str. St. John City, arriving last week, brought $129,000 in silver and copper coins from London for use through Canada.

Mr. John Torrance, Jr., of the Dominion Line steamers, was in the city during the week. It is hoped that his line will use our port next winter.

Sperry L. Shea, traveler for the H. P. Baird Co., Woodstock, was drowned during the past week, a team he was driving breaking through the ice.

goods upon the market this season than ever. In former seasons the hot weather here often interfered, but this summer this is to be overcome by a cold storage plant they are putting in.

The cornmeal mills here are very busy at present. Twenty-two cars of corn arrived here for them on one day last week.

Robert Jardine has been appointed agent here for D. Gunn, Flavelle & Co., of Toronto.

The winter port business is about over. The last steamers are now on their way here. Among the goods arriving for export during the week were 23 cars lard from Chicago for Hamburg.

THE GROCER'S attention was called to a large photograph hanging in the office of Smith & Tilton, brokers, of this city, showing a solid train of 29 cars laden with Colman's mustard. The photograph was sent them by the Messrs. Colman, of London, (whose advertisement adorns the front page of THE GROCER) with the explanation that the train was one of four sent off the same day to supply their customers in English towns. The picture not only gives an idea of the vast extent of Messrs. Colman's business, but is in itself an excellent piece of art, showing every detail clearly. Smith & Tilton represent the firm in the Maritime Provinces.

At the Central Creamery, Charlottetown, P.E.I., on Monday last, 12,655 lbs. of milk was received.

Hall & Co. and S. L. Morrison, grocers, in Fredericton, have formed a co-partnership.

C. D. Trueman, of the South Wharf, has this spring rented the store adjoining that which he has been occupying, thus giving him twice the room.

Take the bull by the horns is always a good rule. And the St. Croix Soap Co., in making a cut of eighty cents per box in Surprise, rather than coming down more gradually, have been able to continue masters of the situation.

A PUBLIC BENEFACTOR.

Here, then, says G. B. Shaw, is the simple formula for the public benefactor: Never give the people anything they want; give them something they ought to want and don't. Thus we find at the end of it all, appositely enough, that the great work of the millionaire, whose tragedy is that he has not needs enough for his means, is to create needs. The man who makes the luxury of yesterday the need of to-morrow is as great a benefactor as the man who makes two ears of wheat grow where one grew before.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

GOOD Friday made a break in the week's business which otherwise was fairly good.

Flour remains at former quotations, although all the dealers here predict a rise in the near future.

Cornmeal is firm, and it is expected local millers will soon raise the price.

Oatmeals are low. Transactions have been made at $3, though the current value is $3.10, with an advance of 20 and 30 cents on that for jobbers.

Oats are low. Wholesale quotations are 32c. and jobbing 34 and 35c.

Hay is quiet, but firm. Shipments are being made to England, and also to the Boston market, which keep the demand good.

There has been considerable activity in sugar during the past week. Buyers who have been holding back have bought quite freely. Prices remain unchanged.

The market is well supplied with green fruit, such as oranges, lemons, and bananas. The latter are arriving quite freely, and are of excellent quality. American strawberries sell at 60c. per quart. The market is bare of good apples. Lemons sell at the low price of $3 and $3.50. Pineapples are in limited supply at from $2.25 to $2.50 per dozen. American silver-skin onions sell at 2 to 2¼c. per lb.

Dried fruits remain steady.

Canned goods are unchanged.

The provision market was very dull during Easter, in fact Easter beef sold $1 per 100 lbs. less than it did last year, and the demand was very poor. Native sold at from $8 to $9 and Ontario at from $7 to $7.50 in bodies. Some Ontario spring lambs sold at from $4 to $5, but dealers are carrying stocks which they should have disposed of at Easter. Fresh killed mutton is worth 5½c. and veal 5c.

The poultry market is weak. Fresh killed turkeys sell at 18c., and fowls at 75c. per pair. There is some demand for the latter.

Eggs are low, selling at 12 to 13c. The market is well supplied, as stocks are coming in freely from outports.

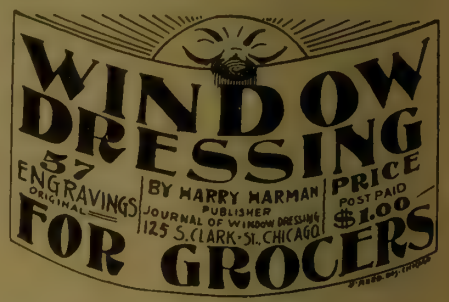
Produce is low. Potatoes sell at 20c., which is equal to 15c. last fall.

Cheese remains unchanged. The market is well stocked.

There is a scarcity of good butter, and prices are higher. Fancy dairy cannot be had. The Central Creamery at Charlottetown is unable to fill orders. Good dairy is worth 20c., and good creamery 22c. Rolls are out of the market.

There is a fairly good demand for molasses. Porto Rico, lately landed, sold at 32½c., and some fancy Demerara a shade higher.

There is no change in the fish market. Some heavy shipments have been made to West India and United States ports.



Boutilier & Morehouse, Centreville, Digby County, are making a specialty of canned haddies. Last year they put up nearly 60,000 one-pound tins.

INSOLVENCY LEGISLATION.

A VERY important matter was brought up at the quarterly meeting of the Montreal Board of Trade this week by J. D. Rolland, of the Rolland Paper Co. It was the question of a uniform insolvency law for the whole Dominion, in which connection he submitted the following resolution:

"That this Board desires to express its dissatisfaction at the lack of an insolvency law for the whole Dominion, and strongly urges upon the president and succeeding Councils to spare no effort to procure the enactment by the Federal Parliament of an insolvency law uniform in its administration throughout the Dominion."

This was seconded by B. J. Coughlin, who urged that the question be pressed upon the Federal Parliament, for it was important that we should have an insolvency law that was applicable to the whole country, and that would do away once for all with those anomalies of preferential settlements and arrangements that existed in one place or another.

John McKergow and J. A. Cantlie, members of the Insolvency Committee, reported what that committee had done in the matter. Mr. McKergow regretted that they could not report anything substantial in the line of insolvency legislation, but it was not for the want of trying. Last year everything was done to have the bill before Parliament amended and presented, but the session died without any results. This year it was useless to try. A bill had been before Parliament, but it had been side-tracked, and nothing would probably be done until after the elections. The committee was watching the matter, and would do all it could to have a bill introduced which would meet the views of the merchants as far as possible.

J. A. Cantlie complained of the opposition from the Bankers' Association, there being a difference of opinion between bankers and merchants as to how the ranking should take place on the notes discounted. The House of Commons as a whole was also opposed to the bill, for what reason he could not for the life of him see. As they were on the eve of a general election, they would do well to keep the matter before the business public, and also send a copy to the Minister of Justice, showing that gentleman that the Board of Trade was looking after its interests, and determined to have them recognized, if at all possible.

The motion was adopted unanimously.

J. A. Cantlie also moved: That the Council is hereby requested to urge the Provincial Government to so amend the provincial law that it shall be compulsory on all curators, assignees or liquidators of insolvent estates to give satisfactory security for the amount of the assets of all and every estate they administer.

Speaking to the motion he said that millions were passing into the hands of irresponsible liquidators and under the present law all they had to do was to say: "There is nothing for you, and you can stay at home and 'grin and bear it.'" He hoped that the Council would take the matter up.

The motion was seconded by Mr. Frank J. Hart, who was perfectly satisfied, that if the matter were only properly represented to the Provincial Government, immediate satisfaction would be obtained.

Mr. J. M. M. Duff considered that the adoption of the motion would be a move in the right direction. It was a wonder to him that the provision contained in the statute was not availed of, as if the directors only asked for security to be given, a person could not get the position of curator until such security was put up.

The motion was carried unanimously.

The Wellandport roller flour mill, owned by Heslop Bros., was burned on the 4th inst.

THE PISTACHIO NUT.

The pistachio, pistachio vera, explains an exchange, is a native of western Asia, and cultivated generally in southern Europe. The tree is from twenty to thirty feet high, the seeds are an irregular oval shape, about an inch long, of a reddish green externally and a bright green within, exceedingly pleasant to taste, and in the countries where they grow are largely eaten as a luxury. Comparatively very few of the nuts find their way into commerce, but the consumption in Turkey, Greece and other places in Southern Europe is very large. They are candied or coated with sugar like almonds, which they resemble in flavor. In this country the use is confined to confectioners, ice cream manufacturers and cooks, who find in the kernel a harmless green coloring matter more pleasant than spinach juice and of fine flavor.

The tree is hardy in England in sheltered locations and in favorable parts of France, and would doubtless succeed in our Southern States.

There are five other species of pistachio, one of which, P. lentis-cus, produces rosin mastic; another, P. terebinthus, yields Ohio turpentine and curious galls.

Pistachio formed part of the presents which Joseph's brethren took with them from Canaan, and in Egypt is still often placed among sweetmeats and the like in presents of courtesy.

HOW TO PRESERVE EGGS.

BOTH in England and Germany experiments have been made to preserve eggs by drying them, and to supply the market with this article as a substitute for fresh eggs. Inasmuch as the product is somewhat cheaper than fresh eggs at certain seasons of the year, while its nourishing value is said to be almost the same, the proceeding deserves some attention. In the factory which has recently begun operations at Passau, Bavaria, the process is as follows: The eggs are first candled in order to examine their quality All good eggs are thrown into a very large, rapidly rotating vat, in which the centrifugal force separates the egg shells from the yolk and the white. The mixed fluid is taken out of this vat and dried by a process in which combined currents of air and heat are used. After its being thoroughly dried the product is packed in barrels, the finished article appearing like brown sugar. Experiments made with preserved eggs, which had been shipped twice across the equator, showed that omelettes and other dishes could be prepared tasting exactly as if made of fresh eggs. The Passau factory during the height of the season preserves from 8,000 to 10,000 dozen eggs per day. Several poultry farms have been started in the neighborhood, but even these are not sufficient to supply the necessary quantity of fresh eggs for the factory, and agents sent out by them buy up all the eggs for miles around. The product of this factory has recently appeared in the German markets, and although the general public viewed with some distrust the offers of this substitute for fresh eggs, the excellent quality of the preserves has already made many converts.

HOW TO DETECT OLEO.

Lard, oleomargarine, butterine, etc., placed between two pieces of window glass and held up to the light, disclose white, opaque spots, which are crystals of fat, says an exchange. Pure butter does not show these specks. Examining lard in this way is an excellent means of cultivating the eye and qualifying one to readily determine, when testing butter, to distinguish the imitation from the genuine. This is a simple and practical rule and a sure one.

RELIGION AND BUSINESS.

We don't hear so much now-a-days of the preposterous query: Can a man be a successful grocer and a Christian? as in former years, when some esteemed contemporary would run short of reading matter. Yet it does not follow because a packer or a dealer is prominent in a church that he will always give good weight and measure. As they would say in Wall Street, some dealers are "long" on religion, but "short" on honesty. —Merchants' Review.

There's a tendency . .

to sacrifice quality for price these days, and alleged "pure goods" are frequently offered at prices which ought to show anyone, with half an eye, that there is something wrong.

A LOAFER EXTERMINATOR.

A COUNTRY store is the scene of many curious happenings, remarks an exchange. One of these occurred in a small village. The clerk was a bright, smart, active country lad, who was equal to emergencies. He found that a certain denizen of the place named "Jake Brown" always found a convenient sitting on the counter in the farther part of the store near the cracker barrel, and that when the clerk's eyes were not upon him the old man's position allowed him to pilfer a number of biscuits. The clerk soon grew tired of this, and he arranged a good-sized needle with a spring in a hole in the counter under the oil-cloth covering, with a long string, which could be pulled at any point in the store.

One extremely hot day in June the old man entered the store and took his position as usual on top of the counter near the cracker barrel. The clerk was apparently engaged with a customer, but had his eye on "old Jake," and when he was reaching for the crackers the string was pulled. "Jake" went up in the air, landing on his feet in the middle of the store. He felt for the object of his attack, he wearing only overalls. Not being rewarded in his search, he mounted the counter the second time, and was about to make another attempt at cracker raising when he felt another thrust, which lifted him in the air again. He started for the attic above the store.

His prolonged absence caused the clerk to go up to the attic (where he found it as hot as an oven), to see what was going on. He found the old man distracted and nearly disrobed in the middle of the floor, shaking his overalls furiously. The sight was laughable. The clerk asked him what was the matter. He replied:

"This morning while mowing in the meadow I struck a hornets' nest, and one of the pesky things has crawled up the leg of my overalls and has struck me twice, and I'm hunting for it."

The clerk wore a smile.

FROST IN THE CITRUS BELT.

Recent weather conditions in the southern California citrus belt have been adverse to some of the young orchards, and regarding the prospect of the coming crop The Riverside Press says: "There can be no doubt that the cold spell preceding the recent storm has the effect to blast much of the new growth on many of the smaller orange trees, and that the next crop of navels may be somewhat reduced in consequence, though possibly the increased area of bearing groves may bring up the totol to a normal figure."

The extraordinary demand for J. F. Rogers' breakfast bacon and lard continues. They work day and night to keep level with orders.

BELOW COST OF PRODUCTION.

UNDER the old rule, based upon averages for twenty years ending four years ago, the cost of pork per barrel, with hogs at 4c., as now in Chicago, would be $11.37; of ribs, $5.21 per 100 lbs.; of lard, $6.47. These averages have been somewhat reduced in the past four years, but we have not the figures at hand, and the above will show approximately the point we wish to make, namely, that products are now selling in the speculative markets far below the cost of production, even at the reduced basis. May pork, with a month's more carrying charges added to its cash value, upon which the above figures were made, sold in Chicago on Thursday at $9.10, ribs at $4.87½, lard at $5.27½, or $2.27½ on pork, 3½c. on ribs and $1.20 on lard under cost, upon the above basis. Nor is this the only result of this protracted bear campaign of the packers, who have unnecessarily and persistently depressed values beyond anything warranted in the situation. Last December the lowest prices on this crop were touched on the combined liquidation of longs on last crop and enormous receipts of fat hogs on this, with a big corn crop ahead. These prices ruled, however, but a short time, as the trade bought freely, on the belief that they could not long remain at the lowest level on record with few exceptions, even though hogs were then below 4c. in Chicago, and cost of production less than now. Yet prices of products are now in many cases as low as then, and in some lower.

This is especially true of lard, which sold on Thursday in Chicago for May at $5.27½, against $5.37½, the lowest last December, although there are two and a half months less carrying charges on it now. The previous low record was in December, 1879, when it sold for that month in Chicago at $5.35 and last December at $5.07½, which is the record. But cash lard is offered relatively lower now in New York from outside Western points than from Chicago, though 7½ to 10c. above the lowest last December, or $5.50 in tierces and $5.20 in tanks, against $5.42½ and $5.10 last December.

Yet, notwithstanding, the trade and outsiders bought freely last December, with larger receipts and lower hogs than now, and made big money by it. In spite of the opposition of the packers, they are now letting the packers get all this still cheaper stuff, which the longs are throwing away, or the shorts putting out, at or near the bottom, as the packers did last fall and got left. History repeats itself, and so will these markets soon, and the packers will be on top this time.

While pork and ribs are now higher than lard, on the above comparison with last December, yet they are not relatively any dearer than lard on the new basis, established since the general competition of cotton oil with the latter. The old-time relative difference recognized roughly in the trade was pork per barrel twice the price of ribs per 100 lbs., and lard 1c. over the price of ribs. On this basis ribs would now be the highest and lard the cheapest things on the list, and the Cudahys are reported to have thrown over the former.—National Provisioner.

ANTIQUITY OF SOAP.

Soap is not a modern invention, remarks an exchange. It is twice mentioned in the Bible, first in Jeremiah and again in Malachi. History tells us more than 2,000 years ago the Gauls manufactured it by combining beech tree ashes with goats' fat. A few years ago a soap boiler's shop was discovered in Pompeii, having been buried beneath the terrible rain of ashes that fell upon the city in 79 A.D. The soap found in the shop had not lost all of its efficacy, although it had been buried 1,800 years. At the time that Pompeii was destroyed the soap-making business was carried on in several of the Italian cities. Pliny the Elder speaks of soap, and says that because its price was so high many substitutes were used, among them a kind of glutinous earth and fine sand mixed in the juice of certain plants that make lather. As early as 700 A.D. there were many soap factories in both Italy and Spain, and about 700 A.D. the Phœnicians introduced the business into France, the first factories being established at Marseilles.

BUSINESS CHANGES.

DIFFICULTIES, ASSIGNMENTS, COMPROMISES

THE liabilities of James Milne & Son, general merchants, Stirling, are $7,000 and assets $10,000.

The premises of G. R. Rainville & Co., grocers, Montreal, are closed.

J. E. Marcil, general merchant, Acton, has compromised at 40c. on the dollar.

James Monteith, general merchant, of Waverley, has assigned to M. Moses.

George Smith, general merchant, Lachine, has assigned and a meeting of creditors will be held 11th inst.

Charles Lamb & Co., general merchants, Perce, Que., are offering to compromise at 35c. on the dollar.

N. Batchelder, general merchant, Stanbridge East, Que., is offering to compromise at 50c. on the dollar cash.

A meeting of the creditors of S. Hetherington & Co., general merchants, Ayer's Flats, Que., has been called for the 17th inst.

Relyea & Co., general storekeepers, of Cornwall, have assigned to James P. Langley, Toronto. A composition offer of 60c. on the dollar was put through some time ago, but owing to a difficulty in connection with the sale of the stock, the firm decided to make an assignment.

In our issue of March 20 appeared an item stating that "H. Charron, Hull, had compromised." It should have read D. Charron. Some of the trade thought it had reference to P. H. Charron, of the same place, but Mr. P. H. Charron is in the happy position of being able to pay 100c. on the dollar.

CHANGES.

P. J. Harrington is starting a general store at Killaloe.

H. McMorrow has started a grocery store at Montreal.

J. A. Collerette has opened a grocery store at Montreal.

A. E. Burke has opened a grocery store at Hartford, Ont.

Duncanson & Smith, grocers, Amherstburg, has sold out to Edward P. Healey.

A. E. Hamsworth, general merchant, Marquette, has been succeeded by McPherson & Co.

H. F. Honsberger, general merchant, Ethel, has been succeeded by W. Beattie & Co.

Graham & Co., groceries and liquors, Lindsay, have been succeeded in the liquor business by J. Dobson.

G. A. Bigelow, grocer, Nelson, B.C., has been succeeded by Steen & Co.; he has also given up his business at Rossland.

PARTNERSHIPS FORMED AND DISSOLVED,

A partnership has been registered by H. C. and C. H. Black, to carry on business in Pugwash, N.S., as general merchants and lumber dealers, under the style of Black & Co.

Coulter & Perrin, general merchants, Pontypool, have dissolved.

Bradford Bros. & Payne, general merchants, Granby, Que., have dissolved.

SALES MADE AND PENDING.

The property of the estate of L. and E. Hart, general merchants and fish dealers, Guysboro, N.S., is advertised for sale.

The book debts of A. A. Decelles, groceries, and of Langlier & Decelles, liquors, St. John's, Que., have been sold.

The stock of Blair Bros., teas, etc., Galt, is advertised for sale 10th inst.

The assets of F. P. Carey, general merchant, New Glasgow, Que., have been sold.

The assets of B. Lalonde, general merchant, Vaudreuil, are to be sold by auction 15th inst.

FIRES.

L. P. Churchill & Co., general merchants, Lockeport, N.S., have been burned out; insured. F. Payzant, lobster packer and tinsmith of the same place, has also been burned out.

Maria E. Oakes, groceries and hotel, Weymouth, N.S., has been burned out.

The premises of Mark Faulkland, grocer, Ottawa, have been damaged by fire.

DEATHS.

J. R. Hill, grocer, Toronto, is dead. His death was sudden.

C. G. Bertrand, of Chas. Bertrand & Co., general merchants, Isle Verte, Que., is dead.

INDIA'S 1895 TEA CROP.

The actual crop of Indian tea for season 1895 amounted to 135,500,000 pounds, or about 5,000,000 pounds less than originally estimated and 8,250,000 in excess of the crop of the previous season. Exports to the United Kingdom for the season will reach about 121,000,000 pounds. Latterly good rain has fallen and materially improved prospects for the opening of the new season.

GETTING INTO SMALL COMPASS.

Regarding the raisin situation on the Pacific Coast, The California Fruit Grower says: "Aside from the efforts being made to regulate the packing and handling of this season's crop, there is but little to report at this time. The market is unchanged. The shipments overland for month of February were 2,718,000 lbs., or 114 cars of 12 tons each. The overland movement for January was 164 cars of 12 tons, making a total of 278 cars this year to March 1st. The movement for March is estimated at 85 cars. This reduces the holdings on this coast, which are mostly of low grade, to small proportions. In regard to the season of 1896, the leading packers have met and formulated a plan which has been submitted to the growers and is now being considered. Without going into details at this time, we will say that the plan suggested is not unlike that governing the Alaska Packers' Association. We await developments."

FULL OF PUSH.

The firm of Colwill & Irvine, who have carried on a general store in Arthur for a number of years, have dissolved. Mr. H. J. Colwill will continue to carry on the business. Mr. Colwill, though a young man in the prime of life, has had many years' experience and is full of energy and push. This, together with one of the best assorted stocks and his fine store, should ensure for him success in his venture. He will carry a large and up-to-date stock of dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes.

Ox Tail Soup

How many people have tasted an Ox Tail Soup that is absolutely correct? We venture to say, very few. It is difficult to make, and even the best chefs can't catch the exact flavor unless they have made soup-making a special study. There are twenty-one distinct ingredients and flavors to a correct Ox Tail Soup. These must be combined and harmonized under certain conditions which are known only to the professional. We put up Ox Tail Soup (and nineteen other varieties) in tins under our "White Label Brand." We guarantee each variety to be absolutely correct.

Well, I am pleased to know it. Is I getting younger? I guess no. Is it the shine that makes me proud? Not much! That is a good shine. No gentleman ain't dressed that ain't got that polish. I will tell you, honey, what makes me spry. I have on my feet bunions and corns, and all my shoes used to tighten on them sore spots, so that I could always tell a storm a day ahead by my feet. Since I commenced to use my shoes do not tighten on them sore spots, and I feel so easy that I am going to enter for the next cake walk. I have used coon, possum and rattlesnake oils on my shoes, but none of them acted like the oil in the Yucan. I advise you to try it.

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, APRIL 17, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 16

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Hard work is the forerunner of ease.

This world is too fast for the man who will not hustle.

Now is the accepted time, now is the day to advertise.

A good name is the product of character, not of wealth.

Business life is only monotonous when it is allowed to become so.

The store that is a centre for loafers is seldom a centre of trade.

Clerks behind the counter, like goods on the shelves, should be attractive.

A man usually goes to the dogs when he cannot keep the wolf from the door.

Set about with foolishness is he who refuses instruction in business methods.

A well-dressed window will catch the dollars as well as the eye of passers-by.

It is the subjects with which it wrestles that determines an association's strength.

It is possible for us in exercising our own independence to limit that of other people.

Two and two make four, except when two and two are fools: Then they make nothing.

Patriotism is not as a rule very vigorous when it threatens to make a hole in a man's pocket.

It is the days of the sleepy merchant, not those of the live merchant, that are numbered.

The office of the advertisement is to bring custom to the store, not to hold it. That is the duty of the merchant. And it is because some advertisers do not faithfully perform their part that the "ad," like a choked flue, fails to draw.

The passers-by become the customers by-and-bye if the merchant has the right idea of business.

Toot your own horn, but don't toot it till people get teetotally tired of both you and your horn.

What some people require in order to success is not less competition but more combativeness.

It is only when a man has a weak backbone of his own that he straddles the backbone of the metaphorical fence.

A well-kept stock and a well-kept set of books are twins which he who would court success must keep in his store.

Organization of business men's associations should mean the demoralization of dead beats if it means anything.

Although every man should work for dear life, it is just as proper that he should sometimes take a relaxation for dear life.

What the most of us want to know is not how to get rich, but how to acquire the ab lity that will enable us to get rich.

He who is filled with the milk of human kindness is not likely to turn sour when "vinegary" customers enter his store.

This is a free country, but one can hardly expect the retailer to patronize the wholesaler who caters for the trade of his customer.

People who do not believe in hypnotism should watch the effect an attractively and well-dressed window has upon the average pedestrian.

The Canadian Parliament was in session last week for 129 consecutive hours. This beats the record of any Parliament within the Empire; so the present Parliament now holds the record for the longest continuous session as well as the greatest aggregation of nonentities within the Empire.

The average cheap employe is dear at any price.

The best that can be said about the cheap employe is that he fills up a space.

The wide-awake merchant grasps everything within reach that will help him to extend his trade, and still it would be unjust to call him a thief.

Honesty is the foundation of credit. And the man who is lacking in this element should not be selected for the purpose of building up a trade with.

Self-denial is necessary to the accumulation of wealth. Hence, merchants or clerks who will not deny themselves cannot attain to positions where they can gratify their desire.

The difference between the murderer Holmes and the Dominion Parliament is that while the one killed twenty-seven people, the other is killing the trade and good name of a whole country.

It is a common thing for merchants and travelers to foregather and spend social evenings together, but it has yet to be recorded, as far as I am aware, when and where the members of business men's associations have invited clerks to spend a social evening with them.

Nothing is heard in Toronto these days regarding early closing. Perhaps, like the forces of Nature, the advocates of early closing are working quietly. A great deal has been said in the past and very little done. Now, peradventure little is being said and much may be done. And a great deal would be done if every grocer would close early and consult no one but himself.

A RAISIN COMBINE.

FOR some time past it has been known here that a strong effort was being made to consolidate the raisin producing interests in California, but the trade in the East has taken little interest in the movement, for the reason that it does not believe that anything can come of it. The interests in California, it is said here, are too diversified ; there are too many small packers in the business, who are quite willing that the larger men should tie themselves up by agreement to restrict production and maintain prices, leaving them free to get business on a narrow margin of profit. Local commission houses and jobbers, bearing in mind the unsatisfactory termination of previous combinations, so far as the producers were concerned, look upon the present movement as one which will be no more successful. Two years ago one of the most promising combinations of the producers' interests was organized, eighty-five to ninety per cent. of the producers signing the agreement. But the organization held together for scarcely a month, and prominent people in the trade here think that the present movement will meet with no better results. Everybody agrees that something should be done to put the raisin business on a basis more satisfactory to the packers and the large distributors, but that cannot be accomplished so long as the producers are not a unit in regard to the methods that should be pursued. That has been the cause of the failure of all other plans that have been tried in the past.

It is not yet known here what the plans of the recently organized Raisin Packers' Association may be, and the trade is inclined to wait for further particulars before they accept as a fact that a syndicate has been formed. In the meantime, this market is firm and is less dependent upon influences that may emanate from the Coast than usual at this season. The firmness is based on the shortness and close concentration of the available spot supply of desirable goods, the better consuming demand and the fact that stocks at small interior points that were sent forward in consignment from California last fall have been pretty well cleaned up. There are, however, some stocks in Philadelphia, Boston and other cities that can be jobbed out at less than New York prices, and until these are disposed of there can be no material improvement in spot prices.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

THE MORTGAGE.

A mortgage, says Truth, makes a man rustle and it keeps him poor. It is a strong incentive to action and a wholesale reminder of the fleeting months and years. It is fully as symbolical in its meaning as the hourglass and the scythe that mean death. A mortgage represents industry, because it is never idle, night or day. It is like a bosom friend, because the greater the adversity the closer it sticks to a fellow. It is like a brave soldier, for it never hesitates at the charges nor fears to close in on the enemy. It is like the sandbag of the thug—silent in application, but deadly in effect. It is like the hand of Providence—it spreads all over creation and its influence is everywhere visible. It is like the grasp of the devilfish—the longer it holds the greater its strength. It will exercise feeble energies and activity to a sluggish brain ; but no matter how debtors work, the mortgage works harder still. A mortgage is a good thing to have in a family—provided always it is in somebody else's family.

THEY USE ONTARIO BEEF.

NEARLY everybody in Halifax is a consumer of beef—and other kinds of meat as well—but there are not many aware that nowadays the Halifax wholesale fresh meat market is supplied by Ontario. A couple of years ago the Maritime Provinces was the source of supply for Halifax, and the supply was found to be uncertain. An importation of fresh beef from Chicago in refrigerator cars was tried, but the duty added to the cost left very little margin. Then Ontario beef was tried with such success that a revolution in the trade followed.

An Echo reporter who happened to be passing along near the track in front of the Marine and Fisheries store, saw on the track two cars partly loaded with fresh meat, and further down the track there were a couple of more cars containing meat, all from Ontario. The two first-mentioned cars were open and quarters of beef were being loaded into victuallers' wagons. In answer to the reporter the party in charge said the two cars were consigned to J. A. Leaman & Co., and the meat in the others further along the track, and which were not open, to Maling & Co. and G. McLellan.

"How is it," asked the reporter, "that so much meat is being brought from Ontario just now ?"

"Why," said the young man in charge, "this is nothing new. Leaman & Co. have worked up such a trade in this line that they import about three cars per week from Guelph, Ont.; one car for their own retail business and the other two for the wholesale trade. The firm has its own slaughter house at Guelph, Ont., and also its own buyer. The cattle are all Jerseys or Herefords, the carcasses running from 700 to 1,000 lbs. dressed. The contents of the two cars for wholesale are sold to smaller victuallers of this city and Dartmouth and shipped to provincial towns and Newfoundland."

The reporter was also informed that a victualler in North Sydney had telegraphed to have the best carcass of beef in Halifax sent him by express.

The refrigerator cars all belong to American companies, and it costs about $100 for the use of a car on a trip from Ontario to Halifax and return. These cars have refrigerators at each end, which are refilled with ice half way on the journey, and can be so arranged that the temperature will be even on the whole trip. Overhead in the cars are strong bars a few inches apart, and the meat is suspended from those on hooks and does not rest upon the floor of the car. Expert packers load the cars at Guelph, and so well are they packed that it sometimes takes ten minutes or a quarter of an hour to get the unloading begun. Each car takes about 30,000 pounds.

Every portion of the carcass that can in any way be utilized is brought— heads, hearts, livers, tongues, etc. The heads go to Rockhead.

The meat in the two cars referred to included that of fourteen steers, from one man's barn near Guelph, averaging 1,000 pounds each. The cars also contained a large quantity of veal and also poultry in barrels, about a ton of poultry being brought each week. This Ontario beef is sold in Newfoundland in competition with Chicago beef.

The meat the reporter saw in the cars was superb, and it was handled carefully by the men unloading, so that not a spot of mud or dust could be seen on it.

This trade, it is claimed, benefits consumer and dealer. The consumer gets better meat, while the dealers, buying at wholesale, can go into the car and select the quarters they think best. Many of the smaller victuallers are not first-class judges of meat while the animal is alive, but they all know a good carcass of meat dressed.

The dead meat trade must cease when the weather becomes a little milder, unless cold storage is provided. If it is not Leaman & Co. will have the live cattle brought here from Guelph and killed and dressed at their Halifax slaughter house, smaller dealers being enabled to purchase the cattle or the meat dressed.

In conversation with an expert butcher the latter told The Echo reporter that this Ontario beef is better than Nova Scotian, simply because the Ontario cattle are full-blooded and better bred. The Nova Scotian cattle hardly average half-bred. The former will dress about 62 per cent. The Ontario beef can be sold at $7 or $8 dressed, while good provincial beef used to cost about $10.

Another article that comes from Ontario in large quantities is butter, a quantity being brought with every lot of beef.

The reporter enquired of a man in the trade what became of the Nova Scotia cattle now. The gentlemen spoken to thought that the people who formerly bred for the meat market now pay more attention to dairying and supplying milk to the dairies and creameries that have sprung up throughout the province.—Echo, Halifax.

STERLING GOODS

An inferior article may attract public notice and for a short time enjoy the encomiums of the people, but unless the article is possessed of true merit it will soon pass into oblivion, following in the train of all the innumerable articles that have made their way into the homes of our people, having only for their recommendation flaunting advertisements that sparkle but for a time. The reverse is the case with goods of

"STERLING WORTH"

They live on, burning brighter and brighter, cheering from day to day, until they become the recognized necessaries of daily life.

"We must have CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S goods on our table."
"I could not think of having breakfast without the AMERICAN BREAKFAST CEREALS."
"When travelling I always insist on having RAM LAL'S PURE INDIAN TEA, and BENSDORP'S ROYAL DUTCH COCOA has a fascination for me that no other Cocoa will supply."

These are some of the remarks repeated thousands of times daily, and why? Because the people that have used these goods know that they are the gems of all condiments. Other lines that are fast becoming prime favorites with our people are the celebrated brands of "MECCA" and "DAMASCUS" coffees. Although these goods have only been on the market for a short time, yet to-day we hazard the opinion that they are the most appreciated brands that are being offered to the public. This is the verdict of all the "leading grocers" who have used these goods.

NATAL TEA.

NATAL will produce nearly 1,000,000 pounds of tea. A contributor to The Capital says :

"The principal tea district is situated a few miles from the north of Durban on the coast, close to the village of Stranger, on the main road to Zululand, about 29 degrees south, but at intervals all along the coast small areas are under cultivation, and at all these gardens convincing proof has been aforded of the suitability of climate and soil for the plant, specimens of which close upon forty years old can now be seen enjoying perennial youth. South coast planters have also lately been pushing forward, and extending their operations in the cultivation of tea, and already several limited liability companies have been established in the country for a more wide-spreading prosecution of the industry. Natal tea is used pretty extensively locally, and commands a considerable trade in Cape, Transvaal, and other States of South Africa, and now that railway extension in that continent has been pushed forward to limits hitherto only reached by ox-wagon, a greater market has naturally become open to cultivators, and a greater stimulus has necessarilly been given to the enterprise. One firm not only employ an experienced traveler throughout South Africa, but periodically ship parcels of their product to England. Natal tea has a decidedly characteristic taste, but it is said—and this is worthy of note—that, like Transvaal tobacco, the taste is an easy and pleasant one to acquire, and when once acquired is not readily relinquished. Sufficient interest for the present attaches, for us, to the tea industry, and our colonial cousins' advance in this direction will probably be eagerly watched from this side. It may be mentioned that the plucking season in Natal commences in September and closes in June, so they are now in the middle of their operations. The official statistics of the output at the close of the season will be interesting."

A planter in Natal, in writing to The Natal Mercury, says :

"I have found that many people—most people, in fact—who make Natal tea give it exactly the same time to infuse as Indian or Ceylon tea. This is a mistake. Many a cup of Natal tea is spoiled by this mistake. Natal tea should be allowed to stand in fresh water, first boil, for fully three minutes longer than Indian tea, and two minutes longer than Ceylon tea. It is a tea that can be drunk by itself—pure, no mixing—and has not the astringency of Indian tea, nor does it contain the same amount of tannic acid, which last is not wanted, and should not be allowed to find its way into the cup. Indian tea, five minutes; Ceylon, six minutes; Natal, eight minutes."

KEEP A SCRAPBOOK.

Every merchant should keep a scrapbook, remarks an exchange. This suggestion has been made before, but it is fully worth emphasizing. Every bright advertisement that you notice in your local paper or those of other towns; every model advertisement that you observe in your trade paper, and every practical trade-bringing plan or hint, should be cut out and pasted in the book, with full data as to the name and date of the paper. You will find such a book as this an inexhaustible treasury of riches, especially on those days when your ideas run scarce, and you are too busy to take time to evolve a good advertisement.

The manufacture of flour from bananas is a growing industry in Central Africa. Before it is ripe the fruit is cut, sliced, and dried in the sun, or, from preference, in an oven, because the quantity of the product depends mainly on the quickness of the process. The dried slices are hard, brittle and of a horny appearance. The meal obtained from them is very white and sweet, with a smell like new-mown hay.

INTERESTING TO CLERKS.

"I HAVE here three teams that I want to get over to Staten Island," said a boy of twelve one day in 1806 to the innkeeper at South Amboy, N.J. "If you will put us across I'll leave with you one of my horses in pawn, and if I don't send you back $6 within 48 hours you may keep the horse."

The innkeeper asked the reason for this novel proposition, and learned that the lad's father had contracted to get the cargo of a vessel stranded near Sandy Hook and take it to New York in lighters. The boy had been sent with three wagons, six horses and three men to carry the cargo across a sand-spit to the lighters. The work accomplished, he had started with only $6 to travel a long distance home over the Jersey sands and reached South Amboy penniless.

"I'll do it," said the innkeeper, as he looked into the bright, honest eyes of the boy. The horse was soon redeemed.

"My son," said this same boy's mother on the first of May, 1810, when he asked her to lend him $100 to buy a boat, having imbibed a strong liking for the sea, "on the twenty-seventh of this month you will be sixteen years old. If by that time you will plow, harrow and plant with corn the eight-acre lot, I will advance you the money."

The field was rough and stony, but the work was done in time, and was well done.

From this small beginning Cornelius Vanderbilt laid the foundation of a colossal fortune. He would often work all night; and, as he was never absent from his post by day, he soon had the best business in New York harbor.

In 1813, when it was expected that New York would be attacked by British ships, all the boatmen except Cornelius put in bids to convey provisions to the military posts around New York, naming extremely low rates, as the contractor would be exempt from military duty.

"Why don't you send in a bid?" asked his father.

"Of what use?" replied young Vanderbilt; "they are offering to do the work at half price. It can't be done at such rates."

"Well, said his father, "it can do no harm to try for it."

So, to please his father, but with no hope of success, Cornelius made an offer fair to both sides, but did not go to hear the award. When his companions had all returned with long faces, he went to the commissary's office and asked if the contract had been given.

"Oh, yes," was the reply, "that business is settled. Cornelius Vanderbilt is the man. What?" he asked, seeing that the youth was apparently thunderstruck, "is it you?"

"My name is Cornelius Vanderbilt," said the boatman.

"Well," said the commissary, "don't you know why we have given the contract to you?"

"No."

"Why, it is because we want this business done, and we know you'll do it."

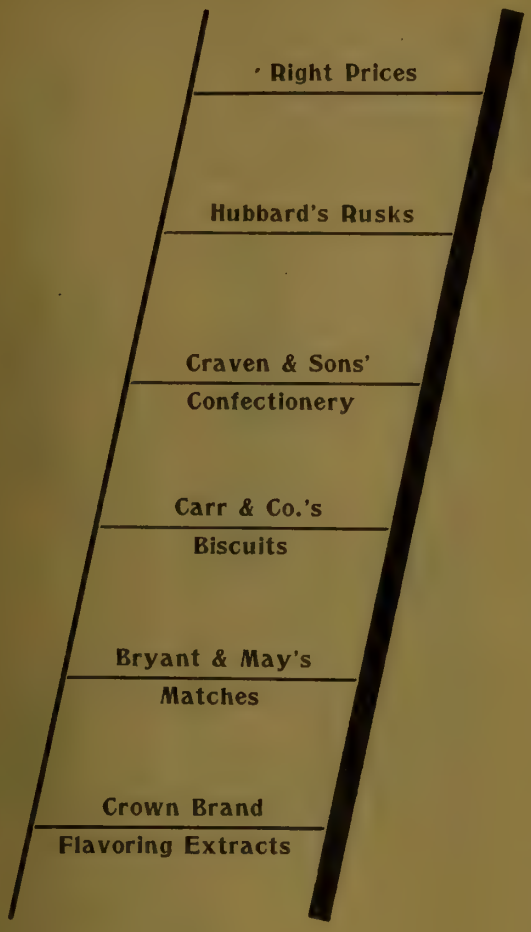
Character gives confidence.

In 1818 he owned two or three of the finest coasting schooners in New York harbor and had a capital of $9,000. Seeing that steam vessels would soon win supremacy over those carrying sails only, he gave up his fine business to become the captain of a steamboat at $1,000 a year. For twelve years he ran between New York City and New Brunswick, N.J. In 1829 he began business as a steamboat owner, in the face of opposition so bitter that he lost his last dollar. But the tide turned, and he prospered so rapidly that he at length owned over 100 steamboats. He early identified himself with the growing railroad interests of the country, and became the richest man of his day in America.

Barnum began the race of business life barefoot, for at the age of fifteen he was obliged to buy on credit the shoes he wore at his father's funeral. He was a remarkable example of success under difficulties. There was no keeping him down; no opposition daunted him, no obstacles were too great for him to overcome. Think of a man being ruined at 50 years of age; yes, worse than ruined, for he was heavily in debt besides. Yet on the very day of his downfall he begins to rise again, wringing victory from defeat by his indomitable persistence.

Bunyan wrote his "Pilgrim's Progress" on the untwisted papers used to cork the bottles of milk brought for his meals. Gifford wrote his first copy of a mathematical work when a cobbler's apprentice on small scraps of leather; and Rittenhouse, the astronomer, first calculated eclipses on his plow handle.

A poor Irish lad, so pitted by smallpox that boys made sport of him, earned his living by writing little ballads for street musicians. Eight cents a day was often all he could earn. He traveled through France and Italy, begging his way by singing and playing the flute at the cottages of the peasantry. At twenty-eight he was penniless in London, and lived in the beggars' quarters in Axe Lane. In his poverty he set up as a doctor in the suburbs of London. He wore a second-hand coat of rusty velvet, with a patch on the left breast which he adroitly covered with his three-cornered hat during his visits; and we have an amusing anecdote of his contest of courtesy with a patient who persisted in endeavoring to relieve him of his hat, which only made him press it more devoutly to his heart. He often had to pawn his clothes to keep from starving. He sold his "Life of Voltaire" for $20. After great hardship he managed to publish his "Polite Learning in Europe," and this brought him to public notice. Next came "The Traveler," and the wretched man in a Fleet street garret found himself famous. His landlady once arrested him for rent, but Dr. Johnson came to his relief, took from his desk the manuscript of the "Vicar of Wakefield," and sold it for $300. He spent two years revising "The Deserted Village" after it was first written. Generous to a fault, vain and improvident, imposed on by others, he was continually in debt; although for his "History of the Earth and Animated Nature" he received $4,000, and some of his works, as for instance, "She Stoops to Conquer," had a large sale. But in spite of fortune's frown and his own weakness, he won success and fame. The world, which so often comes too late with its assistance and laurels, gave to the weak, gentle, loving author of "The Vicar of Wakefield" a monument in the Poet's Corner of Westminster Abbey.



The poor, scrofulous and almost blind boy, Samuel Johnson, was taken by his mother to "receive the touch of Queen Anne," which was supposed to heal the "King's Evil." He entered Oxford as a servant, copying lectures from a student's notebook, while the boys made sport of the bare feet showing through great holes in his shoes. Some one left a pair of new shoes at his door, but he was too proud to be helped, and threw them out of the window. He was so poor that he was obliged to leave college, and at twenty-six married a widow of forty-eight. He started a private school with his wife's money; but, getting only three pupils, was obliged to close it. He went to London, where he lived on nine cents a day. In his distress he wrote a poem in which appeared in capital letters the line, "Slow rises worth by poverty depressed," which attracted wide attention. He suffered greatly in London for thirteen years, being arrested once for a debt of $13. At forty he published "The Vanity of Human Wishes," in which were these lines:

> Then mark what ills the scholar's life assail:
> Toil, envy, want, the patron and the jail.

When asked how he felt about his failures, he replied: "Like a monument,"—that is, steadfast, immovable. He was an indefatigable worker. In the evenings of a single week he wrote "Rasselas," a beautiful little story of the search for happiness, to get money to pay the funeral expenses of his mother. With six assistants he worked seven years on his dictionary, which made his fortune. His name was then in everybody's mouth, and when he no longer needed help, assistance, as usual, came from every quarter. The great universities hastened to bestow their degrees, and King George invited him to the palace.—Architects of Fate.

PRICE AND DUTY OF U. S. VS. CANADIAN SUGAR.

THE outside sugar markets continue to gather strength. On Monday beet advanced 1½d. in London, and granulated advanced to 5 5-16c. in New York. Raws advanced to 4⅜c. per pound in the latter place on Tuesday.

In Canada the demand is improving a little, but as far as prices are concerned there is no response whatever beyond the fact that confidence is growing stronger.

A comparison of the Canadian and United States market is just now peculiarly interesting. The price of granulated sugar to-day at the refineries in Canada is 4¾c. in ordinary lots; in the United States it is 5 5-16c., or 9-16c. more than the price in this country. In Canada, however, the figures are net, while in the United States they are subject to a discount of 1 per cent. 30 days on 100-barrel lots and 1 per cent. additional for cash, which would bring the actual price of granulated sugar in New York to about 5¼c., or ½c. per pound above the price of the Canadian product.

The duty on raw sugar is also a factor in the premises. In the United States the duty on the raw article is 40 per cent.; in Canada it is half a cent per pound, or taking the percentage, 11.44 on the present price of sugar. This is 28.56 per cent. less than the United States duty. In other words, while the United States refiner pays, on the basis at which sugar is now quoted, 174.80c. duty for every hundred pounds of raw sugar he imports, the Canadian refiner has only to pay into the treasury of his Government scarcely 50¼c. for every 100 pounds.

Taking granulated sugar, the Americans' duty is ⅛c. per pound, or 12½c. per 100 pounds, and 40 per cent., or nearly 43 per cent. all round. The Canadian duty on granulated sugar is $1.14. This, on the basis of the price of granulated sugar in New York, is 21.28 per cent., or, on the basis for ordinary lots in Canada, 24 per cent.

It will thus be seen that while the Canadian refiner pays 28 56 per cent. less duty on his raw material than the American refiner, the latter, on the other hand, has about 46½ per cent. more protection than the refiner in Canada, basing the percentage on the marketable price of granulated sugar in the respective countries. The Canadian refiner, too, furnishes a much superior sugar.

A WISE SUGGESTION.

LA CHAMBRE DE COMMERCE, Montreal, has been considering the question of the metric system as a substitute for our present old-fashioned method of weights and measures.

A committee of the association, which was appointed some time ago, submitted its report on Friday last, strongly urging that the system should be taught in the public schools. They pointed out that the United States Congress had recently introduced a bill providing for the introduction of the system.

If the big republic makes it compulsory, it will be to the advantage of this country to follow suit, and the Chamber has seized a good time to commence its agitation for the reform.

As to the merits of the system advocated, there can be no argument. It has as much to be said in its favor as the decimal system of currency. It is France's contribution of the one scientific system of weighing and measuring, for the convenience of the world's commercial community.

At present, France and several of the other European Latin countries have it in common use, as well as the South American republics. It is also permitted by law in Great Britain, the United States, and Canada, and while it has been highly commended by British scientists, that inherent conservatism characteristic of the British people has operated against its general adoption in commerce.

A LICENSE AN ASSET.

At the meeting of La Chambre de Commerce, Montreal, on Friday last, H. Laporte, of Laporte, Martin & Cie., called attention to the law of licenses regarding liquor dealers. All wholesale grocers and liquor dealers knew that the license of retailers who had failed in business was a valuable asset. He considered, therefore, that it should be considered an accountable asset, and that the creditors should have the benefit of this asset for the unexpired term of said license.

A committee composed of L. I. Boivin, L. E. Morin, jr.; L. E Geoffrion, J. O. Joseph, Q.C.; D. Masson, and H. Laporte, was appointed to consider and report on the matter.

THE WINTER PORT.

WE do not think there is any doubt now in the minds of Canadians as to the advisability of making a terminal port for subsidised steamship lines on Canadian territory.

The business men in the west took little interest in the question until recently, when their attention has been directed to it by deputations from the Maritime Province points and by articles published in these columns. The fight now will be between the various Maritime Province points, as to which of them has the most advantages for a winter port.

St. John has recently demonstrated its ability to handle freight, and passengers as well—better, in fact, than Portland. The reports that were circulated about the dangers of the Bay of Fundy navigation have not been realised; for on several occasions the Beaver Line made better time between that port and Liverpool than did the two lines running to Portland.

The strongest influences have been brought to bear by Halifax and St. John. Halifax is a good many hundred miles further away from Western Canada than St. John, but Halifax people think that the Government should help them overcome that by carrying freight from Halifax to St. John free, or at a nominal rate. The policy of the St. John Board of Trade, which is very enthusiastic over this year's experiment, is that the port which the steamship companies consider best should be selected. At a meeting of that Board last week, the following resolution was passed:

That in view of the success which attended the Atlantic freight service from the port of St. John during the season now drawing to a close, and in view of the fact that the proposed fast mail service between Canada and the Mother Country will involve the employment of steamships fitted not only for passengers and mails, but also for the conveyance of large quantities of freight; this Board, believing that the passenger and mail service can be conducted with at least equal facilities through the port of St. John during the winter, and that the freight facilities of this port are unequalled by any other Maritime Province ports, respectfully urge upon the Dominion Government that in calling for tenders for the proposed fast mail line no Canadian port be specially mentioned, but that it be left open to the steamship companies tendering to select their own Canadian ports for the proposed service.

NEW CROP RICE CHEAPER.

The season for contracts on new crop rice is now on, and though the market has ruled fairly steady throughout, the price for new crop at the mills will be lower than the prices of last season. The difference will be in the vicinity of 10 cents or so.

These new contracts, of course, do not affect the jobbing price on old crop stock from store, which continues as last noted.

The new list for ordinary business on new crop has not been settled yet, but the difference will be fully equal to decline all round of the figure above given.

Advices from Japan continue steady, but the Canadian millers got in their supplies at a close figure, hence the decline. Across the border both domestic and imported rice rules steady.

SUGAR'S VAGARIES.

THE position of the sugar market outside is daily becoming stronger, but, though refiners in Montreal confidently predict higher prices in the future, they still abstain from showing any response to the advance elsewhere.

The price of refined sugar in New York, for instance, has advanced over ⅜ of a cent during the past ten days, and yet our market does not budge. Indeed, on the contrary, though refiners talk firm, it is a well-known fact that jobbers have in the case of 100 barrel lots cut the refiners' price both in granulated and raws.

The secret of this disposition here is the large stock of sugar both in refiners' and jobbers' hands.

The distributive and consumptive demand for the staple has been comparatively light all spring. Stocks have accumulated both in first and second hands as a result of this, and a desire to have them worked down explains the disinclination of both refiners and jobbers to take any advantage of the strength shown by the outside markets.

Raw stock has been active, prices advancing 1-16 to ⅛c. in New York, and an enormous quantity of 96-test centrifugal has been put through at 4¼c. on account of the refiners, and recently 4⅜c. was refused for the same grade.

All these influences under ordinary circumstances would have their effect, and it is likely that when stocks are worked down the market will advance. In the meantime buyers who want supplies might make hay while the sun shines.

PUSH FOR WHAT CAN BE GOT.

THE British Government, in spite of the representations of the Canadian Government, has decided to carry the bill permanently excluding live cattle from the British market. This is to be regretted; but it is no use crying over spilt milk, as some people are when they aver that the passage of the bill in question will kill the Canadian cattle trade. This is all nonsense.

Canadian cattle have been excluded from the British market for three or four years. Yet the trade is not dead; and the law which is to be made permanent is no more rigorous than that which has heretofore been temporary.

It applies to all other countries as well as to Canada. And if we cannot get our cattle into the British market on the hoof we can get their carcases there; and that is what we must devote our energies to doing.

To send beef to England we already have some encouragement. Only four years ago we did not send one pound there. In 1893 we exported to that conntry 3,705 pounds. Next year the quantity had jumped to 2,012,980 pounds, and in 1895 the figures were 5,324,793 pounds, an increase of 120 per cent. over the previous year.

Even in live cattle, our export trade is not yet dead, in spite of the restrictions of the past four years. True, last year our shipments to Great Britain were 14.85 per cent. less than in 1892, the year the restrictions went into force, but they were 5,000 head larger than in 1894.

Of course we are anxious to have the British market for our live cattle, but seeing this is denied us let us do the next best thing and appropriate all we can of the dressed beef trade.

THE GROCERS' EXCURSION.

At the regular meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, held on Monday night, the Executive Committee reported in favor of holding the annual excursion this year to Niagara Falls and Buffalo in July; and the report was adopted.

Mr. A. White, the president, presided, and among those present were: Vice-President J. S. Bond, Secretary R. Muat-Corrie, Hon.-Secretary Robt. Mills, Treasurer McMillan, F. Johnston, D. W. Clark, D. J. Kelley, H. W. Kelley, W. H. Marmion, A. Sinclair, R. B. Snow, Ness Bros., J. Cæsar, T. Clark, J. Nolan, R. Davies, F. S. Roberts, D. Bell, Dallimore Bros., W. J. McClary, W. Sykes, and J. D. Scales.

Secretary Corrie handed in the names of W. H. Smith, Dundas street, and E. Lutterall, 50 Arthur street, for membership, and they were duly accepted.

Mr. Sykes brought up the subject of departmental store advertisements in the daily press, but the matter was deferred till the next meeting; as was also Mr. Roberts' notice of motion regarding the expenditure of moneys by the association.

The association adjourned about 9 p.m., after which a pedro match was played between the members and the city travelers. The latter won by three points.

LUCKY MR. BORSBERY.

Last Sunday evening, while Mr. J. W. Borsbery, Oshawa, of the Eby, Blain Co., was at church with his family, enterprising burglars visited his house and inspected the premises. They did not come for anything to eat, but contented themselves with the contents of Mrs. Borsbery's pocket book, amounting to $7. Something evidently must have interfered with the gentry, as they overlooked examining Mr. Borsbery's business pants, which contained $132 cash. The burglars also overlooked the dressing case, as a gold watch and other valuables were left untouched. Mr. Borsbery thinks it is better to be born lucky than rich. There is a moral in this tale which all grocery travelers should remember, "Don't go to church Sunday evening, and you won't lose $7."

SUMMER CARNIVAL FOR HALIFAX.

HALIFAX is to have a Summer Carnival. The event is to take place the latter part of July, and will last four days. The idea is to boom trade in the maritime city. The movement was started by the Dry Goods Association, who secured the co-operation of the Hardware Association, the newly-formed Grocers' Association, and last, but not least, the City Council. There is no place in Canada like Halifax for a Summer Carnival, especially when the majority of the events are marine, as will be in this case. Halifax is a garrison town. There are over 2,000 regular troops stationed there, and they always co-operate in events of this kind, acting in consort with the several battalions of militia. A review of the troops on the common and a sham battle are attractions of no mean order. But Halifax is also a naval station, and Admiral Erskine is taking a lively interest in the carnival. The flagship and her half dozen consorts will take part in the carnival, and that will be a sight worth seeing. The warship will take an important part in the harbor illumination, which is expected to be a grand sight. The Jack tars will also compete in the regatta, which, by the way, will be a big affair. Hanlan and all the big scullers are coming, as well as a four-oared crew from England and two or three from the States. An effort is being made to have the big Canadian lacrosse teams play a match at Halifax during the carnival. Athletic events of all kinds, as well as horse racing, will be on the programme. The beautiful gardens, the pride of Halifax, will be illuminated one evening during the carnival, and the famous band of the Berkshire Regiment will assist in entertaining the multitude. Committees are now at work arranging details. It will be a big event in Halifax. Merchants throughout the province will embrace the opportunity to visit the city and get acquainted with the people they do business with. Halifax has the reputation of being a slow city. Perhaps that is deserved, but at all events the merchants are beginning to move, and when they do—well, stand from under.

TAUNTON.

HORSES TO BE INSPECTED.

In consequence of cabled reports to the effect that an agitation is on foot to induce Imperial authorities to take restrictive action upon the importation of horses from Canada on the ground of the alleged existence of glanders in the country, the Canadian Government has introduced a measure in Parliament providing that horses shipped from Canadian ports shall be submitted to inspection as in the case of cattle. From all the information the Government has been able to ascertain there is very little glanders in Canada, and the reported spread of the disease in England cannot be attributed to horses sent from this country.

LARGE SALE OF GROCERIES.

THERE was a new departure in the grocery business in Montreal on Wednesday afternoon last. This was the sale by auction to the highest bidder of a lot of pepper, spices, rice, and other staple groceries. It was the first attempt of the kind in Montreal, and the attendance was not large. That there is opportunity for developing the idea, however, is certain, as sales of the kind have been a success at other distributing points. With proper advertising large buyers throughout the country will become aware of these sales, and, knowing that bargains are to be had, attend as they do elsewhere. Wednesday's sale was in the new rooms, 58 and 60 McGill street, of the Montreal Fruit Auction Co. The following were the goods and prices realized: Pickles, in barrels, 75c. per doz.; pecan nuts, 5¼c. per lb.; peanuts, 4½c.; sago, 2c.; plack pepper, 4½c.; almonds, 6½c.; walnuts, 6 to 7¾c.; white pepper, 8¼c.; ginger, 8½c.; canned lobsters, 62½ to 70c. per doz.; boneless codfish, 50 to 70c. per case; dates 3c. per lb., and quarter boxes of Valencia raisins, 41c. each.

THE MOLASSES FLEET.

The first charters of vessels for the transportation of cargoes of molasses direct from Barbadoes to Canada have been made. The first of the fleet will be the brig New Dominion, 144 tons, and the second the schooner Mignonette, 139 tons, both now loading at the Island for Quebec. In addition to these the barque Oh Kim Soom, 336 tons, of Digby, N. S., is now taking a cargo at Barbadoes for Montreal. These vessels will arrive some time during June.

SECURITY FOR PROCURATORS.

The Board of Trade, Montreal, have decided to urge upon the Provincial Government that a law be passed compelling procurators to give security for the insolvent estates they have to administer. This action will be commended by merchants generally, who are bitten so frequently in cases of this kind.

THE FAST STEAMSHIP SERVICE.

The Montreal Board of Trade have decided to join forces with the St. John Board of Trade in regard to the fast steamship service. They passed a strong resolution on Wednesday urging the Government to allow the steamship companies tendering themselves to decide upon Montreal or Quebec in the summer and St. John or Halifax in the winter. In this connection it may be noted that there was a lot of discussion which was worth publication, but as the meeting was private it could not be given. The sooner the press is allowed to report these council meetings in full the better it will be for the popularity of the Montreal Board of Trade. Matters of this kind are of public interest, and the public should know all about them.

THE INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION

President R. Bickerdike, First Vice-President John Torrance, Chas. Chaput, D. McFarlane, Robert McKay and F. W. Thomas were named as a delegation from the Montreal Board of Trade to go to Ottawa with the Citizens' Committee to urge upon the Government the advisability of holding an International Exhibition in Montreal.

SUGAR SUPPLIES.

The Hamburg correspondent of The Statistical Sugar Journal, under date of March 23, writes:

In our letter of 16th inst. we discussed the influence that the bounty bill is likely to have on prices in the future, and we will consider the real position of the sugar market irrespective of the bill. Regarding the bounty bill, we will only remark before hand that should the production be fixed at M. 3 per 100 kilos, as decided in the commission, instead of M. 6, as proposed by the Government, the consumption would not buy so freely before the bill comes into force, but then the relapse would not be so strong. The future of the market depends on the extent of the acreage, and on the out-turn of the new crop. The latter is, of course, too problematic as yet for serious examination. As to the next crop's acreage we can already form some opinion as to its extent.

For Germany you may reckon upon an increase of about 10 per cent. and from Austria from 15 to 20 per cent. whereas the increase in the acreage of all other European countries, except Russia, is estimated at about 15 per cent. An increase in Russia's acreage is practically out of the question, as the State only allows an expert an export premium on a limited quantity, and this quantity was overstepped last year. In Russia it is impossible to export without a premium and in order to save the factories from ruin, the State has purchased and exported the quantity produced in excess for its own account this year. In order to form an opinion on next year's acreage, you can calculate that of Russia to be the same as last year to the utmost. The production of the other European countries we will calculate at 15 per cent. larger, which is certainly a high percentage considering that 50 per cent. alone of the European production fall to Germany's share.

The export of Cuba we will put down at 500,000 tons. In order to be able to export this quantity, Cuban affairs must have improved greatly by next year.

For the other colonies we will calculate last year's production, for the production of the colonies has of late years shown a decrease instead of increase.

This year's consumption has been estimated by Mr. Licht at 7,450,000 tons, to which we add an average increase of 200,000 tons for next year. Considering the favorable circumstances in general, this figure is not too high.

	Tons.
Stocks 1-9, 1895	1,481,000
Crop, Russia, 1895-96	750,000
" other European Countries, 1895-96	3,520,000
" in Cuba, less home consumption	150,000
" in other Colonies and North America	2,132,000
	8,933,000
Consumption, 1895-96	7,450,000
Stocks, 1-9, '96	589,000
Crop, Russia, 1896-97	750,000
" Europe, 1896-97	4,050,000
" Cuba, 1896-97	500,000
" other colonies, North America	2,132,000
	8,015,000
Consumption, 1896-97	7,650,000
Stocks, 1-9, '97	365,000

Though we have reckoned with the favorable circumstances for the above calculation, we only get a world supply of 365,000 tons. We have never had such a small supply. Should things turn out differently and the European crop yield less than calculated above, or affairs in Cuba show no improvement, the necessary stocks could only be kept up by an enforced decrease in the consumption. This could only be achieved by higher prices.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. H. J. Fletcher, representing Lipton's teas, is in Toronto with a view to establishing an agency for his firm. "I have," he said, "been through Canada, from Montreal to the Coast, and have established agencies all along the line for our teas, and am now in Toronto to place our goods upon the market here. Our teas have been on the market about ten years, and now we sell one million packages of it weekly." Mr. Fletcher informed me that Lipton's teas had a firm foothold in the United States, in New York city alone 900 grocers handling them.

Mr. P. C. Larkin, wholesale tea merchant, and Mrs. Larkin, sailed from New York on Wednesday per ss. Germanic for London and the Continent.

Mr. C. W. Gregory, who represents the interests of P. C. Larkin & Co., tea merchants, of Toronto, arrived in the city on Sunday. Mr. Gregory is specially commissioned to open up connection with the Northwest for the company's "Salada" Ceylon tea. In the near future the company intends establishing a depot at Winnipeg.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

THE BATTLE OF THE GROCERS.

An interesting, if somewhat one-sided, match was played the other night in Montreal on the St. Lawrence ice, between rinks composed of grocers from the Caledonia and home clubs. The wager was a barrel of flour for the House of Refuge, and the Caledonia won easily with the following score.

Caledonia.	St. Lawrence.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS shows further improvement, but the movement is still light and devoid of any particularly striking features. The demand for sugar is much as before, but while the situation outside is stronger, the local market has not yet responded, although it is quite likely to do so with a more active trade. The movement in canned vegetables is fair and improving. Coffees are without change from last week. Teas are quiet and, as a rule, steady in price. In molasses and syrups business is moderate. Foreign dried fruits are not attracting much attention. The feature in them is an advance in the price of currants in the primary markets. The green fruit trade is in a fairly healthy condition, with lemons slightly firmer in price. Payments are slow.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for vegetables is increasing. The drop in the price of corn is inducing an active demand for that commodity, and dealers are confidently looking forward to the consumption of the surplus stocks and higher prices as a result. There are plenty of tomatoes on the market at present, but with the pack light the position is strong, and higher prices are ultimately looked for. Peas are still scarce, and $1 per dozen is the idea as to price with most houses. The demand for salmon is moderate, and it is expected that lower grade salmon will be scarce before the season ends. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 60 to 70c.; peas, 95c. to $1 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2.00; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.35 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.10 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, 7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

COFFEE.

Trade is moderate only, and prices as before. We quote green in bags: Rio, 18c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

There is still a fair demand to be noted for bright syrups. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Trade in syrups is moderate only. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 35c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Both the New York and London markets are stronger, but in Canada there is no change. The demand here is improving a little, although the refineries are receiving little or no attention, the buying at present being nearly all done by the retailers. Wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅝c.; yellows, 3⅞c. up.

SPICES.

Trade is beginning to pick up a little, and prices are steady. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

Trade is moderate in character. The ruling idea as to price is 5¼c. for Japan and 3½ to 3⅝c. for ordinary.

NUTS.

Business continues quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Brazil nuts, 14 to 15c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

Indian Pekoes and Pekoe Souchongs are cabled stronger on the London market. Locally there is a fair demand for Indian and Ceylon teas. In Japan teas, all medium grades to retail at about 25c. are getting into small compass. That is, good drawing teas. There appears to be plenty of good style lacking in drawing quality. Ruling prices to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

Currants are cabled 6d. dearer in Patras. The local market is quiet and unchanged. We quote as follows: Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Off-stalk 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; selected, 6 to 6¼c., and layers, 6½c.

Business in California dried and evaporated fruits continues brisk. The demand is chiefly for apricots, fancy silver prunes, peaches and egg plums. We quote: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 6½ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.; loose muscatels, 4½ to 6½c. per lb.

Prunes are not as much wanted as they were a few weeks ago, as rhubarb is now coming upon the market. There is still, however, a fair movement, particularly in California prunes. We quote: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c., "U," 102 to lb., 6½ to 6¾c.; California prunes, 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

Sultana raisins have advanced 1s. 6d. in Smyrna, and later advices state that stocks there are exhausted. Business here is quiet at 5½ to 6c.

Eleme figs are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Eleme, 14 oz., 9 to 10½c.; 10 lb., 9½ to 12½c.; 12 lb., 12½c.; 28 lb., 15c.

Dates still rule quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

There is a fair demand for Valencia oranges, but other lines are quiet. Lemons are a trifle firmer, as we have from time to time lately anticipated they would. Bananas are in active demand at steady prices. Pineapples are still scarce, and the enquiry for them is fair. We quote as follows: Lemons—Messina, $2.50 to $3.25 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $4 to $4.75, according to size; ditto seedlings, $3 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $5.50 to $6; Jumbo's, 420's, $6.75 to $7; ditto, 714's, $6.75 to $7; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $2 to $2.25; ditto, boxes, $3.75 to $4. Bananas, $1.25 to $1.75; cocoanuts, $3.50 to $4 a sack; apples, Spies, $3.50 to $4, Baldwins, $2.50 to $3.25, greenings, $2.25 to $2.50 a barrel; Russets, $2 to $3; domestic onions, 75c. per bag; Spanish onions, 75c. per small crate; pineapples, 25 to 35c.; sweet potatoes, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; cranberries, $5 to $8 per bbl., and $2.50 to $3 per case, according to quality.

THERE IS ONLY ONE

"SALADA"

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts are larger and increasing, with prices about 1c. per lb. lower. All the old tub butter that was on the market has been cleaned up. The demand for butter is not so active as it was, but it is still fair. Receipts of creamery butter are increasing, and prices are easier. We quote: Early summer dairy store packed, 8 to 10c; good to choice fresh packed, 16 to 17c.; large rolls, fresh, 17 to 18c.; dairy pound prints, 18 to 19c. Fresh creamery—Tubs, 21 to 22c.; do., pound prints, 22 to 23c.

CHEESE—Is dull at 8 to 9c. for late makes.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Business is still light at from 90c. to $1 per bushel.

DRIED APPLES—Demand is nil, and prices weak at 3½ to 4c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Some low prices are ruling, and 5½ to 6c. seems to be the idea for job lots.

EGGS—The market is a little unsettled, although receipts are only fair, and the demand is good. The idea as to price is 12c.

HONEY—Trade is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—The conditions are much as before. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

POTATOES—Offerings and demand are both light; offerings are becoming smaller every day. Prices are unchanged at 22c. on track, and 25 to 30c. out of store for job lots.

MAPLE SYRUP—The market is now fairly well supplied, although the receipts are not large, and are not expected to be as extensive as last year. We quote: Imperial gallon, 90 to 95c.; 5-gallon tins, $4.50. Tins whose quantities are not stipulated range all the way from 70 to 80c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Smoked meats continue in fairly good demand with prices as before. Trade in lard is steady. Deliveries of dressed hogs have been fairly liberal, and prices range all the way from $4.70 to $4.85.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5¾ to 6c. for carload lots, and 6¼c. for small lots; backs, 7¼ to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7 to 7¼c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 8½ to 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 9½ to 10c.; small hams, 10c.; backs, 9 to 9½c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8c.; tubs, 8½c.; pails, 8¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $14.00; Canadian short-cut, $14 to $14.50; clear shoulder mess, $12; shoulder mess, $11.50.

FISH.

Fresh fish is arriving more freely, but the demand is light. We quote: Skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; haddock, 5 to 6c.; Labrador herring, $3.25 to $3.50 half barrel and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; Newfoundland herring, $2.50 per half barrel, and $4.50 to $4.75 per barrel; fresh water salt herring, $3 per barrel; blueback herring, 4c.; pike, 6 to 7c. per lb.; flitched cod, 5c.; finnan haddies, 7c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 11c.; ditto, lengthwise, 10c.; large halibut, 12 to 15c.; Restigouche salmon, 20 to 25c.; British Columbia salmon, 14 to 15c.; mackerel, 20 to 25c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; black bass, 9 to 10½c.; white fish, 7c.; salmon trout, 7c.; Lake Superior whitefish, 7½c.; Lake Winnipeg whitefish, 7 to 7½c.

SALT.

Trade has been brisk during the past week. There have been some good sales of assorted cars for butter and cheese purposes. Prices are unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.50 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN—Receipts are limited. We quote: White wheat, 80 to 81c.; red, 78 to 80c.; goose, 58 to 60c.; barley, 34 to 38c.; oats, 27 to 28c.; peas, 52 to 54c.; buckwheat, 37 to 38c.

FEED—Baled hay is firmer, $14.25 to $14.75 for No. 1 and $12.50 to $13.50 for No. 2.

FLOUR—The market is dull and weak. There is no export demand and holders are pressing sales. We quote: Straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50, carload lots, Toronto freights, and $3.55 to $3.60 in job lots; Manitoba patents, $4 to $4.10 per bbl.; Ontario patents, $3.85 to $3.95 per bbl.; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.65 to $3.80.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.95 to $3; rolled wheat, $2.25 to $2.30 in 100-lb. bar-

PETROLEUM.

The demand for coal oil is getting lighter, while trade in machine oils is unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16½c.; carbon safety, 18c.; Canadian water white, 18c.; American water white, 21c.; Pratt's astral, 22c.

SEEDS.

A fair jobbing trade is being done, but people are buying with more than ordinary caution. All the crop appears to have been marketed. We quote in a jobbing way as follows: Red clover, $4.80 to $5.15 per bush.; alsike, $3.50 to $4.75; timothy, $1.75 to $2 per bush.

MARKET NOTES.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 16, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE most striking feature of the week has been the strength of sugar outside without its affecting the local market a particle. In New York refined sugar has stiffened fully ⅜c. and raw is very firm, without having the slightest influence on local refiners' values. Syrups and molasses continue quiet and the latter exhibits an easy feeling. Spices and coffee are steady, with a moderate distributing demand. Tea has been almost motionless, while demand for dried fruit has not been quite as brisk as it was during the past fortnight, jobbers and dealers generally having stocked up pretty well. Jobbers here have not followed the western decline on canned corn, and produce and provisions generally continue much as they were a week ago, except that pork is a trifle easier.

SUGAR.

There has been considerable excitement in sugar outside, prices at New York, for instance, showing notable advances, especially on refined. The local market, however, has not as yet furnished any change in values, though it is expected that before the week closes an advance may ensue. In New York refined has advanced fully ⅜ of a cent, but local refiners' prices are unaltered, business passing at 4¾c. for granulated in round lots, and though the Guild price is 4⅞c. it is claimed that jobbers have been selling granulated for less than cost, despite the strength outside. Here we quote in a jobbing way: Granulated, 4⅞c.; bright yellows, 4 to 4¼c., and darker grades down to 3¾c.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market continues quiet, but though this is the fact, prices are held firm, as stocks are very light both in first and second hands. We quote: Bright syrups, 2¼ to 3c., and darker grades down to 1¾c.

MOLASSES.

There has been nothing new from primary markets in molasses, and importers here don't appear to be hurried over the matter of spring supplies. There is very little business doing in this market in a large way, but a fair distributive movement from second hands is going on. We quote Barbadoes 35 to 37c. and Porto Rico 34 to 35c., as to grade. Round lots would mean a material shading on these figures; in fact, it is not at all certain that some sellers would not concede in the case of a small lot.

RICE.

There has been a slow trade in rice, but the market is firm, in sympathy with foreign advices. We quote: Japan standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

There has been no material change in the spice market, prices having ruled steady and business quiet. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.

COFFEE.

There was no material expansion in coffee business during the week, but a fair jobbing trade is passing at steady prices. We quote: Rio, 16½ to 20c.; Maracaibo, 19 to 21c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29 to 32c.

TEAS.

There was no activity in tea in a large way and even the distributing trade has been quiet during the week. A few sales of low-grade Japans and blacks were the only descriptions to move in lots. We quote as follows: Young Hysons 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

Business in California raisins has not been quite as brisk as it was, buyers having supplied their wants. The feeling, however, is firm as ever, and, as there is little stock to come forward, future supplies are expected to necessitate firm prices. We quote values firm at 6½ to 7c. for 4-crown; 5½ for 3-crown, and 4¼ to 4½ for 2-crown loose muscatels

The same remarks apply to Valencia raisins, which are in very light supply here, and dealers are confident of even fuller figures, so are not urging sales. We quote: Ordinary, 4 to 4¼c.; fine, 4½ to 5c., and selected, 5¼ to 6c., with layers 6c.

Sultana fruit ranges from 8½c. for leading marks down to 5½c., according to brand, and stocks are light.

The currant market continues quiet and firm. We quote: Barrels, 4 to 4¼c.; half-barrels, 4½ to 5c., and cases, 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

Receipts of California stock have been arriving, but have worked off without any difficulty, and prices are steady. French and Austrian are steady under light stocks. We quote: French, 4½ to 5½c.; Austrian, 6 to 6½c., and California, 7 to 12c.

There is no change in the fig market, bags selling at 4¼c.; ordinary boxes, 8½ to 9c., and fancy, 12 to 17c., as to brand.

The date market is quiet and unchanged at 4½ to 5c.

NUTS.

Thre is a quiet seasonable trade in these. We quote as follows: Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

CANNED GOODS.

The jobbers here have not followed the decline in corn to the extent quoted in the west. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 80 to 85c.; corn, 70 to 80c.; peas, 95c. to $1 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.35 to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.25; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1 45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market is quiet, and only a small hand-to-mouth trade is doing both in oranges and lemons. Prices generally are much the same. We quote as follows: Oranges—California navels, $3.50 to $4.50; Valencias, 420's, $4.75 to $5.50, and 714's, $6 to $6.50. Lemons, $2 to $3. Grapes, $5 to $6 per keg. Apples, $2 to $4 per barrel. Dried do. 3½c. Evaporated do., 5¾ to 6½c. Spanish onions, 30 to 40c. per crate. Pineapples, 25 to 40c. as to size; bananas, $1 to $2.

FISH.

The fish market is entirely without feature, and prices are greatly nominal. We quote: Fresh haddock, 2½c. per lb.; fresh frozen B.C. salmon, 7 to 8c.; Manitoba whitefish, 7c.; dore, 7c.; trout, 7c.; tommy cods, 50 to 75c. Choice pickled Labrador herrings, $5.25; No. 1 N.S., $3 to $4; No. 1 green cod, $3.50 to $4; No. 2, $1.75 to $2; No. 1 haddock, $3; No. 1 large codfish, $6; No. 1 lake trout, $4 to $4.25; B.C. salmon, $10.50; No. 2 Labrador salmon, $13; No. 1 mackerel, $18.50; Loch Fyne herrings, 85c. per keg, and $11 per bbl.; No. 1 sardines, $4 50; No. 1 dried cod, $4 to $4.25; boneless cod, 6c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¼c.; boneless haddock, 5c.; shredded, 11c.; haddies, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.; bloaters, 90c. per box, and smoked herrings, 8 to 9c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market has continued dull and easy, prices on pork being shaded still further since our last report. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $13 to $14; Canadian short cut, mess, $13.50 to $14; hams, city cured, per lb., 7½ to 9½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market has fluctuated frequently during the week, going up and down ½ to 1c. at a time. To-day it stands at 14 to 14½c. for fresh laid goods.

BEANS—In beans carlots were offered at $1 to $1.05, but buyers held off, and business generally was in a jobbing way on the basis of $1.10 to $1.20.

POTATOES—The demand for potatoes was fair, and carlots changed hands at 30 to 32c. and small quantities sold at 40 to 45c per bag.

MAPLE SYRUP — Increased receipts of maple syrup have led to a decline of 5 to 10c. per gallon, prices to-day being 60 to 65c., and ½c. per lb. in sugar, which is selling at 8 to 8½c.

HOPS—These are unchanged at 6 to 8c. for last season's crop.

HONEY—Comb honey moves quietly at 12 to 14c., as to grade, for bright, and dark stock 1 to 2c. less. Extracted was dull at 7 to 8c.

ONIONS—Rule steady at $1.60 to $2 for yellow and $2.50 for red stock.

TALLOW—A few sales are passing and prices are steady at 5 to 5½c., as to quality and quantity.

HAY.

The market rules irregular, but there were sales to-day at $14 for No. 1 and $12.50 for No. 2.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.

The demand for Manitoba grades of flour was fair and the market is moderately active, but prices are irregular. A fair business was also done in Ontario grades in a small way and values show no change. We quote: Winter wheat, $4 25 to $4.30; straight roller, $3.85 to $3.90; straight roller, bags, $1.85 to $1.90; extra, bags, $1.65 to $1.75.

Business in oatmeal continues of a small jobbing character, nnd sales of rolled oats were made at $2.80 to $2.90. We quote: Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10; granulated, barrels, $3.10 to $3.20; rolled oats, barrels, $2.80 to $2.90; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.

The demand for bran and shorts was fair, and orders for carlots of the former were booked at $14 to $15 and the latter at $15 to $16. We quote: Bran, $14 to $15; shorts, $15 to $16; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market has displayed a better feeling during the past eight days, and buyers have bid 8⅝c. freely for first, but could not get any good, while they cleaned up a lot of early summer make at 7c. Holder of what finest stock remains on spot want 8¾c. for it, and so far have refused to shade even a fraction on it. In earlier makes recent transactions noted have cleaned it up pretty well. It is now a foregone conclusion that there will be little or no April cheese this year as factory after factory that was working on cheese this time last year is making butter.

In butter, the jobbing enquiry is well maintained, and quite equal to the supplies so far arriving. Steadiness is the result of this, creamery selling to-day for parcels at 23c., and Townships dairy at 20c.

ASHES.

There is no change in ashes, which we quote: First pots, $3.75; seconds, $3.50, and pearls, $5.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

The strength both of refined and raw sugar on the outside markets has not caused any advance in Canadian refiners' prices up to this writing, for granulated sold at 4⅝ to 4¾c., and yellows 3¾ to 4c.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 16, 1896.

THE week has shown a good demand in all lines, and there is a prospect of a good season ahead. In the outlying districts the mills are working, and in these places particularly a better business is looked for than last summer, when some of the largest mills were not working. There is a good demand for lumber, which is very important to our city. Already a number of steamers are in, loading deal, and our coasters are busy bringing in the lumber from outside points. A large quantity of spiling will be shipped to New York this season, and though prices are not high, the business is not unsatisfactory. In lime the season opens quiet. Lime is a business of great importance to our city. We are in a position to do a large business, and a sharp demand would be of the greatest benefit. In cream of tartar the ruling quotation is 86s. After the somewhat rapid decline the feeling is rather firmer.

OIL—There continues to be a better demand for paint oil as season advances. Prices rule rather lower than last season. There is also a good steady demand for lubricating oil, which shows little if any change from last season's figures. In burning oil the demand is light and the week shows no change in price. We quote: American burning oil, 23¼c.; best Canadian, 21½ to 21¾c.; prime, 19c. No charge for barrels.

SALT—Demand continues to improve. Stocks are ample, with a fair quantity afloat for here; prices are easy. The Canadian salt has a very large demand for table and dairy use, while in coarse the English is altogether used, except a little Turk's Island. The American salt is altogether out of the market. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; fine factory-filled, $1.10; 5-lb. bags, $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. boxes, 20c.; 10-lb boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; salt, bulk, $2.70 to $2 80 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—Peas have the most attention, and wholesalers quickly pick up any lots offered at low figures. Some still continue to sell to the retail trade below price at which goods could be replaced. Corn is rather weak; tomatoes fully hold their own. English potted meats and fish to retail at 5c. are now on the market and have a good reception. Salmon has good demand, but shows no change in price. Dealers are not buying corned beef as freely as last season, when stocks were found to be rather heavy. We quote as follows: Corn, 80 to 90c.; peas, 90 to 95c.; tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; gallon apples, $2 to $2.25; corned beef, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.70; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, $2.45 to $2.85; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2 to $2.40; salmon, $1.40 to $1.50; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; haddies, $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2 75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

GREEN FRUIT—There is an increased demand. Apples are more quiet, but extra quality will bring good figures, though there is no general demand. Valencia oranges still hold the market. Arrivals this week were quite large. Prices are quoted lower. Some very nice blood oranges have been received, but price prevents a large demand. Lemons move freely. Pineapples are not quoted this week, there being but few in the market. Bananas continue to arrive more freely, but all coming in as yet are crated. We quote: Apples, $2 to $3.50; Lemons, $2.50 to $3; Valencia oranges, $4.50 to $5.50; California oranges, seedlings $2.50; navels, $3.50 to $4; pineapples, 18 to 30c.; cranberries, $2.50 per box; bananas, $1.50 to $2.25.

DRIED FRUITS—There is little demand. New Bermuda onions are in the market, and the steamer arriving this week will likely have a quantity on board. Canadian sell slow, not showing as good value as American. Egyptian are shortly expected. Cleaned currants are more largely filling the place of the regular. A quantity of American packed continue to be sold, but they, it it is thought, will soon drop out, as the new duty there will make them much higher. Nova Scotia holders are still anxious to sell dried apples, but there is no improvement in the market. Evaporated are also dull. California prunes are firmer, although a fair quantity continue to arrive. In evaporated fruits there is rather less demand. California London layers are offered low from New York. We quote: Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; layers, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M. 4-crown, 6 to 7c.; 3-crown, 5 to 6c.; London layers, $1.70 to $1.85. Currants, bbls., 3¾ to 4c.; cases, 4¼ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½c.: prunes, kegs, 4c.; boxes, 6 to 7c.; half-boxes, 7 to 8c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 5c.; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c.; California evaporated peaches, 8 to 13c.; apricots, 12 to 14c.; pears, 12 to 14c.; onions, $2.25 to $2.50; cocoanuts, $3 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 8c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs have been scarce during the week; prices have, therefore, held firm, but lower figures are looked for. Cheese shows no change, there still being a fair quantity here. The time till new are offered is now short. They are expected to open low. In butter, new is beginning to arrive, and holders of old are easier in their prices. Best grades, however, sell freely at fair prices. We quote: Common dairy butter, 15 to 16c.; dairy, 17 to 18c.; new creamery prints, 22 to 23c.; cheese, 9 to 9½c.; creamery, tubs, 20 to 21c.; eggs, 14 to 15c. by case.

SUGAR—There is nothing new to say. The trade are still expecting higher prices, but are rather disappointed they are not here as yet. Values show no change. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—West India steamer is due at this writing and a quantity is expected, though not bought at lowest prices at the island. An auction of some fair quality old was held this week. There was limited demand. Best price obtained was 24¾c. There is still quite a quantity of old held in warehouse here. What Porto Rico new is here is held firm. Some more is daily expected. A better demand is noted for New Orleans than at this season last year. The Antigua in small packages arriving last month finds but fair demand. We quote as follows: Barbadoes, 33 to 34c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 36c., bbls.; New Orleans, 30 to 36c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Antigua, 28 to 30c.

FISH—Everything is quiet. The fishermen cannot even get bait. All kinds of fresh fish are very scarce. In Gaspereaux the run for the season is nothing. In dry fish demand since Lent has been light and prices are rather easier, pollock being particularly dull. Boneless fish also shows less movement. In pickled fair stocks are held, which merchants would like to move at quotation. Shad are dull. There is quite a quantity of the prepared fish in cartoons, for fishballs, selling. There are several different brands now on the market. Smoked herring, though holding firm, show little improvement in demand. We quote as follows; Large cod, $3.50 to $3.75; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.30; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; new smoked, 5 to 6c.; Canso, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; shad, half-bbl., $5; Shelburne, $2.75 bbl., $1.65 half-bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.

PROVISIONS—In hams a rather better demand is noted. Not as many dealers are handling smoked meat as usual, which tends to make the business more satisfactory. Lard is largely held, and moves somewhat slowly. In all pork products prices are not as high as was expected. In barrelled pork there is dull business at low prices, packers in some cases holding for higher than local prices. Holders are, however, getting a fair profit on the small quantity moving. Beef shows no change. Some to arrive was bought low. Some domestic packed pork, in half-barrels, is selling. We quote as follows: Clear pork, $15 to $15.50; mess, $14 to $14.50; beef, $13 to $14; domestic mess pork, $14 to $14.25; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; pure lard, 9 to 9¼c.; compound, 7¾ to 8c.

FLOUR, FEED AND SEED—Flour market is acting strangely. Some Ontario millers have made quite an advance in their quotations, and a rather firm feeling is reported; nevertheless, one Manitoba miller is down in price. The sale of Manitoba flour this spring has been very large. The fact that so many Ontario mills have been making Manitoba flour, at rather below regular prices, has very much increased the sale. Owing to the very low price of Manitoba wheat much more is being mixed with Ontario than formerly. In beans, the market is again down. Merchants are now asking how long is it safe to hold, as stocks, which are quite large, were all bought at higher prices. P.E.I. oats are held well above prices accepted for Ontario, which show no change. There is quite a demand now for seed oats. In seed, prices are below last season, and a good demand is noted. The only movement in hay is to the American market. We quote: Manitoba, $4.60 to $4.65; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4.60; medium, $4.40 to $4.50; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.50; cornmeal, $2.10 to $2.15; middlings, $19 to $20 on track; bran, $18 to $19; hand-picked beans, $1.10; prime, $1; oats, 34 to 35c.; hay, $12.50 to $13; barley, $4; round peas, $3 65; split peas, $3.70 to $3.80; yellow-eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat, native, $1.30 to $1.35; American timothy, $2; Canadian timothy, $2.75; red clover, 9 to 9¼c.; alsike, 9¼ to 9½c.; mammoth, 9¼ to 9½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Moncton is to have a street railway.

J. Hunter White has received a car of Windsor salt.

There is talk of a steamer being put on between St. John, Annapolis, Granville Ferry and Bridgetown.

One hardware merchant received by a late steamer upwards of 10,000 packages of cement, glass and hardware.

Fresh halibut continues scarce in this market; some arriving from Yarmouth brought at wholesale 12c. per lb.

A. S. Bowman, representing Geo. E. Tuckett, Son & Co., is again on the road after a short illness. His friends will be much pleased to see him again.

The large new mill of the Masterman Sulphite Fibre Co. at Chatham, is now running. It is right up to date in every particular.

The new steamship line direct from New York is making a big push for business, and many merchants, noticing the effect on rates of the competition, are aiding the new comer.

Moving has begun. F. H. Tippet & Co., agents for Lazenby's pickles, Fry's cocoa and other lines, have moved one door below their old stand on Dock street. James B. Gillespie, agent for G. J. Hamilton & Son, has moved from North Wharf to 37 Dock street.

EXPORTS OF DANISH BUTTER.

THE official statistics of the exports of butter from Denmark in 1895 quoted in the report for that year of the Copenhagen Chamber of Commerce, show that the total amount sent to foreign markets was 129,690,000 lbs., almost exactly the quantity recorded in 1894. It appears, however, that the imports reached only 33,660,000 lbs., against 41,400,000 lbs. in 1894. It is estimated, therefore, that there was an increase of about 8,000,000 lbs. in the home production last year. The total exports to Great Britain are given as 126,500,000 lbs., of which more than 110,000,000 lbs. was the produce of Danish farms, the rest having come from other countries bordering on the Baltic. These figures do not quite agree with the British Board of Trade returns, which state the British imports of butter last year from Denmark at 129,830,240 lbs., against 123,478,816 lbs. in 1894.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THERE is no doubt the spring is a backward one in Nova Scotia. The woods are full of snow and roads are bad, and in all lines there is little or nothing doing. The fact that our markets do not respond in sympathy with other markets, which should have a controlling interest, shows that there is a scarcity of money. At this time the spring trade usually sets in pretty lively, but as yet nothing has been done over and above the regular winter business.

The advance of refined sugar in New York during the past week or two of ½c. had no effect on the market here. The refinery is doing a good business, but at old prices. Higher prices are, however, looked for in the near future.

Fishstuffs — There are no especial improvements to record in the fish business. It is not a question now of how much a shipper will make, but how much he will lose, when he is considering the advisability of making a shipment. Holders really do not know what to do with their stocks of bank and bay cod. The price at Porto Rico keeps phenomenally low, and Cuba is now out of the question as a fish consuming country.

New alewives will soon be on the market. The price will open at about $3.25, but will fluctuate considerably.

Hard cured Jamaica cod are very scarce and are wanted.

There is a little doing in butter, there being a pronounced scarcity of a good article. Messrs. Hutchison & Power, of this city, imported a large quantity of creamery from Quebec, which sold at 24c. The regular jobbing price to-day for good creamery is 24c., and there is very little on the market. Old dairy is selling at 16 to 18c.

The cheese market continues dull, and a decline is anticipated. September is selling at 9c., and early makes can be purchased at 7 to 7½c.

There is no need of importing eggs from the States. The market is over supplied and case lots are jobbing at 10c. and under to-day. The retail price is as low as 11c.

The green fruit market remains unchanged. The market is well supplied. Tomatoes, rhubarb, etc., will be coming in next week.

The provision market is dull and unchanged.

There is no change in produce, which remains too low in price for actual business.

SOUTHERN STRAWBERRIES.

The season is rapidly approaching for strawberries, and within a few days liberal supplies are expected from Charleston and possibly from North Carolina. Stock has been arriving for some time from Florida, and as a rule very fair prices have been realized. The cool weather has kept the demand moderate, but at the close there is more disposition to buy, and the outlet will doubtless widen from now on. The cool weather during March delayed the Charleston crop almost a month, and even up to the present time only a few stray lots are arriving, but advices indicate heavy shipments very soon, and a large acreage is reported. The acreage in North Carolina is also reported unusually large this season. The quality of the berries has been very good as a whole, though many lots have naturally arrived more or less out of condition, owing to the great distance. Most shippers use small refrigerators filled with ice, and in this way the berries are kept cool and fresh, but where open crates are used the quality depends somewhat on the weather, unless they are shipped by refrigerator cars, and then they often arrive in fully as good or better condition than the small ice boxes. At the close advices report that one or two shipments have been made from North Carolina, and quite free supplies are expected from there within a week or ten days.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

WHERE VIGILANCE WILL PAY.

The merchant who takes the trouble to weigh, count or gauge everything he buys can often undersell the dealer who considers it a waste of time to thus check the shipper's billed figures, remarks Merchants' Review. It is not that many shippers are occasionally subject to sudden attacks of dishonesty, but that mistakes are liable to occur in the most carefully conducted shipping departments, and quite often errors of this character will be found to favor the interests of the jobber or manufacturer. Take nothing for granted when goods are received, and don't forget to examine the quality of the consignments. Remember that the articles you send out are advertisements of your business.

SPECIAL ASSORTMENTS.

It is not uncommon, says Merchants' Review, for grocers to offer assortments of goods at special prices, the prices of some of the articles being tremendously cut, while sufficient margin is put on the coffee and tea to carry the "cut" goods and yield a liberal profit. But, curiously enough, sometimes the "assortments" fail to equal the expectations of the grocers, owing to the fact that they neglect to make it clear to the average consumer that the bargain prices quoted are for the assortment only, and that the offer has to be accepted in its entirety, otherwise ordinary prices will be charged. Some customers get it into their heads that the dealer is trying to back out of a bad bargain when he refuses to sell a part of the assortment at the special prices.

BRITISH AGRICULTURAL FINANCE.

Mr. R. E. Turnbull, an authority on British agricultural finance, has forwarded to The Midland Counties Herald a revision of thh estimates of farming capital employed in the United Kingdom which he presented before the Royal Commission on Agriculture. He then calculated the aggregate amount existing in 1892 at £330,000,000, or £6 17s. per acre, against £440,000,000, or £9 per acre, in 1874. Mr. Turnbull says that since 1892 a furthur reduction has taken place, and that the amount is probably not now more than £275,000,000, or £5 15s. per acre. The present value of the agricultural holdings—i.e., land and buildings—he estimates at £1,000,000,000, which is equivalent to about £21 per acre, taking good and bad land together. In 1878 Sir James Caird's estimate was £2,000,000,000, which was calculated on the basis of 30 years' purchase of the then annual value. With regard to the reduction in the amount of farming capital within the last three years, Mr. Turnbull is disposed to attach much importance to the drouth of 1893 as a cause.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

"FOR your success in a business career it is necessary first of all that your understanding should be good," writes J. B. Lewis in Boot and Shoe Recorder.

"Some young men, instead of having an understanding of their own, would prefer to have an understanding with the head of the firm. * * *

"Another important quality in a young man is scrupulous honesty. It is no longer considered good form to borrow your employer's money from the cash drawer because your best girl wants to go to the theatre.

"It is wiser not to attempt to learn the whole business in a week. It might discourage the faithful but less brilliant workers, and then your employer would have to spend all his time in finding new things for you to do, if you learn them too quickly.

"Don't take over three hours and a half for lunch. The late Ward McAllister said the best lunches now rarely consume over three hours at table.

"It is no longer regarded as necessary that the head of the firm should arrive at his desk in the morning before his clerks. In fact, in some of the most successful establishments down town the clerks and office boy now arrive ahead of the proprietor.

"If you don't succeed in your business, it is always the fault of the business. Don't forget that. It is never the fault of the man himself. Any fool can see this.

"If your business day is supposed to end at 5.30 p.m., it will be necessary for you to stop actual work at half past four. This will give you a reasonable time for blacking your shoes, washing your hands, etc. If you should find yourself out on the street and then discover that you had left ahead of the leaving hour, it is not a matter to be thought of seriously. Accidents will happen.

The latter then considers the importance of a good memory and ends his article with some good advice about over-work, the latter of which we quote :

"Don't overwork. It would be terrible for your employer to reflect that he was responsible for your early death from overwork. Be sure and stay out late every night. This is not work but play. If you don't go to bed at all, you will be sure to be up early the next morning. This is good sound logic."

THE TERM "DRUMMER."

Why should commercial travelers be designated "drummers?" asks Confectioners' Journal. The term is a misnomer and originated as a slang phrase in the far western states in years gone by when there were more peddlers than authorized representatives of substantial wholesale merchants. Why is "this thus" that the senseless name "drummer" should be applied to commercial travelers in Uncle Sam's domains? It may in a measure be attributed to a tendency of a portion of the American press to adopt all the slang phrases they lay their hands, or rather paws, on and cultivate them for all they are worth and pass them off as witticisms—poor, cheap wit! But why in the name of common sense should it come to be applied to thousands of respectable, energetic and capable men, and gentlemen, who range under our banner in this dominion of ours and follow the career or profession of commercial travelers is beyond the conception of the writer, and he would most respectfully ask the members of our intelligent press to frown down this disreputable phrase and also the members of our different associations to take a hand in also. To be a successful traveler it is surely not necessary to beat a drum, as is implied in the opprobrious name. It may have taken its origin from the old Scotch story of the Irish tinker who was a bad hand at his trade and traveled through the country towns and villages of the northern part of Great Britain beating a drum and hallooing out: "Any old tin pans to mend?" And his wife following behind calling out: "Yes; and begorra there's the man that can do it." In the Old Country and on the continent of Europe if such a term was understood at all it would, without doubt, be taken as an insult.

TRADE CHAT.

SOME of the residents of Windsor are suspected of smuggling dutiable articles from the States, and to put a stop to it the Government has sent to that port Special Officer Stundon.

The St. Thomas City Council has increased the transient traders' license from $75 to $200.

J. H. Luckham's drug store at Glencoe was robbed the other night, and fancy articles to the value of $50 were stolen.

The prospects for fruit in the Goderich district look very promising, and if it escapes the May frosts an abundant yield may be looked for.

At a general meeting of the Board of Trade of Toronto, held last Friday, a resolution was passed advocating closer trade relations with the Mother Country.

The Elgin Mercantile Association met the other night. Committees were appointed to perfect organization. There was a large attendance, and a determined effort will be made to weed out "dead beats."

At a meeting of the Brantford Board of Trade, Messrs. Frank Cockshutt, Lloyd Harris, and J. S. Hamilton were appointed delegates from the Brantford Board of Trade to the Chambers of Commerce in London this summer. The Board also passed a resolution favoring some measure of closer trade relations between the colonies and empire.

The grain storehouse owned by Jesse Smith, Toronto, and occupied by W. A. Hutt, grain buyer, of Aurora, was burned. There is no doubt it was deliberately set on fire. The building was almost filled with grain, the loss on which is partially covered by insurance. This is the second incendiary fire that has occurred in this town this week.

Friday morning about 2.30 a.m. burglars effected an entrance into the grocery store of B. C. Turville, formerly owned by Glen Boughner, corner of Kains and Flora streets, St. Thomas. They broke a large pane of glass in the window, and after getting inside attempted to open the till. The latter is a combination, and it is thought that when the bell rang the intruders made off. Both back doors were found open.

It is too early to make any definite estimate of the crop outlook for the present year, but reports are to hand from various sources, which indicate that the prospect is not too bright. Reports from the plains where the land is sandy are that the wheat crop is damaged to the extent of one-third. In the clay soil it is too early to speak. It had a poor top last fall and has not recovered from the severe winter. In these days of sunshine all day and keen frost at night, with dry winds, not much chance is given it to grow. Farmers are already crying for warm rains, and with them some good crops might reasonably be expected.—Brantford Expositor.

There's a tendency . .

to sacrifice quality for price these days, and alleged "pure goods" are frequently offered at prices which ought to show anyone, with half an eye, that there is something wrong.

COCOA-PALMS.

MR. J. FERGUSON, of The Ceylon Observer, in a letter to The London Times, estimates that there are some fifty millions of cocoa-palms growing in regular plantations or small native gardens in Ceylon, covering some 650,000 acres and yielding an annual harvest nearly equal in value to that gathered from the 300,000 acres of tea plant. A certain proportion of the "harvest" is exported—in cocoanut oil, up to 500,000 hundredweight; "copra" and "poonac" (the dried kernels), up to 200,000 hundredweight; coir fibre, rope and yarn, up to 170,000 hundredweight; in cocoanuts, 10,000,000, as pulled or with the husk off; and in a new and fast-expanding industry in "desiccated cocoanut," six to seven million pounds—but a large, perhaps the larger, proportion is consumed for food and domestic use otherwise by the people of the island, apart from the large and unfortunately growing quantity of arrack (the whisky or brandy of Ceylon) prepared from the sap of a large number of palms set apart for that purpose. Of other palms (Palmyra, Kitul and Areca chiefly) and fruit trees in great variety, the Sinhalese and Tamils of Ceylon have over 300,000 acres planted, and most yielding crops, as additions to the food supply, and, in some cases, exports. Of our famous ancient spice—cinnamon (which was carried from Ceylon and sold in Rome in the time of Augustus Cæsar for the equivalent of £8 sterling per pound)—there are still about 35,000 acres planted in Ceylon, the annual exports of the quills and chips keeping in excess of two and one-half million pounds. This industry is in Ceylonese (chiefly Sinhalese) hands. Cardamoms, pepper, cloves, nutmegs and some other spices claim more attention from the European planters; but the cultivation of citronella and other grass for essential oils is solely done by the natives, as also, of course, the great paddy, or rice-growing industry in Ceylon.

A REMEDY FOR LOAFERS.

A New Jersey grocer owning a corner store was annoyed continually by a number of loiterers who used to congregate on the corner, says an exchange.

He called the police to keep the store front clear, but the idlers disregarded the bluecoats. The groceryman was in a quandary as to the best means of removing the cause of his annoyance, but a bright idea struck him. He went to a painter and had him make a sign which read as follows:

WANTED.
One more loafer to stand on this corner.

This sign he placed in the front window, and he has had peace since.

THE WEIGHT OF POUND PRINTS.

EDITOR GROCER,—Is there not a law compelling people who put up goods in certain weight packages, to practise what they preach? If so I should very much like to see it applied to some of our creameries. It is very often hard work to get from any of them the uniform quality of butter, but when one is mulcted ½ ounce, and sometimes more, in weight on each one-pound print, is rather hard lines.

Concerning this matter I know whereof I speak, having at different times weighed the butter on arrival, and have at different times complained to my grocer of the short weight, but he evidently is a sort of "stick in the mud" and makes no move in the matter.

Perhaps this letter of mine will call the attention of some live men to this fact and have it righted.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

DAWSON & CO. have a carload of Valencia oranges arriving on Saturday. It consists of ordinary 420's, large 420's and 714's.

Davidson & Hay offer choice evaporated apples at very low figures

The Eby, Blain Co. report that they have secured a line of cheap salmon. It is scarce.

Davidson & Hay are showing good value in pure sugar syrups in half-barrels.

Davidson & Hay offer "Meadow Sweet" cream cheese put up in 5 and 10c. cakes.

Davidson & Hay have another shipment to hand of California two-crown loose muscatels.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are showing splendid values in California evaporated peaches and apricots.

The booklets going out with 10-box lots of starch from Lucas, Steele & Bristol, are meeting with favor.

A large shipment of Moyune Young Hysons, showing a good range of values, is in store with the Eby, Blain Co.

The Windsor Salt Wells are making heavy shipments; some days as many as eleven cars leave the works.

H. P. Gould & Co., Toronto, are still on the hunt for butter and eggs. "Holders would do well to communicate with us," they state.

A. E. Richards & Co., Hamilton, have been appointed Canadian agents for the "Wool Soap" made by Raworth Schadde & Co., Chicago.

McWilliam & Everist have this week received three cars of bananas and one car each of Valencia oranges, California seedlings and navels.

The Ceylons and Indians to hand and arriving with Lucas, Steele & Bristol, at 17 and 18c., show choice value. "May we send you samples?" asks the firm.

The Eby, Blain Co. are in receipt of a line of finest selected French sardines, ¼ and ½, "Chancerelle" brand, prepared in pure virgin olive oil, in fancy key-opening tins.

Business in maple syrup shows a decided increase over last year. T. A. Lytle & Co. report continuous heavy orders. They are handling Eastern Township syrup entirely.

The "East India" pickles offered by the Eby, Blain Co. are meeting with a ready sale. They claim they are just what the trade wants, a high-grade pickle at a medium price.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report that this season the sale of Dixon's Carburet of Iron stove polish is largely ahead of last, and that merchants handling it heretofore have almost invariably re-ordered.

"Our California peaches and Bosnia prunes are going fast," report Lucas, Steele & Bristol. "At low prices we offer. We also find great sale for our jams and marmalades in 7-lb. pails."

Finnan haddie, canned, have taken a firm hold on the market, particularly through Ontario. Northrup & Co., agents for the "Golden" brand, report a much larger sale than last season.

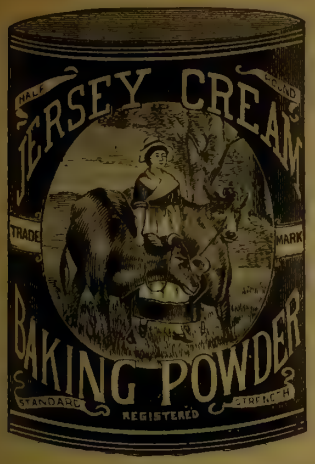
C. A. Thompson, Montreal, has just landed a carload of evaporated apricots and peaches, also prunes, from J. W. Teasdale & Co., St. Louis. THE CANADIAN GROCER was shown samples which both looked and tasted all right.

"If retail grocers will insist upon having our established brands of coffee and spices under our own name and label they will be assured of the genuine article, and the best of its kind," write Lucas, Steele & Bristol, of Hamilton.

W. H. Gillard & Co. would be pleased to send a large sample of their blend, "The Globe," to merchants interested in a high grade black tea. They report that they have sold thousands of pounds of this line during the past few months.

THE FIELD FOR DEMONSTRATORS.

RETAIL grocers often have daughters, sisters or other female relatives, who have a business turn, but who are ignorant of the best method of utilizing it. Consequently, in many cases it wastes, and an otherwise good business woman is allowed to stagnate.



There is a field for women nowadays, in connection with the grocery business, which is remunerative and comparatively easy of cultivation to the woman who has a business faculty. We refer to the profession of demonstrating food products in retail grocery stores. A great many manufacturers are coming to use this important adjunct to the ordinary methods of introducing their goods, and the fact that more and more of these are coming to be used every year would seem to indicate that the method has value. An attractive young girl could secure a valuable training in this profession in the store of her own brother or father. Incidentally, any grocer could find it to his advantage to extend this opportunity also. We know of several retail grocers who use demonstrators to introduce and push their own goods. It is almost certain that in every town there could be found young women who, when the possibilities of the profession were laid open to them, would willingly give their services to the local grocer gratuitously for the sake of the training allowed. It is an interesting field for investigation.—Grocery World.

PUREST & BEST

The Largest Creamery in Canada

Is situated at Renfrew, Ont. Their output of Butter has a high reputation. In order to obtain it and keep the quality, they must use the best obtainable ingredients. They use "WINDSOR" SALT exclusively. Under date of December 17th, 1895, Mr. Wright has this to say :—

* * * * For your convenience I may add that it is certainly the finest salt we ever used. There may be as good, but I have never used it, It might interest you to know how we came to use it. For many years before starting our Creamery, I used English salt in my dairy, exclusively Hearing of yours I sent for a sample, which was promptly forwarded, and we used it with our next churning. Although we used the same quantity we had always used, so much greater strength was there in your Windsor brand, that our butter was so salt that we could hardly use it. We then greatly reduced the quantity, and found it to work admirably, and consequently have used it ever since. When we opened our Creamery, Windsor Salt was at once adopted, and we have never had any reason to regret it. The barrels are well made, and being lined with paper it prevents any dirt or dust from getting in. This I consider a very important factor, and so long as you send us the same quality as you have been doing, it will require very strong inducements to cause us to use any other. You will of course understand from this that it was the Windsor Salt we used in our butter which took the Gold Medal at Ottawa in Sept. last.

(Signed) A. A. WRIGHT, Manager Renfrew Creamery Co., Ltd.

Grocers can obtain "WINDSOR" Dairy Salt, from any wholesale house, put up in 50lb. Linen Sacks and in 20lb. White Cotton Bags packed 15 in a paper lined Barrel.

An Easy Arithmetical Problem

TRY IT

The people of Great Britain and Ireland use on an average nearly 600,000 pounds of Tea every day, the approximate amount of liquid thus consumed reaching, probably, 4,000,000 pounds daily. Given this fact, what percentage of the Tea comes from

and how many gallons are consumed annually ?

Send your answers to THE CANADIAN GROCER. It will pay you to do so. There's money in this for you.

Answers will only be accepted from such grocers as have handled or intend to handle the pure, healthy, machine-made teas of Ceylon.

WARNING RE CALIFORNIA PRUNES.

THE California Fruit Grower utters a timely word of warning and gives some sound advice to its constituents in the following article :

"It is the illogical trade custom to sell prunes on the basis of size only. Prunes of a certain size are rated at a certain price, without much regard to that which should govern in all cases, namely, quality. Of course, size is important, and other things being equal may properly regulate the price. But under present customs of the trade, size is practically everything, and the matter of quality is scarcely considered, unless the fruit be plainly in bad condition. All this is clearly not the best way to stimulate the production of the very best fruit, and thus benefit the industry as well as the individual. When growers work for size only, it follows that something, probably much, must be sacrificed in the way of quality. If an excess of irrigating water, for example, will produce extra large fruit of low quality, under present conditions of trade the grower will turn on the water and let the ultimate buyer take the chances of getting a pumpkin for a prune.

"The California Fruit Grower is not much given to prophecy ; but, unless present indications are greatly at fault, the consuming public will be soon heard in a loud voice demanding quality rather than quantity in a California prune. In fact, murmurs of that sort are already in the air, and our growers and dealers would better prepare for a change. It will probably be soon forced upon us that quality must rate ahead of mere size in grading prunes ; and when size and quality are happily combined in the same fruit, perfection will have been nearly reached. It is well known that the best French champagne is made by the scientific blending of wines grown in many different vineyards, each having some peculiar mark of excellence. Hence, that most prized of all wines is compounded in central laboratories from the various elements brought in from different places."

VERMONT MAPLE SUGAR CROP.

The present prospect for Vermont's maple sugar crop this year, according to an exchange, is small, owing to unfavorable weather. The season is two weeks later than the average. March has been colder than the average for many years. Four mornings last week the thermometer registered below zero. A few sugar orchards were tapped the last week in March in anticipation of warmer weather, but there has been no flow as yet. Practically no sugar has been made this season.

Of 50,000,000 pounds shown by the census as the annual production in the United States, over one-third is made in Vermont. Last year the yield was 14,123,921 pounds of sugar and 993,685 gallons of syrup. Owing to the lateness of the season the warm weather will probably come suddenly and the sugar season will be short. Good judges estimate that there will be not over two-thirds of a crop this spring, and perhaps not over one-half.

THE COMPETENT CLERK.

When a thoroughly competent grocery clerk has taken a customer's order, he tries to get her to take some interest in the latest brands in stock, provided they are unknown to her, remarks Merchants' Review. He of course knows where to draw the line, and does not tire the customer by his persistency, nor does he fail in most cases to leave a pleasant impression of his own attentiveness on the customer's mind. The raw boy, hardly able to speak the language, may come cheaper than the skilled salesman, so far as the mere salary is concerned, but he will never think to recommend new goods to a customer, or in the event of such a miracle happening, he will do it in such a manner as to disgust the customer. Usually the grocer can thank his stars if the green clerk succeeds in doing the routine work properly, without attempting to talk customers into trying novelties. The "vaulting ambition" of this class of clerk does not have to leap far to "o'erleap itself," and they are safest when they eschew the ambitious role.

USING THE X RAYS ON EGGS.

A good leader for a sign over a basket of eggs would be: "These eggs have been photographed and we guarantee them to be absolutely fresh." Such announcement would show to the people that you were up to date and knew what the X rays were.—Grocery World.

It would not require a photograph by the aid of X rays to convince the customer that the merchant was either fooling or lying.

WINNIPEG RETAILERS.

There was a large attendance at the last regular meeting of the Winnipeg Retailers' Association. Twenty-one new members were elected. A committee was appointed to arrange for a social entertainment at an early date. It was also resolved that additional endeavors should be made to induce the clerks to connect themselves with the association as members. A committee, of which Mr. Holman is chairman, was appointed to carry out the resolution.

MAXIMS FOR ADVERTISERS.

A good advertisement always brings in more than it takes out.

An advertisement doesn't knock off work when the store is closed.

Persistent advertising is the cornerstone of success.

No advertisements are bad, but some advertisements are better than other.

When a wise woman has money to spend she consults the advertising columns of the newspapers and afterwards consults her husband.

Advertising is a plaster which merchants put on the world to draw business out of it.

Advertisements are like birds—it isn't always those that have the finest feathers that are the best singers.

An advertisement is the only perpetual motion yet discovered.

A lazy business man need never expect to get any rest by advertising for it.

Advertising is the best fertilizer for the soil of business.

COMPRESSED CORNED BEEF . . . .

is a staple article, and a good many people make it. It looks like a simple thing to put up, but there are lots of points to be considered. First, there's the selection of the meat—that's important. Second, the cure of the meat—if it's cured too much, it's salty; if not enough, it will spoil. Third, there's the cooking of the meat—this has to be done to a turn. Fourth, there's the processing—in this and the cooking lie the arts of the scientific canner. Lastly, there's the painting, labeling and casing of the can for market—these points all require careful attention and trained help.

We make a study of every detail connected with meat canning. Nothing is so small as to escape our careful attention. We are acknowledged leaders in the application of scientific methods to this work. Our "Helmet" brand on a can of meat is a guarantee of excellence. Specify Armour Packing Co.'s KANSAS CITY Canned Meats on your orders to your jobber.

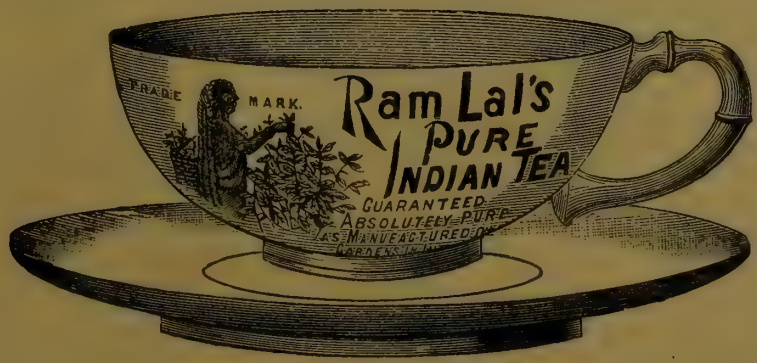
"The woman who did"

Should not be taken as an example to imitate, any more than "the man who didn't."



He didn't keep MacLaren's Cheese, and when one of his customers, in making up a camping order, asked for "MacLaren's," he had to send out to his competitor's and get some. The customer got his order filled, but he had his own opinion of "the man who didn't" after that.

You can't please a customer better than by giving him what he asks for.

The Tea Trade Demands

Careful attention, well directed intelligent supervision and a thorough knowledge of the values of the day. No other branch forms such an important factor in the ultimate success of the average grocery business. If your teas don't please and satisfy consumers—your competitor's may. The result is easy to predict.

Nothing spreads faster among busy house-wives than the fact that "So-and-So" sells exceptionally good tea, and nothing is more stimulating to trade in dull times than this. We simply ask a fair intelligent trial of the lines we offer. The result we leave with you.

In Assams, Ceylons, China Blacks, Indians, Young Hysons and Japans (high and medium grades) we have every confidence in our ability to successfully cater to the requirements of the Canadian trade.

THE CANADIAN GROCER

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, APRIL 24, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 17

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

A well-worn smile never gets threadbare.

Overstocked shelves lighten a merchant's bank account.

Lack of character usually brings abundance of discredit.

A capable and obliging clerk is the store's centre of gravitation.

A "peppery" grocer is too hot for most people to do business with.

Life is a struggle, but it would not be much if it was not a struggle.

Ceylon tea, like a pretty, intelligent and virtuous girl, is bound to conquer.

Prejudice is one of the most injudicious things a merchant can keep in stock.

As long as it does not create an unhealthy pocket the bicycle craze is health giving.

Eyes and ears are usually more useful organs to the merchant than is his tongue.

A store "help" can be a hindrance as well as a help. A cheap clerk for example.

The office of pastimes is not to help men to kill time but to help them lengthen their days.

Retailers who undersell the cost price of an article are undermining their own interests.

In the presence of customers the merchant should cork his wrath and uncork his urbanity.

Discontent is a break that will keep at a slow pace the most profitable business in the country.

There is not a sane merchant in existence who does not desire to extend his trade; and yet now and then one is discovered who refuses to advertise "because he already has more business than he can do."

A salesman need not be a carpenter, but he should know how to use the hammer of persuasion.

By all means display your goods, but keep your weaknesses as much in the background as possible.

It is attention, not genius, that is demanded of him who would make life a success in any sphere.

A healthy mind and a healthy body in the merchant were never more needed than they are to day.

Merchants who are frequently making new and judicious departures usually prevent the departure of business.

If a man does not earn his bread by the sweat of his brow he is usually compelled to by the worry of his brain.

Even a business that is founded upon a rock needs to move with the times if it is to avoid being washed away.

A man can only be successful in business by being himself. By aping somebody else he is likely to become a jackass.

You have as little chance of catching custom by clumsy methods as you have of hooking herrings with a shark hook.

Just as wise would it be for a man to say there were no fish in the sea as to declare there is no money in advertising.

It is systematizing, not the time which a man has at his disposal, that determines the amount of work he shall accomplish.

Patience is one of the most delicate of qualities to cultivate, yet cultivated it must be if success in business is to be attained.

As the wind in the spring goeth about stirring up the dust, so the merchant at all seasons should go about stirring up trade.

No matter how honest he may be, the debtor who fails to meet his obligations on maturity is generally viewed with suspicion.

Legion is the number who have been driven to poverty by prosperity, while poverty is the road which leads many to prosperity.

A merchant that does not look sharp after his accounts, like the dog that neglects to go after his master's game, is likely to get into trouble.

When Prosperity is driven away by bad Business Methods it is naturally slow to come back, no matter how earnestly it may be invited.

From the fuss some people make over early closing one might fancy it was a dose of nauseating medicine they were being asked to take.

It is better that an article which has lost its original merit should be thrown into the sea than that by selling it money should be made and a customer lost.

The difference between the man who cuts with a razor and he who cuts with prices is that the one cuts to kill the man and the other to kill the man's business.

The ideal salesman does not induce a customer to buy what she does not want: He induces her to buy what she needs, but probably did not know that she needed it.

The store is the mercantile school; and the clerk who does not well learn his lessons will be a failure as a salesman and as a merchant, should be ever essay to be one.

All the laws in the land will never be able to make a "dead beat" pay his debts, but the simple will power of each merchant will prevent him from plying his nefarious practices.

COMPOSITION OF MARGARINE.

MARGARINE is a produce which has been talked of a great deal for some time, both in France as well as in foreign lands. All the Parliaments of Western Europe have been successively filled with projects of law relating to the rules of commerce in this commodity, but, in spite of all the commotion which this article has caused, there are very few people who have an exact idea of its fabrication. We believe it will be of use to our readers to have some information on the manufacture of margarine, and we therefore give the results of a study of the subject, made by Mons. Villon, who is well known as a chemical analyst. The true name of this matter is oleo margarine, and it is the liquid part which flows from tallow when it is pressed warm. The tallow employed is that which is known under the name of the "first juice," and comes from the melting at a low temperature of fat fresh from the butcher. This first juice is composed of solid stearine, fusible at 100 deg. Fah., and olein (oily liquid). The first operation consists of separating the liquid from the solids in the first juice, which we call tallow.

The solid tallow is put in cloths of strong linen, so that they form covered cakes. When this is done the hydraulic press is loaded with them. Upon the bed of the press is placed a strong plate of sheet iron, heated in water at 120 deg. Fah., and on it are put five cakes of tallow, then another plate of sheet iron, and so on until the press is full. Generally 180 to 200 cakes of tallow fill the press, and the operation should be rapidly performed in order to prevent the cooling of the plates. With three workmen the press can be rapidly filled.

The separation of the oleo begins without pressure by the simple weight of the plates and by the heat which comes from them. When it is noticed that the running has ceased, the press should be worked, going very slowly at the commencement. The pressed tallow which remains in the cloths is used for manufacturing artificial lard and wax candles. The oleo which has run from the press is sent to margarine factories or exported.

Oleo is a granulous mass of yellow color and its taste approaches that of ordinary butter. The principal market for the oleo is Rotterdam (Holland), where the Americans also send considerable quantities of this product for the needs of Europe.

Fabrication of margarine.—The manufacture of margarine consists of mixing the oleo with some milk and a small quantity of cotton oil, the proportions varying according to the quality of the margarine to be made. Here are some of the figures: Oleo, 16 cwt., milk 11 gallons, and oil 2 cwt. The quantity of oil varies greatly according to the season; thus, in winter when the cold is intense, 30 and even 40 per cent. of oil is used, whilst in very hot weather the addition of oil is almost suppressed. Oil of earth nuts and of sesame can also be used. The oil modifies the paste of the margarine, which is naturally too short and brittle, and gives it the oiliness of good butter.

Oleo is melted in the furnace at 113 deg. Fah., and the milk and oil are brought to the same temperature. Each of these products is enclosed in a receptacle above the churn, which is of wood, and is filled by means of funnels. The materials are mixed well, until the whole has the appearance of cream. The churning lasts about two hours, then the mixture is turned into a wooden strainer, slightly inclined in order to run it off into a large tub. When it leaves the strainer to fall into the tub it meets a strong sheet of fresh water, which solidifies the margarine into granules.

In the tub the margarine floats on the surface of the cold water, and by the aid of an openwork basket the fatty matter, which looks like sleet, is collected. It is turned into perforated receptacles and left to drain for a longer or shorter period, according to the temperature. This operation generally takes about two hours. After this the mechanical working of the margarine is begun. It is placed upon a round table like those used in dairies, but very much larger, and the moisture is worked in order to press out the buttermilk and give it the consistency of butter. It is next passed, in small portions at a time, through a horizontal worker, which is composed of two cylinders of wood with deep flutings, which spread out the paste and give it its nice appearance. It is then made into large cakes or put in tubs.

During the making of margarine it should be noticed that it does not solidify in one mass, because during the slight fermentation which it undergoes before being drained it has not the peculiar taste which indicates good margarine. That is why it is necessary not to use too cold water.

To give to margarine the taste of good quality butter the fat, whilst dropping, is sprinkled with a little special ferment mixture, which comes from the artificial manufacture of the ferments of good butter.

If there are houses which make margarine under its right conditions, there are also certain establishments which sell mixtures of butter and margarine for pure butter. This dishonest trade does the greatest injury to pure butter and its makers, because it destroys all confidence of the purchasers. Up to the present time the detection of the presence of small quantities of margarine in butter offers great difficulties, and sometimes it is even impossible to discover the fraud. It has been thought that it would be well to alter the appearance of margarine, by incorporating with it a product which would be easy of detection, and that the change should be obligatory. The matter proposed for mixing with it is phenolphtaleine in very small quantities, and, according to Mons. Bruylante, margarine would then have a rosy tint if placed in alkaline solutions; the reaction persists even when mixed with the margarine 50 and 90 per cent. of fresh butter. This substance also resists frequent cold or warm water washing. It could be removed by water alkalined with caustic soda, but that practice could not be followed in commerce, as the butter thus treated would have the taste of soap.

The above description of the method used for the manufacture of margarine will enable people to know the nature of the product, and also the facility which exists for discovering the fraud in butter, but, on the other hand, one does not deny its usefulness for such households as have no means to buy fresh butter.—Kuhlow's.

HE PREACHED ON BUSINESS.

Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with my own? —Matthew xx., 15.

Taking this for his text Rev. J. M. Whitson, of New York, says the question nowadays, is: If I have the capital to drive a rival out of business by selling below cost longer than he can stand it, haven't I a right to do it? Or, if I control the sale of a neccessary article, haven't I a right to screw the price up as high as I can? * * But society is nowadays working more and more closely to the principle which Roman lawyers laid down before the dark ages: "So use what is yours as not to injure what is another's." Business is not charity. But it is justice. A man's business is his own, but not his hammer, to crush a competitor, or his lancet, to bleed a customer. We shall probably see this principle wrought further into statute law than it has been. * * All private business is a sort of public trust—that is, it is for the public benefit, including, of course, the benefit of the man who carries it on. It is to be worked for all it is worth, not to him alone, but also to those whose wants he supplies. By supplying their wants he makes his living. The more and the better he does it, the more he makes by it. But is he to think only of what he thus gets, and not equally of what he thus gives? This, then, is his trust, his public trust: to care as much for what he gives as for what he gets; to make his business worth as much for public as for private benefit. Many business men now act on this social theory. Conscience and a sense of personal honor, stimulated by the public approval of their example, may be relied on to bring it ultimately into general adoption.

The Slocan Hotel, at New Denver, B.C., was burned the other night. Many guests had retired and escaped with difficulty. Several were injured jumping from windows. Loss, $8,000; no insurance.

STERLING GOODS

An inferior article may attract public notice and for a short time enjoy the encomiums of the people, but unless the article is possessed of true merit it will soon pass into oblivion, following in the train of all the innumerable articles that have made their way into the homes of our people, having only for their recommendation flaunting advertisements that sparkle but for a time. The reverse is the case with goods of

"STERLING WORTH"

They live on, burning brighter and brighter, cheering from day to day, until they become the recognized necessaries of daily life.

"We must have CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S goods on our table."
"I could not think of having breakfast without the AMERICAN BREAKFAST CEREALS."
"When travelling I always insist on having RAM LAL'S PURE INDIAN TEA, and BENSDORP'S ROYAL DUTCH COCOA has a fascination for me that no other Cocoa will supply."

These are some of the remarks repeated thousands of times daily, and why? Because the people that have used these goods know that they are the gems of all condiments. Other lines that are fast becoming prime favorites with our people are the celebrated brands of "MECCA" and "DAMASCUS" coffees. Although these goods have only been on the market for a short time, yet to-day we hazard the opinion that they are the most appreciated brands that are being offered to the public. This is the verdict of all the "leading grocers" who have used these goods.

CLERK'S CORNER.

THE first thing for a clerk to realize is the fact that every moment of the time between the regular opening and closing hours belongs to the proprietor—that as it is not his own he must use this time just as his employer would wish him to use it, says Mercantile Journal. The probabilities are the average storekeeper does not object to a clerk's relaxing for a few minutes occasionally, but a young man is unfortunate, indeed, if his employer permits or encourages his fooling away any time. The day will come when the young man who has an "easy boss" will wish he had worked for the meanest old "skin flint" that ever owned a store. Habits of carelessness are costly things, and they are incurable. And they are contagious. The only antidote, if you have gotten into a store where listlessness or carelessness is epidemic, is to get out of that store. A change of air is absolutely necessary to your business growth. No young man is proof against such an atmosphere.

Young men should aim to learn all there is to know about the business they happen to be in. Thousands of young men are working in stores whose aim and ambition is to get at something else. Some want to be lawyers. Some want another line of work. Unfortunately, some want something else just because they always think the work they are doing is the most disagreeable that could fall to a person's lot to do. There are two reasons for his doing willingly the tasks at hand as well as endeavoring to learn all he can about the business he happens to be engaged in. First, because even though he becomes a lawyer or engages in other business, he always finds it useful to be conversant with some other than his own particular line, and to have applied himself diligently to learning all he could he will find he has learned how to study effectively something else when the time comes. Then, secondly, thousands of young men fail to be what it was their youthful ambition to be. Some unfortunate obstacle arises to prevent their getting the proper education for a profession, or the opportunity does not come to make a change in the line of work. Then he has to continue to be what he is and was, and it needs no pointing out that he will be better off if he shall have applied himself diligently not only to performing his regular duties, but also to the task of learning all that it was possible for him to learn.

SOME BIG FIGURES.

On one of the cold, blustery days this winter, when business was quiet at the Tanglefoot office, one of the assistants of a mathematical turn of mind figured out that the output of Tanglefoot for 1895 was capable of catching 27,000,000,000 flies, which, if placed end to end, would reach round the earth at the equator 15 times, or from the earth to the moon and three-fourths of the way back.

HOW TO PRESERVE HONEY.

Honey has a great affinity for moisture, and if comb honey is stored in a damp atmosphere it will absorb the moisture through the slightly porous cappings and become thin and watery. The bulk of the honey will be so increased that it will burst the cells and ooze out. The honey may become so thinned that fermentation will set in. Cold is also detrimental to comb honey, causing it to candy in the cells. When comb honey is first taken from the hives it should be stored in a hot, dry atmosphere. A room in the south-east corner of a building where it will become very hot in the afternoon is a good place to store comb honey, as a correspondent in The Country Gentleman explains. The heating continues the ripening process, and if there are any unsealed cells of honey the honey in them becomes thicker and riper instead of thinner.

Down in the cellar is where the ordinary purchaser of comb honey is almost sure to put it. No place could be more undesirable. Dryness and warmth are the requisites for keeping comb honey. As ordinarily kept, comb honey will candy before spring, but by keeping it in a warm atmosphere it will not candy and will really improve with time.

LITTLE STORE WORRIES.

A CONTRIBUTOR to The Detroit Evening News Weekly tells in a humorous fashion of the petty ills with which the average grocer must contend. "A merchant," he declares, "ought to possess an ample supply of good nature and patience, as not a day will pass in business life but that these qualities will be called into requisition. The wants of some customers are very peculiar, and their tendency to sensitiveness must be duly considered, otherwise the dealer is liable to lose their patronage. I cite a few examples which came under my observation recently :

"A man comes into the store and says, 'I want some sugar.' When asked how much, he replies, 'I guess about four or five pounds.' It was, of course, necessary to inquire what kind of sugar he wished. 'I guess they want white,' he responds. 'Now, how many pounds did you say?' 'I guess three pounds will do.' After this he states, 'I want some coffee, I guess.' Upon being asked how much coffee he required, his answer came, 'I guess one pound will do.' 'But we have coffee for 35 cents, 30 cents and 25 cents per pound ; which do you prefer?' Again the hesitating response, 'I guess you may put one and a half or two pounds 30-cent coffee.'

"A lady comes into the store and enquires, 'Have you any nice, fresh butter?' 'Who made it?' 'Is it salty?' 'When did you get it?' 'How much will this piece weigh?' Upon being informed that it weighed one and three-quarter pounds, she replies, 'I guess one and a half pounds is all I want; if our folks do not like it you will have to take it back.' After this she asks, 'Have you any fresh fish?' Upon being told that we have, she enquires, 'When were they caught?' 'Do you know that they are fresh?' 'Where do they come from?' 'When did you get them?' 'How much will this one weigh?' 'Two pounds'—— but 'I only want one and a half pounds ; I will have to go where I can get what I want.' Exit.

"Here is another somewhat similar instance. The customer asks, 'Have you any fresh bread?' 'How long have you had it?' 'When was it baked?' etc. The tricks of the trade, so-called, are not all on one side, and the experience of a merchant has a wide range. It requires a level head to meet all the demands made upon him from day to day, especially if his customers 'guess' at things they are supposed to know. It is not an infrequent occurrence to have a man come in with, say, a sixty-pound firkin of butter, which he wishes to exchange for groceries, and after being advised that it will be accepted, but that he can have only ten pounds of sugar in this deal, he takes the sugar and a due bill for the balance payable in goods. He comes along the next day, however, when the proprietor is out and gets the entire balance in sugar from the clerk, not showing up again for perhaps six months. I have no doubt many merchants have had similar experiences, and in many instances not only amusing but absurd ones. However, it is necessary to make the best of them and to cater to the fancies or eccentricities of customers."

WHO OWNS MONTREAL'S HARBOR?

WHO directs or controls the harbor of Montreal? is a question that many people would like answered.

Until a short time ago it was thought that the Harbor Commissioners appointed by the Government were the gentlemen endowed with the necessary authority. Latterly, however, there have been occurrences which tend to create the belief that the firm of D. Torrance & Co. have just as much authority as the Harbor Board.

Business men generally, who have read up the Canadian exports, know that the port of Bristol takes a lot of Canadian cheese. Until last summer this trade was handled by the Dominion Line, which docks its steamers near the central portion of the harbor. Last summer the firm of Elder, Dempster & Co., which had previously leased to the Dominion Line, appointed Hasting, Ronald & Co. as their Montreal agents, and took over the Bristol service for themselves from D. Torrance & Co. They were given a dock away down in the east end of the harbor, over three miles from where the cheese dealers have their offices and warehouses. When there was no room at the Dominion dock the trade did not object to carting the goods down, but when, as often happened, there was plenty of space to birth the Bristol boat at the latter's dock they thought that it should be done. When they asked the reason they were informed that D. Torrance & Co. asked a tax for each steamer in addition to the regular wharfage dues that the boat would have to pay anyway. Hasting, Ronald & Co. did not see their way clear to contribute to the revenue of D. Torrance & Co. in this manner, and accordingly the cheese had to be carried three miles from William and St. Peter streets in the boiling summer sun, and suffered in consequence. Accordingly, this spring the Board of Trade, and through them the Harbor Commissioners, were appealed to. The latter, after due consideration, decided that last summer's arrangements could not be interfered with, but that when there was a vacant space the harbor master would be authorized to berth the Bristol boats nearer the centre of the harbor. This only strengthens the belief that the commissioners are not the supreme authority in the harbor.

One would have thought that the harbor master, if he is such, could utilize all vacant spaces at the docks to the best advantages of the commerce of the port, without consulting the interests of any private firm of steamship agents.

A HINT FOR THE SALESMAN.

"SILLY BILLY" was the acquired name of a young man who did a good deal of heavy loafing about the country grocery store of a friend of mine. He wasn't half as silly as he looked, but, owing to a power of imitation he possessed, often startled one by apparent acts of intelligence. But they were really accidental, after all, and Billy could hardly be considered strictly reliable in his probable acts in any given case.

One day my friend had been detained very late, waiting for a clerk to come back from dinner, and he bethought him to let Bill "tend store" for a few minutes, as a customer was hardly likely to happen in at that time of day.

"If anyone comes in tell them to wait for Jim, or," he added laughing, "wait on him yourself, if you can ; you remember how I addressed that last customer, didn't you?"

Although the proprietor had himself forgotten the manner of said "address," when he thoughtlessly made this remark, Billy had not, by any means, as the sequel showed.

The neighborhood, as a whole, in this vicinity, were a hearty, bluff, breezy lot, the single recognized exception being the new school-mistress, who had been on duty but ten days, and who now happened to drop in to make some small purchase.

Here was Silly Billy's chance to acquit himself handsomely in his new trust, and recalling with great minuteness the manner of greeting the last customer that had called, he advanced with a broad smile on his face add exclaimed heartily :

"Hello, old man! Glad to see ye—give us your flipper. What can I stick ye for today?"

That's an extreme case, to be sure, yet there are hundreds of clerks who handle their customers with hardly less want of taste and tact than did Silly Billy. Imitation is a doubtful virtue and a dangerous one to use. "Adaptability" is a different faculty. The really good salesman instinctively sizes up a customer and addresses him in conformity to the results of his quick decision as to "how to take him." The vain, pompous buyer demands a vastly different treatment from that which would be proper towards the modest, intelligent little fellow just behind him. The reasoning which will sell goods to one sort of individual will utterly fail of doing so in the case of the next customer, perhaps.

In a way, pleasing customers and inducing them to buy may be compared to catching fish. You must know how "deep" to fish. You must know the "kind" they are. You must know what hook to use. You must know how to bring them to land after you've hooked them. Put yourself in the customer's place, and then do unto him as you would that he would have done unto you.—Clifton S. Wady.

THE DUTY OF BUSINESS MEN.

CANADA will in a few weeks be in the throes of a general election campaign. The responsibilities of the business men of the country are great on all such occasions, but probably never before in the history of the Dominion were they as great as they are now.

Government by party there always will be; and it is necessary that such should be. The evil arises when party is given the first place: when the country and the business interests of the country are made subservient to party exigencies.

The Parliament which has just passed out of existence by lapse of term has been one of the weakest since Confederation: It was marked by its preponderance of the professional politician of the ward type. And what was the character of the House became, during the last year or two, to a large extent, the character of the Cabinet.

Just as there is a preponderance of the ward politician element in Parliament, or any other governing body, just as surely is there an absence of that practical business element so necessary for wise legislation.

The retiring Parliament has been no exception to the rule. Legislation in the interests of the business of the country it has ignored persistently, and when it has attempted legislation for the business interests its efforts have been so clumsy, crude and foolish that the merchants and manufacturers of the country have been goaded into indignation.

Its sins of commission are bad enough, but its sins of omission are even greater.

There is an universal desire among the business men of the Dominion to make the next Parliament more like what it should be, and as a result we see a large number of mercantile men being nominated by the respective parties for parliamentary honors. It is to be hoped that on election day the old party feeling will not be allowed to well up and drown the better instincts.

The question as to whether this or that candidate is a Grit or Tory should not be the determining factor. The matter of tariff is at least of secondary importance.

The question that ought to decide the vote is this: Is Mr. Blank possessed of practical business common sense? If at the party conventions for the nomination of candidates each merchant exerts his influence for the nomination of the desirable class of men he will probably be saved the humiliation of casting his ballot against his party.

Until the business men will vote for practical business men first and party second we can never expect to see the business interests of the country looked after as they should be. And then—it does not matter whether we have Conservative of whether we have Reformer in power at Ottawa—we shall see business men at the head of the business departments, and not the lamentable contrary as is now so much in evidence.

THE SUGAR SITUATION.

WITH the conditions as they are today in Cuba, it is not surprising that the statistical position of the sugar market should be so strong.

Under normal conditions Cuba is by far the largest cane sugar-producing country in the world. But on account of the civil war raging there the conditions are abnormal, for instead of yielding in the neighborhood of one million tons of cane sugar the crop of 1895-96 is only about 200,000 tons, a decrease of 81.70 per cent. compared with a year ago.

The total supply in the island, according to the latest statistics, is but 289,461 tons, against 1,044,445 tons in 1895 and 1,121,461 in 1894.

The United States, of course, largely depends on Cuba for its supply of raw cane sugar. But up to about the middle of the present month it had so far this year received over 55 per cent. less than for the same period in 1895, and over 72 per cent. less than in 1894. The estimated quantity afloat to the United States is 1,922 tons, against 22,000 tons in 1895, a decrease of about 90 per cent.

The cane sugar production of the world is estimated at 2,792,700 tons, against 3,529,849 tons in 1895, and of beet sugar at 4,270,000 tons, against 4,792,530 tons in 1895, so it will be observed that there is a decrease all round. The combined production of cane and beet sugar is 7,062,700 tons, against 8,322,379 tons in 1895, a decrease of 1,259,679 tons.

Last week there was a further appreciation of prices in both London and New York. In the former city on Monday April beets advanced 1½d. to 12s. 10½d., the highest point yet touched. In Canada there is a better demand to be noted, but there has been no change in prices beyond the fact that one of the refineries is trying to get one-sixteenth more for yellows than it was a week ago.

ADVANCE IN BANANAS.

A sudden firmness has seized the banana market during the last few days. The cause is primarily two-fold.

At this season of the year an increase in the demand is looked for, and while this naturally has a tendency to stiffen prices, yet the firmness which has characterized the market during the past few days is due more to the lightness of deliveries than the quantity that is wanted.

Steamers arriving in New York have but about half their usual cargoes of bananas on board, and as a result "firsts" have sold at the ship's side as high as $1.50 per bunch.

At least one of the reasons for the lighter supplies is alleged to be an understanding among the importers whereby the heavy imports and low prices of the last season or two shall not be repeated.

In Toronto bananas are about 25c. per bunch higher than they were a week ago.

LIKELY TO HAVE A BANKRUPTCY LAW.

The business men in the United States, like those in Canada, have for years been trying to induce Congress to pass a bankruptcy law. But time and again have they failed in their purpose. The prospect of securing the desideratum is now, however, brighter then it has been for some years, at any rate, the Judiciary Committee of the House having favorably reported what is known as the Torrey Bankruptcy Bill.

This bill is a comprehensive measure, and much care and thought is exhibited in its preparation. As the opposition to it is weak it seems a foregone conclusion that it will at least pass the House. How it will fare in the Senate we are not in a position to state.

Although a United States measure, the bill is of more or less interest to Canadians, and particularly those who are favorable to a bankruptcy law for the Dominion. It is, therefore, in order for us to outline some of its principal provisions.

Two descriptions of bankrupts are provided for under the bill: voluntary and involuntary. A voluntary bankrupt is described as one who petitions to be and is adjudged such; an involuntary bankrupt is one who has been adjudged such in a suit brought by his creditors. Anyone except corporations, irrespective of whether they owe more or less than $1,000, may become a voluntary bankrupt. Persons, firms and corporations (except farmers and wage-earners) who owe $1,000 and more, and have committed an act of bankruptcy, according to the evidence in a fair and impartial trial, before a jury if desired, may be adjudged bankrupts upon the petition of creditors.

There are nine grounds upon which a debtor may be thrown into bankruptcy by his creditors. Briefly, however, an act of bankruptcy by a debtor consists of conduct calculated to defraud the creditors, or insolvency followed by a protracted default of payments due, or a failure to prevent an equitable distribution of the estate.

A unique feature of the bill is that it provides for the voluntary bankruptcy of wage-earners and farmers. Whatever may be the wisdom of this provision, especially as far as the wage-earner is concerned, it obviously prevents the charge of class legislation being levied against the bill.

A petition can be filed against a debtor who has committed an act of bankruptcy by three creditors who together have unsecured claims for over $500; if there are less than twelve creditors, one of them holding such a claim may file the petition.

One of the most commendable features of the bill is that which forbids preferences being given, and those which have been given may be set aside if proceedings intervene within four months after they have been given.

A petition for a discharge may be filed by a bankrupt, not a corporation, after two and within the next four months after the adjudication or conditionally within the next six months, but not afterwards. The discharge will be granted unless the bankrupt has been convicted of having committed some one of the acts forbidden by the bill, namely, given a preference which has not been surrendered, knowingly made a false statement in writing for the purpose of obtaining credit, made a fraudulent transfer of his property, or fraudulently destroyed or neglected to keep books or records showing his financial condition. Discharges fraudulently obtained may be set aside upon application two years after they were granted.

DECLINE IN MAPLE PRODUCTS.

The steady decline in the price of maple products this spring in the face of a largely decreased output in the country has been a surprise to a good many.

Prices have declined over 1 to 1½c. per lb. since the first receipts came to hand, yet reports from the very finest sections in the Eastern Townships show unmistakably that the yield will not average quite one pound to the tree this spring against considerably over a pound last spring. For this season many consider that prices have about reached bed rock.

WELLAND CANAL DELAY.

ANOTHER forcible demonstration of the necessity of a larger representation of business men in the Dominion Cabinet is the decision of the Federal Government not to open the Welland Canal for traffic until next Saturday.

Their reason for this decision they alone know, for the mercantile community are completely at a loss to understand the delay.

The worst sufferers are the grain and produce exporters at Montreal, Toronto and other big centres. They have contracted space on the first steamers outward from the St. Lawrence and if the Government sticks to its very leisurely course in regard to the Welland Canal they will have to pay for space without being able to use it, as they can't get their shipments down in time unless the canal is opened before the 25th.

Surely our Canadian season of navigation is short enough without the officials of the Department of Railways and Canals making it any shorter than it is.

The Montreal Corn Exchange had a hot meeting in regard to the matter, on Tuesday last, and passed the following strong resolution, which it is hoped will wake the Government up without further delay:

That in view of the fact that the necessities of the trade demand that the Welland Canal be opened each year not later than April 20, the Montreal Corn Exchange Association has received with alarm and regret the intimation that it may not be ready for traffic this year before May 1.

That this association fears that the Government does not appreciate the serious consequences that will ensue to parties concerned if the canal remains closed until so late a date. That as in past years grain exporters have chartered Canadian inland craft that wintered on Lake Ontario to load grain at Toledo for export from Montreal, and that as these craft cannot reach that port until the Welland Canal be open, they cannot, if such opening be delayed until May 1, or a week later than usual, and consequently the ocean steamers chartered to receive their cargoes (which are even now at Quebec or in the river) will be delayed until about May 10, to their most serious disadvantage, and the probable loss of one trip this season.

That such delay in the arrival of grain cargoes here will cause grave disappointment and liability for loss by grain exporters not being able to ship Toledo corn to fulfil their spring contracts by first ship.

That the delay in opening the Welland Canal will also hinder Canadian vessels reaching Fort William to remove Manitoba grain therefrom, said grain being under contract for early May shipment from Montreal, and such removal would relieve the pressure for storage at the Fort William elevators, which are now so full that they can receive no grain from the interior.

That the Montreal Corn Exchange Association, therefore, emphatically urges upon you the imperative necessity of ordering that strenuous and extraordinary efforts be used to have the Welland Canal opened at the earliest possible date.

THE EARLY CLOSING MOVEMENT.

The early closing movement in Montreal is spreading. The committee have received notification that the Councils of St. Henri and Ste. Cunegonde are in favor of the early closing movement. The aldermen in Mile End, owing to the majority of the merchants being against the movement, have decided not to bring the matter before the Council. The committee have decided to take it up again at a future date. To celebrate the coming into force of the early closing movement, it has been decided to hold a banquet early in June in the Richelieu Hotel, at which Mr. O. M. Auge, M.P.P., who has done so much for the movement, will be the guest of the clerks. The Mayor and City Council will also be invited, and it is expected that the Hon. Mr. Chapleau, the Lieut.-Governor of Quebec, will be present.

REDUCTION IN BUTTER AND LARD TUBS.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Woodenware Association of Canada was held in Toronto last week, when Mr. E. B. Eddy was elected president, and Mr. H. S. Cane, vice-president.

Lard tubs were reduced 15c. per dozen, bringing 50-lb. tubs down to $3.50 per dozen, and 60-lb., $3.85.

An extensive reduction was also made in the price of spruce butter tubs, as will be seen from the following old and new lists:

	Old list.	New list.
10-lb. tubs	$1 70	$1 55
20 "	2 60	2 25
30 "	3 00	2 85
50 "	3 60	3 12

A proportionate reduction was also made in the price of nests of butter tubs. A new 70-lb. spruce butter tub was listed at $4 25.

These changes apply to the territory east of Sudbury. The only change in Manitoba, the Territories and British Columbia is a slight reduction in the price of butter tubs.

MONTREAL GROCERS' CLERKS' ASSOCIATION.

The grocery clerks of Montreal are commencing to realise that unless they belong to the association the chance of getting redress is limited. The society within the past short time have been making considerable headway, and at every meeting there are always a number of candidates for admission. President Jos. P. Beauvais presided at a meeting of the committee held in St. Joseph's Hall Sunday last. Twelve candidates were admitted. Mr. Petitjean, dramatist, laid before the committee the lines of a drama to be taken from French-Canadian history. It was agreed to have the whole matter up before the next general meeting of the society. It was decided to celebrate their patron saint, St. Antoine, by a church parade on the 14th of June.

A CHANCE FOR CLERKS.

The Riddell Manufacturing Co., Winnipeg, are offering prizes to the clerks who sell the largest quantity of their biscuits. The competition commenced March 1, and closes June 1. The prizes are: First, bicycle, value $100; second, suit of clothes; third, gold locket.

THE TRADE SALES PERMANENT.

THE trade sales of all kinds of groceries have come to stay, or at least a very determined effort is to be made to keep them going.

As THE CANADIAN GROCER noted, the first one came off last week. The next will be held on the 6th of May, and the following circular has been sent out in connection with it that will be interesting to buyers :

MONTREAL, April 20th, 1896.

GENTLEMEN,—It is our intention to establish monthly trade sales of groceries, canned goods, dried fruit, nuts, etc., in connection with our regular fruit sales. The writer claims not only responsible financial support, but that he can command and secure the attendance of first-class buyers, people who appreciate the value of goods that may be offered and are able to pay cash. In order to make this a perfectly legitimate business transaction, in which both buyers and sellers will have perfect confidence, we have undertaken and will strictly adhere to the terms of sale, a copy of which please find herewith. Our next sale will be held on Wednesday, 6th May, at 10 o'clock a.m., and should you have any lines you wish to offer, please send particulars on or before the 1st inst., so that we may catalogue the same. Our commission of 5 per cent and proportion of advertising covers all charges. Account sales and proceeds are rendered 48 hours after sale.

Yours faithfully,
C. E. THURSTON,
Auctioneer.

A CONTEMPLATED RACE.

A bicycle road race is pending between teams representing the wholesale grocery houses of Davidson & Hay and the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd. The date is not yet fixed, but it will be when W. H. Seyler, of the latter firm, has mastered the wheel—the wheel at present being master of him—and is fit for racing.

TWO GOOD ORDERS FOR CANNED GOODS.

W. Boulter & Sons have just secured a couple of nice orders on foreign account. One is from London, Eng., and is for 8,000 cans of 3-lb. tomatoes, 1,000 gallon tomatoes, 5,000 3-lb. tins of apples and 2,000 gallon apples. The other order is from a Western States city, and is for one carload of gallon apples.

THE PRICE OF SUGAR.

THE CANADIAN GROCER, printed at Toronto, in an article on the sugar market, points out that a comparison of the Canadian and United States prices is just now peculiarly interesting. * * * As THE GROCER, which is the leading trade paper in its line in Canada, points out, the price of sugar is less in Canada than in the United States, which has the same sort of a fiscal problem to settle as Canada has, and the Canadian sugar is a better article than that sold in the United States. Then, what THE GROCER does not point out, because that is not its business, the refining in Canada of the sugar consumed in Canada, means the maintenance in Canada of a considerable industry, not only in the refineries themselves, but in the works subsidiary to them, such as cooperages, etc. It means the consumption of much coal mined in Canada. It means the coming to Canadian ports of a large number of ships, which are available for the carriage to other countries of lumber and other rough freights. And all this means employment for capital as well as labor, employment for workers skilled and unskilled and a perceptible measure of prosperity to the localities where the refineries are situated.—Montreal Gazette, April 18.

LEAVING A MARGIN.

WHAT an easy, simple thing it sounds this "leaving a margin," and yet how difficult most of us find it to do ! says Home Queen. For it does not only mean beginning just where we ought to begin, but stopping at the exact time and place we ought to stop at. Notwithstanding the French proverb about the "first step," that we hear quoted so frequently, most of us have by experience discovered for ourselves that it is more often the last step that has proved the most costly, that lands us in difficulties, and prevents the proper margin being left. There are some people who pride themselves upon always keeping intact the margin that they have drawn for themselves, and for others—a margin, it must be confessed, that is apt to vary in width, according to taste and circumstances.

Too often the wide margin is laid down exclusively for our own footsteps—a sort of private path, over which there is no right of way for the public—and a much narrower one is provided for the footsteps of our neighbors. It may be only a very narrow margin that we can manage, but that does not matter. To find that you have any at all left is a good and pleasant discovery to make at the end of the year. It is not, as we said before, an easy thing to do, and yet it is one that all should resolve and attempt to do, and which every one of us would strive hard to accomplish, if he or she realized the way in which debt accumulates when once the income has been overstepped.

It is astonishing how quickly debt increases. At first it may, and generally does, appear a very small affair, that we shall easily settle before the year is out, and about which we needn't trouble, so we put it aside for awhile ; but when we look at it again it seems to have grown in some unaccountable manner. How or why we cannot understand. Still, there the fact is, and it will get bigger and heavier, unless we exert ourselves to remove it. To do this will be slow, painful and laborious work ; still, it can be done, though only by stern resolve, and much patient self-denial. Delay in these matters is fatal, for the longer the work is put off, the heavier the debt grows, and the more painful and more humiliating the effort to pay it off.

Prevention is better than cure ; therefore, it is far wiser to draw a margin in our expenditure, and to keep strictly within its limits, than to carelessly overstretch it, and have to retrench and retrace, if possible, our footsteps. If the necessity of this were carefully impressed upon the mind of every boy and girl from the very first day they were given an allowance ; if they were, in fact, taught to look upon a debt, however small, as dishonest and dishonorable, how far happier it would be, both for themselves and their families, in the future.

It is not necessary for them to leave a wide margin in each year's account. A small one will be sufficient, for we do not want to teach our young people to hoard, nor to check the natural generosity of youth. We want them merely to avoid the pitfalls of extravagance, and the shame and ignominy that follow so closely in the wake of debt. To be thrifty without being mean ; to be generous, but with their own, not other people's goods, is what we ought to teach our boys and girls, both by precept and example. The lesson is one that can be most easily learned in youth, for with advancing years it grows more and more difficult, until at length it becomes an almost impossible task.

The shame and misery at first caused by getting into debt grow less and less, and at last there sets in the moral hardness and blindness that prevent them from really feeling the disgrace or seeing the wrong they are inflicting upon themselves and others. If it is the last step that is so fatal in crossing the margin, it is equally true that, in retracing our footsteps to regain the limits within which we ought to abide, it is the first step that proves so hard to take. Though this first backward step is difficult, the last forward one is easy enough—indeed, too easy—for the one is taken with thought care and due deliberation, while the other is slipped into almost unawares, thoughtlessly, heedlessly and often unconsciously.

BRITAIN'S EXPORTS OF HAMS AND BACON.

According to the British Board of Trade returns, the British imports of bacon and hams stood thus in the years 1893 to 1895 :

WHOLESALE GROCERS

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

A further improvement in the volume of business is to be noted this week. It is, however, practically in sugar that the increased demand is to be noted. Business is not, however, what may be termed active, but it is gratifying to note that it is gradually tending that way. Another satisfactory feature is in regard to payments, which are more prompt than they have been for some weeks. In canned goods corn is still attracting the most attention, although the demand for it is scarcely as brisk as it was a week or two ago. Wholesalers have been freer buyers of tea during the past week on account of the lower prices that have ruled. The effect of the free arrival of maple syrups is seen in a smaller demand for sugar, syrups and molasses. In foreign dried fruits there is not much that is new to report beyond the fact that Sultana raisins are dearer in Smyrna. California fruits have a hardening tendency on account of reported damage by frosts. The butter market is weak, and the same may be said in regard to eggs.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for corn is not as brisk as it was, although this commodity is still occupying the chief attention. Tomatoes are moving fairly well. The scarcity of peas is becoming more pronounced, some of the houses being cleaned out altogether. There is very little doing in canned fruits. The demand for canned salmon is smaller than it was a week or two ago, probably owing to the slightly cooler turn the weather has taken. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 60 to 70c.; peas, 95c. to $1 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2.00; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.35 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.10 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, 7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

COFFEE.

The demand is still moderate only, and the market generally is lacking in interest. We quote green in bags: Rio, 18c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

Domestic syrups of all kinds are scarce, some of the refineries having none of any kind to offer. The demand is not as brisk as it was a few weeks ago, people turning their attention more to maple syrup. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The market is quiet and uninteresting. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 35c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The market has been much more active during the past week, the wholesale houses reporting the sale of an increased number of carload lots. There is still, however, room for further improvement in the demand. The outside markets continue to gather strength. In London, beets advanced 1½d. to 12s. 10½d. for April, the highest point touched for that month's delivery. In Canada the market is firm, but there has been no change, except it be that one of the refineries is asking 1-16c. more for yellows, and it claims to be getting it. Wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellows, 3⅞c. up; Demerara in bags is being offered at $3.75 to $3.85 per 100 lbs.

SPICES.

Cream of tartar has taken another upward turn on the primary markets, being quoted 5s. higher. No change has been made here. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

Business is moderate and prices unchanged. The ruling price continues to be 3½ to 3⅝c. for ordinary, and 5¼c. for Japan.

NUTS.

Business continues quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Brazil nuts, 14 to 15c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10⅜ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

Young Hysons have been active during the past week owing to the extremely low prices which shippers have decided to accept rather than carry over the teas for another season. Stocks in first hands are now pretty well cleaned out. There have been a few clearing-up sales of Japans at low prices, shippers having accepted from 2 to 3c. per pound less than they refused for the same goods a few months ago. China blacks are neglected. Indian and Ceylon teas are slightly easier in the better grades. The wholesale houses are experiencing a fair demand for Indian and Ceylon teas, and Young Hysons at from 10 to 12½c. per pound. Ruling prices to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

Sultana raisins are cabled 3s. higher in Smyrna owing to reported damage to growing crop by frosts. The Toronto market is quiet and unchanged, 5½ to 6c. being the ruling price.

Currants are in fairly good demand at unchanged prices. We quote: Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¾ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Off-stalk 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; selected, 6 to 6¼c., and layers, 6½c.

There has been a hardening tendency in some kinds of California fruits owing to reported serious damage to the growing crop by recent heavy frosts. Prices have not, however, yet quotably advanced. Shippers at the Coast write this week to the effect that they are disappointed that the price of some of the dried fruits have not advanced, and are at a loss to understand why it is. Stocks, they report, are small, especially in prunes and peaches, while loose muscatels have been practically all cleaned up on the Coast. On the Toronto market the demand for California dried fruits have fallen off slightly during the week. We quote: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 6½ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.; loose muscatels, 4½ to 6½c. per lb.

Prunes are in fair request, and the demand during the last week has evinced a disposition to turn from the California article to the Bosnia. We quote: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c., "U," 102 to lb., 6½ to 6¾c.; California prunes, 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to Eleme figs are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Eleme, 14 oz., 9 to 10½c.; 10 lb., 9½ to 12½c.; 12 lb., 12½c.; 28 lb., 15c.

Dates still rule quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges are in fair demand, with the enquiry principally for Valencias, they now showing the best value. Figures are quoted a little lower on California oranges, but this is on account of the difference in sizes and not from any weakness in the market. The lemon market continues to gather strength, prices being about 25c. higher. Higher prices are looked for as the weather gets warmer. Apples are scarce and dearer, with the demand limited, being principally for table fruit. South American cabbages are on the market this week, and strawberries and cucumbers are arriving daily. We quote: Lemons—Messina, $2.50 to $3 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $3.75 to $4.50, according to size; ditto seedlings, $3 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $5.50 to $6; Jumbo's, 420's, $6.75 to $7; ditto, 714's, $6.75 to $7; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $1.85 to $2; ditto, boxes, $3 75 to $4. Bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5.50 a sack; apples, Spies, $4 to $4.50, Ben Davis, $3 to $3.50; Russets, $3 to $3.10; domestic onions, 75c. per bag; Spanish onions, 75c. per small crate; pineapples, 25 to 35c.; sweet potatoes, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; cranberries, $5 to $8 per bbl., and $2.50 to $3 per case, according to quality.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of dairy butter continue to increase and prices to weaken. Stocks are not accumulating, however, all coming in being taken. Receipts of creamery butter are heavy in both tubs and pound prints, and prices rule easier. We quote: Dairy large rolls, 14 to 15c., and pound prints, 16 to 17c. Creamery butter—Tubs, 20 to 21c.; do., pound prints, 19 to 20c.

CHEESE—Is quiet and unchanged at 8 to 9c. for late makes.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Quiet and unchanged at 90c. to $1 per bushel.

DRIED APPLES—No change; demand being dull and prices as before at 3½ to 4c. in a jobbing way.

EVAPORATED APPLES — Demand light and prices unchanged at 5½ to 6c.

EGGS—Prices are much lower than a week ago, now ruling at 10 to 10½c. The demand is fairly good.

HONEY—The season is about over. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—There is still nothing coming forward. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

POTATOES—The market is a little weaker on account of freer street deliveries, and prices on track are nominally 20c.; out of store 25 to 30c. is the idea. A firmer market is, however, looked for by the trade.

MAPLE SYRUP—Is coming in pretty freely, and the demand is good. Wine-gallon tins are selling at 70 to 75c.; Imperial gallon at 90 to 95c.; 5-gallon tins at 80 to 85c. per gallon.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The demand for smoked meats is moderate, and prices unchanged. Dressed hogs are a little higher owing to the cooler weather, $4.50 to $4.75 being the idea as to price.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5¾ to 6c. for carload lots, and 6¼c. for small lots; backs, 7¼ to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS — Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7 to 7¼c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 8½ to 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 9½ to 10c.; small hams, 10c.; backs, 9 to 9½c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8c.; tubs, 8½c.; pails, 8¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $14.00; Canadian short-cut, $14 to $14.50; clear shoulder mess, $12; shoulder mess, $11.50.

FISH.

Trade is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote as follows: Skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; haddock, 5 to 6c.; Labrador herring, $3.25 to $3.50 half barrel and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; Newfoundland herring, $2.50 per half barrel, and $4.50 to $4.75 per barrel; fresh water salt herring, $3 per barrel; blueback herring, 4c.; pike, 6 to 7c. per lb.; flitched cod, 5c.; finnan haddies, 7c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 11c.; ditto, lengthwise, 10c.; large halibut, 12 to 15c.; Restigouche salmon, 20 to 25c.; British Columbia salmon, 14 to 15c.; mackerel, 20 to 25c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; black bass, 9 to 10½c.; white fish, 7c.; salmon trout, 7c.; Lake Superior whitefish, 7½c.; Lake Winnipeg whitefish, 7 to 7½c.

CLEMES BROS., TORONTO

SALT.

The activity noted last week has been maintained at unchanged prices. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.50 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN—Street receipts are still small. We quote: White wheat, 79 to 80c.; red, 77 to 78c.; goose, 58 to 60c.; barley, 34 to 38c.; oats, 26 to 27½c.; peas, 52 to 54c.; buckwheat, 37 to 38c.

FEED—Baled hay is unchanged at $14.25 to $14.75 for No. 1 and $12.50 to $13.50 for No. 2.

FLOUR—Business is a little better than it was a week ago, but it is far from satisfactory. We quote: Straight roller, $3.60 to $3.65, carload lots, Toronto freights, and $3 85 to $4 in job lots; Manitoba patents, $3.75 to $4.10 per bbl.; Ontario patents, $3.85 to $4.05 per bbl.; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.60 to $3.75.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Business is still only moderate. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.95 to $3; rolled wheat, $2.25 to $2.30 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

SEEDS.

Trade has been active during the past week, and prices are higher on both red clover and timothy. We quote jobbing price as follows: Red clover, $4.90 to $5.40 per bushel; Alsike, $3.50 to $4 80; timothy, $2 to $2.25.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES — Unchanged, with limited demand. Dealers pay 5c. for No. 1, 4c. for No. 2, 3c. for No. 3. Cured hides quoted at 5¾ to 5⅞c.

CALFSKINS—6c. for No. 1 and 5c. for No. 2. Sheepskins are firm at $1 to $1.25.

WOOL—Trade dull and prices unchanged. No fleece offering, but little unwashed wool sold at 12½c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras, 22½ to 23c.

TALLOW—Is weak at 3¾ to 4½c. for rendered; 1¼c. for rough, and 2½c. for caul.

PETROLEUM.

Business is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16½c.; carbon safety, 18c.; Canadian water white, 18c.; American water white, 21c.; Pratt's astral, 22c.

Sanderson, of Wroxeter, at 90c. on the doller. Mr. Sanderson will continue the business.

Bananas are scarce and dearer.

The warmer weather has put a stop to the export trade in turnips.

Eggs are down to 10 to 10½c. per dozen, and butter is 1c. per pound cheaper.

Bermuda onions are on the market this week. They sell at about $2 per crate.

California dried fruits are firmer on the Coast on account of reported damage by frost.

Red clover is 10 to 25c. per bushel dearer, and timothy seed shows an advance of 25c. per bushel.

A cable to P. L. Mason & Co. announces an advance of 3s. in the price of Sultana raisins in Smyrna.

F. W. Hudson & Co. are putting on the market a new line of Canadian grown White Burley leaf tobacco, "Red Cross" brand.

The usual annual spring agreement to close at 5 o'clock on all week days, except Saturdays, and then at 1 p.m., is being circulated for signature among the wholesale grocery houses. A Yonge-street house, it might be noted, has not departed from this custom all the winter.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 23, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THOUGH trade usually brightens up in the week preceding the opening of inland navigation, the past eight days have been devoid of feature. There has been a moderate movement of staple groceries, but it has been confined to the filling of old orders, and the volume of new business is small. The frightful condition of the country roads in Quebec and Eastern Ontario no doubt is largely responsible for this; also the disastrous floods, which have interfered with communication in many districts. As to market features, they are few, and hardly worthy of special mention.

SUGAR.

The strong tendency of the sugar market outside continues, but it has no effect on spot prices, for reasons that have been mentioned already in these columns. Both the raw and refined product has stiffened outside, but refiners here do not respond to the strength elsewhere. In fact, as THE CANADIAN GROCER pointed out last week, no advance is likely until the large stocks held in first and second hands are reduced. There is a fair enquiry, but nothing exceptional. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; bright yellows, 4 to 4¼c., and darker grades down to 3¾c.

SYRUPS.

The demand for syrups is slow, but stocks are small and prices hold firm at 2¼ to 3c. for bright and 1¾c. for dark grades.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market fails to show any marked activity. A few moderate contracts have been put through on both Montreal and Quebec account, forward importation at a big drop on the prices ruling from stock, but demand is extremely dull. This was shown clearly to-day when a cargo of Porto Rico via Boston was offered on this market at 31c., laid down, without finding a buyer up to this writing. The Guild prices are still the same: 36c. for Barbadoes, and 34 to 35c. for Porto Rico.

RICE.

The jobbing price in rice is unaltered as yet. We quote: Japan standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

The spice market has been quiet, and now that the warm weather has set in little improvement is looked for. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.

COFFEE.

There has been no improvement in the coffee market, the demand being chiefly for small lots to fill actual wants. We quote: Rio, 16½ to 20c.; Maracaibo, 19 to 21c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29 to 32c.

TEAS.

The tea market, in a wholesale way, is as tame as it is possible to be, no important transactions being noted since our last. Neither is the jobbing demand particularly brisk, for buyers both large and small evidently are working down what stocks they have on hand before negotiating for fresh supplies. We quote: Young Hysons 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

California raisins have been well enquired for in a jobbing way, and very little has been offering from first hands during the past week. We quote values firm at 6½ to 7c. for 4-crown; 5½ for 3-crown, and 4¼ to 4½ for 2-crown loose muscatels.

Valencia raisins have continued scarce and firmly held, with a moderate enquiry. We quote: Ordinary, 4 to 4¼c.; fine, 4½ to 5c., and selected, 5¼ to 6c., with layers 6c.

Sultanas are unchanged at 5½c.

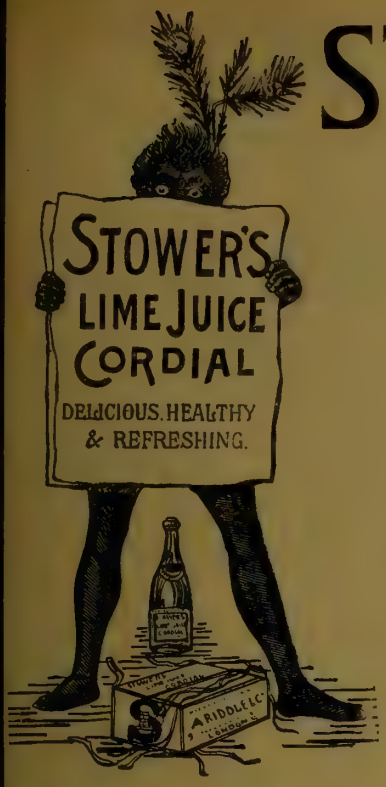
Currants were quiet and steady as last noted. We quote: Barrels, 4 to 4¼c.; half-barrels, 4½ to 5c., and cases, 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

California prunes were offering during the week, also Oregons, and have all been cleared off. Prices vary according to the grade, but we quote 6 to 12c. for Pacific Coast stock. There are no European prunes offering here at all, and what little the jobbers themselves have are wanted for their own trade. We quote: French, 5 to 5½c., and Austrian, 6 to 6½c.

Figs are quiet and dull. We quote: Bags, 4¼c.; ordinary boxes, 8½ to 9c., and fancy, 12 to 17c.

Dates are without change at 4½ to 5c.

NUTS.



There is only a small hand-to-mouth trade in these. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market is without striking feature, actual business passing being very small. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 85c.; corn, 70 to 80c.; peas, 95c. to $1 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.35 to $1.40; "Maple

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit trade is small. The only feature is the efforts of holders of what little oranges and lemons remain to get rid of what they have got before the direct steamers come in. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, 420's, $4.50 to $5, and 714's, $6. Lemons, $2 to $2.50. Grapes, $5 to $6 per keg. Apples, $2 to $4 per bbl. Dried do. 3½c. Evaporated do., 5¾ to 6½c. Spanish onions, 30 to 40c. per crate. Pineapples, 25 to 40c. as to size ; bananas, $1 to $2.

FISH.

The fish market is void of life of any kind and prices are nominally unchanged. We quote: Fresh haddock, 2⅞c. per lb.; fresh frozen B.C. salmon, 7 to 8c.; Manitoba whitefish, 7c.; dore, 7c.; trout, 7c.; tommy cods, 50 to 75c. Choice pickled Labrador herrings, $5.25; No. 1 N.S., $3 to $4; No. 1 green cod, $3.50 to $4 ; No. 2, $1.75 to $2; No. 1 haddock, $3 ; No. 1 large codfish, $6 ; No. 1 lake trout, $4 to $4.25 ; B.C. salmon, $10.50; No. 2 Labrador salmon, $13 ; No. 1 mackerel, $18.50; Loch Fyne herrings, 85c. per keg, and $11 per bbl.; No. 1 sardines, $4 50; No. 1 dried cod, $4 to $4.25; boneless cod, 6c. per lb. ; boneless fish, 3¼c.; boneless haddock, 5c.; shredded, 11c.; haddies, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.; bloaters, 90c. per box, and smoked herrings, 8 to 9c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

The easiness in pork continues and prices have recorded a further decline of 50c. per bbl. during the week. We quote : Canadian short cut, clear, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short cut, mess, $13 to $13.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 7½ to 9½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There have been liberal receipts of eggs during the past eight days, and prices have tumbled accordingly to 11½ to 12c., and are likely to go lower before the week is out.

BEANS—Have ruled weaker also, choice hand-picked pea beans selling in lots at 90 to 95c.

POTATOES—Have also declined in sympathy with other country produce, and sales of car lots have been made here at 28 to 30c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—Receipts of maple syrup have increased, but it can hardly go much lower. We quote : 50 to 55c. per tin for syrup, and 4½ to 5c. per lb. Sugar ranges from 7 to 7½c.

HOPS—Continue the same at 6 to 8c.

HONEY—Sales of comb honey have been made at 12c. for bright, and dark 10c.

ONIONS—Range from $1.60 for yellow up to $2.50 for red per bbl.

TALLOW—Is quiet, with sellers free in good sized lots at 5c.

HAY.

The hay market continues unsettled, and prices are irregular. No. 1 has been quoted all the way from $13 up to $14 per ton.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.

Manitoba flours are difficult to quote, but strong bakers' were offered to-day at $3.40 to $3.60. We quote : Winter wheat, $4 25 to $4.30 ; straight roller, $3.85 to $3 90 ; straght roller, bags, $1.85 to $1.90 ; extra, bags, $1.65 to $1.75.

Business in meal was very quiet. Rolled oats in car lots were offered at $2.75 to $2.85, and in a small way at $2.80 to $2.90. We quote : Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10 ; granulated, barrels, $3.10 to $3.20 ; rolled oats, barrels, $2.80 to $2.90 ; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.

There was no change in feed. Bran in car lots sold at $14 to $15, and shorts at $15 to $16 per ton. We quote: Bran, $14 to $15; shorts, $15 to $16 ; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market is quiet and unchanged. We quote 8⅞c. for finest. Butter has developed an easier feeling under increased receipts, sales of creamery being made at 20 to 20½c., and choice Townships, 17 to 18c.

ASHES.

The ash market is unchanged. We quote: First pots, $3.75; seconds, $3.50, and pearls, $5.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Canadian refiners still ignore the strength of both raw and refined sugar outside.

Contracting for imports of new molasses is still small and the tone easy, as offers of cargo lots at 30 to 31c. laid down without response shows.

Maple products show another decline in the eight days of ½ to 1c., but dealers think they have touched bottom.

Jobbers are cutting prices on oranges and lemons to clear up stocks by the time the direct steamers arrive.

Beattie & Elliott, 13 St. James street, have been appointed wholesale agents for Tetley's teas for Quebec city.

ST. JOHN AND HALIFAX MARKETS

Up to the hour of going to press, for some unexplained reason or other, neither the St. John nor Halifax market reports had reached this office. Consequently we are compelled to go to press without them.

LAST SEASON'S JAMAICA ORANGE CROP.

The largest crop of Jamaica oranges ever harvested was in this season of 1895-96. The figures :

	Boxes.	Barrels.
1891-92	8,468	34,439
1892-93	7,688	42,179
1893-94	5,165	20,261
1894-95	12,296	88,751
1895-96	83,140	192,173

These figures have been carefully compiled by James Golden, of I. Mercadante's importing house. They show that the receipts have been equal to 467,486 boxes this season, which is more than twice the quantity of last season and nearly as many as were received in the four years previous put together.

THE COUNTRY GROCER'S HARD LUCK.

I'D often heard of them before, but I never saw one until three or four days ago, writes "Stroller" in Grocery World. I mean these fellows who seem to have constant bad luck in everything they do. There are some people, you know, who, no matter what they do, are always having accidents or meeting with losses or some other misfortune.

This fellow does a grocery business in a little town in Virginia. He don't have much of a place, and I guess don't have much of a trade. When I went into his place he was sitting on a no-back bench with some other men. It had been raining, and these loafers had evidently been out in the rain, for their clothes were wet. The store was hot, and the stench from their clothes, together with the delightful perfume from the copious tobacco expectorations which they shot with unerring accuracy at the stove, filled the place with a smell that struck your olfactories as you entered like a bad egg.

The proprietor got up to talk to me as I went in. I asked him how business was.

"There ain't any," he said, "I ain't sold a dollar's worth the whole mornin'.

"It's just my luck, anyhow," he said, "I ain't never had a piece of good luck since I went in business. Something's always happening to me. First my wife goes and dies, and then I lose me pig.

"Just this morning," he went on, "I lost half a barrel of molasses and a lot of sugar."

"How was that?" I asked.

"Why, I was down cellar a-drawin' a gallon of molasses when a couple of tramps began to scrap outside the cellar window, and I went to look at 'em a minute. When I got back the wooden spigot had come out of the hole, and the molasses was a-runnin' over everything. Got in a lot of sugar and played the mischief with it.

"Just what I tell you," he went on. "It's nothin' but ornery hard luck. I saw that spigot was loose a week ago, and I says to meself 'I'll fix that when I git time,' an' I ain't never had the time. That's the way the thing goes."

I expressed some sympathy, though I didn't feel any, and thus encouraged, he continued his tale of woe.

"An' to make the thing worse," he said,

HUGH WALKER & SON, Guelph, Ont.

"there's some fellow opened a grocery store two streets below me here. He's got a lot of fancy fixings in his place, and the people's just a-flocking there. Here I've been here for fifteen years, and they turn their backs on me for him. I say it aint right!"

I looked around his store. No one could accuse him of having any "fancy fixings." His store was exactly the little, low-ceilinged, smoke-begrimed, musty and bad smelling country store that we expect to see in every place where the city hall is a blacksmith shop and the court house a little red school house.

While I stood there, this grocer's little boy stuck his head in the door.

"Pop," he yelled, "Smithson's horse has got in the yard again. You can't keep him out, for the gate's broke."

"There 'tis again," said the grocer, despairingly. "I've been agoin' to mend that gate a hundred times, but I never get time. I might as well give up; there's no luck here for me."

If I'd had my desire, I'd have kicked that grocer as hard as I could, clear across his store. I'd have made the lazy loafers who smelt his place up, clean off the stove and then "git." I believe by the time I got through with the establishment, the proprietor would have felt a little more like hustling. He wouldn't have sat down around the stove—or anywhere else—for some time, I'll warrant that.

LIBERAL BUSINESS-PAPER SPACE.

By Nath'l C. Fowler.

THE way you say a thing is as important as what you say. You'll waste your milk if you try to put a gallon into a quart measure.

You'll waste the good of advertising if you over-fill your space or don't use space enough.

If advertising is any good, and all good business men say it is, the good of it is in a good deal of it.

Half the business-paper advertisements occupy half enough space.

Folks are not obliged to read advertisements any more than they are to eat hash at a restaurant.

The successful hash-seller makes good hash and serves it well.

The successful advertiser has something to say, says it well, and serves it well.

You must make people read your advertisements. That's your part of the business.

If you don't use space enough for folks to see that you're advertising, you might just as well not advertise.

I don't own any trade paper. It doesn't make any difference to me whether you use much space, or little space. I am only telling you what experience has proven to be the correct method of publicity.

When advertising pays, it is made to pay.

Nothing will do anything unless made to do it.

Your name and address, with what you do for a living, in the trade paper, may bring some return, but there is no particular reason why it should.

The law of averages is safer to follow than the rule of exceptions.

What you think individually, may not be right.

What the majority think, stands some chance of being correct.

The fact that nearly all successful advertisers use plenty of space indicates that plenty of space pays proportionalely better than not enough space.

You have something to sell, it is your desire that somebody takes it away from you at your price. That's what you're in business for.

It's pretty hard to sell a dollar's worth of goods by using a cent's worth of telling space.

I am of the opinion that nearly every advertiser of small space will make his advertising pay more than twice as well by doubling his space.

Experience says so, and experience dosn't lie.

If folks don't see your advertisement, what's your advertisement good for?

How do you expect them to see it, if it's so small you have to hunt for it yourself?

Treat your advertising space as you do the sign on your building. Have it large enough for folks to know you're there.

Perhaps it will not pay you to use a full page, although the full page advertisers are the most prosperous.

I don't think less than a quarter of a page is worth more than quarter as much proportionately.

Of course the advertising solicitor wants you to increase your space. He wouldn't be much of a solicitor if he didn't. Because it pays him to have you increase your space, is no reason why it shouldn't pay you.

Too much of a good thing isn't profitable, that is, if too much of a good thing is possible, but there's no business sense of having too little of a good thing.

When you economize, it isn't good business to tell everybody about it.

Appearance of success means success.

When you cut your advertising space, you tell outsiders that something is the matter with the inside of your business.

Liberal advertising space is a sign of prosperity.

The attention of the trade is called to the offer of the Scientific Varnish Manufacturing Co. who make the celebrated "Scientific" stove enamel. During the next three months they offer to prepay charges to any point in Ontario on all orders for 3 doz. and over. This offer is made in order to introduce the goods to those who do not already handle them.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol are still offering those fine values in Ceylons and Assams at 17 to 18c. Their "Potmahoff" (registered) blend, in chests and acme cases, is a perfect half-dollar tea.

A ready seller at this season of housecleaning is Keen's Oxford blue, one of the best sellers in every grocery. Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, the agents, report that the enquiry is quite brisk.

"Yes, the hot spell created quite a demand for some goods," report Lucas, Steele & Bristol. "Our lemonade tablets and rennett lime are going with a rush. The latter is perfect for making junket, and retails at 25c. bottle."

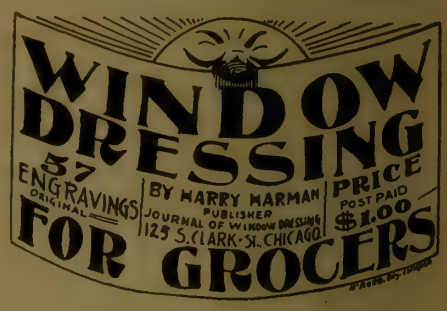
The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., claim there is nothing in the market that can approach their cleaned currants in point of quality and cleanliness. They will send samples of their two leading lines, "Morea" and "Royal Vonitza," to the trade on application.

Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, report an improved demand for Chas. Southwell & Co.'s jams and marmalades since the warm weather. This firm also handles lime juice and lemon squash, which will soon be seasonable for cooling drinks.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have again secured the wholesale agency for Hamilton of Pilgrim's summer beverages, comprising New York ginger ale, etc., etc. Their sales last season of these drinks were over 5,000 cases, and they are preparing to push things this.

Many of the general stores throughout the country sell nails. They will, therefore, be interested to know that H. S. Howland, Sons & Co. have issued attractive and complete cut nail and wire nail cards and will be pleased to mail them on application.

The charge brought against Mr. Coutts, produce dealer, of Tilbury, of obtaining from Peter Mongeon some straw by false pretence, was tried at Sandwich Saturday, and the accused discharged.



CALIFORNIA'S DAMAGED FRUITS.

Telegrams from California regarding the amount of the recent frost still come forward, and nearly every commission house has received several. The general purport of these dispatches is as follows: First crop of raisins gone. Black frost. Half of the remaining crop of Vacaville killed. Anderson and Sonoma counties frozen solid. Raisins strong and advancing. Prunes badly damaged. Grapes killed everywhere. One of the latest telegrams received here says that the frost of the 15th, followed by that of the 19th, damaged all fruits immensely, and that it is certain that the crop will be the lightest for years.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

ENGLISH-GROWN COFFEE.

The coffee plant is not one that would be expected to be suitable for cultivation in England from an economical point of view, but at a recent meeting of the Royal Botanic Society of London the secretary, Mr. J. B. Sowerby, drew the attention of the Fellows present to some coffee on the table which he had prepared from berries grown in the gardens of the society, and invited their judgment on its merits. The coffee was pronounced excellent, and Mr. Sowerby suggested that enterprising nurserymen might cultivate the berries in the same way as grapes and tomatoes and offer them as English coffee.

NOT WHAT SHE WANTED.

TWO pretty young women entered a large uptown grocery one evening recently, says The New York Sun. From their conversation it was evident that they belonged to some boarding school in the neighborhood, and had stolen out for a few moments to buy dainties, which they meant to smuggle into their rooms.

"There's one thing I don't like about the clerks in this store," said one of them, while they waited for the salesman, "and that's the way they insist on telling you that you don't want what you do want and that you do want what you don't want. Every time I come in here I have the same experience, and I'm just tired of it. The next time it happens I'm going to tell the clerk just what I think of him."

At that moment a clerk approached and asked the young women what they wanted. The one who had so much to complain about pointed at one of a row of cracker tins, and said:

"I want a pound of those."

"Oh, no, you don't," said the clerk, suavely, "you want some of these, or these here; they're all very nice."

The young woman threw a glance which said, "What did I tell you?" at her companion, and, turning to the clerk, said fiercely:

"No, I don't, anything of the kind. I want these and no others."

"I beg your pardon," he began, "I thought———"

"Never mind what you thought," said the young woman. "I guess I know what I want. Now just let me have a pound of these, please," and she turned to her companion with a look of triumph on her face which plainly meant, 'Didn't I squelch him?'"

"Very well, madam," said the clerk, humbly, "but may I ask whether they are for yourself?"

"Well, of all the impertinent questions ——" began the young woman, when her companion interrupted, and, turning to the clerk, said:

"Why do you ask?"

"Oh, because they're dog biscuits," replied the clerk, indifferently. "Still, of course, if you want them you can have them."

"Never mind," faltered the young woman who had insisted on having what she wanted. "I guess I don't want anything at all," and she strutted out of the store looking very much ashamed and followed by her companion, who was struggling to hide her laughter.

The clerk didn't say anything, but there was a satisfied smile on his face as he banged the cover down on the can of biscuit and walked away to wait on another customer.

AN EXCELLENT EARTH ROAD.

Greatly improved results in road building or repairing may be attained by any device that will prevent earth and water from mixing on the road bed, and much may be done in the way of improvement by a proper admixture of suitable earthy material, says a contemporary. The requirements of the material, says Engineer Haupt, are that it shall not be readily affected by moisture, temperature or pressure, which are the three principal destructive agencies. Clay is very sensitive to water and temperature, and has a high rate of absorption. Sand has little coherence and yields readily to pressure. Gravel has great mobility, due to its spheroidal form, but by mixing these in the proportion of sixteen parts of clay, twenty-two of sand and sixty-two of gravel, an impervious roofing may be laid, which, if under drained, will make an excellent earth road. The macadam and telford roads, when correctly made, are excellent, but as built by most supervisors in this country they are pseudo-morphs, unworthy their names.

When in the march of science the time comes for segregating the aluminum contained in the clay road into a hard, smooth, resisting medium covering its surface, we will then have a road metal, both in fact and name, which will solve the problem of the clay pit and give us a medium of transportation which will surpass even the railway in cheapness and convenience.

Inspectors have been going through the peach orchards of Essex during the past week to determine whether the crop would be injured by the unusually long winter. They failed to find any damage done to buds, and if there are no frosts later on the prospects for a large crop are good. The peach district along the Niagara has been nearly ruined, which will materially assist the fruit growers of this county in disposing of their crops at a good figure.

Wilmot's fish hatchery at Credit Forks was destroyed by fire Thursday night. The building contained about two million of young fry, worth $3 per thousand. Everything was destroyed.

Owing to the pressure of business in Parliament of a debatable nature it is now probable that the bill introduced in the British House of Commons February 20 by Walter Long, President of the Board of Agriculture, amending the Diseases of Animals Act of 1894 by making permanent the restrictions placed upon the importation of cattle, instead of leaving them to the discretion of the Board of Agriculture, will be postponed until 1897.

A large deputation from Montreal waited on the Government at Ottawa, asking a grant of half a million towards a World's Fair in that city next year. Premier Bowell and Sir Charles Tupper expressed sympathy with the enterprise, but declined to promise any financial aid until assured that Toronto's exhibitions would not conflict with it.

Woodstock merchants had their hands full on Saturday, handling the large volume of trade which the day brought in. From morning until late at night the leading stores were thronged with purchasers of spring wear. The farmers left the market earlier than usual and invaded the stores shortly after dinner. From this time until nearly six the merchants state that the country trade was the heaviest they have experienced since last spring, not even excepting Christmas. The country trade is accounted for by the fact of the improved condition of the roads. Many of the farmers are about to start their spring work and took advantage of the fine day and good roads to complete their purchases before they got busy. It was a brisk day for all lines of trade.

There's a tendency . .

RAMBLER'S NOTES.

BRADFORD.

This village is elated over the fact that it has the youngest warden in Ontario in the person of their justly popular reeve, Mr. J. S. Boddy, of the firm of J. S. Boddy & Bro. Obtaining such an honor, that of chief magis- of the largest county (Simcoe) after having only served two years at its Board, certainly speaks volumes of the executive ability of Mr. Boddy. Congratulations.

Mr. Will Hockridge, who has been ill for some time, is fully recovered, and greets his many friends and customers with that urbanity which is born in him.

GEORGETOWN.

The old-established and reliable firm of McKay Bros., outside of their large grocery trade, are doing a "land office" business. Their numerous customers place much reliance in this firm's judgment.

LEFROY.

Kirkpatrick & Co. report business fairly good, and are looking forward to a large spring trade.

Mr. Jas. Bemrose finds that his removal from Churchill was a good business stroke. He reports a very largely increased trade.

BRAMPTON.

A. O. Runions & Co. have had all traces of the recent fire removed, and their premises now present a very creditable appearance.

NEWMARKET.

Mr. R. A. Smith has one of the best stocked and cleanest grocery stores north of Toronto. His genial manner towards travelers has made him a favorite among the fraternity. Courtesy is a gem in business.

SUNDRIDGE.

Mr. J. Edgar is making preparations for enlarging his store capacity. Attention to business, coupled with energy and enterprise, has developed a successful and growing trade.

GILFORD.

At one time this was one of the most extensive grain shipping points in Ontario, but the building of the H. & N. W. R. cut off the trade to the west very materially. Notwithstanding, the affable Jas. A. Blain has yet a strong hold on the affections of the farmers, who drive miles to trade with him.

RAMBLER.

HOW TO SELL GOODS.

To sell goods nowadays and make it pay, remarks an exchange, is a task that needs both brains and energy. It means to be alert from morning until night ; and to succeed every point must be utilized. The retailer has abundant opportunity to display originality in advertising, in selections, etc. There are shops where the main work done is loafing. But in those where success is desired work must be the order of the day. This is the only way to bring and retain success—work and save.

LIFE WITHOUT A NAME.

To fix a wandering life and give it direction is not an easy task, but a life which has no definite aim is sure to be frittered away in empty and purposeless dreams. "Listless triflers," "busy idlers," "purposeless busybodies," are seen everywhere. A healthy, definite purpose is a remedy for a thousand ills which attend aimless lives. Discontent, dissatisfaction, flee before a definite purpose. An aim takes the drudgery out of life, scatters doubts to the winds, and clears up the gloomiest creeds. What we do without a purpose begrudgingly, with a purpose becomes a delight.—Archi ects of Fate.

INDIAN & CEYLON TEAS G.F.&J.GALT 42 Scott St. Toronto BOOK ON TEA BLENDING MAILED ON APPLICATION

POINTS FOR GREEN CLERKS.

I WAS once a green clerk myself, and sympathize very much with him, writes "Old Merchant" in Grocery World. This is about the way we started out as a salesman, and would have remained so had we not been in the hands of one who had tact and business education.

We are called to the fact of a customer being at the counter. We walk up, ask what he wants, and are told a pair of shoes. We blunder right here by placing a $4 shoe before a $1.50 customer. This causes trouble at once, as you are now compelled to get down something at about the price he wants, and the difference between the appearance of the two shoes is so great that he decides not to make a purchase and walks out, saying he will call again, but alas, he does not call again, but goes over to our competitor and strikes a clerk who understands his business and who, when asked to see shoes, places before him a shoe for $1.50, and exclaims, "There is a beauty for the price." His size is selected, and he calls for suspenders, hosiery, neckwear, etc., etc., and in all he buys six dollars' worth of goods. We do these awkward things and expect about six dollars per week salary.

Customer No. 2 comes in and wishes to see some dress goods. You walk around as if you had wooden legs and stand with your back to the lady and exclaim, "Do you see anything up there that you like?" You finally take one piece off the shelves, and this does not suit, and she says, "Do you expect anything new in very soon?" and you say, "I do not know." She walks out and makes her purchase at a more inviting store. We have learned that where we do not know our customer, it is wise to commence with common goods and work up, rather than the reverse.

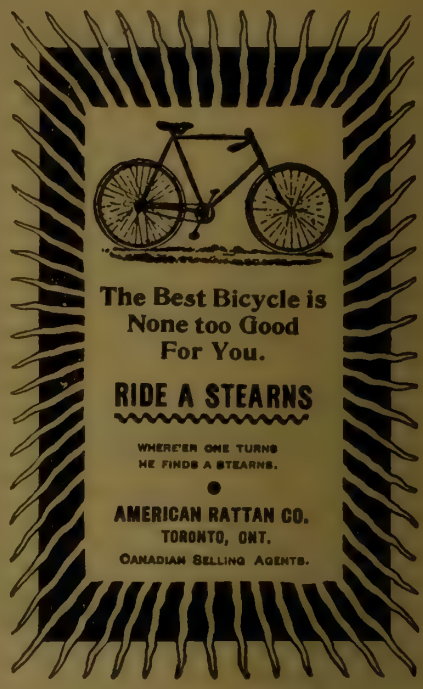
I hired a clerk a few years ago who had been sadly neglected in training, and I often think this is the reason why there are so many failures in business. I took him on trial with the understanding that I was to pay him $5 per week and board. Said he had clerked with Mr. ——— for six years and understood the business. He went to work, and the first thing to which my attention was called was that he used his teeth for a twine holder. When he weighed ten pounds of sugar he was as liable to give one or two ounces over as not. In measuring dry goods he would give ten and a half yards for ten yards.

I found him one day using barrel heads with which to make fires. Never knew him to move a spittoon to sweep behind it. (When does promotion come for such a clerk?) Six years in business, poor fellow! He will make a failure in life simply because his training has been neglected, and the merchant who trained him, in my opinion, is a dangerous man to sell to. Young man, if you are with such a merchant for the purpose of being educated in the mercantile life, pull out and go with a house that knows something, even if you do start on a small salary, say $3 per week. You will make money in the end. Your bank account may be in your head, but it had better be there than in a savings bank without business training sufficient to handle successfully all you want; in business is the cash. I would rather have proper business training with $400 than have $5,000 without it, and will make more money out of it. When I make this assertion I am not looking forward, but backward.

IT PAYS TO AIM HIGH.

IT is a healthy symptom when a business steadily grows; indeed, when progress stops the ultimate failure of the enterprise may, in most cases, be looked for, says Merchants' Review. For in this world of change a business cannot stand still, neither expanding nor shrinking, any more than a man can remain midway between youth and old age. But the rapidity of growth of a business depends very largely upon the scope of the owner's ambition.

If the dealer has no further ambition than to make a good living or to do as well as some competitor in a small way of business, it is improbable that he will even be able to keep afloat for any length of time—a big margin is required for the shrinkage of hopes, which is inevitable under all circumstances, and if a merchant would make a competence he should fix his eye on the million-dollar mark.



It would be a great day for the grocery trade (may we live to see it) if every member thereof would resolutely say, I will try to excel every one of my brother grocers, and would bate not a jot of the ambition to sell the best goods and the most goods. There are, and it is useless to mince matters, too many grocers who are content to sell whatever suits their jobbers and whose ambition is bounded by the narrow needs of unimaginative and indolent natures. The merchant need not be ashamed of his ambition, however lofty it may be. It is an augury of success to set one's hopes high, and it is from the most aspiring material that the very best citizens are made.

Therefore—to descend from generalities to particulars—it is good for the dealer to aspire to be the leading grocer in his town, to have the best store and the largest and finest stock, to keep the purest goods and employ the most honest weights and measures, to give the public the most courteous and careful attention and the most prompt delivery service.

With an ambition to excel in respect of all these things the grocer is well on the road to wealth and to a high place in the esteem of his fellow-citizens.

DON'T DIE YOUNG.

I have learned from observation that three things may happen to a man who works steadily without relaxation. In the first place, he becomes nervous, irritable and hard to get along with. In the second place, the grade of his work falls off, his services are worthless, and he is liable to err in his judgment. In the third place, he dies suddenly. It is an incontrovertible law of nature.—Chauncey M. Depew.

This is a cut of our high Grocer Refrigerator which we make in three sizes. We also have two sizes in a low style of Grocer Refrigerator and in point of workmanship and efficiency cannot be excelled in this or any other country. We make them for Butchers', Grocers', Hotel and Family use. Call and see them or send for catalogue.

BRITISH VIEW OF WINTER PORTS.

MUCH has been heard lately of that policy which has been termed the development of our colonial estates; and Mr. Chamberlain has professed to be anxious to lose no opportunity of giving the system a fair trial. The other day he showed the practical interest of the Government in the case of Dominica; but his sympathy took a form which will benefit only comparatively few people. Next time the Colonial Secretary looks abroad for some scheme in need of Imperial support, he might do worse than apply his statesmanship and his well-known business capacity to the efforts being put forth in Canada to have St John, N. B., made a winter port of the Dominion. As regards safety, size, situation and freedom from fogs and ice, it is claimed to be the best harbor north of Cape Hatteras —and that all the year round. A debate on this subject recently took place in the Senate of the Dominion, and ample testimony was then forthcoming in favor of the claims of St. John to be considered par excellence the winter port of Canada. The consensus of opinion on the part of experienced navigators regarding the natural and other advantages of the harbor of the chief town in New Brunswick is one of the strongest pieces of evidence that could be given in its favor. Four of the largest Atlantic lines of steamers already patronize the port; but what is desired now is that some arrangement should be arrived at between the Imperial and Federal authorities to subsidize a regular line of steamers which will make St. John the terminal point for the transatlantic passenger and merchandise traffic. This proposal has much to commend it in view of the fact that a large part of the western trade of Canada has to find ingress or egress through United States ports. Its railway facilities are said to be exceptionally good. Canada recently gave striking proof of her loyalty to the Mother Country, and no opportunity of binding more closely the ties either of sentiment or of commerce between Great Britain and the Dominion should be neglected. If the Imperial Government can make these bonds firmer by helping the people of Canada to establish a great winter port at St. John, it should, as a matter of policy, show itself only too willing to render the necessary support.—Mercury, Leeds.

PUREST & BEST

"Dairying for Profit" or "The Poor Man's Cow"

Is the title of a treatise on Buttermaking written by Mrs. E. M. Jones of Brockville, Ont. Mrs. Jones' Book has been so highly thought of by the Ontario Government that it has been printed and distributed free among farmers as an authority on this subject. The following letter explains itself.

Some time ago I commenced using the Windsor Salt in my dairy and I have been surprised and delighted at the result. It appears to me to be a PURER SALT than any I have ever used (although I have always obtained the very best, regardless of cost). It is entirely FREE FROM ANY BITTER TASTE and it DISSOLVES SO RAPIDLY as to be at once incorporated in the butter. To the practical dairyman these are vital points. MORE BUTTER IS SPOILED BY POOR SALT THAN IN ALL OTHER WAYS PUT TOGETHER. Not only is the taste disagreeable but the grain of such salt is so sharp and its nature so insoluble that butter has to be worked almost to a paste and is thereby spoiled before it is even put on the market. WINDSOR SALT IS FREE FROM THESE OBJECTIONS and its quality and price ought to make it a boon to every dairy in Canada. I shall use no other in future, and as the output of my private dairy is 7000 lbs. a year, which all brings the highest price ever reached by Canadian butter, the importance of my choice in salt can hardly be over-estimated.

Yours truly,
(Signed) ELIZA M. JONES.

Any wholesale grocer can supply you, in any quantity, with this "WINDSOR" Dairy Salt in 20lb, White Cotton Bags, packed 15 in a paper lined barrel, or in 50lb. Linen Sacks.

BRET HARTE'S famous poem truthfully portrays the unwashed and slippery Mongolian.

"—For ways that are dark,
"And for tricks that are vain,
"The heathen Chinee is peculiar."

In the manner of preparing Tea the Chinaman is certainly "peculiar;" what with his promiscuous planting, gathering and drying, his exhausted leaves faced with black coloring matter, his unclean, unsanitary habits,---all these peculiarities are enough to give the reflective white man a chill of disgust----

The modern system obtaining in CEYLON assures to consumers perfect purity; the tea is practically grown by Europeans, and machine-made, no rolling by hands and feet as is done in China.

Ceylon Teas are astonishing the world. Everybody will be asking for Ceylon Teas.—If you have the interests of your customers at heart as well as your own, you will buy

J. M. DOUGLAS & CO., MONTREAL, AGENTS.

WHERE GROCERS ARE WEAK.

RETAIL grocers are at fault in one prominent particular in their business method, remarks an exchange. It may be there are many vulnerable points in individual cases, but generally the trade is lacking in one matter of unquestionable importance, one that other lines of trade have grasped firmly. The retail grocer has never learned how to advertise his goods to customers.

If the wife of a retail grocer visits a dry-goods store to buy a dress, the clerk gives her careful attention, and if her mind is not well centred on a selection of goods he does not leave her to choose from a few pieces before her, but he suggests some late patterns and shows several pieces of goods before a sale is made. If the wife of a grocer visits a shoe store to make a purchase, she is shown a variety of styles, and, if known to the salesman, he will in all probability show her "something new" in styles, even if he knows she will not buy, but simply to show his desire to please, and she in turn feels that she is of some importance and goes away pleased at the attention given her.

A consumer of groceries visits his store, or her shopping place, and asks for a certain prepared soup. The grocer at once gets her that article, and rarely shows a new article in the same line or in some other line. The grocer does not follow the practice of the dry-goods dealer and the shoe dealer, and endeavor to interest his customer in new lines of goods. If Mrs. Brown orders a pound of raisins that is all she gets; she may be politely served, certainly of importance, but that is not enough if the grocer would improve his opportunity to advertise goods favorably. Suppose he has received a new lot of jellies, who knows it? The up-to-date grocer will say to Mrs. Brown, after the purchase of raisins is made: "By the way, Mrs. Brown, let me show you a new line of jellies," and he takes her to a nicely arranged stock of jellies, and taking a clean spoon from a lot before her, he either opens a jar before her, or from a jar opened and in neat condition he takes a sample on the spoon and invites her to taste it. This is presumed to be of good quality and Mrs. Brown is pleased. The chances are she will buy a package then and there, but if not, she will find a need soon for that jelly, and a sale of several packages is made at the expense of one. Under the present general policy the jelly would stand on the shelf and wait for a purchaser to call, when the fact is the customers stand ready to buy promptly if they can be shown the new goods.

The point might be illustrated by numerous articles. The grocer is supposed to know customers who buy over the counter sufficiently well to be able to discriminate properly between different tastes. The man who enjoys high class foods will be interested at all times in new eatables, no matter what their form, and the grocer who is using opportunity to the full will not neglect to invite attention to any new soup, or canned meat, or food in any form that may find a place in his stock.

The Bulletin and Trades believe there is good ground here for advantageous work. The retail grocer needs to study more closely his methods of trade. Where is he weak and where can he improve? Observation of the methods of others will bring good results. One idea put in practice each month will in a year make a new business place of any store. Isn't this sufficiently important to reasonably call for your careful attention?

TAKING COALS TO NEWCASTLE.

When you sojourn at one of the big Florida hotels, says an exchange, do not revel in the thought that the oranges you eat are plucked from a neighboring grove. Oh! no, for California has been shipping oranges to Florida for several months, and perhaps it is only human nature that the Californians should show some little selfish satisfaction in this remarkable victory over a once strong competitor. A steady supply of California naval oranges has been shipped every week since February from Pomona to Jacksonville and St. Augustine, destined mainly for consumption by tourists at the big Florida hotels. Ten carloads of oranges were shipped recently.

Luncheon Beef . .

This is a canned meat which we alone prepare; the name Luncheon Beef is copyrighted and no one else has the right to use it. We employ a method which is unknown to other canners; the result is the distinctive flavor which LUNCHEON BEEF alone enjoys. The effort has been to avoid that cured hard taste which corned beef sometimes has; and to substitute therefor a mild, delightful flavor such as is found in some home cooked meats. We have been particularly fortunate in suiting the public taste. Our Luncheon Beef should be carried by every grocer who caters to a refined discriminating trade. Order of your Jobber, and if you don't receive the goods write to us or to our agents named below.

THE CANADIAN GROCER

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, MAY 1, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 18

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

It is better to get rich than be made rich.

Bragging is a drag upon one's prospects in life.

The ideal advertisement is both attractive and truthful.

When a man gets too old to learn, he is ripe for the grave.

A young man cannot sow wild oats and reap No. 1 hard wheat.

The store loafer who will not take a hint should be given a kick.

When a business man ceases to be a student he becomes a dunce.

Obstacles do not prove the invalidity of a thing: they test its validity.

Cash gives credit to a man's business; credit induces discredit.

It is good to be slow and sure, but it is better to be expeditious and sure.

Too much in an advertisement, like too much in a gallon vessel, leads to waste.

Because the hog is sometimes king it does not follow that a man should aim to be a hog.

He is a wise merchant who tries to cultivate ideas in his clerks as well as in himself.

There are some evils in trade which it is better to kill with slow poison than with a club.

In advertising, be careful you do not sell the customer as well as the goods you advertise.

Scarcely more wise than the person who, notwithstanding he cannot swim, jumps into a stream before ascertaining its depth, is the merchant who accords a man credit before learning his financial condition.

If you do not look after your window displays your customers in time will not look after you.

The more conversant a man is with his business the less likely is it to leave him in the lurch.

The satisfaction of knowing that a thing is well done is greater reward than money could impart.

There may not be a hole in the grocery business, but a man ought to look before he jumps into it.

Do not hesitate to endorse the character of an honorable man, but endorse not his note on any account.

A merchant should never give his customers short weight; neither should he compel them to wait long.

Undermining his own financial standing is he who treats customers according to their financial standing.

A bad debt is sometimes a monument to the stupidity of the creditor as well as to the dishonesty of the debtor.

A clerk in whom ideas cannot be cultivated, like a farm that cannot raise paying crops, should be given up.

The energies of the hen are not regulated by the price of eggs. And therein is a moral for the consideration of merchants.

The clerk who will not submit to a moderate course of discipline is lacking in the essentials that make a successful man.

If there is one man who deserves to be commiserated with it is the traveler—the young traveler at any rate—who has toiled all day without getting business. If you cannot give him your order give him your sympathy. You may need his counsel some day.

Commercial interests in Venezuela are suffering from undue inflation; also the people from undue inflation of their own importance.

Bicycling is a good thing for the clerk, but the wheel should not be permitted to carry either his body or his mind away from his duties.

There is no dearth of opportunities for success in life, but they are only procured by being sought after; they seldom fall into one's lap.

Some people fail because of wild-cat schemes, but a grocer in a Pennsylvannia town has failed because of an overstock of wild cats.

Money can be made in business to-day just as it could twenty years ago. The only difference is that more brains are demanded now than then.

While his wife is having the spring house-cleaning done, the grocer should remember that a little of the same kind of work in the store will not be amiss.

The business man should not rely too much upon his own taste. The taste of his customers is more important to him; and he should strive and learn by study what it is.

If you have a good idea put it into action. Don't keep it locked up within your own mind for fear someone will share with you whatever benefits there are to be derived from it.

If some members of Parliament seeking re-election had been as solicitous for the business interests of the country as they now are for votes they would not need to have as much concern regarding the day of election as they now have.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

THE following address on "Are Limited Prices and Selling by the Manufacturer to the Retailers to the Interest of our Merchants?" was delivered at the Illinois State Convention held, in Edmondsville, by the well-known canned-goods man, E. A. Stevens, of Chicago:

Limited prices and the respective rights of jobber and retailer in their relations to the manufacturer are among the live discussions of the hour. No better evidence can be given of progress than conditions of active social and commercial agitation. As the elements that form the physical world have for their combined purpose the enrichment of the soil for the needed changes and redistribution of atmospheric gases—to promote the growth of animal and vegetable life—so interchange of thought and impartial discussion of important questions vitally affect and quicken the growth of civilization, which is only another word for well-adjusted commercial relations.

Questions which measure one man's relations to another are too often settled on purely selfish grounds. The farmers of the country are continually striving to do away with all middle men and even dream that they can devise systems which will abolish the city milkman and deliver the produce of their farms at the door of the consumer every morning at dawn! But farmers' milk companies rarely succeed, and the milkman survives, not because of any partiality toward him on the part of the public, but because he earns his way.

The higher our civilization, the greater our individual wants. These are best supplied through the operation of the law of differentiation.

This law of differentiation is merely the adaptation of an individual to his vocation. In view of the difference of faculties and desires individuals should, in a normal state of society, produce or labor according to their individul fitness. He who can perform certain labor through inclination or heredity is often incapable of other labor of which he is in need, and here arise those infinite divisions, which, however, enlarge the solidarity of our interests, so that man, in order to develop, must co-operate with his fellow-man. It has been found easier and better to produce or do one thing well than to attempt to supply all his wants.

The mills of life grind so surely and severely that there is no room in the commercial world for the man who cannot earn his way. It is a great mistake to consider the wholesale grocer as either a drone or a monopolist. He generally works just as hard, and often more faithfully, than his retail brother. He has frequently grown up from the retail ranks. He risks large capital, pays many employes, incurs large rentals and carries many a retailer over a panicky time. If, after paying his absolute expenses and his salesmen's commissions, he nets 2 or 3 per cent. on his sales, he is doing well.

If the absolute facts were known there would be less envy and quarreling with the wholesale grocers over their very small profits. The man who does a large business is entitled to a proportionate profit just as the man who runs two retail grocery stores expects to make more money than if he ran one. He (the jobber) is there in obedience to the law of necessity, or he could not long remain.

I think that if the manufacturer were compelled to sell to the retail trade direct, his goods would cost more than the difference which the jobber now receives. The manufacturer would have to maintain agents in every State and also parties to attend to the selling and collecting as well as legal talent to look up the law in each State, and add to that office and storage rents. You can easily see that there would be as much, if not more, added cost to the goods.

The country dealer is criticized and envied by the community in which he lives. His critics generally owe him a good deal of money; imagine that he is making a fortune: they do their best to prevent him accomplishing it, and generally succeed. Yet he is a decided convenience to the community and by dint of hard work and great anxiety earns the position he holds.

Passing from the broad grounds of these business principles, let us see how "limited prices" (as generally understood) and the jobbers' protection directly influence the retail trade. The manufacturer says, and with evident reason, that the retailer asserts that after supplying him with a stock of goods, the jobber has no right to supply his best customers and, if this is the case, he—the manufacturer—has no right to supply the jobber with stocks for general distribution and then compete with him for the larger customers of the retail trade! What is sauce for the goose is certainly sauce for the gander!

If the protection of the jobber is broken down it will be by a few leaders who, because of greater capital or larger stores are able to buy good-sized quantities. But the mass of the trade cannot hope to buy as jobbers and the vote in the retail trade (if the question were properly understood) would probably be 95 per cent. in favor of limited prices as against 5 per cent. on the part of those who know that they could profit by their abolition.

Another point by way of illustration, and my authority for this statement is Mr. J. P. McGaughey, of the Pillsbury Company. Messrs. Herman Rohrs and J. W. Callahan have been the leaders in this movement for manufacturers to deal direct with retailers. Mr. C. A. Pillsbury met these gentlemen in New York and told them he was anxious to accede to the wishes of the grocers, so they told him what they wished him to do, and he pledged himself to adopt their ideas, at least temporarily, and did so. In less than six months, the Pillsbury-Washburn Company were out the price of some 10,000 barrels of flour. That settled their dealing direct with the retailer.

Price-cutting is considered, and justly so, the great curse of the retail grocery trade. That is encouraged and maintained by irregular prices and special discounts for the quantity made by the manufacturers. It is greatly discouraged by prices fixed and limited to all.

For instance, Sapolio had been used by the dry goods dealers of the country until by means of this very contract system that firm were enabled to control in most large cities the distribution of their goods more positively. They spent thousands upon thousands of dollars to defend the retailers against the unjust competition of the larger stores, and by the same contract were obliged to protect the jobber at the same time.

I have recently been in the city of Minneapolis. There they have an association which has the distinction of putting more money in the retailers' pockets than any other in the United States. They do it by the limited price system, or, as they term it, the card-price system. It was the best object lesson of my life.

In Minneapolis there are 400 grocery stores; 371 are members of the association.

Whenever the association can, it puts a staple on a card, which is sent to every grocer in the city whether a member of the association or not. On this card they notify him the minimum rate at which he must sell sugar, coffee, flour, bread and oil. As these staples represent over 50 per cent. of the grocery business it can readily be seen what profit it gives the grocer. The card rate at present is:

SUGAR—16 pounds, $1; 8 pounds, 50c.

COFFEE—Arbuckle Bros'. Ariosa, per pound, 23c.

FLOUR—Best, per 98-pound sack, $1.90; straight, per 98-pound sack, $1.75.

BREAD—16-ounce loaf, 4c.

OIL—Kerosene, 1 gallon, 10c.; gasoline, per gallon, 12c.; kerosene, 5 gallons, 50c.; gasoline, 5 gallons, 55c.

Now, this gives the grocers a clear profit of 25 cents on each 100-pound sack of flour, 3 cents on each gallon of oil, 14 per cent. on all sugar sales and 4 cents per pound on package coffee. I am informed that not a dollar's worth of sugar, not a sack of flour or a gallon of oil was sold in Minneapolis last year without a profit to the retailer. In fact, if anyone violates the card agreement, he is instantly shut off by all the jobbers, both of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

I was invited to attend a meeting of the Board of Directors of this association. At a previous regular meeting a motion had prevailed to put other package coffees on the card. In the meantime it was found that the jobbers did not wish to handle those goods. The board meeting postponed action until the next meeting. Then the coffee men were given a chance to square themselves with the jobbers. At the regular meeting matters were still statu quo. In the discussion the sentiment of the meeting was against handling their coffees, as one of the firms make a point to sell to the retail trade direct. A motion prevailed that they would not buy their coffee only through the jobbers. I really began to think that the millennium had arrived. Still it is the proper policy to pursue, and will be much more to their benefit in the long run. There is nothing wiser than standing by your friends. Reciprocity of interests should be the rigid rule of trade.

It took energy, grit and determination on the part of such members as Lorenz, Meneilly, McGaughey and Young to fix their standard as high as it is, but it is now an accepted fact and an acknowledged benefit.

I look forward to the time when price-cutting will not be as prominent a means of growth in the grocery trade as it is now; when better service, greater common sense, more careful courtesy, more perfect cleanliness and improved systems will be the means by which retailers will enter into generous rivalry with one another. In that day the limited contract system will be regarded with universal favor and advantage to the retailer as well as the wholesaler.

I think I have sufficiently answered the query propounded to me: "Are limited prices and direct selling by the manufacturer to retailers to the interest of our merchants?"

If the pen is mightier than the sword, why is it that the note which it indites to a debtor frequently fails to make him surrender the necessary funds to liquidate his indebtedness?

STERLING GOODS

An inferior article may attract public notice and for a short time enjoy the encomiums of the people, but unless the article is possessed of true merit it will soon pass into oblivion, following in the train of all the innumerable articles that have made their way into the homes of our people, having only for their recommendation flaunting advertisements that sparkle but for a time. The reverse is the case with goods of

"STERLING WORTH"

They live on, burning brighter and brighter, cheering from day to day, until they become the recognized necessaries of daily life.

"We must have CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S goods on our table."
"I could not think of having breakfast without the AMERICAN BREAKFAST CEREALS."
"When travelling I always insist on having RAM LAL'S PURE INDIAN TEA, and BENSDORP'S ROYAL DUTCH COCOA has a fascination for me that no other Cocoa will supply."

These are some of the remarks repeated thousands of times daily, and why? Because the people that have used these goods know that they are the gems of all condiments. Other lines that are fast becoming prime favorites with our people are the celebrated brands of "MECCA" and "DAMASCUS" coffees. Although these goods have only been on the market for a short time, yet to-day we hazard the opinion that they are the most appreciated brands that are being offered to the public. This is the verdict of all the "leading grocers" who have used these goods.

BRITISH TRADE IN MARCH.

IN summarizing the British Board of Trade returns for March The London Times says: "The trade returns for the past month are again satisfactory, for although the increases are not as great as were shown for the previous month, it must be remembered that in 1895 March included a large amount of trade which would have been dealt with in February but for the weather during that month. The imports are valued at £38,344,750, an increase of £2,384,860, equal to 6.6 per cent., and the exports of British and Irish produce at £20,422,419, an increase of £1,899,389, equal to 10.2 per cent. The exports of foreign and colonial merchandise amount to £4,623,326, a decrease of £223,273, which is due chiefly to smaller shipments of indigo, jute and leather. As regards the imports, the classes of goods which are less in value are raw materials for textiles, oils and miscellaneous articles. All other articles show increases, especially food and manufactured articles. As regards textile raw materials, jute and sheep's wool are much below last year in both quantity and value. Wheat is less, but wheat flour is more. Of wheat Russia and Roumania sent more, but the United States, the Argentine Republic and the British East Indies sent less. As to the exports of British and Irish produce, all classes of goods are more in value except articles of food and drink and raw materials; of the former, fish and salt were not shipped so largely, and of the latter coal is lower in price. The shipments of yarns and textile fabrics were generally much more satisfactory.. Cotton yarns and piece goods are higher in price in response to raw cotton. The British East Indies and the East are now taking piece goods much more freely, and the demand from South America is greater."

LONDON BOARD OF TRADE.

THE annual meeting of the London Board of Trade was held on Friday last, with President Bowman in the chair.

The president's address was able and exhaustive. It dealt with the street railway, the agreement with the G.T.R. for the rebuilding of the car shops, the lower freight rates obtained for carrying freight from Montreal to London and Cleveland through an arrangement with the London Steamship Co.; want of a bankruptcy law; cheaper postage; fast Atlantic service; closer trade relations with the British colonies; the wealth of Canada's products of the field, forest, mine, etc.

The secretary-treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $221.

The re-election of Mr. John Bowman as president was moved and seconded and unanimously carried amid applause.

These officers were also elected by acclamation:

Vice-President—A. B. Greer.

Secretary-Treasurer—J. A. Nelles.

WHY SOME MEN ARE SUCCESSFUL.

THIS fact in human experience has been variously accounted for, the subject being a wide one, writes W. P. M. in New York Journal of Commerce. Thus gifts or accomplishments which lead to success in one direction may act as hindrances in another. To be successful in some lines it will be to one's advantage to be a born fighter. That is to say, he must be aggressive, always on the alert to stand up for his interest rather than to literally love his neighbor as himself. The question under review is not considered on its merits from a moral standpoint, but strictly in its practical bearings. Many successful men who have amassed wealth have done so because every other consideration was made to yield to the one of making money. It may be that they have become more grasping and unscrupulous in proportion as they felt the sense of power which large possessions are apt to give. It is conceded that A. T. Stewart, John Jacob Astor, Cornelius Vanderbilt, of a past generation, and Jay Gould, of the present, developed a genius for money-getting, from better or meaner motives. We know of some men whose fortunes have been amassed by money-lending on real estate, which property became theirs through foreclosure because the borrower could neither pay principal nor interest; others we know who disclaimed this right, although legally warranted to put it in execution. This, however, does not bear directly on our main question.

Some men are excellent salesmen, either because they have a glib tongue to throw a glamor over the desirability of their wares, or because of personal magnetism in making the customer like to deal with such a man in spite of himself. A degree of this faculty often makes up for deficiencies, intellectual or otherwise, on the part of a salesman. Many are successful because their goods are desirable, as low in price as those of competitors and popular in those times. Some men have a trick of holding certain customers against all competitors from the feeling of obligation, either by occasionally getting them bargains, or in some other way creating the impression that it is the buyer's interest to keep in with this seller. Many a salesman loses his trade by changing to an inferior house on the temptation of larger salary; as if the traveler necessarily owned his connection and could take it with him to the new house represented. Some men are popular because they have imparted useful ideas to their customers, thereby helping them to an extent to make sales. Habitual cheerfulness and a habit of telling one good anecdote each time they meet have had a wonderful influence in drawing an order out of a buyer after his protestations of being unable to grant a single line. Croakers or those who habitually look on the gloomy side of things are liable to give up in despair because nowhere made welcome. No merchant likes to be told too often about hard times or commercial stagnation. Some men succeed because they are known to adhere to the truth always; they never represent a thing as different from what it is; at the same time they secure confidence by anticipating the wants of the buyer, making it appear that this is the prime object.

Some men become failures because they treat a buyer as if he did not know anything, or, as if he had no rights of choice. A customer may be lost by allowing him to find out that the merchant does not know enough about his business. While some buyers are wide-awake enough to make their own selection every time, more are willing to be set right if the seller is able to present an alternative. In the latter case the buyer is helped toward the selection, although ostensibly it was conceded he had used the right of choice. Knowledge of human nature is a most important factor in the art of selling goods. Respectful attention and promptitude will often make up for the lack of other faculties, in any calling. To be always on time at one's post is a good reputation for anyone serving the public. The boy never late at school bids fair to win favor by promptness in after life. Some young merchants have scored a success by sending an immediate reply to an order they were unable to fill, suggesting where it might be filled. This kind of alertness (especially in wholesale) is sure to be appreciated, implying a sense of obligation. Owning a useful patent has created many a fortune.

Certain houses get a large share of business by making reasonable concessions in cases of emergency or distress. The man who acts a dishonest part is soon found out; the strain to reputation may outlive him. A clean record is the best recommendation to a renewal of credit after it once has been lost. Heavy expenses cause many a merchant to lose credit and the confidence of friends. It may have come from extravagant habits of living, or from an over-ambitious spirit, as if to astonish the world by this semblance of success. Some men can work well in a subordinate position, but could never succeed as the responsible head. Over-sensitive natures often break down, and such persons die before their time because unequal to the strain of responsibility, involving much care and worry. Stolid indifference has sometimes been utilized to good purpose, since it often passes for stability of character, inspiring a degree of confidence on the part of creditor and customer. Verily "the race is not to the swift nor the battle to the strong." That man may count himself fortunate in any sphere of life who has found his proper niche. Many a good man now finds it, but becomes a waif as it were on the billows of so-called fate. In not a few instances this is the result of parental preference misplaced. Many a boy has been obliged to learn a profession who would have shone as a business man, and vice versa. A more prudent course would have been to test the boyish preference for trade or profession; also to watch the bent of aptitude.

The origin of most commercial failures may be set down either as insufficient capital or the giving of too much credit. While in places remote from business centres it may be easy to net a handsome profit, the crying evil of our time is that so many fall into the temptation to sell without adequate profit. This touches on another topic—one of supreme importance—viz., commercial demoralization, its causes and dire results. We are assured "There is a tide in the affairs of men which, when taken at its flood, will lead to fortune." "There is no royal road to learning"; neither can any one path be outlined which leads to inevitable success.

EARLY CLOSING.

The early closing by-law goes into force in Montreal to-day, May 1st. Its enactments are probably understood by all directly interested, but a few of the salient points may not be out of place at the present time. It is ordained that the shops shall close during the whole year at 8 p.m. and remain closed until 5 a.m. the next day, except Saturdays and Mondays and on the eve of holidays. Nothing in the by-law, however, will prevent the sale or delivery of merchandise required in cases of death, sickness or accidents, nor in drug stores the sale or delivery of medicine, surgical instruments or apparatus. Establishments in which tobacco, pipes, newspapers, etc., are sold are not included in the above, nor are hotels, saloons, taverns, restaurants, cafes, fruit and candy stores. Stores wherein are established post offices may remain open, but only for postal service. The penalty for contravention of the above is fine, and, in default, imprisonment, both the amount of the former and the duration being left to the discretion of the Recorder's Court, but in no case shall the fine exceed forty dollars, nor the imprisonment two calendar months.

PECULIARITIES OF CUSTOMERS.

Customers are like pickles, some are sharp and spicy, some are sweet, some are sour, which depends largely upon the way they are treated, remarks Grocers' Advocate. Contented customers are sweet; it costs but little to make contented customers— use them well; courtesy costs nothing and should be liberally used. Carefulness in buying is within the reach of all; good goods surely satisfy; the best often costs no more than inferior kinds.

Dissatisfied customers are sour. The best customers, if not properly treated, soon spoil. A clean store, careful clerks, good goods—all these tend to keep them sweet and satisfied.

INATTENTION TO CUSTOMERS.

IT is a common complaint in these days that there are too many merchants in every line of trade, and that, as a result, business is overdone and the margin of profits badly cut into.

There is a good deal of truth in this. Trade is overdone in a good many lines. But one would not think that competition was keen were he to observe the carelessness and slowness with which not only clerks, but the merchants themselves, sometimes wait upon customers.

It is not the slowness that comes of inactive men. It is that of deliberate "you-can-wait-till-I-am-ready" style to which we have reference.

This type is exhibited in several ways. The chief are clerks joking or talking with each other, or the clerks or merchants gossiping with friends, while the customer, indignant and feeling like a fool, stands in the middle of the store waiting for someone to advance and ascertain his or her wants. Another too commonly seen is the merchant or clerk stopping to finish a paragraph or article which he was engaged in reading when the customer entered the store.

Prompt attention to customers should be the rule of every merchant and prompt obedience to it should be demanded of every clerk.

THE CANADIAN GROCER believes that this rule does obtain in most stores—in the great majority of stores—and that it is observed. But in some there is neither the rule nor the observance.

Ordinary slowness in tying up a parcel, or waiting on a customer, or antiquated methods, can be condoned. But to allow a customer to stand in a store awaiting the pleasure of those who should be awaiting his or her pleasure is one of the unpardonable sins of trade.

Among the thousands who read THE CANADIAN GROCER every week there are probably not a score who are guilty in this particular, but should there be one, just let him imagine himself in the place of a customer who is allowed to stand unattended in the store while a lot of idiotic clerks are gossiping or reading papers. If he had any spunk he would turn on his heel and never darken that store again. Women do not, as a rule, express their indignation on the spot, but they do afterwards by bestowing their patronage upon stores where they are not insulted—for insulted is every customer, man or woman, who is allowed to stand in the store awaiting the convenience of those behind the counter as if he or she were mendicants or worse.

Every man behind the counter should remember that the customer is not seeking his pleasure, but that it is his duty to await the pleasure of the customer, whether that customer be rich man or poor man, woman, or child.

THE DAMAGE TO CALIFORNIA FRUITS.

ADVICES which have been received in Toronto during the past week by mail not only confirm but emphasize what was previously announced by wire regarding damage by frost to the growing fruit crops of California.

The frost which visited the Coast last week was, it is claimed, the most severe that has ever been experienced in that part of the country at this time of the year. And it appears to have been general throughout the fruit-growing districts, resulting in damage to all kinds of fruit.

It is estimated that the first crop of raisins in Fresno has been damaged to the extent of from 50 to 75 per cent. It is hoped, however, that the second crop will be large enough to make up in some measure for the shortage, though it appears certain that there will not be more than 75 per cent. of a full crop, while many varieties are likely to be a great deal less.

The realization of the fact that much damage had been done by the frost led to an advance of one-fourth of a cent per pound in the price of raisins, and speculators have now practically bought up, at high prices, all the raisins that are left in Fresno.

Prunes, peaches and apricots have also been badly damaged, but just how seriously it is not possible to ascertain for a few days. In some sections these fruits are practically wiped out, while in others the damage is not so severe. But, taking it all round, it is estimated that the yield of prunes, peaches and apricots will be about 50 per cent. less than last year.

The advices in question are also authority for the statement that, as the canners will take the larger proportion of the peach crop, only a small proportion of this fruit will be left for drying purposes.

A year ago damage to the California fruit crop such as that just advised would have attracted little more than passing notice. But during the past season California dried and evaporated fruits have jumped into a position which has given them prominence over fruits of all other growths. Of necessity, therefore, the trade is much interested in the situation.

On the Toronto market dried and evaporated peaches and apricots have been such important factors that not only has the sale of Canadian canned fruits been affected, but those which have been imported from California as well.

In consequence of the part California dried and evaporated fruits have played on the Canadian market of late the canners in this country have started an agitation for a higher import duty on these goods, but if the damage by frost is as great as the advices would indicate, it is probable that neither California dried nor canned fruits will be as keen competitors on the home market next season as they have been during the past, whether the duty be higher or not.

THE FREMONA'S FRUIT.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has already referred to the cargoes of Mediterranean fruit that are to be sold at Montreal this spring. The date of the first auction sale has already been fixed: Tuesday next, the 5th of May.

Had the steamers not been delayed by the ice in the river pretty good prices were anticipated. Owing to the delay, however, and the cold weather, rather lower figures are looked for than was at first anticipated.

The catalogues for the Fremona's lot, which will be sold on the date mentioned, are now ready and can be had on application to C. E. Thurston, Montreal Fruit Auction Co., McGill street, by mentioning THE CANADIAN GROCER.

The bulk of both the oranges and lemons that will be offered are of the standard brands. The corrected figures are: 245 lots of Messina lemons, aggregating 24,000 odd packages; 114 lots of Palermo lemons, aggregating 6,800 odd packages; 47 lots of Messina oranges, comprising 5,200 packages, and 21 lots of Palermo oranges, comprising 1,188 packages. This is a total of 30,800 packages of lemons and 6,388 packages of oranges.

Last year the same vessel brought out 37,500 packages Messina lemons, 2,000 Catania do., 10,000 packages Messina oranges and 5,800 Catania do., or a total of 39,500 packages of lemons and 15,800 oranges. Her cargo this year, therefore, is not quite as large as last year's, and comes under the first estimate sent out. She carries this year, however, over 20,000 boxes of lemons which were sold to arrive. This makes her actual cargo larger, though the quantity put up at auction will be less. Good prices are anticipated on the oranges.

PROSPECTS ON HOPS.

THE question of hop prospects is commencing to receive some attention from traders in the product. It is three years since the price of hops commenced to decline, the high water mark being in 1893, when pressed hops sold as high as $1 per lb., and baled stock up to 17 and 18c. These high prices led to an increased growth, and the market was over-supplied, with the natural result of steadily declining prices. In fact, at the present time speculators and hop brokers in Montreal, Toronto and elsewhere, not only carry supplies of 1895 crop but 1894 and 1893 as well. The latter are, of course, a regular drug to the market, and their owners will almost give them away to get rid of them, offers having been made frequently during the winter of this old stock at 1c. per lb. As some of it cost as high as 15c. there have been some tidy losses.

At the present time even 1895 crop well kept only meets a slow sale at 8c. per lb. The result of this depression has, it is understood, disheartened many hop farmers in the Eastern Townships in Quebec and in sections of Ontario. Last year numbers ploughed up their hop land and this year, according to the country papers, more are following suit. In fact, a decreased hop output seems a reasonable expectation, and in this event holders need not be in so great a hurry to get rid of their stock at the present very low prices.

A HANDSOME STORE.

The Hudson Bay Co. have lately moved into their new premises erected by them at Portage La Prairie, Man.

Their store is situated in the centre of the town, and is a handsome white brick, fitted with all modern improvements, and contains basement, first and second flats. The windows are large, and fitted with plate glass mirrors; and a new feature in the dry goods department, which has a good effect, is mirrors at intervals the full length of the store. The grocery department is perhaps one of the most attractive in the Dominion.

M. LEFEBVRE & SONS TO CONTINUE

THE CANADIAN GROCER some time ago referred to the fact that there was a difference of opinion between the firm of M. Lefebvre & Sons and the People's Bank. It is understood that a settlement has been reached by which both the firm and the bank will be satisfied. The former have ceded certain of their properties to the Banque du Peuple, and it is felt by the directorate that they have concluded an arrangement that will net the bank at least 75c. on the dollar of the full amount of the Lefebvre indebtedness. On the other hand, the Banque du Peuple has agreed to give a full discharge. It has likewise agreed that the Lefebvres will retain their Berthier establishment, and that their business in all its branches will be carried on as usual. The firm were indebted to the bank for the sum of well on to $500,000, and they alleged that as soon as the bank's different accounts began to be discussed outside, the credit of the firm suffered, and it was impossible for them to carry on business. In the meantime the bank made a demand of assignment, which was contested by the Messrs. Lefebvre, who in turn sued the Banque du Peuple for a large amount. It was hoped, however, that some kind of a settlement would be reached whereby Lefebvres could go ahead with their business. This has been done.

D. GUNN, BROTHERS & CO.

A re-organization of the firm of D. Gunn, Flavelle & Co., of Toronto, has taken place, the change going into effect to-day. The firm was organized about 22 years ago by the present senior member under the style of D. Gunn & Co. When several years later Mr. J. W. Flavelle entered the firm, the style became D. Gunn, Flavelle & Co., at which it has remained till the present, although Mr. Flavelle retired some five years ago to assume the management of the Wm. Davies Co., Ltd. The firm as now re-organized will be known as D. Gunn, Brothers & Co., and the members thereof are Messrs. D. Gunn, A. Gunn, and J. A. Gunn. The firm, as before, will carry on the business of pork packers, produce and commission merchants.

MAPLE SYRUP EXPORTS.

There is no reason why we should not sell a considerable quantity of pure maple syrup and sugar in Great Britain. Those who have tried it like it very much, but a great deal of inferior stuff has gone over there. Some unscrupulous Canadians make a compound of flax seed oil and maple syrup, which goes across the ocean in kegs and is sold in England as pure. This has given the article a bad name.

Macdonald Bros., Montreal, sent over a few samples with their Mr. Macdonald, from their bush, and this week he cables he has sold the entire quantity offered—500 gallons. Shipment is being made this week.

THE GROCERY TRADE SALES.

The second trade sale of groceries, dried fruit, canned goods, etc., will be held at the Fruit Auction salesrooms, McGill street, Montreal, on Wednesday, 6th May. The sale opens at 10 o'clock. Catalogues of the goods to be offered will be mailed free to any subscriber to this paper who cares to apply to C. E. Thurston, 58 and 60 McGill street, Montreal, mentioning THE CANADIAN GROCER. The goods on offer comprise leading brands in all lines.

MARRIAGE OF A POPULAR GROCER

CAPT. JOHN FORBES MICHIE, of the 48th Highlanders, and proprietor of Michie & Co., the well-known retail grocers, Toronto, was on Wednesday afternoon united in marriage to Miss Edna Emma Lee, second daughter of Mr. W. S. Lee, of 306 Jarvis street. The ceremony took place at Little Trinity Church at 2.30, in the presence of a large concourse of guests, who secured admission to the church by ticket.

Miss Mabel Lee, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Miss Annie Michie, second sister of the groom; Miss Jean Clark, daughter of Mr. W. Mortimer Clark; Miss Josie Gooderham, daughter of Mr. Alfred Gooderham, and Miss Phemie Smith, daughter of Dr. Andrew Smith, were the bridesmaids. The groom was supported by William Hendrie, of Hamilton. The ushers were Messrs. Charles Michie, Charles Lee, Frank Gray and Capt. D. M. Robertson.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Sanson, who was assisted by Archdeacon Boddy. Mr. Walter S. Lee gave the bride away.

After the knot had been tied the bridal party and their guests drove to the home of the bride's parents, 306 Jarvis street, where a reception was held, the happy couple afterwards leaving on the 4.45 train for New York. The honeymoon will be spent in the Southern States. On the return of the young couple to the city, they will reside for the summer at 306 Jarvis street.

About 40 of the employes, ex-employes and friends of Michie & Co. fittingly celebrated the marriage of Capt. J. F. Michie by a sumptuous repast at Webb's on Wednesday night. A jolly evening was passed in music, song and speech-making, and everyone enjoyed himself. Glionna's Orchestra was in attendance.

A GOOD INSURANCE COMPANY.

JUST as a storm at sea tests the qualities of a vessel, so times of depression in trade test the capabilities of an insurance company. Judged by this standard it is with much satisfaction that one peruses the report of the Manchester Fire Assurance Co. presented at the seventy second annual meeting of the company in Manchester, England, recently.

At the close of 1894, with a premium income of £757,478, the funds in hand of this company were $480,054, equal to 63 37 per cent. At the end of 1895 the result was still more gratifying, against a premium income of £738,891, there being funds to the amount of £496,187, or 67.16 per cent. The apparent increase in the funds is some £16,000, but this difference of nearly 4 per cent. in the ratio of reserve to income means that the company is about £25,000 richer than it was twelve months before. The Manchester is happily situated with regard to its financial arrangements. The sum of £10,000 per annum is the only draft which the dividend makes on the profits, the premium income, it is well to remember, being nearly three-quarters of a million sterling. With ordinary prosperity, therefore, the funds cannot fail to increase at a rapid rate. Whether the money be distributed in dividends, or—in our opinion, the far wiser course—be left to fructify under the company's control, the result in either case must be a steady appreciation in the value of the shares.

The Manchester has branches in different parts of the world. That in Toronto is managed by Mr. James Boomer, and if the branches elsewhere are under such efficient care, they are indeed fortunate. Mr. Boomer is not only an insurance man de facto, but he is popular — two desirable qualifications for an insurance management.

RAMBLER'S NOTES.

BERLIN.

DUNKE & CO.'S store always presents a lively appearance. This firm has a strong hold on the housekeepers of this German city, who appreciate a firm's efforts to keep in stock all seasonable goods of a fine quality and at prices that throw departmental stores into the shade.

Giller & Bowman, finding their present premises inadequate for their growing trade, will shortly remove into more convenient and commodious quarters.

Val. Weber is rapidly regaining his wonted strength after a severe illness—typhoid fever—followed by nervous prostration, and hopes soon to put into his business some of his old-time energy. When he does, things will hum again on the market square.

Randall & Roos report business encouraging. This reliable firm have established an extensive and profitable wholesale connection. The genial Mr. Roos, on whom the management of the firm's interests largely devolves, is the soul of honor and a gentleman of ability and urbanity.

Metcalfe Bros. still retain the hold on the elite trade of the town. Their store is neatness and completeness in itself. The inviting manner in which goods are arranged attracts the most fastidious, and the pleasing manner of the proprietors is strictly in harmony with the surroundings.

TAVISTOCK.

Mr. F. King, who for years has provided for the wants of the villagers and neighboring families for miles around, hardly knows the meaning of hard times, if we judge by the trading going on in his large store every day in the year. His staff of clerks (eight) have grown up with the business, and each one devotes his sole attention to furthering the best interests of his kind-hearted employer. Mr. King treats his employes with that same geniality and trustfulness that he accords his best cash customer, and they in return appreciate the kindness by an ever-zealous desire to promote and extend his commercial and personal welfare.

ST. MARY'S.

Mr. W. C. Box, formerly in the employ of A. Beattie & Co., having engaged in the grocery business for himself, finds the venture paying successfully. The position of buyer for his former employers gives him an advantage not always the privilege of new beginners.

Mr. J. A. Adams has one of the nattiest grocery stores in the west.

Smith & Burns have no cause for complaint; business with them, considering the busy time with farmers, is exceedingly brisk.

MITCHELL.

Al. Davies has just opened out a grocery store. His store front is painted white, emblamatical of purity, and Al. says nothing but the best and purest goods will find a resting place within.

Mr. T. S. Ford, having some time ago enlarged his business premises by erecting a substantial and commodious building, is now having his private residence renovated and enlarged. Prosperity reigns supreme with T. S. Ford & Co.

Mr. I. Hord, of the Ontario House, always cheery and affable, inspires both customers and travelers who enter his store with feelings of pleasure and confidence. He is a streak of sunshine one meets occasionally on the commercial road that tends to drive away dark clouds of despair.

DUNDALK.

Mr. F. Nixon, of the firm of F. Nixon, Dean & Co., is a busy man, but being methodical and shrewd, he accomplishes a great deal in a short space of time. While looking after the buying and financing of this firm's extensive business, he finds a few hours each day to devote to his profession, being an honor graduate (1874) and gold medalist of Ontario College of Veterinary Surgeons, Toronto.

Graham & Co. are getting their share of the spring trade coming to the town. Courtesy unlimited is the factor that predominates with this young firm and makes trading with them a pleasure.

RAMBLER.

THEY ADMIT A PARTNER.

W. A. Bradshaw has been admitted a partner in the firm of W. B. Bayley & Co., import and export brokers and commission merchants, 46 Front street east, Toronto. The style of the firm is unchanged. Mr. Bradshaw was proprietor of the Toronto Soap Works until he sold out some months ago.

TRADE CHAT.

GUELPH Board of Trade has elected the following officers: President, J. E. McElderry; vice-president, E. R. Bollert; secretary-treasurer, A. Scott.

A milling firm in Ontario has shipped ten thousand barrels of oatmeal to Denmark.

The Alberta, of the Canadian Pacific line, will begin her trips from Windsor to Port Arthur about June 1.

John Stiling's bake shop, on the corner of the Hamilton road and Adelaide street, London, was damaged $500 by fire.

N. McDonald, proprietor of the Corner Store, South Edmonton, Man., has sold out to R. A. Hulbert, who will enlarge and carry on a first-class grocery store at the same old stand.

Death occurred Friday morning, at Kingsville, of Michael J. Wigle, wine manufacturer. The deceased was one of the oldest and most respected settlers of the country, a son of an U.E. Loyalist. He was 79 years of age.

It is stated by The Rio News that in the vicinity of Brejoes there is a twenty-year-old coffee tree which, according to The Luz, of Areias, produced last year sixty pounds of coffee. The tree is so tall that in gathering the coffee a ladder has to be used.

Ex-Ald. Dixon, of the firm of Dixon Bros., wholesale fruiterers, Hamilton, is authority for the statement that the peach crop, English cherries and plums will be a total failure in that section this year, owing to the severe winter. Farmers generally are of the same opinion.

The largest prune orchard in the world is said to be located at Los Gatos, on the western edge of the Santa Clara Valley, Cal. It contains nearly 50,000 trees, covering about 380 acres. A hundred workmen and as many horses are constantly employed on this farm, which is provided with its own water-works and electric light plant.

California shipped out of the State 48,871 carloads of fruit, nuts, wine, brandy and vegetables in 1895—an increase over 1894 of 5,346 carloads. Of fruit alone the shipments were 37,160 carloads. In 1890 the shipments of fruit were only 16,195 carloads. If all the orchards in California now in bearing were to put out a full crop this year the exports of fruit should, it is estimated, reach 50,000 carloads.

The Edmonton Pork Packing Company have purchased 240,000 pounds of live hogs during the season ending March 31. This represents nearly $10,000 in cash paid to the farmers of the district. The company will resume packing in the fall, in any case, and perhaps sooner, as they are considering the advisability of providing cold storage so that they can carry on business in the summer.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

BEYOND THE RANGE Of Competition

Gillard's New Pickle

Far above all others and incomparably superior. Many imitators have striven to attain for their manufactures the same high position in the estimation of the consumer, but their products have lacked those peculiar properties of delicious piquancy and aromatic flavor which mark Gillard's New Pickle as the criterion.

IN A PICKLE—people want something good. It is not a staple article of food, but a dainty morsel to whet the appetite and give zest to the meal. Gillard's fills the bill exactly. A single trial will convince you of the accuracy of our statements.

GILLARD'S NEW SAUCE

The ingredients of this sauce are selected with the greatest possible care and compounded in such a manner that this article has a world-wide reputation for excellence.

WHOLESALE GROCERS

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THE increased activity noted in trade last week is not so much in evidence this week, the volume of business being perceptibly less. The falling off, however, appears to be altogether in sugar, the demand for which is very light. In other lines the conditions are much the same as they were a week ago. Canned goods are receiving fair attention, and there is still a good demand for California evaporated fruits. Teas are in a little better demand. Syrups of all kinds are rather scarce. A satisfactory feature of the situation is further improvement in payments, they now being described as fair.

CANNED GOODS.

The scarcity of peas is becoming more pronounced, with the result that some wholesale houses are holding them as high as $1.10 and will not accept less. In consequence of the high price of peas a good demand is springing up for beans at from 70c. upwards. An active demand is to be noted for canned apples at the ruling price of $1.80. During the past few days a good demand has materialized for canned pumpkins at from 75 to 85c. per doz. The demand keeps up fairly well for corn, and some can be obtained as low as 55c. There is a scarcity of cheap salmon which sells at about $1.10; in fact, stocks of low-grade to medium are almost exhausted. There is very little lobster on the market, and it is likely that the new pack will cost about 20c. all round higher than last season. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 55 to 65c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10 to $1.15; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.35 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.10 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half-tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

COFFEE.

There is nothing to note, the demand still being moderate only. Prices rule much as before. We quote green in bags: Rio, 18c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

Supplies of syrup of all kinds are light, both here and in the United States. Locally the scarcity is in dark syrups, and in the United States bright is the kind of which there is an insufficiency. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The conditions are much about the same as they were a week ago, there being very little demand for this commodity. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 35c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Prices remain unchanged. The reason given by the refiners for sugars not having advanced in Canada is that during the dull months of February and March, the refiners accumulated large stocks, and consequently they are now more anxious to move goods than to get higher prices. Although the local wholesalers are finding the demand for sugar this week less than it was at the time of our last review representatives of the refineries report that the demand from the country continues to improve, with fairly free buying on the part of retailers in car lots. The chief feature of the city trade the past week has been a little excitement caused by one manufacturer entering the market to the extent of 1,000 barrels of granulated. It is generally considered that the prospects are for a steady trade for some time to come, while the question of higher prices will depend on the outside markets. Wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅝c.; yellows, 3⅞c. up; Demerara in bags is being offered at $3 75 to $3.85 per 100 lbs.

SPICES.

A further advance in the primary markets is to be noted in the price of cream of tartar. Prices here remain as before. The spice trade generally is fair for the season. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

The demand for rice continues fairly good for the season at the ruling price of 3½ to 3⅝c. for ordinary, and 5¼c. for Japan. There is also a good demand for tapioca.

NUTS.

Business continues quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Brazil nuts, 14 to 15c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10⅝ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

Teas have, on the whole, been on the quiet side. Owing to the excellent value offering in medium Ceylon teas several wholesalers have been unable to resist the temptation, and consequently have been sorting up in a few lines. There has also been considerable movement in low grade Young Hysons, owing to the slaughtered prices at which they have been offered. All the lowest grades have, however, been practically cleaned out. A few round lots of good medium Japans, at low prices, have been sold by jobbers in order that they may have a clean sheet when the new season begins. There are a few lines of China blacks moving, but in general trade in this line is dull. Ruling prices to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

The special feature to be noted in dried fruits is the firmer feeling in California goods in consequence of the damage by frost on the Coast, particulars of which will be found in our editorial pages. There has been no change in prices here as yet. The demand for California dried and evaporated fruits continues fairly active for this time of the year, although, of course, the demand is not as brisk as it was. We quote: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 5¾ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.; loose muscatels, 4½ to 6¾c. per lb.

Currants continue in steady demand at unchanged prices. We quote: Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

Valencia raisins are not occupying much attention, but prices are steady. We quote: Off-stalk 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; selected, 6 to 6¼c., and layers, 6½c.

The demand for prunes continues to evince a disposition to fall off, although there is a fair quantity of California prunes going out. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Bosnias,

Sultana raisins are quiet and unchanged at 5½ to 6c.

Eleme figs are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Eleme, 14 oz., 9 to 10½c.; 10 lb., 9½ to 12½c.; 12 lb., 12½c.; 28 lb, 15c.

Dates still rule quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are still selling well, but for the California oranges the demand is only moderate. Prices are unchanged. The demand for lemons keeps steady, with prices as before. Bananas are scarce and prices higher. At the ship's side they are worth $2. Pine apples continue scarce, very few coming on this market. The demand for apples is limited, and what comes in is just about enough to supply it. Prices are higher, first-class Spies being quoted at $5 per bbl. We quote: Lemons—Messina, $2.50 to $3 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $3 75 to $4.50, according to size; ditto seedlings, $3 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $5.50 to $6; Jumbo's, 420's, $6.75 to $7; ditto, 714's, $6.75 to $7; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2 75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $1 85 to $2; ditto, boxes, $3 50 to $4. Bananas, $1.75 to $2.75; cocoanuts, $5.50 to $6 a sack; apples, Spies, $4.50 to $5, Ben Davis, $3 to $4; Russets, $3 to $4; domestic onions, 75c. per bag; Bermuda onions, $2 per small crate; pineapples, 15 to 30c.; sweet potatoes, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; cranberries, $5 to $8 per bbl., and $2.50 to $3 per case, according to quality.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of butter continue to increase, but all coming in is fodder stuff, and although it is sweet, yet its keeping qualities are poor. Consequently dealers work it off as quickly as they possibly can, and in doing this will not hesitate to shade prices. Prices are consequently lower than they were a week ago, but in spite of this stocks are accumulating. The receipts of creamery butter are also large and prices weaker. On account of the price of dairy butter the demand is naturally not very brisk for creamery butter. We quote: Dairy large rolls, 12 to 13c. and pound prints, 13 to 15c. Creamery butter — Tubs, 17 to 18c.; do., pound prints, 18 to 20c.

CHEESE—The market is draggy, although a little improvement in the export demand is to be noted, but this demand does not seem to warrant dealers exporting their surplus stock. We quote late makes at 8 to 8½c.; other kinds 7½ to 8c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is no change to note, demand still being light at 90c. to $1 per bushel.

DRIED APPLES—There is very little doing, and prices are nominally what they were before, viz., 3½ to 4c. in a jobbing way.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There seems to be a little better demand in some quarters for this article, and although as high as 6½c. has been obtained in a jobbing way for choice stock, the ruling figures are still about 5½ to 6c.

EGGS—Receipts of eggs continue very large, but the demand is good and stocks are being pretty well cleaned out. The price appears to be steady at 10c. Some of the dealers are taking advantage of present prices to begin pickling operations, although it is claimed that some houses that last year were prominent picklers will this year not put any down.

HONEY—There is very little doing, and prices are nominally unchanged. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—The market is still without any supplies, and quotations are purely nominal. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

POTATOES — Deliveries from farmers' wagons continue free at about 25c., and the market is still weak. As stocks, however, in dealers' hands are light, a steadier feeling is looked for when the farmers are compelled to turn their attention to spring work. Prices on the track by the carload are nominally 20c.; out of store dealers are asking 25 to 30c. per bag.

MAPLE SYRUP—There is a good deal of talk about the small yield this spring, but whether that is true or no there is an abundance on the market at present, and some low prices, it is said, are being quoted. The demand is good, and we quote as before: Wine-gallon tins are selling at 70 to 75c.; Imperial gallon at 90 to 95c.; 5-gallon tins at 80 to 85c. per gallon.

FISH.

The situation is again becoming more interesting, although the demand as yet is not active. Dealers are now beginning to get in trout and lake fish from Georgian Bay and Lake Erie. From this out an improved trade is looked for. In consequence of the few arrivals of fresh fish, prices on some kinds are a little lower. We quote : Skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; haddock, 5 to 6c.; Labrador herring, $3.25 to $3.50 half barrel and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel ; Newfoundland herring, $2.50 per half barrel, and $4.50 to $4.75 per barrel ; fresh water salt herring, $3 per barrel ; Lake Erie herring, 3 to 4c. per lb.; blue-back herring, 4c. ; pike, 5c. per lb.; flitched cod, 5c. ; finnan haddies, 7c. ; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 11c.; ditto, lengthwise, 10c.; large halibut, 12 to 15c. ; Restigouche salmon, 20 to 25c. ; British Columbia salmon, 15 to 18c.; mackerel, 20 to 25c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.: haddock, 5c.; black bass, 9 to 10½c.; white fish, 7c.; salmon trout, 7c.; Lake Superior whitefish, 7½c. ; Lake Erie whitefish, 7 to 8c. per lb.

SEEDS.

The demand for timothy has been heavy during the past week. Clover has been going out in moderate quantities for the season. The same may be said of alsike. We quote : Red clover, $4.80 to $5.40 ; timothy, $2 to $2 25 ; Alsike, $3.50 to $4 80 per bush.

SALT.

Trade continues fair at unchanged prices. We quote at Toronto : In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.50 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote : F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES — Unchanged, with limited demand. Dealers pay 5c. for No. 1, 4c. for No. 2, 3c. for No. 3. Cured hides quoted at 5½ to 5¾c.

CALFSKINS—6c. for No. 1 and 4c. for No. 2. Sheepskins are firm at $1.10 to $1.25.

WOOL—Trade dull and prices unchanged.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN—Street receipts continue small, and prices much as before. We quote: White wheat, 79 to 80c.; red, 77 to 78c.; goose, 58 to 60c.; barley, 34 to 38c.; oats, 27 to 27½c.; peas, 52 to 54c.; buckwheat, 37 to 38c.

HAY—Baled hay is quiet, with sales of No. 1 at $15; No. 2, $12.50 to $13.50.

FLOUR—Ontario flours are unchanged, but those of Manitoba production are a little weaker on account of the opening of navigation. The demand for flour is general, but it is not for large lots. We quote: Straight roller, $3.60 to $3.65, carload lots, Toronto freights, and $3 85 to $4 in job lots; Manitoba patents, $3.75 to $4 per bbl.; Ontario patents, $3.85 to $4.05 per bbl.; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.60 to $3.70.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Business is still only moderate. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.95 to $3; rolled wheat, $2.25 to $2.30 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to$3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

MARKET NOTES.

Apples are dearer.

Butter is lower in price on account of liberal receipts.

Owing to the high price and scarcity of peas, increased attention is being given to beans.

Low and medium grades of salmon are scarce.

Lard is quoted fractionally lower.

New maple sugar is selling at 10c. per lb.

Bellhouse, Dillon & Co., 30 St. Francis Xavier street, Montreal, have opened an office in Toronto at 47 Wellington street east. Mr. S. G. Grimston is in charge.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, April 30, 1896.

GROCERIES.

COMPLAINTS are general here about backward trade, and though some jobbers state that they are doing as much as they did last year, the great number complain that business is contracted with them. Buyers are only taking for actual wants, this disposition to supply only what is immediately wanted being characteristic of both the jobber and the small country dealer. Some traders expect a better trade after navigation is regularly opened, but some of the more conservative look for a narrow demand for the next three months to come until the political uncertainty is dispelled. In the meantime none of the staple lines have exhibited anything striking, and the long expected advance in refined sugar has as yet failed to materialize.

SUGAR.

There has been no change in the local sugar market. Business in refined sugar here is very moderate, buyers only ordering for immediate wants, despite the fact that advances have been expected daily. Raw sugar abroad continues active and pretty firm, and the refined article in New York is firm also. At the refineries granulated sells at 4⅝c. in 250-barrel lots and over; 4 11-16c. in 100-barrel lots, and 4¾c. in smaller quantities. Yellows range from 3¾c. to 4¼c., as to quality, at the factory. In a jobbing way we quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; bright yellows, 4 to 4¼c., and darker grades 3¾ to 3⅞c.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups has continued very quiet. Stocks, however, are light, both in first and second hands, and prices are steady. Sales at the refinery are noted at 1½ to 2¾c., but we quote dark grades in a jobbing way 1⅝ to 1¾c. and bright 2¼ to 3c.

MOLASSES.

There has been more movement in molasses since our last report, but still the market does not furnish any extended volume of business. Barbadoes has been placed to arrive to the extent of 1,500 to 2,000 puncheons at 29 to 29½c. New crop Porto Rico has been selling at 31c., as we noted last week, and some Antigua has been offering at 29c. At the island the first cost of Barbadoes is still cabled at 12c. In a jobbing way the prices are still unchanged, but they will soon have to come down. We quote: Barbadoes, 35 to 37c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 35c.

RICE.

The rice market is quiet and there is nothing to note. We quote: Japan standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

The spice market continues quiet, and there are few features to report except the strength displayed by cream of tartar abroad, where it has been advancing sharply recently. Spot prices, however, are unchanged. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.

COFFEE.

Business in coffee continues very slow, and, outside of a small hand-to-mouth jobbing movement, there is absolutely nothing to report. We quote: Rio, 16½ to 20c.; Maracaibo, 19 to 21c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29 to 32c.

TEAS.

The tea market is very dull, what small movement there is being confined to supplying actual and immediate necessities. Buyers at present will not go beyond that either in the jobbing or wholesale lines. As a result, the volume of business passing is hardly noticeable. We quote: Young Hysons 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The reports from the Coast tend to strengthen the firm feeling on California raisins, coupled with the very light supplies in both first and second hands on spot. With the exception of 2-crown fruit, there is nothing to spare, as holders want all the 3 and 4-crown they have got for their own trade. In New York both these grades exhibit a firmer tendency. We quote values firm at 6½ to 7c. for 4-crown; 5½ for 3-crown, and 4¼ to 4½ for 2-crown loose muscatels.

Valencia raisins are firm, but demand is not brisk, as the consumption is decreasing. We quote: Ordinary, 4 to 4¼c.; fine, 4½ to 5c., and selected, 5¼ to 6c., with layers 6c.

Sultanas are without change, and in moderate jobbing request at 5½c.

There is nothing new in currants, the demand for which is of a light jobbing character. We quote: Barrels, 4 to 4¼c.; half-barrels, 4½ to 5c., and cases, 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

Remarks made last week regarding prunes can be repeated regarding the scarcity of European stock and the small receipts of California are readily observed. We quote:

HAMILTON

French, 5 to 5½c., and Austrian, 6 to 6½c. California and Oregons range from 5½ to 12c.

Figs are quiet and steady in a jobbing way. We quote: Bags, 4¼c.; ordinary boxes, 8½ to 9c., and fancy, 12 to 17c.

Dates are quiet and featureless at 4½ to 5c.

NUTS.

There is nothing to report in this market. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a moderate trade passing in canned goods, but with few facts of any striking interest. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 85c.; corn, 70 to 80c.; peas, 95c. to $1 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.35 to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.25; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

Naturally, all the interest in the fruit market this week centres in the sale of the first steamer's cargo, the ss. Fremona's, which will be auctioned on Tuesday next. In the meantime prices in a wholesale way are largely nominal on oranges and lemons. We quote as follows: Oranges — Valencias, 420's, $4.50 to $5, and 714's, $6. Lemons, $2 to $2.50. Grapes, $5 to $6 per keg. Apples, $2 to $4 per bbl. Dried do. 3½c. Evaporated do., 5¾ to 6½c. Spanish onions, 30 to 40c. per crate. Pineapples, 25 to 40c. as to size; bananas, $1 to $2.

FISH.

There is no change in the fish market. We quote as follows: Fresh haddock, 2⅞c. per lb.; Choice pickled Labrador herrings, $5.25; No. 1 N.S., $3 to $4; No. 1 green cod, $3.50 to $4; No. 2, $1.75 to $2; No. 1 haddock, $3; No. 1 large codfish, $6; No. 1 lake trout, $4 to $4.25; B.C. salmon, $10.50; No. 2 Labrador salmon, $13; No. 1 mackerel, $18.50; Loch Fyne herrings, 85c. per keg, and $11 per bbl.; No. 1 sardines, $4 50; No. 1 dried cod, $4 to $4.25; boneless cod, 6c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¼c.; boneless haddock, 5c.; shredded, 11c.; haddies, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.; bloaters, 90c. per box, and smoked herrings, 8 to 9c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

There has been no improvement in the provision market since last report. Demand for all lines is strictly confined to supplying actual wants. We quote as follows: Canadian short cut, clear, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short cut, mess, $13 to $13.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 7½ to 9½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market has declined still further under increased receipts, but demand is good at the decline, and packers have commenced to put away stock. We quote prices steady at 10 to 10½c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS — The demand for maple syrup was fair, and values were steady at 4½ to 5c. per lb. in wood, and 50 to 55c. per tin. In sugar, business was quiet at 7 to 7½c. per lb.

BEANS— Choice hand-picked pea beans in car lots were offered at 90 to 95c., but no sales were reported. In a jobbing way business was done at $1 to $1.05.

POTATOES—The market for potatoes was quiet at 28 to 30c. in car lots, and at 35 to 40c. in a jobbing way.

HOPS—Are steady, but very quiet at 8c. for A1 quality.

HONEY—Comb honey sells at 12c. for bright, and 10c. for dark.

ONIONS — There is no change in onions, which sold in car lots at $1.60 for yellow, and $2.50 for red.

TALLOW—Was dull, but steady at 5c.

HAY.

Receipts of hay do not show any increase and the market is quiet and steady. No. 1 held at $13 to $14 per ton.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.

There has been little change in the situation of the flour market, business being of moderate volume. We quote: Winter wheat, $4.10 to $4.25; straight roller, $3.75 to $3.80; straght roller, bags, $1.75 to $1.90; extra, bags, $1.55 to $1.65; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.40 to $375.

Business in oatmeal continues of a small jobbing character, and although holders are offering rolled oats in car lots at $2.75 to $2.85, buyers hold off. We quote as follows: Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10; granulated, barrels, $3 10 to $3.20; rolled oats, barrels, $2.80 to $2.90; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.

The demand for feed continues good, and bran and shorts are moving freely at quotations: Bran, $14 to $15; shorts, $15 to $16; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Stocks of cheese have been almost cleaned up here and prices are purely nominal.

Butter has ruled very heavy under steadily increasing receipts, and prices are 3 full cents below what they were a week ago. We quote: Fine, fresh creamery 17 to 17½c., and Townships, 15 to 15½c.

ASHES.

The ashes market was dull but steady. We quote: First pots, $3.75; seconds, $3.50, and pearls, $5.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The long-expected advance in local sugar refiners' prices has not yet materialized.

The Guild prices on both Barbadoes and other molasses are now out of all proportion to the cost at which fresh supplies can be laid down.

Sultana raisins have advanced sharply in England, and to lay down any fresh stock here on the basis of previous quotations would cost fully 6c.

Nearly all the small sizes in both California and Oregon prunes have been cleaned up here, and as a result it is doubtful if a buyer could do better now than 6c.

The first sale of Mediterranean green fruit, as will be seen elsewhere, takes place on Tuesday morning next, opening at 10 o'clock.

The only European prunes in first hands on this market are a small lot of medium to large-sized goods. These could not be moved for less than 6c. net cash in straight lots.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 30, 1896.

DURING the past week a fair business has been reported, but moving has somewhat interfered. It is a strange thing how many people move every year. One family moves out of a house because they are not satisfied, and another family moves in feeling that they have found a house to suit them, at least better than the last. The ice moving out of the river has given some little trouble in the harbor, but particularly in the river to the steamers running. This is, however, past and river shipments are going forward, with quantities of produce, cordwood, etc., coming down. Prices have shown little of interest. Beans, are again quoted lower, though with a rather firmer market. New cheese are quoted. In sugar the market still hangs, but with a firm feeling. Flour seems unsatisfactory. Molasses is easy and during the week movement was quite large. Small quantities of Canadian butter have been received.

OIL—Everything is quiet. The season for burning oil is over, and merchants selling lubricating find users have largely bought. Prices show no change. We quote: American burning oil, 23¼c.; best Canadian, 21½ to 21¾c.; prime, 19c. No charge for barrels.

SALT—The first cargo by sailer is to hand, the barqe Mangnhild landing upwards of 8,000 sacks. It is rather strange that while Norway, Scotland, and even the north shore of our own province, use English salt for packing fish, it is not used at Bay of Fundy points. Turks Island was used at these places, but of late years Trappani salt has been imported. It comes via Boston. About 150 tons was brought here this spring in cartoons, which has become so popular here, particularly for table use, largely taking the place of English bottled salt. The American, which but a short time ago was largely imported, has been almost driven from the market by the Canadian cartoons, which, while equal in quality, sell at a lower price. Quite a demand is noted for cheese salt. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; fine factory-filled, $1.10; 5-lb. bags, $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; salt, bulk, $2.70 to $2.80 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—Stocks are equal to demand, and even peas, which took quite a start, are offered, and find few buyers. Corn, as noted, is being offered by canners freely below the price last fall. Tomatoes tend firmer, though there is no change in price here. A good demand for above lines is reported. Fruits move more slowly. Some American peaches sold here last fall are not giving satisfaction, the quality being much below Canadian. Salmon and haddie have a good movement at firm prices. Lobsters tend firmer. In corned beef there is a fair demand. The English potted meats and fish are taking quite a hold on the market. The can retails at 5c., but though small, it makes a great many sandwiches. We quote: Corn, 80 to 90c.; peas, 95 to $1; tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; gallon apples, $2 to $2.25; corned beef, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.70; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, $2.45 to $2.85; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2 to $2.40; salmon, $1.40 to $1.50; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; haddies, $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

GREEN FRUIT—There is a good sale. Bananas arrive freely and are in good demand. Valencia oranges are large stock, but the season is about over, and quality is but fair. Californias, as before noted, are very dull. Quality is such they find little sale. Messinas are to hand and nice, but while Valencias are cheaper it affects sale. They are largely sold in half-boxes. Blood oranges in half-boxes are also plentiful. Apples are dull; there is little demand, and stocks of best quality limited. Prices keep high. Cranberries move slowly. We quote: Apples, $2 to $3.50; lemons, $2.50 to $3; Valencia oranges, $3.50 to $6; California oranges, seedlings, $2; navels, $3; pineapples, 20 to 25c.; cranberries, $3.25 per box; bananas, $1.50 to $2.50.

DRIED FRUIT—There is still a light movement in all lines. Currants, cleaned (both bulk and cartoons), show a fair movement. In raisins little is doing. Dried apples are very dull, and sales from first hands at under 4c. have been reported, but there is no demand. In California prunes, while American advices are higher, there is no change here and market is dull. Quite large quantities of foreign have been received. Canadian barrel onions are out of the market and Americans want to be repacked. Bermudas are offered freely. A large quantity of cocoanuts in the husks arrived this week. Of late this has been quite a distributing point for cocoanuts. We quote as follows: Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; layers, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M. 4-crown, 6 to 7c.; 3-crown, 5 to 6c.; London layers, $1.70 to $1.85. Currants, bbls., 3¾ to 4c.; cases, 4¼ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½c.: prunes, kegs, 4c.; boxes, 6 to 7c.; half-boxes, 7 to 8c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 5c.; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c.; California evaporated peaches, 8 to 13c.; apricots, 12 to 14c.; pears, 12 to 14c.; onions, $1.00 to $2.00; cocoanuts, $3 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 8c.; Bermuda onions, $1.75 per crate.

DAIRY PRODUCE—There is little new. Eggs are arriving more freely, and prices have dropped off three to four cents. There is a fair movement. Buyers begin to be more careful about quality, and will be, so shippers should be very careful. It will pay them to see they ship only good eggs, and to put their names on their cases. In butter, there is still quite a stock of poor held. New comes in slowly and good butter is in demand. Some little Canadian is seen, and there would be more, but shippers have in the past sent some very poor here for good, and many of our buyers are afraid to touch it. Cheese finds fair sales, but at low prices. Some new Canadian, or, rather, one should say, Ontario, have been bought to be shipped May 1. These are about a month earlier than our own, which, when they begin to arrive, more than supply all local demand. If the cheese makers want to improve the market, they will do well to sell only to wholesalers; and not at all to retailers We quote: Common dairy butter, 15 to 16c.; dairy, 17 to 18c.; new creamery prints, 22 to 23c.; cheese, 8½ to 9c.; creamery, tubs, 20 to 21c.; eggs, 10 to 11c. by case.

SUGAR—There are still good stocks held here. Yellows continue to come in at prices which are in some cases rather easier. The feeling is still, however, general that higher prices will rule. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—The cargo of Porto Rico which has been landing has proved to have a large outage, which must have added considerable to its cost. Its owners have, however, pushed the sale and some low prices are reported. Quite a quantity was sold from the wharf. This grade is taking hold on the market, and only the lower price helps to keep the demand for Barbadoes. It gets much more difficult every year to sell poor molasses. New Orleans in barrels continues to have a better demand than last season. It is geeting a strong hold on this market. We quote as follows: Barbadoes, 33 to 34c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 36c., bbls.; New Orleans, 30 to 36c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Antigua, 28 to 30c.

FISH—The catch of Gaspereaux continues light. The large run of ice from the river has very much interfered, but on the whole it is better than last week. There is ready sale. A good demand continues for the smoked; large quantities are shipped to Bangor, where, particularly early in the season, there is a large demand at good prices. Small quantities of dry cod and pollock are arriving, but sale is dull. For hake there is no sale. Haddock for smoking still continue to be imported from Boston. Smoked herring move slowly; even the extreme low prices fail to create a demand. Pickled fish also move slowly. Western salmon for retail trade arrives in small quantities. We quote: Large cod, $3.50 to $3.75; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.30; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; new smoked, 4 to 5c.; Canso, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; shad, half-bbl., $5; Shelburne, $2.75 bbl., $1.65 half-bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Gaspereaux, 60 to 70c.; smoked do, $1 to $1.10 per 100.

PROVISIONS—Prices show no improvement, but there is better demand. Stocks of clear pork and lard are still large. In mess pork the market is very largely supplied by local packers. Smoked meats show fair movement; the larger quantity arriving was bought ahead. Prices did not advance, as was expected. We quote: Clear pork, $15 to $15.50; mess, $14 to $14.50; beef, $13 to $14; domestic mess pork, $14 to $14.25; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; pure lard, 9 to 9¼c.; compound, 7¾ to 8c.

FLOUR, FEED AND SEED—The flour market is in a strange condition. While higher prices are talked of and seem to be believed in, markets are if anything easier. Very little is arriving here, as stocks are still large. There is a fair movement. Oatmeal is steady, with the usual demand. Cornmeal shows a large sale at the low price and local millers are busy. Beans continue to be quoted rather lower from week to week, though some advices received from Ontario are firmer. It would seem as if farmers are holding for better prices. Peas and barley are easy, but in small demand. Oats show no change. Canadian shippers would do well to be more careful about the quality sent here, as a number of complaints have been heard. Hay shows no change. Demand for seed has been large, but dealers are well supplied, principally American seed being here. We quote: Manitoba, $4.60 to $4.65; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4.60; medium, $4.40 to $4.50; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.50; cornmeal, $2.10 to $2.15; middlings, $19 to $20 on track; bran, $18 to $19; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 95c.; oats, 34 to 35c.; hay, $12.50 to $13; barley, $4; round peas, $3 65; split peas, $3.70 to $3.80; yellow-eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat, native, $1.30 to $1.35; American timothy, $2; Canadian timothy, $2.75; red clover, 9 to 9¼c.; alsike, 9¼ to 9½c.; mammoth, 9¼ to 9½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

George S. De Forest & Son, so long doing business on the South Wharf, are now in their new stand on the North Wharf, having much larger quarters, with large and very conveniently arranged offices.

C. M. Bostwick & Co. lost their large mill at Salmon River this week by fire. The mill was about ready to start on the season's work.

Freight rates are often a matter of surprise. St. John merchants have to pay a higher rate to Woodstock than to Edmundston, though Woodstock is only about half way. Goods can be shipped to Edmundston at car rate and back to Grand Falls, local rate, almost as cheap as car rate to Grand Falls.

River trade is now open in earnest. The first shipment of shingles came down this week, consisting of 1,100,000.

It is expected the Government of Prince Edward Island will build a cold storage warehouse at Charlottetown. It is much needed on account of the large and growing dairy interests there.

The Woodstock Board of Trade has decided to affiliate with the Maritime Board. At their last meeting C. P. R. freight rates were under consideration.

Reports from Prince Edward Island in regard to lobster packing are that the season is backward. About the same quantity, it is thought, will be packed as usual. At present, prices are held firm, and foreign buyers are backward. The catch has fallen off at many points. The report from Grand Manan is not a bright one; while the lobsters are scarce the prices paid are low. At both of these points this business is one of importance. The feeling on the whole is rather firmer, though it is doubtful if demand is such as to hold price, should pack be larger than now expected.

A BISCUIT FIRM'S TIMELY IDEA.

Huntley & Palmers have got out some advertising circulars that are sure to be appreciated at this time, when the Army and Navy are occupying so much of the popular attention both in the Mother Country and colonies. The face is a neat colored illustration depicting the various corps in the Imperial service, while the back tells all about the firm's famous biscuits.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. I A. Preston has joined the traveling staff of Lucas, Steele & Bristol, and will start out next week on his old trip. We are sure his friends will be pleased to see him. Mr. Preston was formerly with Messrs. H. P. Eckardt & Co.

Mr. Geo. F. Anderson, cashier of the Pure Gold Mfg., Co., is again going around wearing a parental smile. It's a boy.

Mr. Henry W. Waddell, of Chatham, has bought the stock of the late N. Hall, of Port Lambton. He is thoroughly overhauling the place, cutting an arch between the two stores and repainting. When finished it will make a fine general store, which the people of Lambton and surrounding country needed very much. We wish Mr. Waddell success.

E. R. Lewis, representing Telfer Bros., manufacturers, Collingwood, Ont., was in Brandon last week on his way to the Coast. Mr. Lewis formerly traveled in Manitoba and the West. He is now renewing acquaintances with his many old friends, and is receiving substantial orders for his well-known firm.

DRESSING SHOW WINDOWS.

By Harry Harman.

IN dressing show windows the ultimate object must be to attract the attention not only of the observant passer-by, but of the careless and indifferent as well. The most effective way to dress it, so as to attract that attention, is to have the goods displayed in an artistic and businesslike manner. The window is to be an illustrated advertisement, in which are presented samples of the goods offered for sale.

Don't crowd your goods; give them plenty of room. Too much in a window confuses the eye. Your glass should be scrupulously clean, as even the best display will not have much effect if viewed through a dust-covered, or rain-streaked window. Have the window frames and the woodwork nicely painted. The front of your store should also be nicely painted and clean. Have the windows partitioned from the rest of the store, so as to exclude dust and insects. Have this partition of glass, if possible, and so arranged that you can easily enter the window. If the partition is of glass, people can easily point out to you goods in the window that they wish to examine, but cannot describe.

How are windows to be dressed to draw attention of the public to your store. This may be classified into two parts, first to catch the eye of the passer-by, second to retain his attention by having the display so arranged as to interest him. The first object can be obtained in several ways. It can be best obtained by a feature, and the "features" are what bring in the customers; but the grocer says, how can I introduce this novel style of window dressing when I don't have the time to think up ideas? You don't have to think them up, for in Harman's book on window dressing for grocers, you get 57 illustrated ideas for $1, you can change your window every week, and still make a change of goods by using the same idea. The fact of novel windows will increase sales, advertises the business, and a reputation is established for being progressive, enterprising and strictly up to date.

HAVE AN UNDERSTANDING.

It is certainly poor policy to allow a customer credit with the understanding that he will pay as soon as he gets the money, for this is rather indefinite, and you run a big risk, remarks Denver Commercial Tribune. When credit is given, it should always be for some specified time, and a bill should be promptly presented at that time. Every grocer and butcher, if possible, should set an amount he would place out on credit, and try to keep within that amount. People can pay a 30 days' grocery or meat bill far easier than they can a 60-days' note, and the ones who keep their collections up close are the ones who have the smallest losses. Goods on the shelf are far better than goods on the book, especially when your bills are due and you are not able to make collections.

TREATMENT OF SLOW ACCOUNTS.

In regard to our usual forms in use in our credit departments, writes C. T. Allen in The Lawyer and Credit Man, I would say I have no special form, only my special form of ledger, which is a four-money-column ledger, with the usual space for itemizing next to the date account. These money columns are headed like this :

First, the usual ruling space for date, next item, next money column headed Debit ; next money column headed Credit ; next money column headed Debit Balance ; next money column headed Credit Balance.

When an account becomes old and slow I turn it into a special page for this purpose, which enables me to keep these accounts and parties before the bookkeeper whenever a trial balance is taken off. Then about once a month I take up and pound these slow debtors, and when I find that ineffectual I turn it into the hands of some attorney.

I find the best manner to handle such claims is to give the parties an extra thirty days, and then, so to speak, go for them with both feet when another thirty days has rolled around. Of course, this makes three or four months' time, but when kind words do not prove effectual, then I usually use every means I can to either secure the debt or get my pay.

All such debts I mark upon my ledger, and always afterwards insist that these parties shall send money to us in advance of shipping them any goods. I trust this is about what you want, and in the experience I have had for a good many years, I find it about as effectual as anything. Of course, I always endeavor to treat my customers with the greatest courtesy, but when that is exhausted I use any means that the law or tact will enable me to use to secure my ends.

THE PROPER SORT OF WRAPPING PAPER.

The manner in which packages are put up has a great deal to do with the business of a retail store, says an exchange. The grocer who makes the neatest package will have the most trade, other things being equal. The store which puts up eggs in compartment boxes sells more eggs than the one which puts a dozen into a paper bag. Even the paper and twine around purchases have much to do with a store's prosperity. The storekeeper who uses rough brown paper cannot expect to compete with his rival across the street who uses manilla.

There is at least one city in France which prescribes by law the sort of wrapping paper which shall be used in making up parcels of food products. The use of colored paper in wrapping up articles of food is absolutely forbidden. Printed paper and old manuscripts may be used only for dried vegetables. For all other articles of food only new paper is allowable, either white or straw tinted. There is much good sense in these restrictions. They insure the delivery of food products untainted by odors from the wrapping paper.

DISCOURAGED ORANGE GROWERS.

Orange-growing, according to an exchange, is being abandoned on the peninsula of Lower California, and the orchardists are cutting down the trees and planting the land with coffee, cotton and sugar cane. The low prices obtained for oranges lately grown on the peninsula have discouraged the growers, and they believe more profits will be derived from the other products, especially cotton, which grows well.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

SMITH & KEIGHLEY are in receipt of a carload of sockeye salmon, "Three R" brand, which they are offering at $1.25 per dozen.

Davidson & Hay offer California prunes at close figures.

Dawson & Co. have a carload of Valencia oranges arriving.

A carload of molasses arrived this week for Davidson & Hay.

H. P. Gould & Co. have a nice line of full cream cheese, just received. They say it is selling well.

The Pure Gold Mfg. Co. are in receipt of another large batch of orders from their African agents.

The Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co. are pushing a new biscuit, called "Pineapple Wafers," that is taking well.

C. & E. Macmichael, St. John, N.B., have been appointed agents for "Lightning" tapioca. They carry a stock always on hand.

"The trade are well pleased with the new 'East India' pickles, and large orders are the result," say A. E. Richards & Co.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have a splendid range of California evaporated peaches, in bags, showing excellent quality and value.

W. H. Gillard & Co. state that their customers of last year for Pilgrim's summer beverages are rapidly coming back with the approach of hot weather.

"Tanglefoot" is packed ten boxes in a case. Single cases sell at $4. It is for sale by Lucas, Steele & Bristol. They have just received a large consignment.

Theo. H. Estabrooks, St. John, N.B., received this week some 8,000 cocoanuts, unhusked, which are sold either as they are, or husked. He ships large quantities west.

A. P. Tippet & Co. have a large shipment of Stower's lime fruit juice cordial and lemon squash on the Montevidean, which is due next week. This lot is nearly all sold to arrive.

"Stower's goods? Oh, yes," report Lucas, Steele & Bristol, of Hamilton, "we have handled them for years. We find the cordial the best seller. Their lime juice is absolutely pure."

W. H. Gillard & Co., wholesale agents for Western Ontario for Gillard's new pickle (London, Eng.), are just in receipt of a large consignment of these goods, and anticipate active sales.

A. E. Richards & Co., Hamilton, note a good demand for Knox's "Egg Preserver." This preparation will do all that is claimed for it, and wherever it has been used dealers would not be without it.

Cream of tartar, which fell off from its high price so quickly, has recovered about 10s., and is firm. F. H. Tippet, St. John, N.B., reports upward of twenty casks sold at about the lowest point touched.

T. A. Lytle & Co. report a large number of repeat orders for Eastern Townships maple syrup. The demand is greater than they expected, but they are filling orders with as little delay as possible.

A reputation of one hundred and fifty-four years, all over the world, is enjoyed by very few firms. Yet, such is the enviable position of Keen, Robinson & Co., Ltd., of London, Eng., the manufacturers of Keen's mustard, Oxford blue and Robinson's patent groats. The Canadian agents, Frank Magor & Co., report a very fair spring opening of business in all these lines.

The "Dannawalla" blend of tea now offering by Lucas, Steele & Bristol, retails at 50c. The Acme cases contain about 50 lbs. each. Samples mailed on application. Their experience is always at the service of their friends.

A. F. Randolph & Sons, of St. John, N.B., have placed their second order for Maconochie's pickles this spring. These goods are having a much larger sale this season than last. J. Hunter White is the representative for New Brunswick.

Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, report improved business in their specialties during the past week, especially in Southwell's new season's marmalades, jams and jellies. Goods of this superior brand do not remain long on the shelf. They sell.

Davidson & Hay, wholesale agents for "Kurma" tea, are this week introducing their new package of this tea, packed in lbs., straight black and mixed, to retail at 25c. It is attractively labelled and great care is taken in the blending and packing.

Rose & Laflamme, St. Paul street, Montreal, have on the ss. Concordia, which is expected shortly, a shipment of Patterson's camp coffee essence, Worcester sauce, and other preparations. The same vessel also carries a shipment of Batger's new season marmalade in 1, 4 and 7 pound jars for the same firm.

Buyers who want to fill up blanks in stock with either Malaga raisins or Grenoble walnuts have a chance to hear of a bargain in these goods by writing Laporte, Martin & Cie, St. Peter street, Montreal. This firm are closing out the balance of their stock of these goods at close figures. They will be happy to quote figures on both lines to any readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER who care to write them.

Every one of your customers ought to buy a box of "Tanglefoot." They will if you properly urge them. Besides doing yourself a good turn, with the 100 per cent. profit, you are actually conferring a benefit upon your customers, for flies are not only a source of annoyance and uncleanliness, but are also a source of danger to health. The more liberally your customers use "Tanglefoot" the better the result and the greater necessity it becomes to them.

PUREST & BEST

The Largest Creamery in Canada

Is situated at Renfrew, Ont. Their output of Butter has a high reputation. In order to obtain it and keep the quality, they must use the best obtainable ingredients. They use "WINDSOR" SALT exclusively. Under date of December 17th, 1895, Mr. Wright has this to say :—

* * * * For your convenience I may add that it is certainly the finest salt we ever used. There may be as good, but I have never used it, It might interest you to know how we came to use it. For many years before starting our Creamery, I used English salt in my dairy, exclusively Hearing of yours I sent for a sample, which was promptly forwarded, and we used it with our next churning. Although we used the same quantity we had always used, so much greater strength was there in your Windsor brand, that our butter was so salt that we could hardly use it. We then greatly reduced the quantity, and found it to work admirably, and consequently have used it ever since. When we opened our Creamery, Windsor Salt was at once adopted, and we have never had any reason to regret it. The barrels are well made, and being lined with paper it prevents any dirt or dust from getting in. This I consider a very important factor, and so long as you send us the same quality as you have been doing, it will require very strong inducements to cause us to use any other. You will of course understand from this that it was the Windsor Salt we used in our butter which took the Gold Medal at Ottawa in Sept. last.

(Signed) A. A. WRIGHT, Manager Renfrew Creamery Co., Ltd.

Grocers can obtain "WINDSOR" Dairy Salt, from any wholesale house, put up in 50lb. Linen Sacks and in 20lb. White Cotton Bags packed 15 in a paper lined Barrel.

Open Pan Salt

What is it? It is salt made by the OPEN PAN PROCESS. This is the method of manufacturing salt universally adopted in England, where so much good salt is made.

OPEN PAN SALT . . .
Is no experiment. It has been tried for years and never found wanting. It produces a medium grain salt that is far better for all ordinary purposes than a very fine grain.

About Canned Meats

It is the ambition of the high class grocer to carry goods just a little bit better than those of his competitors. He well knows that by so doing he builds up a reputation and a trade that cannot be wrested from him as long as he keeps the best goods. We are looking for the trade of the fancy grocers of Canada. We have no startling bargains to offer, as far as prices are concerned, but we have the finest and most attractive line of Canned Meats ever put up. Our prices are right, it is true, but we don't make any special merit of that. We have to make right prices or go out of business. But the quality of our goods—that's the consideration.

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

A cheap article is sometimes dearly bought.

Pay as you go ; and if you cannot pay, do not go.

Aim high, even if you are a little short in ability.

Inability to rhyme is no excuse for absence of poetry in business.

Most customers, men as well as women, rather like being courted.

A multiplicity of objects in life, like a multiplicity of wives, is a bad thing.

If you want to irritate a customer spell his name wrong or "pi" his initials.

Earnestness is to the man of business what steam is to the engine : it induces activity

The wide-awake merchant is not a conjurer, and yet he turns his wares into gold at will.

It is well to have a stiff backbone, but see that the stiffness does not get into your neck.

It is not every customer that is proud of his name, but he is not pleased when you forget it.

The fewer words there are in an "ad." the larger will be the number of people who will read it.

Jealousy, like sand in a piece of machinery, keeps the business from running smoothly.

Confidence is the forerunner of custom. And he who would have the latter must cultivate the former.

A merchant should not only read his trade paper himself, but should see that his clerks do the same thing. The good clerk is a good reader. Merchants might help in the premises by subscribing for a few extra copies of a good trade journal.

A successful business can no more be built up on poor goods than can a good character on bad deeds.

A clerk needs to exercise his brains while waiting on customers quite as much as he does his hands and feet.

The ideal merchant was never born, but he is a foolish business man who does not aim to be an ideal merchant.

The man who is holding his own is not usually the one who wants to cross swords with his fellow business men.

The store window, like the merchant's face, should create a good impression when it is for the first time looked at.

Some people take so long loading their gun with brilliant ideas that they die before they have a chance of firing it off.

There is money in advertising as well as in gold, but you need to know how to get it out of the one as well as the other.

Theory and practice are often as dissimilar as chalk and cheese when an attempt is made to put theory into practice.

No onus is it upon the live business man who, while he is cultivating trade, fertilizes the prejudices of his less active competitors.

Over-strained efforts to convince people you are telling the truth frequently confirms them in the belief that you are telling a lie.

Natural endowments are not the superstructure. They are the foundation. And he who would succeed must build upon them.

If a man succeeds in business he earns the jealousy of some of those he has outstripped in the race ; if he fails he often earns the contempt of those who have outstripped him.

The fruits of success are not obtained by sowing the tares of laziness.

More desirable than genius is the man in whom are combined average intelligence and energy.

Merchants should take care of their delivery wagons. It is possible that the delivery wagon will cast a reflection on the merchant.

The details of the grocery trade are no more learned in a day than are children developed into men by one week's good feeding.

It is well that every clerk should aim to be a merchant, but it is also well that every clerk so aiming should be assured that Nature aimed that he should be one.

If some men had been born with a crowbar in their mouth instead of a silver spoon they would not have been so heavily handicapped in life's race as they now are.

Had not the trade paper a good reason for its existence it would have been dead long ago, and no void would have been created by its absence either. But, like the sun, it has come to stay.

Man has been created with two feet, two hands and a set of brains, and if by one or more of these he cannot secure a moderate measure of success in this life, the sooner he gets into another, or is taken in charge by the State, the better.

If a majority of those seeking Parliamentary honors in Canada who profess so much interest for the business interests of the country, were to be converted by their own eloquence and do what they promise they will do if elected, the Dominion would be little short of a business man's Paradise ere long.

SHOW WINDOW DRESSING.

YOUR store windows, like eye-glasses, should be made to properly fit you. Through one you see the world; through the other the world sees you.

This article has but one object: to teach you briefly some valuable points in the art of effective window display. The dressing of store windows is, strictly speaking, an art, and its successful accomplishment has laid the foundation of some of the largest fortunes in retail trade.

The first step to a successful grasp of the subject is to realize what a window is. Look for one moment at the windows of any private house in a residential street in the city. What are they? They are signboards which tell you what sort of people live inside. One person in one hundred may cross the threshold and see the inmates of that house; but the remaining ninety-nine must look at the windows, and imagine from their appearance what style of persons are living behind them.

Your windows may do you great harm. You may be a person of fine instincts, of exquisite discernment, of wonderful patience, of sound judgment; but your neighbors know nothing of this. They can only judge by what they see. And what do they see as they walk by your house every day? They look at your windows and judge you accordingly.

Thus windows are tell-tales. They proclaim you to the world. They are a perpetual announcement of the taste of the unseen dwellers behind them. Perhaps 800 persons will pass your house to-day. Fifty of them know you personally; but 750 look at your windows and take their cue from them. Now leave the house and come to your store windows. You remember that Cæsar bade his soldiers at the battle of Pharsalia aim at the eyes of Pompey's men. They did so, and won a decisive victory. The man whose store windows aim at the eyes of passers-by will win a great financial victory. All that is true of the windows of a private house is doubly true of a store window. Your store window really introduces you to your customers. Is it the sort of introduction you would have? Does it vouch for the dignity and character of your establishment? You are careful how you address a new customer; but your store window addresses him as forcibly as your words.

And it addresses him oftener. It addresses him earlier, before your personality has had a chance to help you. Your window has the first chance at him, and first impressions are lasting!

Who is responsible for the appearance of your store windows? Are you getting from them all the help you can? Are they doing you any good? Are you certain that they are not quietly doing you harm?

These are potent questions. You can afford to give time to their consideration. They have had our most careful thought for years. Let them have your whole attention for an hour.

You are grasping a big thought, and every live thought on any live subject knocks the wind out of somebody or other. We want to make you dissatisfied with the slow growth of your business as it now stands. Do you remember the greatest compliment (so it is claimed) ever paid by a king to one of his subjects? It was what Louis XIV., the grand monarque of France, said to his priest Masillon: "Father, I have heard many great preachers, and I have been satisfied with them; but as for you, whenever I hear you it makes me dissatisfied with myself."

The first plunge into the subject is almost a cold shiver. It looks at first sight as if there might be something undignified in some classes of merchants bothering with dressing their windows. Do you recall the story of the hen who looked at the china egg in her nest, in a distrustful way, and ejaculated: "Great Scott! if this sort of thing goes on, I'll be a bricklayer next?" How many merchants, especially druggists, look distrustfully at the idea of a good window display, and feel that, if that undignified sort of thing goes on, they might as well become sandwich-men without further delay?

Don't be unreasonable. You have a beautiful and perfectly unnecessary notion that you will sink your dignity in your efforts at window display. Let us stare that idea right out of countenance here. Never need dignity be sacrificed. On the contrary, unless your window display be made with a scrupulous regard for dignity (as expressed by good taste), you will derive little benefit from it. Dignity always! Dignity, or nothing.

But not over-dignity. That is simply ridiculous. You remember the over-dignified dentist. He hated the very name of "dentist," and so he left it off his business card altogether and inserted instead, "Drawing, Music and Dancing: No pains spared."

Granting the dignity of it, then, why should a merchant take any time for a window display? Simply because he is in business to make money. No descendant of Shem, Ham or Japhet can do any less and stay in business. If men kept stores for their health, or for enjoyment, or for social prestige, it would be well enough to ignore window display, although the most important contributor to the dignity of the drug store would thereby be ignored.

But men are in business to make money, and they must do considerable help-yourself fighting. When the little girl was asked who made her, she held up her apron, saying: "God made me that length, and I grew the rest myself." Now, the fact that you keep a store on a prominent street will bring you in a certain amount of custom—perhaps a living. But your location and business make you that length without your help. If you want anything more than a living, you must grow the rest yourself. In all business, as a rule, men can afford to employ any honest method to make money.

Window display is a dignified and honest method. This is not a question of opinion; it is a question of fact. The records stand open for all to read. Figures cannot lie. Thousands of merchants have tried window display. Every one who tried it right has been benefited by it.

The subject is timely. "Favors lose their value by delay." The movement of ideas over this country comes in great waves. If you start in ahead of the bulk or volume of the great movement you are thrown forward strongly by it, exactly as you would be thrown ahead by a wave if you got in front of the bulk of water. So of a clear idea like window display in any business. Where there was one merchant who did it in '93, there were twenty who started it in '94. Nearly 400 more joined the procession in '95; there will be 4,000 who will be doing it next year. Don't delay. Make the partnership that Charles V made when he cried: "Myself and the lucky moment." Remember the old law maxim that rights are forfeited by disuse. Claim your right immediately.

Speaking about delays reminds us of the story of the minister who was called to another parish, but who had not been able to make up his mind whether to go or not. The deacon of the parish met the minister's little boy playing in the road, and asked him if his father had decided. "Yes," said the boy, "father's going to leave you." "Indeed," said the deacon, "I didn't know that he had made up his mind yet." "Well," said the boy, "you see, it's like this. Father he's in his room all the time, a-praying for light; but mother — she's packing the trunks!"

You don't want to sit any longer, praying for business, while the trunks are waiting to be packed.

We say again: It is results that tell the story! Do you remember how Sir Walter Raleigh once made a wager with Queen Elizabeth that he could weigh the smoke from his pipe? He won by weighing the tobacco before smoking and the ashes afterward. You can weigh the value of your window display by weighing your money-drawer before and after.

A good window display will stimulate your general business as a tonic stimulates appetite. It will bring new customers into your store. You can better afford it than half the expenses you incur. It will easily show a 40 to 50 per cent. increase in your total sales, provided you do it rightly.

For in window display, as in every other art, there are things to be avoided and things to be carefully provided. There are many ways of missing the goal; there is only one traveled way to attain it.—From "How to Dress Show Windows."

SUGAR FACTORY FOR OWEN SOUND

APPLICATION has been made to the Ontario Government for the incorporation of the Owen Sound Sugar Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

The objects for which incorporation is sought are to manufacture sugar and other products from beets and such other articles as may be necessary for such manufacture, and to purchase, sell and otherwise deal in live stock sufficient to use up the refuse from the company's factory ; to acquire and hold by purchase, lease, or other legal title, real and personal property of every description necessary to carry on said business, and to assign, dispose of, mortgage, charge or otherwise deal with the same as the said company may deem for its advantage for the purpose of the business ; to enter into, make and perform all such contracts, stipulations and agreements, and to do all such acts, deeds, matters and things as are incidental to the attainment or carrying out of the objects of the said company.

The operations of the company are to be carried on in the province of Ontario, and the chief place of business is to be Owen Sound. The amount of the capital stock is to be one hundred and fifty thousand dollars and the number of shares to be six thousand at twenty-five dollars each. The applicants are James McLauchlan, merchant ; Thomas Elvin Vanstone, merchant ; Christopher Alexander Fleming, accountant; Frederick Harrison, saw miller ; Arthur Priest, merchant ; Robert Buchart, merchant ; Oliver Brown, manufacturer ; James Vair, farmer ; John Reid, contractor ; Wesley Owens, liveryman ; Michael Robinson, gentleman ; James Henderson, agent, all of Owen Sound ; William Donaldson Forrest, of the town of Owen Sound, in the county of Grey, builder ; Thomas Cairns, of the township of Derby, farmer, and Thomas Frost, of the township of Derby, farmer.

Michael Robinson, James Henderson, Thomas Cairns, William Donaldson Forrest and Wesley Owens are to be the first directors of the company.

RAW SUGAR CARGOES.

Two cargoes of raw sugar are expected to arrive in Montreal this week. One is the steamer Parkmore, of the Johnson Line, with 2,000 tons for the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, and the other the Sicilian, with 2,500 tons for the Canada Sugar Refinery.

DRIVING OUT MARGARINE.

The British Consul at Amsterdam reports that the years of prosperity for the producers of margarine in Holland appear to have passed away for the present, "partly in consequence of the difficulties placed by most countries in the way of the sale of artificial butter or surrogates, and partly influenced by the very greatly increased importation of Australian butter into Great Britain." Prices of margarine averaged last year between about £1 18s. and £2 per cwt. The following are the quantities of pure butter, of margarine and of cheese exported from Holland to England in each of the last three years :

Years	Cwts. Butter	Margarine	Cheese
1893	142,811	1,229,737	269,364
1894	165,157	1,045,330	298,693
1895	191,221	878,827	305,920

BUSINESS MEN AND THE ELECTIONS.

NATIONS, like individuals, do not as a rule seek for remedies for a disease until the disease has developed to a point where it occasions alarm or inconvenience.

For some years there has been a growing deterioration in the business quality of the members of the House of Commons.

The Parliament just dissolved was undoubtedly the worst we have had since Confederation. Through incapacity on the one hand and sacrifice of business interests to party exigencies on the other, the business of the country has been shamefully neglected.

It is to be hoped that the last Parliament saw the climax of this retrograde movement. If the fact that the business men of this country are awakening to the deplorable conditions which therein obtained can be taken as an indication, it was. Business men, from one end of the country to the other, realize that if they ran their own concerns in the slipshod way which Parliament has the business of the Dominion, the assignee would soon be in possession of their estates. With the realization of this fact has come the realization that in selecting representatives they must exercise the same common sense they would if engaging men to take charge of important departments in their various establishments. And if the business men of this country vote in obedience to their common instincts, the next House will see an improved membership

If we do not have an improved membership in a business sense, it will be a bad thing for this country. Matters are likely to occupy the attention of Parliament for the next few years which it would be folly of the worst kind to relegate to politicians of the ward and professional type for solution. We want men with practical business common sense, men who have more concern in the welfare of the country than they have in the advantages of party.

Until the general election, now pending, is over, the questions as to whether there will be a change of government and a radical change in the tariff are agitating the public mind a great deal, the business part of it particularly.

If we have the right kind of men in Parliament these questions need not concern us very much: Men who have business interests at stake in the country are not likely to vote for measures which tend to jeopardize these interests. Theorists of either party are not likely to create an itching in their ears by the flaunting of impracticable schemes.

THE RICE SITUATION.

THE rice situation during the ensuing season promises to be rather more interesting than usual.

In Siam, the crop of field rice is a failure, while in India the statistics show a shortage of 25 per cent. Japan, on the other hand, has a good crop, but in Japan an advance in price has taken place, speculators evidently anticipating higher figures to rule as the result of the shortage in other rice-producing countries. In Burmah, there has been a marked advance, and higher values are obtaining in sympathy with the conditions in Siam and India.

In spite of the higher prices obtaining in outside markets, it does not appear that there will be any changes in Canada, immediately at any rate. On the contrary, the price of the home-made rice is likely to cost the wholesaler fractionally less than the figures obtaining the past season. The explanation of this is that the mills in Canada purchased their supplies of uncleaned rice before the advance took place, and a letter, received by a Toronto firm, states that the price at the mills will be slightly lower than last year.

Canada's imports of uncleaned or paddy rice last year aggregated 22,772,306 pounds. Of this we obtained from Great Britain 592,020 lbs.; British East Indies, 20,332,196 lbs.; China, 1,512,090 lbs.; Japan, 336,000 lbs.

The trade will be interested to know that the Canadian mills have decided to modify the terms of delivery. Heretofore the mills would deliver nothing under twenty-bag lots, but they have just notified the wholesale houses that they now have the privilege of having ten bags shipped to their customers. As the old system was often the occasion of inconvenience and annoyance, the trade are much pleased with the new order of things.

The Mount Royal Milling Company will have their first supplies of new crop rice ready for the trade next week. Now is the time for the readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER to get quotations.

CUSTOMS TYRANNY.

THE case of Customs Officer Curless versus The Montreal Star is another illustration of the need of reform in our Customs service.

It has been pointed out frequently that in too many instances the aim of public servants in the Customs branch seems to have been to make the service as distasteful as possible to the mercantile community. Such a course is the height of folly.

Of course the laws have to be administered. They are on the Statute Book for that purpose. At the same time it should be the aim of the officer to apply them with the minimum of dissatisfaction to the public. This policy does not seem to have commended itself to Special Officer Curless, and the judgment rendered by Mr. Justice Davidson is a reminder to the departmental officials at Ottawa, that there is plenty of room for reform in the service.

The kernel of the whole difficulty is the spoils system, in which the detection of offences against the revenue laws pivots. It is a constant temptation to blackmail, and the sooner the Government adopts some other method the better. If it was not in force there would have been no Curless case, and no discredit cast upon our system of Customs inspection.

CANNINGTON'S WISE MERCHANTS.

The merchants of Cannington, Ont, have decided to close their stores at six o'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings during the summer months. The innovation went into force on Friday last, and all the stores in the town are in the arrangement.

The merchants of Cannington are to be congratulated. Competition in Cannington is about as keen as it is in most places; but this has not prevented the business men of the place from arriving at the agreement in question. They have set an example which other communities of merchants should not be slow to follow.

Long business hours is an evil. There is no question about that. It injures the health of merchants and clerks, and prevents them from performing to the best of their ability the duties of every-day life.

Men in business should be constantly creating and putting into practice new ideas. But being cooped up, often in dreary stores, from early morning to late at night from one end of the week to the other, obviously tends to diminish their power to do this.

A machine that is not oiled gets rusty, noisy and out of order. Too close confinement to business makes merchants rusty and crusty, while relaxation therefrom lubricates the mind, quickens the energies, and fortifies one for better work.

THE CANADIAN GROCER would like to see the early closing movement become epidemic during the next few months.

DIRECT STEAMSHIP SERVICE WITH FRANCE.

WHEN the Dominion Government decided to subsidize a fast Atlantic line, the Act authorizing the same stipulated that the line securing the subsidy should make connection with a French port.

At the last session of Parliament, however, this Act was amended by striking out the reference to the French port. But, a clause was at the same time added, stipulating "the Governor-in Council may enter into a contract for a term not exceeding five years with any individual or company, for the performance of a fortnightly steamship service between a port or ports in Canada, and ports in France and Belgium, on such terms and conditions as the Governor-in-Council deems expedient, for a subsidy not exceeding the sum of fifty thousand dollars a year."

A few days ago the Governor-in-Council, acting under the authority therein given, closed a contract for the performance of the service in question. The successful contractors are the Franco-Belge Steamship Co. of Canada. They secure a yearly subsidy of $50,000, and will furnish a direct fortnightly service between Canada, France and Belgium.

Canada only now needs a fast Atlantic service with Great Britain to place her on equal footing with the United States as far as steamship service on the Atlantic is concerned. On the Pacific we already occupy the premier position.

Regarding the Atlantic service the events of the past few days have been advanced an important stage, the Imperial and Dominion Governments having agreed upon the details of the same. The service is to be weekly, and four vessels, with a required speed of 20 knots per hour from port to port, are to be supplied. The displacement of these steamers must be not less than 8,500 tons, and equal in equipment to the Teutonic. In Canada the winter port is to be Halifax, where the mails are to be landed, after which the contractor is to have the right to send the vessels on to St. John, N.B. The summer port is to be Quebec, where the mails are to be landed, after which the vessels can proceed to Montreal.

NO ADVANCE IN SUGAR.

The long-expected advance in refined sugar still fails to materialize, and, as THE CANADIAN GROCER has pointed out before, it is not likely to until the liberal stocks in refiners' hands are reduced. These stocks must have been much larger than was first estimated, for the movement has been fair since the excitement first set in at New York.

At the moment demand is slow, and it may be argued from this that jobbers and traders generally are supplied for some time ahead. Otherwise the opening of navigation would have witnessed an increase in the volume of sugar business.

Refiners' prices are precisely the same, and the advance seems to be as far off as ever.

THE SULTANA RAISIN CROP.

A PRIVATE letter received in Toronto this week from Smyrna furnishes additional information regarding the damage to the growing crop of Sultana raisins.

The letter in question is from C. Whittall & Co., and bears date of April 15, and reads: "Towards the end of last week the fall in the temperature, for two consecutive nights, to about seven degrees of frost, is reported to have caused considerable damage to the vines, which, with the mild weather we previously had, had prematurely commenced to bud.

"It is difficult to state with any certainty what the real extent of the damage is, and although we cannot refuse to give credence to the news reaching us from the various districts, we are inclined to believe, going on past experience, that some exaggeration underlies all these reports. Still we cannot doubt that some damage has been done.

"The effect on the market has been very pronounced, dealers having put prices up 3 to 4s., and some business has been done at the advance. We do not believe prices will again relapse for some time, as stocks in all districts barely amount to 2,000 tons, of which fully 500 tons are in shippers' hands. Qualities are almost entirely of choice and superior; and such descriptions as good as fine are unobtainable.

The London Produce Markets' Review, in its issue of April 25, referring to the damage to the Sultana raisin crop by frost, said:

In estimating the value of the reports received, it is necessary to consider that the cultivation of this fruit is carried on over a very large area, and communication between the various districts is still in a very primitive state. In other years reports of damage received have proved to be misleading from this very cause; partial damage in a few districts having been erroneously understood to apply to the whole of the crop. In actual experience, any extensive diminution in the crops of Asiatic Turkey through frost is probably almost unknown; while the possibility of the damage reaching the extent reported is, for causes previously stated, in the highest degree unlikely. In addition to this, the continually increasing acreage under cultivation, and the extremely favorable climatic conditions reported up to the time when the news of the frost came, gave reason to suppose that the coming crop would be very large indeed. Everything considered, therefore, it may be reasonably expected that there will be an abundant supply in the coming season, and any further inflation of prices may prove to be dangerous.

OPENING OF INDIAN TEA MARKET.

C. H. Anderson, agent for Bathgate, Pim & Co., Calcutta and Colombo, has advices from his principals that the India tea season is expected to open in Calcutta about May 18.

CHANGE IN THROUGH FREIGHT RATES.

BOTH the big railway corporations have issued a new classification regarding through freights on merchandise from Great Britain and abroad.

The change which went into effect on May 4th has been a surprise to the trade, and will affect all lines of heavy material materially, while the importers who will feel the change most keenly are those in Montreal.

Previously a rate might be had on a shipment loaded in Montreal, and if the goods were sold before the vessel got there, they were allowed to be transhipped to any point west, getting the benefit of the through rate from Liverpool or other ports the same as an actual through shipment billed direct.

This privilege has been withdrawn this spring, and shipments not billed direct will have to pay the regular local rate from Montreal to Toronto or other western points, as the case may be.

When it is explained that the ocean rate from Liverpool to Montreal is only about 7c. per cwt. on heavy material, and that the local railway rate from Montreal to Toronto is 17c., some idea of how much extra the shippers will be taxed is afforded.

The chief trouble seems to be that many Montreal importers, not imagining that there would be any change this year, made arrangements accordingly.

They figure it out that any lots which they will be compelled to break at Montreal and send forward will cost them from 5s. to 7s. per ton more than it did last season. This means that they certainly will not make any money on their first shipments, and, possibly, may lose some.

Of course, the matter will regulate itself in time, but in the meantime western importers have decidedly the best of it in the case of a deal with a purchaser.

LAKE WINNIPEG WHITEFISH.

LAKE WINNIPEG whitefish promise to cut a much more important figure on the Eastern Canada market than they have hitherto done.

Hitherto this fish has only arrived on the Toronto market during the winter and early spring, and then only in a frozen condition. But arrangements have been made whereby whitefish from Lake Winnipeg will arrive in the "Queen City" in summer as well as in winter.

It is the intention, THE CANADIAN GROCER understands, to ship the fish from Lake Winnipeg in refrigerator cars. From the time the fish are loaded on the cars until they are unloaded in Toronto will be four days.

As a result of this new departure, the output of Lake Winnipeg whitefish will be much larger than usual. Last year 1,200 tons of these fish were frozen. This summer it is expected that about 1,200 tons of fresh whitefish will be shipped. As it is intended to freeze next winter the same quantity as was frozen last winter, the estimated annual output of Lake Winnipeg whitefish is now placed at 2,400 tons. This ought to net the fishermen of Lake Winnipeg from $70,000 to $80,000 per year.

The close season is a long one, fishing being prohibited after September 1.

OPENING PRICES OF JAPAN TEA.

Cable advices received on the Toronto market during the last few days announce the opening of the tea market in Japan. Prices are quotable much lower than a year ago on finer teas. Choicest, for instance, are quoted at $33 per picul, choice at $30 and finest at $27. As the exchange rate, however, is higher than it was a year ago, the net price of the tea is from 1 to 2c. per pound cheaper than at that time.

THE FRUIT SALES.

At the sale of the Fremona's fruit this week the prices realized were 50 to 60c. per box lower than what was paid for the similar cargo last spring.

This was not due to the condition of the fruit, which was excellent; in fact, the quality was far ahead of that of last year.

The lower prices were largely accounted for by the depressed condition of the market in the United States.

The sales were well attended.

Toronto was represented by McWilliam & Everist, W. Husband, Clemes Bros.; Ottawa by H. A. Brouse, C. E. Plain, C. Moreland, G. Hunt; Hamilton, J. Dixon, T. Bowker; London, C. E. Mountjoy, McPherson Fruit Co.; Winnipeg, McPherson Fruit Co., R. R. Scott; Ingersoll, A. Robinson; St. Thomas, G. G. Steele; Guelph, G. Walker; Brantford, Ryerson Bros.; Burlington, Ont., J. C. Smith; Port Hope, J. O. Oke, and Sarnia, J. Wood. Montreal, had John Barry & Sons, Hart & Tuckwell, O. & E. Hart, J. R. Clogg & Co., Montreal Fruit Exchange, T. S. Vipond, Vipond & Vipond, Vipond, McBride & Co., J. J. Vipond & Co., L. M. Selvestre, Bowes & McWilliams, and many others. Among the United States fruit men are the following: From New York, G. Golden, T. Hurlbert, F. Feltman and A. Hurzel, of Hurzel & Feltman; G. Covallaro, F. Gotto, F. Minaldi, A. Zucca, Charles Forrester, John Ris and V. Zari. Boston sends along A. S. Brown, H. Currier and E. S. Snow; Albany, J. W. Ellison, of J. Stephens & Son; Chichicago, W. Peacock, of Peacock & Evans, P. Van Allen, of H. P. Stanley Co. and A. Thocker; and Cincinnati, A. Ratte, of J. Leverone & Co. Finally, to wind up, Isaac Tuck, of The Fruit Trade Journal, was here to give the sales all they are worth, good or bad—let us hope the former.

The bidding was brisk at the decline on last year mentioned, especially for the lemons, and fully two-thirds of the cargo was purchased for shipment to the middle and western states, so that almost $100,000 worth of American money was turned over in Montreal on lemons alone.

About 31,000 boxes of lemons were put up, and they realized $1.50 to $3 per box, or an average of $2 40 per box.

The offerings of oranges were 5,300 boxes and 1,300 half-boxes of Messina and Palermo oranges. The boxes realized $2 to $3.50, and the half-boxes $1.50 to $2.50. They were all kept in Canada, Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal taking them all.

PRICES ON NEW CROP MOLASSES FIXED.

THE Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Guild fixed prices this week governing the sales of new crop Barbadoes molasses to arrive. Though the first cost at the Islands this spring is practically the same, viz., 12c., they are satisfied this spring with 1c. less than they asked a year ago. The basis announced is 31c. for car lots, and 32c. for less than car lots, to arrive on the wharf of Montreal. Last year prices opened at 32 and 33c. respectively.

So far the aggregate contracts on Montreal account have certainly not exceeded 4,000 puncheons of Barbadoes, and beyond a few small shipments of Ponce and Porto Rico bought in via New York no other goods have been contracted.

Montreal importations for the year generally run in the vicinity of 20,000 puncheons, and the stocks carried over this spring are much lighter than usual, as the importations last season were short, being possibly 12,000 or so puncheons of Barbadoes and 6,000 of Porto Rico. At this time last year fully 10,000 puncheons had been contracted, in fact, possibly a good deal more.

EARLY CLOSING MOVEMENT IN MONTREAL.

Those who took an active part in the agitation towards the securing for the shop clerks of Montreal shorter hours of labor, have reason for congratulation for the way in which their efforts have been crowned. As was mentioned in the previous issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER, the by-law came into force last Friday, and, notwithstanding the fact that it was a busy night generally, very few of the stores kept open after 8 o'clock.

The president and secretary of the movement made a round of the stores on that night, and they report that the results were beyond their expectations. Only a few stores were open, and it is expected that those who defied the by-law the first night will come into line, either by a sense of justice to their clerks or their appearance before the judge.

The city authorities seem to have taken a great interest in the movement, and strict orders have been issued to the "guardians" to report any breach of the law. As the boodling purse is short in this quarter it is expected that there will be no shutting of the eye when passing an open store after the hour. In the suburbs, as well, the movement has been well received, and all the stores observed the 8 o'clock movement.

AND THE FLOODS CAME.

FLOODS have been doing a good deal of damage in certain portions of the province of Quebec. Here is a list of business men who have suffered, as given by Bradstreet's of Friday:

PORTNEUF—Delisle, M. S., general store, damaged by flood about $100; Hardy, L., grocer, damaged by flood about $100.

ST. ANNE DE LA PERADE—Desaulniers & Co., hardware, damaged by flood about $800; Germain, Nap., grocer, damaged by flood about $300; Grandbois, J. E., general store and lumber, damaged by flood about $3,000; Laganniere, T. H., general store and match manufacturer, damaged by flood about $500; Marcotte, J. R., general store, damaged by flood about $300; Rompre & Co., planing mill, etc., damaged by flood about $300; Rousseau, J. A., general store and saw mill, damaged by flood about $2,500.

ST. FRANCOIS, N. E. (Beauce Co.)—Fortier, A. & Co., general store, damage by flood about $500; Renault, P. F., general store, etc., damaged by flood about $600.

ST. GEORGE (Beauce Co.) — Dallaire, Thomas, general store, damaged by flood about $800; Gagnon, Joseph, general store, damaged by flood about $2,500; Lemelin, George, general store, damaged by flood about $2,500; Poulin, Ephrem, general store, damaged by flood about $1,200.

ST. JOSEPH (Beauce Co.)—Boily, Geo., blacksmith, damaged by flood about $500; Gagne, Mrs. Theophile, tanner, damaged by flood about $300; L'Heureux, Alph, saddler, damaged by flood about $100; Poulin, Geo., carriage maker, damaged by flood about $1,000.

ST. MARIE (Beauce Co.)—Brochu, R. C., general store, damaged by flood about $200; Dallaire, Thos., general store, damaged by flood about $150; Lebin, Israel, general store, damaged by flood about $50.

VILLAGE DE AULNAIS—Dechene, A. M., lumber, damaged by flood about $500.

MONTREAL GROCERY CLERKS' ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the Montreal Grocery Clerks' Association was held in St. Joseph's Hall on Sunday last. There was a large attendance and several new members were admitted to the society. The business was mostly formal, but there was a general expression of satisfaction for the way that the early closing by-law had opened. It was decided to have a grand procession on June 14, and to hold high mass in Notre Dame street church.

A Rapidly Growing Business

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

It means the ready appreciation of our goods and our business method on the part of the trade. All the goods we buy, all the goods we represent, all the goods we sell, are just as good as we can find—the best on the market. A ring of sincerity and honesty runs through our way of doing business. Ask our customers if it isn't so and ask them their opinion of these two liquors.

Mitchell's Scotch Whiskey

It has our strongest guarantee. It is also guaranteed by every one who has tried it. Try it yourself, then ask our prices and see if you can find a better whiskey to carry.

P. Richard's Brandy

It doesn't need our guarantee, it has been proven pure by analysis. Its permanent popularity in nearly every country of Europe is another proof of its superior quality.

WHOLESALE GROCERS

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS during the past week has not exhibited any striking features. Sugar does not appear to be selling as well as it was even a week ago, and although other lines have not experienced the same influence, yet the volume of business generally is conceded to be smaller than it was at the time of last review. Taking it all round, the demand for canned goods is fairly active. Low priced salmon is rather dearer in consequence of the increased scarcity. Syrups and molasses still fail to attract much attention. Trade is fair in spices, with cream of tartar still advancing in the primary markets. The demand for rice is moderate only. Teas are not attracting much attention. Indian and Ceylon teas of a certain grade are dearer in London. The feature of the trade in foreign dried fruits is a slight advance locally in the price of California and Valencia raisins. Payments are only moderate.

CANNED GOODS.

In vegetables the feature of the trade is still an active demand for corn at the low prices recently quoted. Tomatoes are getting into smaller compass, in consequence of which the feeling as regards prices is getting stronger. The demand noted last week for canned apples and pumpkins is still being maintained. Canned fruits generally are quiet. Low grade salmon is getting into still smaller compass, while the demand is brisk. In consequence of the scarcity in this kind of salmon some of the dealers are quoting prices slightly higher. New season's lobster is expected on this market sometime next month. There is a good demand for canned meats on wholesale account. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 55 to 65c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half-tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

COFFEE.

The conditions are much the same as they were a week ago, both in regard to volume of business and prices. We quote green in bags: Rio, 18c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

The demand for syrups is only limited. Prices remain as before. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The demand for this line is still only fair. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 35c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The outside markets are a little easier, New York having declined 1-16c. per lb. on granulated early in the week. The prices here are unchanged, and as our market did not advance as much as the American market there does not seem to be any inclination on the part of the Canadian refiners to reduce their figures, especially as the price of sugar here is still about a half cent per lb. below the figures ruling in the United States. Wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅝c.; yellows, 3⅞c. up; Demerara in bags, $3 75 to $3.85 per 100 lbs.

SPICES.

Business is of a moderate character. In the primary markets cream of tartar continues to gather strength. Jamaica ginger is firmer and it is almost impossible to get supplies. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

There is not much business doing, but some interest is evinced in the market on account of the fact that next week we shall probably see new crop rice on the market. The ruling prices at the moment are still 3½ to 3⅝c. for ordinary, and 5¼c. for Japan.

NUTS.

The market is still without feature either with regard to prices or business. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 14 to 15c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10 ½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

Cable quotations announce that the market in Japan has opened at slightly lower prices than last year on the finer grades of teas. The cable also announces an advance of ½ to ¾d. in Indian and Ceylon teas which sell at about 9d. The teas now offering in Indian and Ceylon growths are of splendid quality, in consequence of which a sharp advance is looked for. On the local market the brokers report a brisk demand for low grade Young Hysons and also for Ceylon and Assam teas at from 15 to 18c. Ruling prices to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

In consequence of the firmness in the outside markets local quotations on Valencia raisins and California raisins are about ¼ of a cent per lb. higher than they were a week ago. We quote: Off-stalk 4¾ to 5c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6½ to 6¾c. California raisins, 2-crown, 4¼ to 4½c.; 3-crown, 5¼ to 5½c.; 4-crown, 6½ to 7c.; seedless, 4½ to 5c.

California dried and evaporated fruits are in remarkably good demand for this time of the year. Prices remain firm at last week's quotations. We quote as follows: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 5¾ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.

Currants are in good demand at steady prices. We quote: Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

The demand for prunes is still good, and prices are steady and unchanged. We quote: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c., "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70 80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

Sultana raisins are not much wanted, but prices are firm at 5½ to 6c.

Eleme figs are experiencing a rather better demand than they have for some time, although the prices ruling are low, and net the jobber little or no profit. We quote: Eleme, 14 oz., 8 to 9c.; 10lb., 8 to 9c.; 12 lb., 10c.; 28 lb., 12c.

Dates still rule quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Lemons are in good demand and prices are firm at quotations. Oranges are not meeting with much enquiry, but prices are steady. Bananas are meeting with a good demand, with prices still firm. The supply is about equal to the demand. Pine apples are in better supply, but still the quantity coming forward is not as large as is usual at this time of the year; prices are a little easier. There is a plentiful supply of Southern strawberries, cucumbers and tomatoes, but there is not much demand. We quote: Lemons—Messina, $2.50 to $3.50 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $3 75 to $4.50, according to size; ditto seedlings, $2.75 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $5.50 to $6; Jumbo's, 420's, $6.75 to $7; ditto, 714's, $6.75 to $7; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $1.85 to $2; ditto, boxes, $3.25 to $3.50. Bananas, $1.75 to $2.50; cocoanuts, $5.50 to $6 a sack; apples, Spies, $4.50 to $5, Ben Davis, $3 to $4; Russets, $3 to $4; domestic onions, 75c. per bag; Bermuda onions, $1.75 to $2 per small crate; pineapples, 10 to 25c.; sweet potatoes, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The receipts of large rolls continue free. The quality is usually mixed, and a good proportion of it is still light in color, showing that there is not yet much grass butter coming forward. Dealers advise country merchants to ship all light colored butter before beginning to pack into tubs. Prices are not likely to improve for some time, as the export demand has dropped off and prices in the Old Country are low. There have been free deliveries of creamery butter, but they are not to be so large from now out, as many of the winter creameries have began cheese making. We quote: large rolls, 11 to 13c., pound prints, 13 to 14c.; creamery tubs, 16 to 17c.; creamery pound prints, 17 to 18c.

CHEESE—The demand continues light, and it is difficult to obtain prices quoted. We hear of one carload being sold in Montreal which was held there in cold storage at 7c., and it is said to have been first-class quality. We quote late makes here at 8 to 8½c., and early makes, 7½ to 8c.; fodder cheese, 8c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Trade continues light at 90c. to $1 per bush.

DRIED APPLES—There is still scarcely anything doing, and we quote nominally 3½ to 4c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—The market is dull and featureless at from 5½ to 6c.

EGGS—Receipts have been exceptionally large, and all large dealers are taking lower prices, expecting that next week will see still lower figures ruling in the country. They think that 7 to 7½c. will be about the idea at outside points. All large dealers report that their gathering of eggs is larger than in previous years, and it is said that many of them will be through pickling this month, whereas as a rule they do not get through until the latter part of June. Jobbers' prices on the Toronto market to-day are from 9½ to 10c.

HONEY—There is practically no demand. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—The market is still without any supplies, and quotations are purely nominal. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

MAPLE SYRUP—The demand is not as brisk as it was and shading of prices is frequently resorted to. We quote: Imperial gallon tins, 90c.; 5-gallon tins, 80c.; barrels, 75c. per gallon.

POTATOES—Are slow at 25c. out of store. Farmers' loads are quoted at 20c., and carloads on track at 18c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The demand for smoked meats continues steady in all lines. Long clear has also been going out well in small lots, and the general volume of business has been fairly good and apparently quite equal to that of former years at this time. The demand for lard keeps good. Prices are slightly easier, although there has been no quotable change yet. Dressed hogs are scarce and firm at $4.75 to $4.80.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½ to 5¾c. for carload lots, and 6 to 6¼c. for small lots; backs, 7¼ to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS — Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7 to 7¼c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 8½ to 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 9½ to 10c.; small hams, 10c.; backs, 9 to 9½c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7¾c.; tubs, 8¼c.; pails, 8½c.

The Toronto Cold Storage Co. are prepared to store all kinds of meats, produce, etc., at very reasonable rates.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $13.50 to $14; Canadian short-cut, $14 to $14.50; clear shoulder mess, $12; shoulder mess, $11.50.

FISH.

The supply of trout, whitefish and herring is gradually improving, and it is in these lines that the trade are experiencing the chief demand. The demand for salt fish is about over. We quote: Lake Erie herring, 2½ to 3c. per lb.; blueback herring, $1.25 per 100; pike, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; finnan haddies, 7c.; British Columbia salmon, 15 to 20c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; whitefish, 7 to 9c.; salmon trout, 7c.; eels, 5 to 6c. per lb.

SALT.

There is an active trade doing, and prices are unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.50 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain continue light, and prices easy. We quote: White wheat, 79 to 80c.; red, 77 to 78c.; goose, 58 to 60c.; barley, 34 to 38c.; oats, 27 to 28c.; peas, 52 to 54c.; buckwheat, 37 to 38c.

HAY—Market is easier, with $14 to $14.25 quoted for No. 1 Quebec hay.

FLOUR—There is scarcely anything doing. Although prices are weak and much lower, they are still about 50c. above an export basis. We quote: Straight roller, $3.40 to $3.45, carload lots, Toronto freights, and $3.50 to $3.60 in job lots; Manitoba patents, $3.75 to $4 per bbl.; Ontario patents, $3.60 to $3.65 per bbl.; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.50 to $3.60.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business continues to be moderate only, with an easier feeling regarding prices. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.90 to $3; rolled wheat, $2.25 to $2.30 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

SEEDS.

Trade in timothy and clover seed continues fairly active, but seeding is now pretty well advanced and the requirements of the trade are pretty well supplied. Timothy seed remains unchanged, while clover shows a much easier feeling. There is still a moderate enquiry for alsike, but at low prices. The jobbing prices for re-cleaned stocks out of store here are as follows: Red clover, $4.65 to $5.25; Alsike, $3 to $4 65; timothy, $1.90 to $2.10; Hungarian, 70 to 75c.; millet, 65 to 75c. per bush.

PETROLEUM.

The demand for coal oil is getting lighter, while trade in machine oils is unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16½c.; carbon

MARKET NOTES.

Flour is cheaper.

Eggs are down to 9½ to 10c.

Butter continues to decline.

New season's lobster will be on the market next month.

Valencia and California raisins are about ¼c. per lb. higher in the local market.

Sugar is easier on the outside markets.

New rice will be on the market next month.

Trade in starch is beginning to pick up.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, May 7, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE jobbing houses are reasonably busy, but it seems to be the general opinion that the actual volume of trade is less than it was at the same time last year. Few changes of importance are noted. Sugar still fails to show any advance. The Wholesale Guild have fixed the price on new Barbadoes molasses to arrive. It is 2c. less than the price asked ex store. Syrups are quiet. A few contracts in new crop Japan teas are noted, but buyers still show little anxiety. In fact, this disposition rules in all staple lines of goods, business being guided almost absolutely by actual requirements. Dried fruits are firm and generally higher.

SUGAR.

Demand for refined sugar does not show radical improvement, business being quiet despite the fact that navigation has opened up. The tone abroad both on refined and raw is firm, but values on spot are unchanged, and it does not look very much as if there would be any advance in the near future. Stocks in first hands are ample and the fact is apt to check the higher tendency of the market. At the refineries this week 100 bbl. lots of granulated sold at 4 11-16c., and smaller quantities 4¾c.; 250 bbl. lots changed hands at 4⅝. Yellows ranged from 3¾ to 4⅛c. In a jobbing way prices in many instances exhibited but slight margin on first cost, but we quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; bright yellows, 4 to 4¼c., and darker grades 3¾ to 3⅞c.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market is very quiet and values are unchanged at 1½ to 2¾c. per lb., as to quality at the factory, while jobbing lots move at 2¼ to 3c. for bright, and 1⅝ to 1¾c., for dark grades.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market is unsettled owing to advices from primary markets. There has been contracting for Barbadoes to arrive to the extent of 2,000 puncheons or so, which are said to cost 29½c. laid down on the wharf, but when all the extras are added it will possibly be nearer 30c. At any rate, the basis to arrive on new Barbadoes has been fixed at 31c. in carloads and 32c. in less than carload lots to arrive. A few small shipments of Ponce and Porto Rico have arrived via New York, but prices are unchanged. Jobbing prices, ex store, on old goods are unchanged. Barbadoes, 35 to 37c., and Porto Rico, 34 to 35c.

RICE.

There has been little change in the rice market. We quote: Japan standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

Demand for spices has been of a limited character, and the market quiet, with no change in prices to report. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market is quiet, but prices are very firm, the only business between traders in bean stock being in Maracaibo at 17½c. In a jobbing way we quote: Rio, 16½ to 20c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 21c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29 to 32c.

TEAS.

The tea market continues quiet and steady on the whole. The business in new crop Japans is backward still, and the contracts so far put through are less than those of a a year ago. Prices on these new crop goods are steady as compared with last year. We quote: Young Hysons 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The market for California raisins has ruled steady and fairly active in a jobbing way, several carloads which arrived during the week being all distributed before arrival. The higher grades continue scarce, especially 4-crown, and now 2 and a few 3-crown fruit is the only stock available. Prices in consequence are firmer, if anything. We quote: 4-crown, 6¾ to 7c.; 3-crown, 5½ to to 6c, and 2-crown, 4¼ to 4¾c.

A considerable quantity of Valencia raisins have been taken for Manitoba account and prices are firmer as a result, the purchases about cleaning up the market here. We quote in consequence: Common, 4½c.; fine, 5c., and selected, 5¼ to 6c. There are practically none of the latter to be had, except what the jobbers want for their own trade. Layers are quiet and firm at 6 to 6¼c.

Sultana raisins continue firm in London, but spot prices are the same at 5½c.

The currant market is quiet and featureless. We quote: Barrels, 4 to 4¼c.; half-barrels, 4½ to 5c., and cases, 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

Prunes, both European and Californian, continue scarce. A few carloads of the latter which arrived were no sooner landed than they were distributed. We quote: French, 5 to 5½c., and Austrian, 6 to 6½c. California and Oregons range from 5½ to 12c.

Figs are quiet and steady. Bags, 4¼c.; ordinary boxes, 8½ to 9c., and fancy, 12 to 17c.

Dates range from 4½ to 5c., as to quality.

NUTS.

Business continues quiet. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is very little change in the canned goods market, but the jobbers are doing a fair trade in vegetables, prices of which have in many instances an easier tendency. In fish the tendency is firm, and the stocks that have been carried over will be lighter than usual. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 85c.; corn, 60 to 65c.; peas, 95c. to $1 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.10; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40

GREEN FRUIT.

The sole interest in green fruit this year are the big auction fruit sales, reports of which will be found elsewhere.

FISH.

There is no change in fish, which rules quiet with prices largely nominal. We quote as follows: Fresh haddock, 2⅞c. per lb.; Choice pickled Labrador herrings, $5.25; No. 1 N.S., $3 to $4; No. 1 green cod, $3.50 to $4; No. 2, $1.75 to $2; No. 1 haddock, $3; No. 1 large codfish, $6; No. 1 lake trout, $4 to $4.25; B.C. salmon, $10.50; No. 2 Labrador salmon, $13; No. 1 mackerel, $18.50; Loch Fyne herrings, 85c. per keg, and $11 per bbl.; No. 1 sardines, $4 50; No. 1 dried cod, $4 to $4.25; boneless cod, 6c. per lb.; boneless fish, 3¼c.; boneless haddock, 5c.; shredded, 11c.; haddies, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.; bloaters, 90c. per box, and smoked herrings, 8 to 9c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

Provisions continue dull and featureless, with no activity of any kind to note. Prices range as follows: Canadian short cut, clear, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short cut, mess, $13 to $13.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 7½ to 9½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market continues depressed, and prices again took a drop during the week of 1c. to 9¾ to 10c. under increased receipts.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—Demand for maple syrup is of a steady character, and prices are unchanged at 50 to 55c. per gallon tin. Sugar is steady at 7 to 7½c.

BEANS—Continue slow, but steady, at 90 to 95c.

POTATOES— Are dull and steady, car lots selling at 28 to 30c.

HOPS—Range from 6 to 8c., according to quality.

HONEY—Comb honey is dull at 12c. for bright, and 10c. for dark.

ONIONS —Are steady at $1.60 for yellow, and $2.50 for red in car lots.

TALLOW—Continues quiet and nominal at 6c.

HAY.

The hay market is steady, No. 1 selling at $14 per ton, and No. 2, $12.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There has been little change in flour, but Manitoba grades during the past few days exhibited rather more activity. We quote: Winter wheat, $4.10 to $4.25; straight roller, $3.75 to $3.80; straght roller, bags, $1.75 to $1.90; extra, bags, $1.55 to $1.65; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.40 to $375.

The market for oatmeal is very quiet, which is usually the case at this season of the year. The demand is slow and the feeling easy. We quote: Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10; granulated, barrels, $3.10 to $3.20; rolled oats, barrels, $2.80 to $2.90; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.

A fair business was done in feed, the demand for all lines being fully up to the average for this season, and prices rule steady. We quote: Bran, $14; shorts, $15; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market continues firm, but with no finest white obtainable, prices are nominal at 9c. An absurd rumor was current this week that the shipments last week comprised a lot of new fodder cheese. This is ridiculous on the face of it, as there has not been much over a few hundred received in the city so far, and these were all taken locally at 8c., more than they could ever realize on the other side. Receipts lately have been heavy, it is true, some 4,000 odd on Monday, but they are old cheese from Western Ontario on through account.

Butter continues heavy and depressed, and a buyer could very probably fill his wants to-day in creamery at 14 to 14½c. This is a decline of 3c. clear since last week.

ASHES.

The ashes market has been easier under increased receipts, and prices were 25c. lower at $3.50 for first pots and $3.25 for seconds, while pearls are offering at $4.75.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The long-expected advance in refined sugar still fails to materialize.

The Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Guild have fixed their prices on new crop Barbadoes molasses to arrive. It is 31 to 32c., according to quantity.

Prime Japan teas have opened up this spring, on the average, $2 ahead of last year, and ordinary grades about the same.

The demand for Valencia raisins from Manitoba buyers has been a feature this week. They have cleaned the market of the goods.

The green fruit sales opened here Tuesday, and were attended by over 100 buyers from all parts of Canada and the United States. Full particulars are given elsewhere.

J. W. Windsor, the well-known canner, has left for the Maritime Provinces to look after his various canneries on the coast.

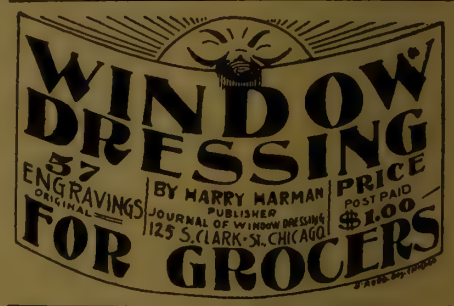
OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.



ST. JOHN, N.B., May 7, 1896.

THE volume of business for the past week has been good, particularly up-river shipments. Merchants between Fredericton and Woodstock, and at Woodstock, and even above, are anxious to get their stuff up while the steamer is running to Woodstock, which she can only do while the water in the river is high. The difference in freight by water and rail is great. We are having beautiful weather, though cold, heavy frosts at night. Collections are fair. From the number of bicycles seen one would judge money plentiful. Markets on the whole are unsatisfactory. About the only advance to note is cream of tartar, while pork, flour, oil and fish are easy. Sugar still holds the same, though why sugar is cheaper in Canada than the United States is a question hard to answer. Interest is beginning to be felt in the coming elections, which will no doubt affect business.

OIL—With the lighter demand for burning oil, there is also a falling off in prices. The American and Canadian are both quoted lower. We quote three grades of Canadian this week, the lower grade finding quite a demand. The reduction on American oil is ¼c., while on Canadian it is a full cent. We quote: American burning oil, 22½c.; best Canadian, 20½ to 21c.; prime, 18c.; 2nd, 17½c. No charge for barrels.

SALT—The cargo spoken of last week has gone into consumption, finding a ready demand. The price while landing was quoted low. Another cargo by sailer is daily expected. There is at this season a large sale for both fine and coarse. Following prices are ex-store. Parties wanting large quantities, to get best prices, should buy while cargo is landing. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; fine factory-filled, $1.10; 5-lb. bags, $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; salt, bulk, $2.65 to $2.70 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—A good business is doing. Lobsters are scarce, and packers of best brands are contracting for futures at higher prices than they asked last season. It is thought the higher price will affect the demand. There is little other change. Peas are held firmer, as also are tomatoes. There is no change in prices, except peas. Corned beef shows rather better movement. We quote: Corn, 80 to 90c.; peas, 95 to $1; tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; gallon apples, $2.20 to $2.25; corned beef, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.70; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, $2.45 to $2.85; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2 to $2.40; salmon, $1.40 to $1.50; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; haddies, $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2 75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 to $5.75 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

GREEN FRUIT—There is a good demand. Strawberries are seen, though quality as yet is but fair and price is high; but both will improve in buyers' favor. Stocks of apples are light and only best quality is wanted. California oranges, as noted, will not sell in this market at all. In quality, Messinas are the best oranges now here. A fair quantity of bloods are sold. Bananas are now moving freely, and are a large sale. It is early for pines and the sale is limited. Lemons at the low price move freely; stocks are quite large. Cranberries continue to have fair sale. We quote:

Apples, $2.50 to $3.50; lemons, $2.50 to $3; Valencia oranges, $4.50 to $5.50; California oranges, $2; Messina oranges, $3.50 to $3 75; blood oranges, $2 25 to $2.50; pine-apples, $1.50 to $2 50; cranberries, $3 per box; bananas, $1.50 to $2; rhubarb, 5c.; strawberries, 20 to 25c.

DRIED FRUIT—There is still a limited market. The American duty on currants is an aid to those who put up their own clean currants though they claim that in justice our Government should make a change in the duty on cleaned and uncleaned currants, and as there is a loss of upward of one-third in weight in cleaning, it would look as if it was to the advantage of the Government to have the cleaned currants used cleaned here. Dried apples are a drug, stocks in some cases becoming quite large, there being no demand, Nova Scotia merchants either consigning them to our grocers, or compelling those from whom they buy goods to take them in part payment. Prunes are a quieter sale as the season advances, and California evaporated fruits show but very small sale. Egyptian onions are here. American and Canadian are about out of the market. Bermuda onions have the best sale. We quote as follows: Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; layers, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M. 4-crown, 6 to 7c.; 3-crown, 5 to 6c.; London layers, $1.70 to $1.85. Currants, bbls., 3¾ to 4c.; cases, 4¼ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7 to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½c.: prunes, boxes, 6 to 7c.; half-boxes, 7 to 9c.; dates 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 4 to 5c.; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c.; California evaporated peaches, 8 to 13c.; apricots, 12 to 14c.; pears, 12 to 14c.; onions, $2.00; Bermuda onions, $1.50 to $1.75 per crate; Egyptian onions, 2¾ to 3c. per lb.; cocoanuts, $3 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 8c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs have dropped off in price again during the week. They are being sold as low or lower by the retailer than by the case, some retailers selling as low as three dozen for 25c. Demand is dull. The only good feature is the quality. Some Canadian butter continues to arrive, the quality in many cases giving but poor satisfaction. Our own new is as yet in light supply, and best quality finds quick sale at fair price. New cheese are expected shortly, the first demand being for small sizes. There is still some old in first hands, though stocks held in the city are not large. In old butter holders would take any price for creamery. It is hard to get full figures. We quote: Common dairy butter, old, 10 to 16c.; new dairy, 18 to 20c.; new creamery prints, 22 to 23c.; cheese, 8 to 8½c.; creamery, tubs, 20 to 21c.; eggs, 8 to 9c. by case.

SUGAR—There is still a firm market, and holders are confident of higher prices. The fact that American sugar is quoted higher than Canadian, more so than the natural circumstances would explain, is a strong fact in favor of higher prices here, but it is also a fact that the advance, though long expected as far as can be seen, is no nearer. Some think the coming election has an affect to delay the advance. A fair movement is noted. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—There is a good movement. Porto Rico is having a large sale. Price is held rather firmer than Barbadoes, in which that to arrive will cost less than any yet here. New Orleans, even in the face of direct West India shipments, shows good demand; the package is a 40-gallon one, and is popular, while the quality gives satisfaction. We quote as follows: Barbadoes, 33 to 34c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 36c, bbls; New Orleans, 30 to 36c.; syrup, 36 to 38c; Antigua, 28 to 30c.; St. Croix, 28 to 30c.

FISH—The chief interest continues to be in fresh fish, especially gaspereaux. The run so far of fish has been fair. The quantity caught here during a season is very large. They are sold fresh, either to be so eaten, or smoked, or for bait, as long as they will bring over 40c. per 100; otherwise they are pickled. Some 20,000 barrels are shipped each season. In this style they are called alewives. They go from here to New York. They are very largely shipped from there to Hayti. A few shad have been caught, and by another week the catch should be quite large. The quantity caught here is vary large, and is chiefly sold fresh. Smoked shad are particularly fine eating. Quite large quantities are pickled. A few salmon have also been caught; the catch of the latter in our harbor during a season being large. The season is not really open till June. In dry fish, sale is dull, and quite a few are arriving of fall-caught fish, spring-cured. In pickled fish the demand is also slow, and fair stocks are held. Shelburnes are sold as low as good Grand Manan. Smoked continue dull. We quote: Large cod, $3.60 to $3.75; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.25 to $1.30; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; new smoked, 4 to 5c.; Canso, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; shad, half-bbl., $5; Shelburne, $2.50 to $2.75 bbl., $1.65 half-bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; fresh Gaspereaux, 50 to 60c.; smoked do, 90 to $1; fresh shad, 25 to 30c.; salmon, fresh, 20 to 25c. per lb.

PROVISIONS—There is a fair movement, but market shows no improvement, if anything tending easier. Quite large stocks were bought, expecting high prices, and though disappointed, holders as yet have not lost money. There is a large stock of lard still here. The fact that we do not have very hot weather keeps the holders from feeling too badly. Smoked meats find good sale at even prices. We quote: Clear pork, $15 to $15.50; mess, $14 to $14.50; beef, $13 to $14; domestic mess pork, $14 to $14.25; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; pure lard, 9 to 9¼c.; compound, 7¾ to 8c.

FLOUR, FEED AND SEED—There is little new and nothing very encouraging. Flour is easy and finds fair sales. The movement in Manitoba continues large. There is a steady sale for oatmeal. In oats there is a rather firmer feeling. Dealers west incline to higher prices and some low figures are still quoted. Buyers are particular about quality. Unfortunately shippers do not seem so and it means trouble. Beans show no change, but feeling is, as noted, rather firmer. Holders of large stocks, bought at higher prices than now ruling, feel better, but during the summer demand is not large. There is a rather better movement in barley at low prices. Feed continues quiet with cornmeal very low. Some feed flour was sold this week to arrive very low. We quote: Manitoba, $4.60 to $4.65; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4.60; medium, $4.40 to $4 50; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.50; cornmeal, $2.10 to $2.15; middlings, $19 to $20 on track; bran, $18 to $19; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90c. to $1; oats, 34 to 35c.; hay, $12.50 to $13; barley, $4; round peas, $3 65; split peas, $3.70 to $3.80; yellow-eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat, native, $1.30 to $1.35; American timothy, $2; Canadian timothy, $2.75; red clover, 9 to 9½c.; alsike, 9¼ to 9½c.; mammoth, 9¼ to 9½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Grand Falls, N.B., has been incorporated.

St. John has now two ladies on its School Board, Miss Dever and Miss Skinner.

Lobsters continue to be shipped alive in large quantities from Yarmouth to Boston, some 2,000 crates going forward last week.

Large quantities of pulp continue to be shipped from the south shore of Nova Scotia to American ports, some 2,198 bales going from Bridgewater to Portland last week.

The handsome new waggon of G. & J. Hamilton & Sons, made particularly for biscuit, and candy delivery, is much admired. Since having a local depot the sale of their goods has very much increased through this province as well as in the city.

Everything points to a splendid Exhibition here next fall. The city has made a grant of $1,000, and also given a guarantee of another against deficiency. There is no thought that this latter will be called for. Our Upper Province friends should be well represented.

It is understood that the C.P.R. are to run a refrigerator car from Toronto to St. John, stopping at Montreal for shipments from there. It made its first trip this week. This will be very much appreciated, the more so as no extra charge is to be made on freight shipped this way.

Potatoes are low in other places beside St. John. On P.E.I. they are quoted at 15c. per bushel, and in Portland, Maine, at the same low price. At Caribou, Maine, the starch factories are running night and day, one factory in one day taking in as many as 2,400 barrels. They are bought as low as 20c. per barrel.

Pork packing, curing, and the manufacture of meat products is a growing industry in our city, and when one considers the quantity still imported, it shows the room for a still larger business. One firm, Lilley, Sons & Aldous, are now putting up canned meat. They are building a new factory.

St. John now has a bank clearing house. The want has been long felt. The old method of a clerk and messenger visiting each bank in the morning has long been found unsatisfactory. The banks will look after the business month and month about. The weekly reports will be of great advantage, as they show very closely the volume of business done.

It is gratifying to learn that the Beaver Line are pleased with their season's work from our port, and that they talk of a weekly service for next season. A strong effort is being made to have the Government name St. John with Halifax in asking for tenders for the fast steamship line as the winter port, letting the steamship company name which they prefer. There is no doubt their action in regard to this will very much influence the election here.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THE Halifax markets show no improvement. The roads are good and the outports are opened, but the volume of business expected at this season has not materialized. Perhaps it will come later on, after the elections are over. Reports from all over the province indicate a general slowness of trade.

The breadstuffs market remains unchanged.

There has been a good movement in canned goods, but with small margins for the trade.

There is no improvement in fishstuffs. Large hard-cured grocery cod are scarce at $3.75 to $4.25. Choice herring are selling at $3 per bbl.

There is still a good jobbing trade being done in molasses. One cargo each of Porto Rico and Barbadoes have arrived since last week. Quotations are : Choice Demerara, 38c.; fancy Porto Rico, 35c.; good do., 33c.; Trinidad, 30c.

The sugar market remains quiet. Stocks are moving slowly. Locally, prices are unchanged. The steamer Glenelg brought 4,000 tons of raw sugar from Hamburg and the Delta 500 tons from Porto Rico for the Acadia Refinery. The latter's cargo will go forward to Moncton. It was a cargo bought in Porto Rico some months ago, and is said to have appreciated some $400 in value since purchased.

The provision market is quiet. Three cargoes of Ontario live beef arrived last week, and as an experiment may be said to be successful. It cost, landed here, from $7.75 to $8 per 100 lbs., which is higher than dressed, but in good competition with native. The Ontario article has been found good for the retail trade, being heavy and good-looking. The result of the experiment will be to keep the price of native cattle down. Native beef is worth from $7 to $8 for shop and $8.50 for extra. Mutton is quoted at 7c., veal at 4 to 4½c., and carcase pork at 6c. P.E. Island mess pork is worth $13.25 at an outside figure.

The butter market is easy, there being a depreciation in values in sympathy with the Quebec market. Stocks are ample for all requirements. Good creamery is jobbing at 20c. in tubs, and dairy at 18c.

The cheese market is also easier. New is offering at 9c., and old is down to 7c.

Eggs are lower, and will further depreciate in value. The jobbing price to-day is 11c., but it is expected 10c. will be an outside figure next week.

The market is well supplied with green fruit. Valencia, Denia, Messina, California navels, and Jamaica oranges, are in full supply, and at improved values. Lemons have advanced about 50c. per box since last week, the quotation to-day being $4 per box, fancy stock, 300 count. Bananas continue to keep high, the price ranging from $2.25 to $2.50 per bunch.

The steamer Premier is due with a full cargo of bananas from the West Indies for Montreal and the west, which will be sent forward by rail, and will probably be at points of destination as soon as this letter is in print. The ripe fruit is to be auctioned here. Tomatoes are arriving. The stock is excellent. They sell at $3.50 per crate. Choice rhubarb sells at $2.50 per box. Choice Cuban pineapples are worth $2.50 per dozen. No. 1 Nonpareils are the only kind of apples offering, and bring $4 per bbl. American silver skin onions are worth 2¼ to 2½c. per bbl., and new Bermudas at $1.75 per box.

Dried fruit and nuts remain unchanged.

THE FROST IN CALIFORNIA.

Regarding the effect of the recent freeze The California Fruit Grower says, in its issue of the 25th : "The loss has been estimated as high as $200,000, but, of course, it is too early as yet to measure accurately the damage sustained. Parts of the Santa Clara Valley were heavily touched, including the prune crop, which is believed to have been very seriously hurt. Apricots and peaches suffered great damage, the former reported to have been entirely destroyed in some orchards. The raisin sections about Fresno and elsewhere also suffered great loss, and many growers believe the crop will be a very light one, even with the best of weather conditions from now forward. Peaches, cherries, pears and prunes are reported to have been seriously damaged in Sonoma, Alameda, Tehama and San Joaquin counties. It should be remembered, however, that although the reports of widespread damage are, many of them, unquestionably true, yet the recuperative powers of nature in California are wonderful, and often bring unlooked-for results out of apparent disaster. There will undoubtedly be a good aggregate crop, but certainly the great promise of a fortnight ago will not be realized as to the yield this season."

PERSONAL MENTION.

MRS. GLEESON, wife of Mr. Michael Gleeson, general merchant, Greenwood, died on Monday last. The interment took place on Wednesday. THE CANADIAN GROCER extends its sympathy to Mr. Gleeson.

J. J. McKenna, Dublin, is as usual doing a good trade. He has one of the largest stores west of Toronto.

M. Jordan, Seaforth, is removing into his new 18 by 60 store, which has large plate glass windows containing a well-assorted stock of tempting goods.

While Mr. McWilliam, of McWilliam & Everist, and Mr. J. P. Clemes, of Clemes Bros., Toronto, were driving their horse ran away. They were both thrown out and badly shaken up.

Mr. D. Stewart, of Thistletown, who has carried on a successful general store for the past fifteen years, has taken into partnership his son, and the firm will be called D. Stewart & Son.

Mr. E. E. Schoenheit, representing Raworth, Shodde & Co., the manufacturers of Wool soap, is in Hamilton, assisting the local agents, A. E. Richards & Co., to place Wool soap on the market.

Mr. J. MacRae, representing the Snow Drift Co., of Brantford, was in Montreal this week, and reports business good.

A GROCERY STORE BURGLARIZED

The grocery store of W. G. Cork, 400 King street east, Toronto, was entered by burglars on Sunday evening while the family were attending church. Entrance was effected by bursting open the door of an adjoining vacant store, from whence the visitors worked their way into Mr. Cork's premises via the roof. The burglars ransacked the store and dwelling, but secured nothing beyond about ten dollars worth of old coins. Mr. Cork had taken the proceeds of his Saturday's sales with him; and it was evidently money only the burglars were after. The strange thing about the burglary is that it was perpetrated in broad daylight.

RICE AND THE BIBLE.

A book before us says: "Rice is not mentioned in the Bible, as it did not grow in the countries in which Bible happenings occurred." We think the author is mistaken. The fact that the word "rice" does not appear is no evidence of the non-existence of a product that in the Bible era was feeding the majority of the world's people. From the earliest ages the blanket expression "corn" has been used to cover all kinds of grains and seeds used for food. In England the word now applies to barley, rye, oats, and more especially, wheat. It Scotland it usually means oats, while here it only refers to maize. The word "corn" frequently occurs in the Bible, and when we consider the enormous commerce of Palestine, particularly in the days of Solomon, it is natural to suppose that rice was among the imports, and that, like wheat and other grains, it finds shelter under the market term "corn."—Aberdeen Examiner.

CALIFORNIA PRUNES.

Speaking of the prune situation a commission merchant said: "In Santa Clara Valley but 10 inches of rain fell this season, as against 30 inches a year ago. The consequence is, that even before the frost came it was evident that the prunes would run chiefly to small sizes, and that there would be a scarcity of large fruit. After the frost some people believed that the thinning out of the fruit as a result of that would make the yield of large fruit greater. This might have been so had the whole Valley been alike affected; but the frost only hurt in spots, killing some trees entirely, so that the general average would not be affected."

The Canada Coffee and Spice Mills (J. J. Duffy & Co.) have removed from Craig street to more commodious premises at 375 St. Paul street, where they will be glad to see their customers.

A despatch from Quebec says: Prominent men in the Lower Town feel quite elated over the present season's prospects for Quebec, and are confident that it will be the best in many years. Quebec lumber circles have been extremely active, and the sales have been unusually large, in fact, quite as large as most houses cared to handle. Messrs. Dobell, Beckett & Co., Sharples & Co., Burstall & Co., Price Bros., King Bros., and others have made remarkable sales, and many of the smaller houses have done correspondingly well.

For the first time since the holding of the World's Fair, the employes of the M.C.R. shops are working full time. An order was received yesterday and the men started this morning to work 10 hours per day. This will be a welcome change to the men themselves, who for years have been working 7 and 8 hours per day, and benefitting as it will, so many men, will also be a benefit to the whole city.—Journal, St. Thomas.

George Rogers, a driver for J. A. Stewart, grocer, Woodstock, performed a plucky act on Saturday while delivering goods near the C.P.R. station. He was about to cross the track near the station when he saw a little child a short distance away. A shunting train in the yard was about to bear down on the little one, and Rogers, seeing the child's danger, immediately jumped from his rig and dashed towards the child, who was playing in the sand totally oblivious to danger. Rogers was not a moment too soon. He grabbed the youngster and a second later the shunting cars passed over the spot where the child had been playing.

A most dastardly robbery occurred about 3 o'clock Saturday morning at Port Stanley, when the store of W. M. Berry was entered by burglars and $70 in cash stolen. Mr. Berry made an effort to secure a pistol, which was in a drawer near his bed, but he was warned not to move. While one of the burglars kept guard, the other searched the room and secured $70 in cash, a pocket book containing several promissory notes and other papers, only valuable to the owner. Mr. Berry's gold watch, which was under the pillow, was overlooked.

A large number of the cheese factories, particularly in the south part of the county, have commenced operations for the season, while those in the north that have not yet started are expected to open about the middle of the month. May 1 saw several of the factories change from butter to cheese-making. The Ingersoll Produce Co. has picked up all of the offerings in the Ingersoll district at from 6 to 6½c., while R. M. Ballantyne has bought the April make, about 250 boxes in all, from the East Zorra, Strathallan and Bright factories.—Woodstock Sentinel Review.

Farmers in Chatham district sold 150,000 dozen eggs last week.

MANITOBA'S CROP ACREAGE.

Mr. Acton Burrows, formerly Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Manitoba, and now of Toronto, writes to correct a despatch in The Telegram that Manitoba's crop acreage this year will be fully 50 per cent. less than last year. He says, as a result of recent heavy rains in the Prairie Province there may be a considerale reduction in the acreage cropped in the low-lying Red River Valley, but this is only a small proportion of the crop area of the province, and while the wet weather may delay seeding operations a little in the other districts, it will not appreciably affect the acreage owing to the very heavy crop yield. Last year the farmers were too busy with harvesting and threshing operations to do much fall plowing, and Mr. Burrows thinks there will be a slight decrease in the acreage under cereals this season, but nothing like such a falling off as 50 per cent.

INDIAN & CEYLON TEAS G.F.&J.GALT 42 Scott St. Toronto BOOK ON TEA BLENDING MAILED ON APPLICATION

TO MAKE BIRDS SING.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is in receipt of a sample of the new bird bread holder and beak sharpener, containing a cake of improved bird bread, manufactured by Bart. Cottam & Co., London, Ont., under letters patent, No. 36,433, No. 51,086, and No. 51,341, and registrations of August and September, 1895. In addition to one pound, full weight, of compounded mixture of nutritious bird food, each one pound packet of Cottams bird seed, will in future contain a cake of this improved bird bread, together with a patent bird bread holder and beak sharpener. This valuable addition to this firm's well-known brand of seed is conceded to be the avicultural feature of the age. No bird should be without this excellent preparation, especially during sickness, moulting or incubation, as it promotes the healthy operation of the gizzard, thereby eradicating disease, and giving tone and vigor to the whole system. As a song restorer it is highly recommended, its action on the vocal organs being most surprising. Indeed, its effect at times is so remarkable as to almost justify the claim that it has a direct action in the way of producing the tissue of the vocal organs. Grocers should handle it.

KNOX'S EGG PRESERVER.

As we have come to the season for a preserver of this kind to be used, we feel like recommending this article to all who should desire to put away eggs, believing it to be an article of merit, as it has been thoroughly tested and tried before it was offered to the public. It is manufactured by Mr. C. B. Knox, of Johnstown, N.Y., who makes the well-known gelatines bearing his name. We predict for this preserver large sales from now on. The agents, A. E. Richards & Co., tell us there are already imitations of this preserver on the market, and the trade will do well to see that they get the right article, viz., Knox's. This preserver can be had from all wholesalers.

INCREASING SALES.

T. J. Cooke & Co., the Montreal agents, report that the sales of Hires' rootbeer increased 25 per cent. last summer, and that from the way it is going out now it is likely to be 50 per cent. this summer.

A CHANCE IN CROCKERY.

PUREST & BEST

"Dairying for Profit" or "The Poor Man's Cow"

Is the title of a treatise on Buttermaking written by Mrs. E. M. Jones of Brockville, Ont. Mrs. Jones' Book has been so highly thought of by the Ontario Government that it has been printed and distributed free among farmers as an authority on this subject. The following letter explains itself.

Some time ago I commenced using the Windsor Salt in my dairy and I have been surprised and delighted at the result. It appears to me to be a PURER SALT than any I have ever used (although I have always obtained the very best, regardless of cost). It is entirely FREE FROM ANY BITTER TASTE and it DISSOLVES SO RAPIDLY as to be at once incorporated in the butter. To the practical dairyman these are vital points. MORE BUTTER IS SPOILED BY POOR SALT THAN IN ALL OTHER WAYS PUT TOGETHER. Not only is the taste disagreeable but the grain of such salt is so sharp and its nature so insoluble that butter has to be worked almost to a paste and is thereby spoiled before it is even put on the market. WINDSOR SALT IS FREE FROM THESE OBJECTIONS and its quality and price ought to make it a boon to every dairy in Canada, I shall use no other in future, and as the output of my private dairy is 7000 lbs. a year, which all brings the highest price ever reached by Canadian butter, the importance of my choice in salt can hardly be over-estimated.

Yours truly,
(Signed) ELIZA M. JONES.

WALTER BAKER & CO. GAIN A VICTORY.

THE course taken by the well-known cocoa manufacturing company, Walter Baker & Co., L'd., Dorchester, Mass., in regard to the sale of its product in the state of Ohio is one that speaks volumes for the integrity of the company. Some time ago, as a result of the prosecution and fining of several Ohio state grocers for selling Baker's Breakfast Cocoa, the company decided to withdraw their preparations from that state, issuing December 2nd to the grocers of the state the following circular :

We take this course because it seems the only one open to us in view of the numerous prosecutions that have been instituted against parties selling our products since the recent decision of the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County in the proceedings against Mr. Rose, of Cleveland, for selling our Breakfast Cocoa.

In that case the chemist employed by the state testified that the sample "was made from pure cocoa, with no other adulteration than the removal of the oil." He also testified that he never had examined any powdered cocoa "except the oil had been removed or starch or sugar added;" and that, without such removal or addition, it was impossible to make a powdered cocoa which would keep in our climate.

The name Breakfast Cocoa is applied only to powdered cocoa ; we have always stated conspicuously, on every can, exactly how ours is made, namely, by removing "the excess of oil" without the use of any chemicals and without the addition of starch or sugar.

Our object has been to produce an extract of cocoa containing the stimulating and exhilarating properties of the bean in the most convenient, concentrated and digestible form ; and our success has been fully attested by the leading physicians and teachers of cooking. We fully believe we have adopted the best method known for the purpose, and there is no question that the demand for the product is great, and greatly increasing.

We can hardly believe that the people of Ohio intend to prevent the sale of such an article in that state ; and we shall carry the question of the meaning of the present law, as promptly as possible, to the highest tribunal. But, meanwhile, the action of the authorities to whom the enforcement of the law is intrusted obliges us, though very reluctantly, to withdraw from the state until the law has been authoritatively construed.

In the present attitude of the authorities we cannot now guarantee protection to any one selling our goods, and we desire that you will hold any you have on hand until we have completed our arrangements for withdrawal.

On January 18, Messrs. Baker & Co. issued another circular to the grocers, in which they said :

The Circuit Court of Cuyahoga County has reversed the decision of the Court of Common Pleas to which we referred in our circular of December 5, and decided that our Breakfast Cocoa, being a pure article, made from the cocoa bean by the removal of the excess of oil, is not within the provisions of the food laws of Ohio, and that it may be sold with its present label. This sustains us in the position which we have always maintained,—that the law is intended to prevent adulteration and not to interfere with trade in purified products, when sold under their appropriate names.

We, therefore, take pleasure in announcing to you that we shall at once place our Breakfast Cocoa on sale again in Ohio ; and for the convenience of the trade we shall see that a full supply reaches the state at an early day to replace what has been withdrawn.

In view of the decision above mentioned, we do not see how any one handling those goods can in future be interfered with ; but if prosecutions should be started against you or any of your customers, we beg that you will confidently plead not guilty and promptly notify us, when we will at once assume the defence and pay all expenses connected therewith.

This result was a well-deserved victory for the company after great expense and annoyance, with little prospect of redress.

THEY HAVE FAITH IN THE WEST.

Mr. Galbraith, of Carter, Galbraith & Co., Montreal, is making a business trip through Manitoba, accompanied by their western traveller, Mr. Stephenson. The firm has faith in the West, as they are placing groceries by the carload. A representative of THE GROCER met them at Manitou, Man.

There's Money in Salt

If you know just what size to handle and the season for it. Take, for instance, the summer camping trade. That needs a strong package to stand the careless handling and one not easily upset.

For this purpose you can order, from any wholesale grocer in Toronto, "WINDSOR" Table Salt put up in 4-lb. round lithographed packages, 24 per case. Made of heavy cardboard, price $2.00 per case; sell at 15 cents per package. Profit on case, $1.60. You see it pays to sell them—why not do it?

First Impressions . . .

Are usually lasting. This means much to the retail grocer. A buyer enters your store for the first time; naturally, he makes a mental note of the arrangement of your goods, the courtesy with which he is treated, and, lastly and particularly, the values he receives.

If your methods and the quality and prices of your goods please you may bank on his trade, otherwise your competitor gets it.

Now one of the best advertising agencies that a retailer can have is the fact that his teas are the best procurable in town—always fresh, aromatic and delightful. 'Tis important then that the source of his supplies be reliable; that the wholesale house with which he deals is wide-awake and attentive to the interests of its patrons.

With us Tea is a specialty second to none. Every line that enters our warehouse is carefully tested and every pound handled can be unhesitatingly recommended. To catch the transient trade is not our object—what we want is the full confidence and yearly tea business of the grocer and tea merchant.

When open, whether for Young Hysons, Japans, Assams, Ceylons, Indians, etc., etc., (high or medium grades), we feel confident of our ability to suit your requirements.

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, MAY 15, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 20

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Never allow your energy to get ahead of your brains.

A man can these days only be ignorant by willing to be so.

When economy is overdone the economizer runs to seed.

When business gets dull it should, like fire that is low, be stirred up.

Get friends, but do not depend upon friends for your existence.

Success in business is the resultant of energized common sense.

The dunner should know when to be vigorous and when to be gentle.

He who cannot work with his head will make little headway with his feet.

Coal oil taints the sugar and bad habits taint the man who sells the sugar.

People without ambition, like animals without legs, do not make much progress.

Over-cautiousness creates the very thing which cautiousness tries to avoid—obstacles.

Opportune sometimes is it for grocers to freeze their goods, but their customers never.

People who get into ruts are condemned, and yet we are enjoined to steer a straight course.

Waiting for something to turn up is almost as foolish as waiting for yesterday to return.

When a merchant is rushed to death with work it is an evidence that his business is alive.

Money may be the root of all evil, but the measure of a merchant's success in business is gauged by the quantity of "root" he accumulates.

The energy a man displays in his business should not be gauged by the size of the business.

Merchants who ignore children are certain to be ignored by the parents of the children.

People who are too proud to work are not too proud to live on the fruit of the labors of others.

Fixity of purpose should not be made conditional upon the likes or dislikes of other people.

Pushing for custom every available moment is of all things in business the most important.

A merchant is none the less negligent of business because he takes a judicious relaxation from the same.

Careful thought is as necessary in preparing an advertisement of a dozen lines as an article of a dozen columns.

Do not undertake what you know you cannot perform, but do not hesitate to undertake that which you must do.

It requires nerve to do a cash business; hence some merchants haven't the cash because they haven't the nerve.

If advertising does not pay it is passing strange that the world's most successful men are the most elaborate advertisers

Hurry and bustle in a man is no more evidence of work accomplished than it is in a piece of machinery an evidence of efficiency.

The young man who desires to become famous must do his own building. He may live to be as old as Methuselah without securing the desideratum if he leaves to the brains or hands of others the performance of that which he should do himself.

A merchant should conduct his business with the precision of a machine, but at the same time he should avoid becoming a machine.

If a clerk who is not obliging is not obliged to seek employment elsewhere, customers will be obliged to seek their goods elsewhere.

Certain trade there is that a merchant will never get till he advertises, just as certain doors cannot be opened till certain keys are used.

The merchant who recognizes that the office of his shop window is to show and sell goods has discovered one of the elements of success in business.

The merchant should prove all things, but at the same time he does not want to hold on to that on his shelves which is good: he wants to dispose of it.

Canned corn sold in Baltimore the other day at 18½c. The people who eat it will probably be procurable at about ten cents per head a few hours afterwards.

Just as it is the sportsman who is the most watchful who bags the most game, so it is the merchant who exhibits the greatest alertness for new ideas who catches the most trade.

It may be well to presume that every man is honest until he is proven a rogue, yet it is not good policy to buy a pig in a poke. In other words, know the quality of the goods you are buying.

People aiming at targets do not throw down their weapons because they do not at the first venture make a bullseye; neither should people turn from their aim in life because of difficulties encountered.

HOW TO WRITE BUSINESS-PAPER ADVERTISEMENTS.

By Nath'l. C. Fowler, Jr., Doctor of Publicity.

ADVERTISING pays. Some advertising pays better than some other advertising.

The good of an advertisement is in how it looks and in what it says.

Don't make your firm name too prominent.

Advertise what you have for sale.

If you're for sale, advertise yourself.

If you have something to sell, advertise that something.

Have your name in type large enough for folks to see it, but not so large that they can't see anything else.

Don't put your name at top and bottom of the advertisement. Once is enough.

If you can, advertise specifically, not generally.

An advertisement shouldn't be like a business card. It should say something in particular.

Conventional advertisement writing pays.

Progressive advertisement writing pays better.

The advertising pages of a trade paper are departments of information. They rise above mere advertising space.

The trade paper advertisement is as much in the interest of the reader as for the advertiser.

Write your advertisements as you would a letter of solicitation, with more display to it, and with more brevity, your strong points being brought out in large type.

Don't ask people to send for orders. That's unnecessary. That's understood.

Tell people what you have. Use argument.

If your goods and your argument are not strong, then your advertisement isn't any good.

In the quality of your goods, and in your ability to write about them, is the selling strength of your advertising.

Plate No. 1 presents the conventional form of advertisement writing, with the firm name inserted twice, and in more prominent type than that used for the articles for sale.

Plate No. 2 presents the same advertisement as illustrative of the simple and effective modern style.

The typographical display of the second example gives the advertisement increased value, for in display, almost as much as in words, is effectiveness.

In sending advertising copy to a trade paper, always specify the words, or lines, you desire to have prominent. A good way is to underline the words or paragraphs, the very unimportant words not to be underlined, and one, two and three or four underlines to represent, respectively, the degrees of type sizes. The meaning of this underlining will be understood by all compositors. Whenever it is necessary to bring out one word, or line, in unusually large type, it is well to specify it with a note to that effect.

Plate No. 2 is so arranged that the two strong words stand in bold relief, and will be seen by even the casual reader.

It is always advisable to bring out some word, or illustration, as a sort of eye-arrester, in order that the skimming-over reader will absorb it if he gives only a glance at the advertising pages.

An advertisement must contain argument, and be of a typographical, or illustrative, character that will focus attention.

AMERICAN PINEAPPLES.

WHILE most of the pineapples sold in the United States have, in recent years, come from Cuba, the cultivation of this fruit in Florida has rapidly increased, and last season 50,000 crates were shipped from sections in that state other than the Keys, says Garden and Forest. The output from the central and northern part of the state this year is estimated at 35,000 crates, while, but for the damage to new plantations by freezing a year ago, a crop amounting to 250,000 crates was counted upon for the next few months.

The Bahamas formerly furnished the main supply, which was carried in small sailing vessels taking four to five days to reach this port, while unfavorable winds made a voyage of 20 days not unusual. Most of the pineapples now coming from Nassau and other ports of this group are consigned to Baltimore, where they are canned. As many as 5,500,000 of these pineapples have reached that city within the past 4 years, and large quantities are canned on the island. Nearly all the Cuban pineapples come to New York, 200,000 barrels and more constituting the imports for a year. These pineapples are all grown near Havana, and shipments continue throughout the entire year. The season begins, however, in the middle of March and continues at its height for four months, while the Bahama season is a month later in opening. Some of the choicest pineapples have in recent years come from the Indian River section of Florida, and exceptionally large and high grade fruit comes from Porto Rico. The comparatively small supplies from Jamaica include some excellent varieties, which are in special demand.

The delay of a day in the transportation of this perishable fruit may mean a heavy loss, and 24 hours of warm, damp weather may injure a cargo to the extent of 50 per cent. of its original value. No vessels specially fitted for carrying pineapples are yet in service, and this tender fruit is closely packed in steamers carrying sugar and other heating articles. Quick transportation in steamers equipped with improved ventilation and the best storage facilities, as are already in regular use in the banana trade, would open up new possibilities for this department of the fruit trade. At this time when, besides the shortage caused by the loss in Florida, the trade in Cuba is affected by war, prices have been high. The grade known to wholesale merchants as Havana xx (33 pineapples being required to fill a barrel) now commands $9 a barrel, and this is also the importers' price to wholesale buyers for barrels holding 45 and 90 of the fruits.

A petition is being gotten up to have all places of business in Alvinston closed three nights in the week at 8 o'clock, which is being signed by all the business men.

VALUE OF COLD STORAGE.

THE approach of warm weather, says a writer in The Grocery World, serves to remind the wide-awake dealers in dried fruits that it behooves them to make arrangements for the carrying in cold storage during the warm weather of any fruit they have not the good fortune to dispose of.

Cold storage is one of the most useful factors in the grocery and provision trade of to-day. While it costs from five to eight times as much as ordinary storage, it is, however, indispensable, because if not protected by this method, the fruit will suffer severely from the ravages of cut worms and other insects to such an extent as to make it, in some instances, unmerchantable.

The facilities for and methods of cold storage have made great strides during the last few years, largely by reason of the advent of artificial ice manufacture. Eight or ten years ago the cold-storage men were forced to depend on the ice crop for their supply of frigidity. One well-known firm in the dried and green fruit business had an ice-house of its own on the banks of the Delaware, just above Bristol, Pa. This firm laid in a supply of ice in the upper portion of the building during the winter, using the lower portion for storage. The rates were not much in excess of the present rates charged, but in addition to the fixed charges was the freight to and from the house.

The advent of ice-making machinery and freezing appliances has modernized cold storage and reduced it almost to a science. Where, by the old method, the cold storage men were able to maintain a fairly uniform temperature, the modern ideas have improved matters so much that they can maintain a temperature at any point desired, and as some perishable articles require a fixed temperature to insure their carrying properly, this item is of great importance.

Another modern feature of the business is the important facility for separate storage. Certain classes of perishable merchandise, such as poultry, butter, eggs, etc., have separate rooms arranged for them, so that the odors from fish (of which large quantities are now carried), dried fruits, etc., will not taint them.

The cold storage business has grown to such an extent that about this season of the year it is difficult to secure accommodations in the modern warehouses unless prior arrangements have been made.

It is only during the last ten years that the importance of cold storage has amounted to so much. About a decade ago California dried fruit first began to assume an important position in this market. Before that the major supply came from the South, Delaware and Maryland. In those days there was not, as a rule, a sufficient surplus to necessitate carrying in cold storage. The cool cellars of the large wholesale buildings were then utilized. Some of these cellars preserve a very low temperature even in summer, and fruit stored in them and kept from the light will keep surprisingly well. Some jobbers even use their cellars to carry over small stocks of dried fruit yet. Raisins will not keep well in cold storage, turning red and sugaring just as if kept in ordinary warehouses.

The value of cold storage in correcting the overly large stocks of a given food product can hardly be measured. The possibilities of such preservation seem almost limitless, and have never been tested. It is thought probable that a year or even over that would not be beyond the capacity of a well-ordered cold-storage plant.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

BUSINESS has been only fair during the past week. There is hardly a line showing any movement of note. Merchants, however, are hopeful. A good retail business is being done in the city.

Is Halifax to become a fruit port for the Dominion? The cargo of the steamer Premier, as spoken of in the last GROCER, will have something to do with this question. She brought 8,200 bunches of bananas and 90 bags of cocoanuts from Borcas del Toro, for Vipond, McBride & Co., Montreal. This is the first full cargo of fruit to arrive at this port, The fruit was found in fairly good condition, only about 2,000 bunches having ripened on the voyage. The ripe fruit was sold in job lots to dealers, who retailed it to the public at from $1.50 to 25c. per bunch, and on Saturday last nearly every man, woman and child in Halifax were eating bananas. The dealers laughingly remarked that they were cultivating a taste for this class of fruit. The steamer arrived on Friday morning and at midnight the fruit was started for its destination in 15 cars. It was expected to arrive in Montreal on Sunday at noon. This being the case, and the fruit arriving there in good condition, the route may be adopted.

The Retail Grocers' Association held a meeting Thursday afternoon of last week, at which the small margin on Surprise soap was discussed. It was agreed that all members of the association stop selling that brand of soap until the manufacturers came down in their price to the trade. It was decided to remove all cards from the stores offering the soap at 5c. As there are a large number of grocers in the city who do not belong to the association a large number of signs remain in the windows.

Exporters of fishstuffs have received cables stating that an advance has taken place in the Spanish West India market of 75c. per quintal. This is good news, but a further advance will be necessary in order that shippers sustain no loss on cargoes on passage. The past season has been the worst on record for our fish merchants, and the outlook is not promising. New alewives are offering, and $3 seems to be about their value. There is no demand for herring.

Butter took a tumble of a couple of cents per pound this week, new creamery jobbing at 20c. and dairy at 18c.

New cheese is offered at 9½c.

Eggs have been jobbing all week at 11c., but the P. E. Island dealers have wired that they can supply any quantity at 9¼c. The freight and charges to this market are about ½c.

No Ontario beef has arrived during the week, and native is not in great demand. Native was quoted this week at $8 and $8.50 for live.

The assignment of G. P. Henry & Co., victuallers, is recorded. The preferred creditors are: G. McLellan, $580; R. T. Coates, $931; E. Tupper, $678; Musgrave & Co., $105; Drysdale & McInnes, $150; G. Thompson, $238; J. McFatridge, $395; N. Holmes, $160; W. J. Veith, $210; J. C. Mackintosh, $164; H. Williams, $525; A. Burke, $550; Joseph McLaren, $236; W. McFatridge, $100; C. C. Eaton, $105; W. Dodd, $100.

The steamer Avlona arrived at midnight Monday morning, from Charente, with a cargo of liquors and dried fruits for Halifax and Montreal.

The steamer Taymouth Castle has arrived at St. John and is due here the latter part of the week, with quite a large quantity of molasses from the West Indies. She has 1,200 tons of freight for this port, mostly molasses.

THE GREEN FRUIT SALES.

THE steamship Flamboro's fruit cargo, the second this season, was sold this week at the Montreal Fruit Auction Company's room on McGill street. C. E. Thurston was, as usual, the auctioneer, and disposed of the large cargo in an able and satisfactory manner to all concerned. The attendance of buyers from the States and Western Canada was as large, if not larger, than at the Fremona's cargo sale, and the bidding, in consequence, in the early part of the sale was very brisk, but coming towards the end it sagged off considerably, and the fruit in some cases had to be started at very low figures in order to draw the bids out. On the whole, however, the sale was a satisfactory one, and prices for lemons were fully maintained, but oranges sold at figures which show quite a decline as compared with those realized for the Fremona's cargo. This is principally due to the abundant supply already on spot. The demand for lemons was active from American buyers, and fully two-thirds of the cargo was taken on this account, and they also took a large quantity of oranges, which they did not do at the previous sale. This was owing to the lower prices ruling for this fruit.

The quality and condition of the cargo was generally good. It consisted of 5,000 boxes and 5,000 half-boxes of Messina oranges, 1,000 boxes and 7,640 half-boxes of Catania oranges, and 17,500 boxes Messina lemons, 6,000 Palermo, and 4,000 Catania. Fancy lemons sold at $2.70 to $3.10 per box, choice at $2.30 to $2.60, and common at $1.20 to $2.10, and the oranges sold at $1 to $3.20 per box, and at 90c. to $2.15 per half-box. The general impression here is that at the sale of the next cargo, which will be the steamship Bellona's on the 19th inst., prices will rule much higher. The principal buyers were: Lumsden, of New York; V. Zorn, Herbert, C. Parsons, Emery, of Boston; W. Spier, of Porter Bros., Boston; Thacker, of Chicago; Peacock, of Chicago; J. P. Clemes, of Clemes Bros., Toronto; McWilliam & Everist, H. W. Dawson, of Dawson & Co., Toronto; W. Husband, of Guelph; Dixon, of Hamilton; Voishart, of St. Catharines; Shuttleworth, of London, Ont.; Bardon, of Quebec; Rheume, Beauchamp, Plain, H. A. & J. A. Brouse and G. W. Hunt, of Ottawa. The principal Montreal buyers were: John Barry & Sons, Hart & Tuckwell, O. & E. Hart, J. R. Clogg & Co., Montreal Fruit Exchange, T. S. Vipond, Vipond & Vipond, Vipond, McBride & Co., J. J. Vipond & Co., L. M. Selvestre, Bowes & McWilliams.

PERSONAL MENTION.

James A. Rothwell, Walkerton, is giving up business on account of poor health.

G. A. Griffith, general store, Baldur, Man., is selling out. He intends removing to Winnipeg.

H. W. Dawson, of Dawson & Co., is this week in Montreal attending the fruit sales. His name was inadvertently omitted from the list of those present last week.

Mr. J. P. Clemes, of Clemes Bros., Toronto, was confined to his bed for a few days in Montreal from the effects of the runaway accident which he met with in company with Mr. McWilliam a couple of weeks ago. He is now able to get about again.

Mr. Bart. Cottam, of Bart. Cottam & Co., London, sails for Europe on Saturday, via New York.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

"It would be a good thing," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "if customers when remitting stamps for fractional parts of a dollar would wrap them in oil paper and thus prevent them from sticking together. The address of business men on the left-hand of an envelope is also desirable; those not delivered will then be promptly returned."

TEA-GROWING IN NORTH DAKOTA.

That old ideas are gradually giving way to the force of progressive circumstances is shown in a most practical manner by recent Russian enterprise in North Dakota, remarks The Northwest Magazine. It took California a long time to learn that its soil and climate were adapted to the cultivation of figs, dates, etc., and many years passed before planters in the Southern States learned that pineapples, and a host of other fruits as well, could be grown to as great perfection as in the land whence they were imported. It is so difficult to overcome one's preconceived notions that certain commodities must perforce be grown in certain tropical or semi-tropical countries other than our own! When asked what products are grown from North Dakota soil, one thinks readily of wheat, rye, oats and flax, but who in the world would name tea as one of the cultivatable crops? Yet tea is grown, and grown successfully, in North Dakota. State Commissioner of Agriculture Laughlin has made the discovery that a colony consisting of twenty Russian families, in Mercier County, raised tea last year from seed obtained from Russia. The experiment is reported to have been a decided success, and tea culture will be tried on a much larger scale in that state this year. It is known as the Asiatic Russian tea plant, and the quality is said to be every way superior to the black tea sold by merchants.

One enterprising merchant put in his window a sign which read: "We back our goods with our honor." The merchant two doors west put up a sign also. His sign read: "We back our goods with a cash guarantee. See?"—Indianapolis Journal.

TAKING THE TARIFF OUT OF POLITICS.

AN organized effort is being made in the United States to take the tariff question out of politics.

As in Canada so in the United States, the pending elections have aroused interest in the tariff, and consequently the movement in question has more or less interest for Canadians.

After the experience of the business men of the United States in 1894, when Congress kept tariff reform in suspense for a twelve-month or more, to the detriment of trade, it is not surprising that the interests then affected so disastrously should now be active to prevent its repetition.

A proposition to take the tariff out of politics is under the circumstances what might be expected after those whose duty it was to deal with it had proved themselves to be so unfitted for the task. It is the experience of history in other matters as well as tariff questions.

In Canada we have had tariff bunglers and we have got them yet; and had the members of our Parliament proved themselves to be as bad at tariff tinkering as were the members of the U. S. Congress in 1894, it is possible that we might have seen a similar movement inaugurated in this country.

But what is often first proposed as a remedy for an evil is not always the best. And this, it appears to us, is the case with the proposition to take from politics the solving of tariff questions.

Tariff questions have always been questions which have divided men into two or more political camps; and as long as one man thinks differently from another they always will.

If the citizens of either the United States or Canada were to take the duty of tariff framing from those in whom it now reposes and handed it over to a body of business men, it would be merely transferring it from one body of politicians to another. Of course, the transfer may ensure a better class of politicians, but that would not mean the taking of the question out of politics. Nor would it, in all probability, be representative of the will of the people.

The tariff cannot be severed from politics. It is as impossible as to extract the salt from the waters of the Atlantic.

What is wanted is not to take the tariff out of politics, but to take out of politics the professional politicians of the ward type, who are so much in evidence in the Parliament of Canada as well as in the Congressional halls of the United States, and in their places put men wide in practical business experience and rich in common sense.

Leave with them the work of framing tariffs. They, 'tis true, will not be without their different political opinions, but they will not allow these to blind them to a sense of their duty. They will not allow the commercial interests of the country to become subservient to party exigencies. They will not allow legislation for the good of the country to be shelved, for that which, while it may benefit the party, will shackle the trade of the country. They will not allow session after session of the House, week in and week out, to be worse than wasted in discussions, the resultant of which is a country torn from one end to the other by sectarian strife. Their own interests, if nothing else, will preclude them from doing these things.

These are the class of men that THE CANADIAN GROCER, during the last two years, particularly, has been urging the business men of this country to send to Parliament. And, judging from the character of the men that are being nominated in many of the constituencies, our labors have not been altogether in vain.

AN OBVIOUS MORAL.

A LITTLE thing often makes or unmakes trade. Hence, how necessary it is that a merchant should exercise care in all the details, small as well as great, appertaining to his business.

A large retail grocer has learned this to his cost: At any rate, if he has not learned it, he should have.

About the last day of March an order was placed with him for shipment to a town in Western Ontario. Included in the order were goods of a perishable nature.

Five weeks after, the gentleman who had ordered the goods, which, by the way, were for a relative, receiving no acknowledgment of their receipt, made enquiries, but found they had not reached their destination. He instituted a search, and found the goods in the freight room of the station of the town to which they had been consigned. The reason they had not been delivered was that the box containing them was addressed to "Miss Blank" instead of "Mrs. Blank," and no "Miss Blank" could be found, although the agent sought for one both in town and out of town. The perishable contents were, of course, spoilt.

When the grocer in question was approached regarding the matter, instead of acknowledging his mistake, he first began to abuse the carriers and then had the temerity to assert that the gentleman who ordered the goods was to blame, notwithstanding that evidence was adduced showing that he had furnished the correct name and address.

When he found that he could not shoulder the responsibility on anybody else he tried to treat the matter lightly. "Oh, well, we'll make it right when we send up the next box of goods," he said by way of mollification; but it did not mollify. And as the grocer did not offer then and there to make it good, his list of regular customers contains one name less.

The moral is obvious.

THE FRUIT CROP OUTLOOK.

MUCH talk of much damage to the fruit trees by frost was heard a few weeks ago. Ruin dire was alleged to be done in some of the principal fruit-growing sections in Western Ontario. That these reports were sent abroad by alarmists is now evident, if the investigations of well-known fruit men are worth anything.

Mr. Pettit, the president of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, whose home is in the famous Niagara Peninsula, declares that the prospects for peaches, plums, grapes, etc., between Winona and Grimsby are better than they have been at this season of the year for a quarter of a century. Between Stony Creek and Hamilton, however, some injury was done during the winter.

Another authority, Mr. W. M. Orr, states that the peach crop will be a good average, and that plums will be as plentiful as they were two years ago, when the trees all over the country were bowed to the ground with the weight of fruit. Pears, in his opinion, also promise well.

Up in Oxford county the conditions are favorable. The plum trees have developed wonderfully during the last few weeks, while, to quote The Sentinel-Review, the apple orchards are a sight to behold.

In the London district apples, plums, cherries, pears and gooseberries are in excellent condition, but strawberries, blackberries and raspberries are backward.

Reports from Manitoba indicate favorable fruit conditions there.

Of course, we may not be out of the woods yet. There is yet time for frosts to come. But in the meantime it is gratifying to know that the fruit prospects of the country are so promising.

NO MORE DAMAGED LOBSTERS.

ABOUT one-fifth of the lobster pack each year is lost through the lobsters turning black. This represents an annual loss of fully $200,000 to Canada.

Various causes have been named. Most people think there is an acid in the lobster which eats into the tin of the can in which they are packed. One packer last year tried the experiment of using a special tin which could not be effected by the acid, but still part of his output turned black. To show how anxious packers are to overcome the trouble, this firm paid over $4,000 extra for this special tin.

Hon. Donald Ferguson, of Prince Edward Island, took the matter up, and interested Dr. Andrew MacPhail, Montreal, the bactereologist, of Bishops' College. He has been experimenting all winter, and THE CANADIAN GROCER has good reason to believe he has discovered a way of preventing this enormous annual loss. Dr. MacPhail leaves this week to spend a month experimenting in the lobster factories in the Gulf ports. The results of his final experiments will be watched with much interest.

Dr. MacPhail was at one time a regular contributor to the Montreal department of THE GROCER.

NIGGARDLINESS THAT MEANS LOSS.

TORONTO in some respects is a progressive city; in others she is little better than a country village. At her feet is Lake Ontario. On either side she is flanked by a river, and through her streets run a network of water pipes.

But blessed as she is with a bountiful water supply, one would judge, from the niggardly way in which the streets of the "Queen City" are sprinkled, that the city is on the verge of a water famine.

The natural consequence of this scanty sprinkling of the streets is a liberal supply of dust, which, when the spring winds are not stirring into clouds, the rapidly running electric cars are.

The house wife, by keeping doors and windows closed, can keep out the greater portion of the dust, but the merchants, with their store doors, and in many instances their windows, open, have no such protection. The grocers and fruit dealers particularly are sufferers in this respect, for many of them have both doors and windows open.

The dissatisfaction which this state of affairs has created culminated on Monday evening in the Retail Grocers' Association passing a resolution regarding the matter and authorizing the secretary to communicate with the proper authorities and endeavor to have the sprinklers used more liberally.

It is to be hoped the representations will not be ineffectual. It is false economy to allow the present condition of affairs to obtain. Niggardliness in sprinkling the streets may keep down the expenses of the Street Commissioner's Department, but dusty streets mean loss to merchants through damaged goods. And what takes directly from the merchants is felt, indirectly though it may be, by the city as a whole.

PAISLEY ADOPTS EARLY CLOSING.

MR. W. H. McFARLANE, one of Paisley's merchants and councilmen, was in Toronto on Wednesday. Mr. McFarlane is an enthusiastic advocate of early closing, and he informed me that the merchants in his town have voluntarily adopted the early closing system.

"We first intended," he explained, "to try and induce the Council to pass a by-law, making early closing compulsory. And we went as far as to get a petition up, and presenting it to the Council. But it was eventually decided that it would be better to try the voluntary plan. We did not draw up any agreement, but just got a verbal promise from this and that merchant that when the town bell was rung at 7 o'clock he would close up his store. Early closing went into force on Monday, the 4th inst., and now about 99 per cent. of the merchants—grocers, dry goods men, hardware men, etc.—close at 7 o'clock every night in the week except Saturday, and will continue to do so through May, June, July, August and September."

"How many stores are there in Paisley?"

"Seven dry goods, 3 hardware, 2 book stores, 3 harness shops, 4 boot and shoe shops, and about a dozen grocery stores. The grist mills and blacksmith shops also close. We are now anxious to see the merchants in the neighboring towns fall into line," added Mr. McFarlane.

"How is business?" I ventured.

"It has been good since the warm weather set in."

Mr. McFarlane further stated that fall wheat in his district had been damaged by the frost, and plums did not promise well. Apples promised an abundant crop, and the general trade outlook he considered good.

THE HANG KOW TEA MARKET.

Mr. Anderson, agent for Turnbull, Howie & Co., of Shanghai, stated to a GROCER representative that the Hang Kow market was expected to open, if anything, a little earlier than last season, as the weather had been so favorable. This having been the case, it is expected that the crop will be of good quality. The prices, he said, were not expected to be higher than last year. As regards the Foo Chow, it was too early yet to give any indication of what the prices will be.

CHANGES IN A WHOLESALE HOUSE

THE wholesale grocery firm of Warren Bros. & Boomer, Toronto, have dissolved, Mr. H. C. Boomer, whom it will be remembered was left a fortune by a relative in England, retiring from the firm. The business will be conducted as heretofore by the remaining partners, under the firm name of Warren Bros. & Co.

Mr. Boomer has been a well-known figure in the grocery trade of Toronto several years, and while people are congratulating him on his good fortune, yet it is with regret that the trade see him go out of their midst.

Mr. Boomer's career in the grocery trade began with R. Davis & Co. several years ago. Then he went with R. Jordan & Co., Wellington street. When Mr. Jordan retired the business was carried on by Mr. Boomer and Mr. Gordon under the style of Gordon & Co. His connection with the firm of Warren Bros & Boomer began about 15 years ago.

Mr. Boomer leaves for England this week, and he will be away several months.

MONTREAL ASSOCIATION AND EARLY CLOSING.

PRESIDENT VALLIERES presided at the monthly meeting of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association last Wednesday evening. The sole and important business that came up for consideration was the early closing by-law lately enacted by the City Council.

The new law is not satisfactory to everyone, as the police records show, for several retailers have been summoned to answer why they did not close their stores as ordered. Several of them have decided to make test cases; but the Grocers' Association do not take this stand. There were some lively speeches at last week's meeting, and many of the members whose business was situated in the suburbs or manufacturing sections of the city pointed out that it was a hardship to them. Still, if they could be assured that all would be compelled to close they were perfectly willing to do so.

The sum total of the discussion was that the Grocers' Association as a body could not identify itself with any movement looking towards the repeal of the new ordinance, and it was decided to allow the law to take its course.

This course proves the association a friend of early closing. It might be remarked that legal opinion has been obtained to the effect that the enactment is unconstitutional.

TOMATOES AND PEAS.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has an enquiry for 1,000 cases tomatoes and peas, f.o.b. cars. Sellers can obtain particulars from Montreal or Toronto offices.

THE DUTY ON PACKET TEAS.

DEPUTATIONS of the packet tea men are waiting on the Ottawa authorities this week in regard to the duty which should be imposed on the lead packages in which the tea is imported.

The companies who bring their tea into the country in bulk and put it up into packages in Canada want the valuation raised. Naturally, the brokers and agents who sell English packets are fighting against the proposition.

At present, as a basis on which to collect the 30 per cent. ad valorem duty imposed on the packages, the Customs officials value the half-pound packages as worth 1¼c., and the pound packages as worth 2c.

The Canadian packet tea companies claim that this valuation is too low, and will endeavor to satisfy the Ottawa officials that the packages in question cannot be produced for the above cost.

The agents of the English houses on the other hand claim to have evidence in the opposite direction. It is, therefore, largely a matter of opinion, and the trade are awaiting the decision of the Customs authorities with interest.

TORONTO GROCERS' PICNIC.

THE question of the annual excursion was finally disposed of at the meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association held on Monday night in St. George's Hall. The excursion will be held on Wednesday, July 22, to Niagara Falls via steamer and the new electric railway on the American side of the river.

President White was in the chair, and there was a fair attendance of members considering the sultry nature of the weather.

These names were submitted by Secretary Muat-Corrie for membership : Patterson Bros., Little York, and J. J. Jack, Dovercourt road. They were duly accep ed.

This communication, under date of May 6, from the ex-member for Centre Toronto, Mr. G. R. R. Cockburn, was read :

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of yesterday calling attention to the fact that fruit stands had been established during the summer season in and about the Custom House in our city, and that many merchants on adjacent streets feel that this is a great injustice to them.

As the Custom House is not in my constituency I do not feel justified in taking any steps personally in the matter. I shall, however, at once send your letter to the Controller of Customs, so that he may deal with the matter.

Several of the members expressed regret that Mr. Cockburn took such little interest in the matter, and a resolution to that effect, moved by Frank Johnston and seconded by T. Clark, was unanimously carried.

Mr. F. S. Roberts introduced his resolution, notice of which was given at the last meeting, to amend the by-law in so far as it related to the voting of sums of money. The object, he said, was not to interfere with the present method of paying order moneys. It was with the object of regulating the payment of extraordinary accounts, and he proposed to do this providing that in all such cases a two-thirds vote of those present should be necessary in order to carry a motion for all extraordinary expenditures.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Roberts drew the attention of the members to the unsatisfactory way in which the streets were being watered, and moved a resolution instructing the secretary to enter a complaint with the proper authorities. Mr. Mills seconded the resolution, which was carried.

LONDON RETAILERS.

AT the last meeting of the London Retail Grocers' Association a communication was received from the Early Closing Association stating that some expense had been incurred, and requesting the association to grant $5 to help defray this expense. It was decided to grant the request.

Several of the members present who were at the meeting of the Early Closing Association expressed their views on the question, and while it was reported that some few of the grocers were not falling into line, the majority were closing. The question was asked : "Who are the Early Closing Association?" The reply was that the Early Closing Association is composed of representatives of the Retail Grocers' Association, Trades and Labor Council, the Ministerial Association, and, in fact, all the different associations in the city were interested in the movement, and the representative from the Trades and Labor Association stated at the meeting Monday afternoon that their association was in sympathy with the movement and would do what they could to assist those who close by doing their purchasing early.

Several members expressed their views on the question, and while some found it difficult to close promptly at 10 o'clock Saturdays, they will endeavor to do so as near as possible, and it is felt that by those in favor of closing sticking as close as possible to the hour of 10 o'clock on Saturdays and 7 o'clock other evenings, and with the assistance of the citizens generally, the movement will soon be adopted by all the grocers in the city. The citizens who sometimes forget about it will soon become accustomed to it and will not expect or think of going to the grocery store after those hours.

The question of the next annual outing was brought up for discussion, and it was decided to have an excursion this year if arrangements can be made with the railway companies.

Accounts for hall rent, printing, etc., were passed, and the secretary requested to bring in a statement of the finances at the next regular meeting. The meeting adjourned to meet again on Wednesday, May 13, at 3 o'clock p.m.

THE PEDLARS LOSE.

Mr. Justice MacMahon has given judgment for the city of Toronto, in the test case brought by Du Vernet & Jones for the Pedlars' Association, for damages arising out of the by-law trouble. The plaintiffs in the test suits were Joseph Pocock and George M. Ferrier, of Colborne street.

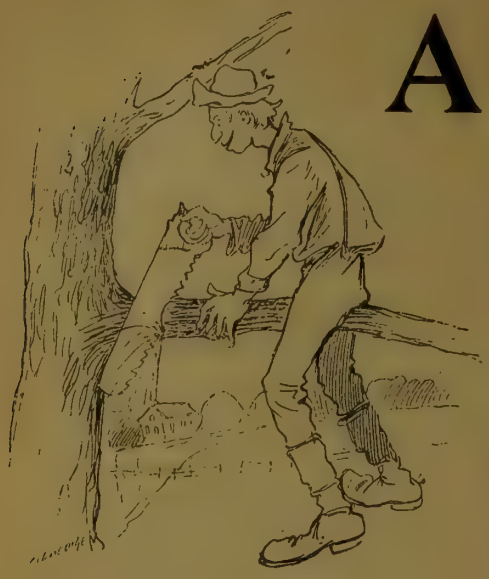
Ferrier sued the city for damages caused to his business, and a return of the license fees paid by him. The court dismissed the action, deciding that there was no liability, and that the section under which the suit was brought does not apply.

Joseph Pocock also loses his case on the same grounds, with the exception that, as he had not taken out a license, he has no claim for damages.

'TWILL BE OF INTEREST TO GROCERS.

Mr. Millen, superintendent, and Mr. W. H. Rowley, secretary-treasurer, of the Eddy Co., of Hull, Que., have been making a tour of New York, Boston and other New England manufacturing centres where paper machines, paper bag machines, printing presses, etc., are made. THE CANADIAN GROCER learns that the object of the visit was to inspect match machinery, paper bag machinery, tissue machines, perforating and other machinery in connection with the toilet paper business. It is understood that something of interest to the grocery trade will come out of the trip in question.

A NEW COMMISSION FIRM.



The Western Storage and Commission Co. is the name of a new firm that has opened up in London, Ont. Messrs. J. Magee and R. Moore are the proprietors, and our London correspondent reports them to be trustworthy and responsible men. The firm will do a warehousing and general commission business, and is prepared to handle all kinds of merchandise. The firm's offices and warehouse are situated at 420 to 422 Ridout street, and they are commodious and well suited for the requirements of the commission and warehousing business, consistsisting of three flats and a large cellar.

A NEW CANNING COMPANY.

A new canning company has been organized in Port Hope. It is named the Port Hope Preserving and Canning Co., Ltd. Buildings are now being erected, and the company will be ready for business this season. Mr. W. M. Miller is manager.

THE MONTREAL GROCERS' PICNIC.

The Montreal Grocers' Association have decided to hold their annual picnic on July 17th next.

A Drop—

Will take place in DIAMOND BAKING POWDER on Friday, May 15th, when the prices to the retail trade will be as follows:

1 lb. Tins,	2 doz. in a case,	-	$1.20 per doz.
½ lb. "	3 "	" - -	.90 "
¼ lb. "	4 "	" -	.60 "

We beg to advise our retail friends, and those who will be our friends in the future, that absolutely nothing deleterious is used in the manufacture of this powder, which does the work as effectively as many costing double the money.

ITS STERLING QUALITIES

have been acknowledged by hundreds of good cooks throughout Canada, and those desiring first-class results cannot do better than pin their faith to "DIAMOND." Order a sample case—recommend it to your customers and the result need not be feared.

It's a Remarkable Trade Fact

AND A GOOD ONE TOO

That surely and rapidly the pure, rich CEYLON TEA is driving the adulterated teas of China from the market. It is right that it should. Ceylon Tea is more skilfully cultivated, more carefully sorted, more securely packed, and more honestly sold than any other tea. The best of these are:

"VICTORIA" CEYLON TEA. In ½-lb. packages, retails at 25 cts.

"PRINCESS LOUISE" CEYLON TEA. In ½-lb. packages, retails at 20 cts.

They are the tea lover's choice, and always the same.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

NOTHING specially new has developed in trade during the week. If anything, business is slightly better than it was at the time of last review. At the same time, however, trade does not exhibit as much life as the wholesale trade would like to see. The sugar market is without change as far as prices are concerned, although the feeling is not as unsettled as it was a week ago, there having been a slight reaction in the outside markets. The sugar trade locally is also a little more active than it was, but the quantity moving is still small. In canned goods the trade continues fairly active for tomatoes, peas and corn. Canned salmon is in good demand for the cheaper brands, which are still scarce and firm. Rio coffees of the higher grades are scarce and dearer on the outside markets. Syrups and molasses are both quiet. Teas are without special feature. California fruits are still in good demand for this time of the year. Valencia raisins are getting scarcer and dearer. There is still a fairly good demand for currants. Prunes are going out fairly well, and some very low priced ones are being this week offered by some of the houses. Lemons have been in active demand with prices firmer. Oranges have also been meeting with more enquiry. Butter receipts are still liberal and prices are tending downwards.

CANNED GOODS.

Tomatoes, peas and corn are meeting with an active demand. Peas are still very strong, and the tendency in tomatoes is rather towards higher than lower prices. There is still plenty of cheap corn offered. Salmon is in good demand. The cheaper grades are still scarce and firm in price, but there is an abundance of better grades to be had. We have not yet heard of any futures in salmon being offered on this market, but advices from the Coast to agents here would indicate that high prices will prevail for next season's pack. We quote : Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 55 to 65c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans 70c. up ; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's ; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality ; blackberries, $1.90 to $2 20 ; cherries, $2 40 to $2.45 ; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25 ; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.35 to $1.40 ; "Maple Leaf," $1.25 ; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40 ; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins ; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15 ; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30 ; lobsters, $2.25 for tall tins ; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1.45 ; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35 ; 6's, $7.50 to $8 ; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

COFFEE.

The market for Rios is strong and likely to be higher before the new crop comes in. Stocks in first hands are small. Good grades of Rio coffee are scarce and difficult to procure. We quote green in bags : Rio, 18c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c. ; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

Business is moderate only with supplies light. We quote : Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There is not much trade doing and prices are unchanged. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, 21 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

There has been, if anything, a slight improvement in the demand for sugar, but the volume of business is still very light, and the condition of the market cannot be termed any other than dull. In London on Tuesday beets advanced 1½d., and a little more inquiry is being experienced in New York. In consequence of these more favorable conditions outside, the feeling locally is a little more settled. The refiners refuse to shade prices. We hear of one offer for 500 barrels each of granulated and yellows at 1-16c. less than the regular quotation, but the refinery to which it was made refused to entertain it. Wholesalers' quotations are : Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellows, 3⅞c. up; Demerara in bags, $3 75 to $3.85 per 100 lbs.

SPICES.

There has been another marked advance in the price of cream of tartar, and the quotations in the primary markets are now several shillings above the figures ruling a few weeks ago. The spice trade here is without any special feature and prices are unchanged. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c. ; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

As last week intimated there would be, prices for the new rice have been issued this week. Business is so far of an ordinary character, and the ruling prices are still 3½ to 3⅝c. for ordinary, and 5¼c. for Japan.

NUTS.

The market continues quiet and featureless, with prices as before. We quote as follows : Brazil nuts, 14 to 15c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10 ⅝ to 11c. for small lots ; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

Locally the market is much as before. In London, Eng., strong competition is being experienced for teas of Indian and Ceylon growth, and, according to mail advices, prices for all common and medium grades are further improved. For China teas there, and especially Congous, the bidding at auction has been poor, which shows to what extent the home trade have discarded the use of these teas. "Still," says an advice, "some buying in a quiet way by private treaty discloses the fact that many dealers look upon a demand for the much neglected China Congous as bound to come ere long, for after the packers and blenders have so persistently run on India and Ceylon teas exclusively it becomes clear, as we have repeatedly pointed out, that their requirements must presently outrun the supply of the favorite source unless China Congou be resorted to for mixing if anything like a workable reserve stock is to be kept on hand. The terminal market has at last seized upon this fact and speculators, by bidding up for and buying near months' delivery, are anticipating a rise in the value of China Congou." Ruling prices to retailers are : Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades ; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

Valencia raisins are gradually getting into smaller compass, aud with this fact prices are firmer. Local wholesalers report that they cannot now bring in any fruit from New York, and they in consequence look for much higher prices on all kinds of raisins. We quote: Off-stalk 4¾ to 5c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6½ to 6¾c. California raisins, 2-crown, 4¼ to 4½c.; 3-crown, 5¼ to 5½c.; 4-crown, 6½ to 7c.; seedless, 4½ to 5c.

Although the demand for California dried and evaporated fruits is not as large as it was, yet the trade as a rule declare that it is keeping up wonderfully well for this time of the year. We quote as follows : Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 5¾ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.

The currant trade is still fairly good. The trade for cleaned currants is becoming quite a factor in this market. The volume of business in it is steadily increasing. We quote as follows: Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

Prunes of the California, French and Bosnia varieties is fairly satisfactory, and prices are steady and unchanged. We quote: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c., "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

Sultana raisins are quiet and firm at 5½ to 6c.

The improved demand noted last week for Eleme figs appears to have been fairly well maintained. We quote: Eleme, 14 oz., 8 to 9c.; 10 lb., 8 to 9c.; 12 lb., 10c.; 28 lb., 12c.

Dates are quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been an active demand during the week for lemons, due no doubt to the warmer weather. Old stocks have been cleaned out and the contents of the first sale well distributed. With the continuance of warm weather dealers confidently look for higher prices. Prices are already much higher in New York, and some anticipate that the present figures ruling here will appreciate another dollar before long. Oranges have experienced a little more enquiry within the last few days than for some weeks past. The demand is principally for Valencias. Pineapples have been offering more freely during the last few days, and, as a consequence, prices are easier. Stocks have been irregular, as far as color is concerned, there being a great deal of green fruit in the shipments arriving. The apple market is attracting little or no attention just now, there being very little fruit on the market. We quote: Lemons—Messina, $3.00 to $3.50 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $3.75 to $4.50, according to size; ditto seedlings, $2.75 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $5.50 to $6; Jumbo's, 420's, $6.75 to $7; ditto, 714's, $6.75 to $7; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $1.85 to $2; ditto, boxes, $3.25 to $3.50. Bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; cocoanuts, $5.50 to $6 a sack; apples, Spies, $4.50 to $5, Ben Davis, $3 to $4; Golden Russets, $3.50 to $4.50; domestic onions, 75c. per bag; Bermuda onions, $1.75 to $2 per small crate; Egyptian onions, $3 per bag; pineapples, 10 to 20c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Further weakness is to be noted in the butter market on account of the free deliveries arriving. There is a fair demand, however, but prices are 2c. lower than they were a week ago. In creamery butter, outside one pound prints, there is practically nothing doing. We quote: large rolls, 10 to 12c.; dairy 1-lb. prints, 12 to 13c.; creamery pound prints, 16 to 17c.

CHEESE—There is not much doing in this line and prices are low. We quote: October, 8 to 8¼c.; summer make, 7¾ to 8c.; fodder cheese, 7½ to 7¾c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Trade continues quiet, and 90c. to $1 per bushel is still the idea as to price.

DRIED APPLES—There is no improvement to note, business still being dull at 3½ to 4c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Trade in this line is also dull at from 5½ to 6c.

EGGS—Deliveries are fairly heavy, but all coming forward are being well taken care of, a good many being put down in pickle. We quote: Firsts, 9½ to 10c.; seconds, 8 to 8½c.

HONEY—There is still very little doing and prices are nominally unchanged. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—Still very little to note, business being quiet and supplies light. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

MAPLE SYRUP—Trade is moderate and prices unchanged. We quote: Imperial gallon tins, 90c.; 5-gallon tins, 80c.; barrels, 75c. per gallon.

POTATOES—The bottom appears to be out of the market altogether. We hear of a carload netting a farmer but 4 cents per bag f.o.b. The price on track is 15c. per bag; out of store, 20 to 25c. per bag is the idea.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $13.50 to $14 ; Canadian short-cut, $14 to $14.50 ; clear shoulder mess, $12 ; shoulder mess, $11.50.

FISH.

The market is overstocked, particularly in salmon trout, and business in consequence is dull. Salmon trout is quoted from ½ to 1c. per lb. cheaper. We quote : Lake Erie herring, 2½ to 3c. per lb.; blueback herring, $1.25 per 100 ; pike, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; British Columbia salmon, 15 to 20c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; whitefish, 7 to 9c.; salmon trout, 6 to 6½c.; eels, 5 to 6c. per lb.

SEEDS.

The season for red clover is practically over, and although no change is yet reported in the jobbing price concessions will have to be made on any small lots that may be yet held in first hands. Alsike is running along smoothly at previous quotations. While there have been some fluctuations in timothy in the far west, the markets here are practically unchanged. The jobbing prices for recleaned stocks out of store here are as follows: Red clover, $4.65 to $5.25 ; Alsike, $3 to $4 65 ; timothy, $1.90 to $2.10 ; Hungarian, 70 to 75c.; millet, 65 to 75c. per bush.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN—Receipts are still light. We quote : White wheat, 80c.; red, 78c.; goose, 58c.; barley, 35c.; oats, 25c.; peas, 52 to 54c.; buckwheat, 37 to 38c.

HAY—Market is over supplied, and $13 to $14 per ton is asked on track.

FLOUR—Business is in an unsatisfactory condition. There is practically nothing doing and quotations are nominal. There is not very much pressing of sales, but there is a good deal of stuff being held. We quote : Straight roller, $3.40 to $3.45, carload lots, Toronto freights, and $3.50 to $3.60 in job lots; Manitoba patents, $3.75 to $4 per bbl.; Ontario patents, $3.60 to $3.65 per bbl.; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.50 to $3.60.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business is much the same as it has been during the last few weeks. We quote : Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.90 to $3; rolled wheat, $2.25 to $2.30 in 100-lb. barrels ; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50 ; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

TALLOW—Unchanged at 3½ to 4c. for rendered and 1¼c. for rough.

PETROLEUM.

Trade is fair and prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16½c.; carbon safety, 18c.; Canadian water white, 18c.; American water white, 21c.; Pratt's astral, 22c.

MARKET NOTES.

Butter is about 1c. per pound cheaper than it was a week ago.

The market is stronger on Rio coffees, and the better grades are scarce and difficult to get.

A good many strawberries from Tennessee and Arkansas are arriving on the Toronto market, and they sell at from 17 to 18c. per box.

Warren Bros. & Co., who are interested in the Imperial Lumber Co., have been notified that their mill at Warren has been destroyed by fire.

The Toronto agents of the Windsor Salt Works report that the recent accident to the machinery has been repaired, and that orders are being filled as fast as possible.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, May 14, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE week has presented few striking features, though the volume of jobbing trade as a whole is fair. Among the staple lines sugar fails to show any life, and stocks in refiners' hands continue ample. Teas continue quiet in a large way, but the jobbers report more demand this week from both city and country retailers. Molasses has been sold to arrive at rather better prices, but demand is dull. Syrups continue motionless, and the same can be said of coffees and spices. In dried fruit a moderate jobbing trade is passing, while values on all lines are steady under light stocks. Canned goods continue much as they were, except that packers of canned meats notified jobbers of a decline this week. In other lines there have been no features.

SUGAR.

There is no change in the sugar market. Outside advices on raw have shown some irregularity, but the fact has had no influence whatever on local values for refined. Demand is moderate, both jobbers and retailers confining their operations to actual wants. At New York, both raw and refined have fluctuated, but more recent advices from abroad indicate a steadier tendency in Great Britain for both cane and beet. Two cargoes of raw arrived here during the past week for the two local refineries, whose stock of refined, however, is still ample. It is this latter fact which has had more to do with preventing higher prices during the the spring than anything else. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c., and yellows, 3⅝ to 4¼c., as to quantity and quality.

SYRUPS.

There is only a slow demand for syrup, and prices are nominally unchanged. Stocks are not heavy, and this tends to check reaction, which might come in the continued absence of demand. We quote: Bright grades, 2¼ to 3c., and dark 1½ to 1¾c.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market continues much as it was a week ago. Some recent contracts have cost rather more at the Islands, viz., 13c., which means a laid-down cost that is almost the equivalent of the selling price fixed by the Guild on new Barbadoes to arrive. We quote ex store: Barbadoes, 35 to 36c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 35c.; and new Barbadoes to arrive 31c. car lots and 32c. in smaller quantities.

RICE.

The rice market is fairly active, and the new basis of prices on new crop goods was given this week by the mills. They are as follows: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50; and Java $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

This market continues quiet, the demand being confined solely to small jobbing lots. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.

COFFEE.

There is very little demand for coffee, the market ruling precisely as it did a week ago. In a jobbing way we quote: Rio, 16½ to 20c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 21c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29 to 32c.

TEAS.

There is little of moment to report in the tea market in a wholesale way. Jobbers, however, note a better demand from retailers, and while it shows signs of keeping up, a generally better tone is manifested. We quote: Young Hysons 10. to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The California raisin market has ruled quiet and firm. Stocks of all grades are light here, and the small lots that arrived recently are all absorbed. We quote: 4-crown, 6¾ to 7c.; 3-crown, 5½ to to 6c, and 2-crown, 4¼ to 4¾c.

Valencia raisins in first hands have been almost cleaned out, and any that jobbers have they want for their own trade, so that the reserve stock is small. We quote: Common, 4½c.; fine, 5c.; selected, 5¼ to 6c., and layers 6 to 6¼c.

The Sultana raisin market is firm, the price being higher, at 5¾ to 6½c. Advices from abroad on these continue steady.

There is no change in currants. We quote: Barrels, 4 to 4¼c.; half-barrels, 4½ to 5c., and cases, 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

The stock of prunes here is very light, and any small lots of California that have arrived have been absorbed. We quote: French, 5 to 5½c., and Austrian, 6 to 6½c. California and Oregons range from 5½ to 12c.

Figs are quiet and firm. Bags, 4¼c.; ordinary boxes, 8½ to 9c., and fancy, 12 to 17c.

Dates range from 4½ to 5c., with little doing.

NUTS.

No special features to note, prices ruling steady. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market is quiet on the whole. In corn the low prices ruling in the west are not available here, 60c. being the outside figure, but Quebec brands of tomatoes are offering down to 70c. The packers of canned meats gave out a new list of prices this week. They show an average decline of from 10 to 25c., according to the size of the package. In other lines there is no change. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 80c.; corn, 60 to 65c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half-tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.35; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $7.25 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

The sale of the Fremona's lot last week and the Flambro's during the present week attracts all the attention. Until these sales are over jobbing prices on oranges and lemons are difficult to fix. We quote: Apples, $4.50 to $5; dried do., 3 to 3½c.; evaporated, 5½ to 6c.; bananas, $1.25 to $2; pineapples, 9 to 20c., and strawberries, 15 to 20c.

FISH.

There is little change in fish. We quote as follows: Fresh haddock, 2⅞c.

PROVISIONS.

There has been no change in the provision market. Demand for pork continues slow, but there has been a fair jobbing enquiry for hams and bacon. Prices range as follows: Canadian short cut, clear, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short cut, mess, $13 to $13.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 7½ to 9½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

There has been a fair demand for eggs at last week's decline, and prices rule steady at 9¾ to 10c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS — The demand for maple syrup was slow and business was quiet at 4½ to 5c. per lb. in wood, and 50 to 55c. per tin. Sugar sold at 7 to 7½c. per lb.

BEANS—The market for beans continues quiet. Choice hand-picked in car lots are offering at 85 to 90c., and smaller quantities at 95c. to $1.05.

POTATOES — There was no change in potatoes. The demand was slow at 25c. per bag in car lots, and 30 to 35c. in a jobbing way.

HOPS—Rule dull at 6 to 8c., according to quality and quantity.

HONEY—There is only a quiet demand for honey, bright comb stock being steady at 12c. and dark at 10c.

There is no change in onions, except that yellow are a trifle firmer at $1.75, while red are quoted at $2.50 in jobbing lots.

Tallow continues dull, and prices have been marked down to 5½c.

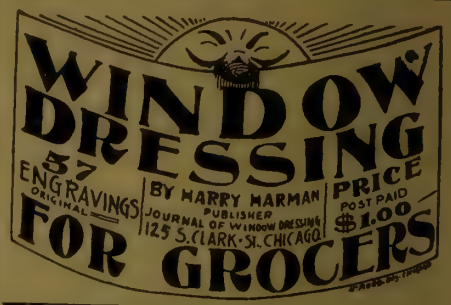
HAY.

Business in baled hay continues fairly active and prices steady at $13.50 to $14 for No. 1, and $12 for No. 2.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There has been little change in the flour trade, except that prices on winter wheat are somewhat lower than they were a week ago. We quote as follows: Winter wheat, $4 to $4.15; spring wheat, patents, $3.80 to $4; straight roller, $3.70 to $3.75; straght roller, bags, $1.75 to $1.80; extra, bags, $1.50 to $1.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.40 to $3.75.

There was no change in oatmeal. The demand continues slow, and prices rule about steady. We quote: Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10; granulated, barrels, $3.10 to $3.20; rolled oats, barrels, $2.80 to $2.90; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.



In feed an unsettled disposition in bran and shorts has been the dominant feature of the week, and prices vary widely to-day. We quote: Bran, $13 to $14; shorts, $12.50 to $14; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE—There was really nothing new in regard to cheese. A few small lots of fodder make arrive and are taken locally from 7¾c. up.

BUTTER—The butter market does not show any radical improvement. Receipts of grass creamery are reported, but they can hardly be full goods, for there must be some fodder grass among the lots. For these 15c. was mentioned as the price, but despite this any buyers of a quantity could secure goods at 14c.

ASHES.

There is no change in ashes, business ruling quiet. We quote first pots, $3.50; seconds, $3.25, and pearls, $4.75.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The quotations are now out for new crop rice.

The first cargo of new crop Barbadoes molasses is expected here during next week.

Cables from London quote Sultana raisins 5s. higher, or an advance of about 1¼c. per lb.

Medium black teas ranging from 12 to 14c. per lb. are quite scarce on the Montreal markets.

The first offers of new pack canned salmon have been made on the Coast at $4.50 per case.

Recent contracts for new crop Barbadoes molasses will mean a higher cost laid down Montreal than previous deals.

As will be noted in our market report, the meat packers have just issued a modified scale of prices to govern jobbing sales.

The market is almost bare of California dried fruit, and it would cost more than ruling spot prices to lay down either 2, 3, or 4-crown fruit.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., May 14, 1896.

THE past week has been a busy one. In all lines a good movement is reported with collections fairly good. During the spring but few bad debts have been reported by our wholesale grocery men. Markets show but few changes. Cheese comes in for a good share of interest at present. The factories in these provinces are buying their supplies and are anxiously asking the prospect for the coming season. Last season was not successful, and, following the more successful season, was very disappointing, particularly to the new factories. Less will be paid for milk this season. It is hoped factories will sell their early cheese at the market price, this being the only way they can have success. In lumber, which is such an important interest, except that some few drives are hung up and will stay up unless we have heavy rains soon, the outlook is quite bright, there being good demand at fair prices. A great change in the quality of molasses sold is noticed. More Porto Rico will come here this season than perhaps ever before.

OIL—There is still very light movement. Quite a large proportion of the oil moving is lubricating. We quote: American, burning oil, 22½c.; best Canadian, 20½c.; prime, 18c. No charge for barrels.

SALT—At time of writing two cargoes are hourly expected by sailer. Fair stocks are still held here. Quantity sold during the spring has been very large and a good demand at easy prices is still noticed. Several cars of Canadian have arrived during the week. Quantities ex ship's side could be bought below quotations, and those wishing salt would do well to buy while landing. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; fine factory-filled, $1.10; 5-lb. bags, $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; salt, bulk, $2.65 to $2.70 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—New salmon are being talked of. It looks as if prices would be firm, opening at about same figures as last season, $4.25 to $4.50 f.o.b. Coast. In different lines there is good demand. Large sized canned beef does not have the sale it did a few years ago. Lobster holds firm, present stocks being light and new pack held firm at higher prices. There is a fair catch reported, but even in fresh price is higher than last season. In vegetables and fruits there is no change noted in price, though both tomatoes and peas are held firm, particularly the latter. We quote as follows: Corn, 80 to 90c.; peas, 95 to $1; tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; gallon apples, $2.20 to $2.25; corned beef, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.70; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, $2.45 to $2.85; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2 to $2.40; salmon, $1.40 to $1.50; lobsters, $2; haddies, $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2 75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

GREEN FRUIT—With small fruits coming to hand merchants are busy. Prices tend easier from week to week. Florida tomatoes are to hand, which, though small, are sound. Rhubarb is arriving freely and finds good demand, the quality being good. Strawberries auriving during this week have been in better condition. Demand is limited. California oranges are a drug, there being no demand. Valencias are being well cleaned up, good quality being hard to get. Pineapples are rather lower. Bananas are arriving in large quantities. We quote: Lemons, $2.50 to $3; Valencia oranges, $5.50 to $6; California do., seedlings, $2; navels, $3; Messina oranges, $3.50 to $3.75; blood oranges, $2 to $2.50; pineapples, $2 to 2.40; cranberries, $3.25 per box; bananas, $1.50 to $2.50; tomatoes, $2.75 to $3 per crate; strawberries, 18 to 20c. per box; rhubarb, 4 to 5c. per lb.

DRIED FRUIT—Peels begin to have attention. Prices quoted are rather above last year, while quality is spoken of as likely to turn out better. Dried apples from Nova Scotia are arriving freely, but there is no movement. A few cars could be bought at any reasonable offer. Evaporated apples have had more inquiry during the past week, but price is low. Onions move freely. Bermudas have the chief movement at present, though Spanish are beginning to arrive. Qualities and prices of California prunes are many, and market later looks firm, but at present movement is dull. There is a quantity of French and Bosnia here. In evaporated California movement is very light. There is quite a large stock of cocoanuts held here. We quote: Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; layers, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M. 4-crown, 6 to 7c.; 3-crown, 5 to 6c.; London layers, $1.70 to $1.85. Currants, bbls., 3¾ to 4c.; cases, 4¼ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½c.: prunes, kegs, 4c.; boxes, 6 to 7c.; half-boxes, 7 to 8c.; dates 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 5c.; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c.; California evaporated peaches, 8 to 13c.; apricots, 12 to 14c.; pears, 12 to 14c.; onions, $1 to $2; Bermuda onions, $1.50 to $1.75 per crate; cocoanuts, $3 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 8c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Last week it was eggs; this week it is butter that is off, decline being two to four cents, both in creamery and dairy. New Canadian arrives freely, but only best quality shows movement. Prospects are for lower prices. In eggs, many retailers are still selling at three dozen for 25 cents. It is reported cases have been sold at 7 cents, but 8½ cents is the market price. There is a fairly good demand. Dealers will find it to their advantage to not hold stocks, even at the low prices, as bad stock kills all demand and keeps price down. New cheese is to hand. Prospects are for a rather better market than ruling for some time. Old is dull. We quote: Common dairy butter, 15 to 16c.; dairy, 17 to 18c.; new creamery prints, 20 to 22c.; cheese, 8 to 9c.; creamery, tubs, 18 to 20c.; eggs, 8½c.

SUGAR—Everyone is asking why it does not advance, but no advance is noted. There is a fair demand, with prices held firm. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—There is just a fair movement. West India steamer is due, and Barbadoes landing will cost lower than any yet here. There is also a large quantity of Porto Rico due. This molasses is coming into much more general use. The St. Croix, so far to arrive, has been nice quality, being held at higher price than Antigua. Syrup shows no demand. New Orleans continues firm. We quote as follows: Barbadoes, 31 to 32c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 36c., bbls; New Orleans, 30 to 36c.; syrup, 36 to 38c; Antigua, 28 to 29c.; St. Croix, 29 to 30c.

FISH—Gaspereaux are still of chief interest. Catch has so far been a a fair average, and there is good demand, large quantities being used for bait. A few shad are being caught. They will soon be in much larger supply. Salmon are still rare. The few caught sell high. There is fair business in dry, while pickled are dull. Lobsters are in fair supply and sell freely at quotation, being about half a cent higher than last season. There is only a light demand for boneless, and sale of the prepared fish in cartoons is light. Market is rather overstocked. Price is rather high, and quality of some not what it should be. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.60 to $3.75; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.25 to $1.30; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; new smoked, 4 to 5c.; Canso, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; shad, half-bbl., $5; Shelburne, $2.50 to $2.75 bbl., $1.65 half-bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; fresh Gaspereaux, 50 to 60c.; smoked do, 90 to $1; fresh shad, 25 to 30c.; salmon, fresh, 20 to 25c. per lb.; shad, 35c.; lobsters, 6½c.

PROVISIONS—The market continues easy with but light demand. Stocks are quite ample. In pork and lard they are large. In mess pork quotations are being received from Prince Edward Island, but little if any island pork is here. As the season advances there is an inclination on the part of the dealers to handle less smoked meat. So far, however, a good demand has been noted. We quote: Clear pork, $15 to $15.50; mess, $14 to $14.50; beef, $13 to $14; domestic mess pork, $14 to $14.25; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; pure lard, 9 to 9¼c.; compound, 7¾ to 8c.

HAVE YOU GOT IT?

PURE GOLD M'F'G.CO. 31&33 FRONT ST. EAST. TORONTO.

FLOUR, FEED, MEAL AND SEED—Flour shows little change, and in spite of the talk about higher prices they do not come. Manitoba keeps well down to the price of Ontario, which causes it to be more largely used than ever. A rather better demand is noticed for feed flour. Oatmeal moves slowly on an even market. Oats are held rather firmer. P.E.I. people are still above the market. New Brunswick oats can be bought about 3c. lower than Ontario, but find no sale here. Beans are firmer. Cornmeal remains easy at the low figure. Hay is coming down river since the ice got out, and is rather easier. Barley and split peas are both quoted low, but there is no large demand. Large quantities of seed continue to arrive, the sale this season being very large. We quote as follows: Manitoba, $4.60 to $4.65; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4.60; medium, $4.40 to $4.50; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.50; cornmeal, $2.00 to $2.10; middlings, $19 to $20 on track; bran, $18 to $19; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90c. to $1; oats, 34 to 35c.; hay, $11 to $13; barley, $3.65 to $4; round peas, $3.50 to $3.75; split peas, $3.50 to $3.75; yellow-eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat, native, $1.30 to $1.35; American timothy, $2; Canadian timothy, $2.75; red clover, 9 to 9½c.; alsike, 9¼ to 9½c.; mammoth, 9¼ to 9½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

"La Delicatesse" is being put on this market.

St. John now has a manufacturer turning out an all-tobacco cigarette. It is giving good satisfaction.

It now looks as if we could have cream on our strawberries this summer, which fact will be much appreciated. The price here has been reduced from 40 to 30c. per quart.

C. & E. Macmichael, ever on the outlook for the newest and best, have added to their other lines Williams' East India pickles.

Navigation between New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island is now fully open, which is good news, particularly for merchants on the Island.

A new law is noted in the Inland Revenue Department. Cheques have to be made out payable to the order of the bank at which they do their business on the account of the Receiver General.

The West India this week had some 850 packages molasses, as follows: 700 Barbadoes, 50 St. Croix, 70 Antigua, 25 Trinidad. She also brought 200 bags cocoanuts, and 1,000 crates Burmuda onions.

Butter is to be shipped this week by the Sussex Dairy Co. to Bristol, Eng. Our cheese have a name in that market of which we are proud. There is no reason why our butter should not have the same. The result will be watched with interest.

VISIBLE SUPPLY OF COFFEE.

The visible supply of coffee in the United States is 160,406 bags less than it was this time last year, and 89,546 bags less than it was two years ago. The steamer Noordland arrived at New York Monday with 925 bags Santos. The stock of coffee in Havre is 474,000 bags, including 269,000 bags Brazilian, against 478,000 bags last week, of which 275,000 bags are Brazilian.

A GOOD RISK.

After moving a large stock of goods into a building in the wholesale district, the owners learned that they could get no insurance.

The building was on the "black list" of the insurance companies, because one of the tenants had already been burned out four times under suspicious circumstances, and apparently with pecuniary profit to himself.

It was, therefore, impossible for this tenant to get insurance from any company, and the boycott went so far as to include any building that harbored him or his stock of goods. The business concern that had moved into the "blacklisted" building was disturbed. The head of the firm went to an insurance agent and said:

"I wish you could arrange it in some way to insure our stock."

"I am sorry," replied the agent; "but the companies have no confidence in that man on the floor above."

"He can't get insurance, eh?"

"Not a cent's worth. They're onto him all along the line."

"Well, do you think there's any danger of a fire in that building as long as he's not insured?"

"Well, I should say not. I never thought of that before."

The firm received its policy at once.—Chicago Record.

TO SEE THE TZAR'S CORONATION.

LATE advices from Mr. Eddy, who was then at Karlsbad, tell of his intention to be present to witness the coronation of the Tzar of all the Russias, which event is soon to take place and about which so much has been read and heard of. The gorgeousness of the ceremony and prodigality of wealth in direct contrast to the poverty and slave-like existence of the Tzar's subjects makes this event all the more interesting, and the international importance attendant upon it is such that ambassadors and representatives from all the courts and republics in the world will be witnesses. Li Hung Chang, with his famous peacock feather and numerous retinue, will represent the Chinese Empire.

Had Canada been an empire or a republic, necessitating sending someone to represent her at this coronation, it would perhaps have been difficult to have chosen a better man than Mr. Eddy. Mr. Eddy is a good specimen of the shrewd, successful Canadian, and will well represent this country, even in an unofficial manner.

Mr. Eddy at first proposed attending the Derby this spring, but says that the Derby happens every year, and as the coronation of a Tzar is not likely to occur again in his lifetime he chose the latter this year and hopes to "do the Derby" next year and thereafter.

REVISED PSALM OF LIFE.

At twenty, when a man is young, he thinks he knows it all; he likes to wag his active tongue and exercise his gall; he struts around in noble rage; the world is all his own; he laughs to scorn the world of age, and lists to self alone. He wears a window in his eye to see his whiskers grow; he thinks the ladies pine and die because they love him so. At forty, as you may suppose, he's knuckled down to biz; 'tis not till sixty that he knows how big a chump he is.—Ex.

BETTER THAN A SCRAP BOOK.

EDITOR GROCER,—I noticed a communication in GROCER re making a scrap book of all good things in advertisements for future use. I would suggest something better and more up-to-date, viz., keep your subscription paid up for THE GROCER, and in every issue you will find material enough for all the advertising you may want and the correct way to set it up to make it attractive. In this way all you have to do is to write up your ad. and send it along with your GROCER to the printer, who readily gets the idea how to set it up. In this way the work is made easy for both. And yet another idea: You will always be advertising the proper goods at or in the proper season.

Friend Cameron, your pleasing representative, called on us this week, and he coincides with our views, and will be glad to receive your subscription for the now very popular paper, THE GROCER.—Yours, etc.,

TRADE CHAT.

OWEN SOUND has had an increase in population of 242, making a population now of 7,703. The assessment is close on to three millions.

The merchants of Woodstock had a busy day on Saturday, many of them doing the largest trade in a single day in a long while.

The Methven (Man.) correspondent of The Winnipeg Free Press writes: "There is a grand opening for a general store here. Since S. Coppleman moved away last fall most of the residents and surrounding farmers have dealt in Wawanesa and Rounthwaite."

The Hamilton Board of Trade has appointed Messrs. A. T. Wood, F. C. Bruce, W. H. Gillard, and John A. Bruce to represent it at the great Congress of Chambers of Commerce in London. Mr. Wood will sail on May 20th, and the other gentlemen on June 15th.

Brantford fruit dealers have petitioned the City Council to prohibit the sale from door to door of foreign fruit and other wares in that city. They claim that the $40 license fee imposed in Hamilton drives many Italians from that city to the former, and that the business of regular store keepers is seriously interfered with.

The merchants of Wyndham street, Guelph, are complaining of the poor accommodation they are receiving for the amount they are paying for street watering. They state that the time between each trip made by the carts is so long that the roads are allowed to dry up.

The demand for freight cars to ship wheat from interior elevators to Fort William is now very great. Monday night applications were received at the offices of the C. P. R. in Winnipeg for 600 cars. The demand came from grain dealers who have wheat stored in the elevators and not from farmers who are desirous of selling. The farmers are not making any deliveries at present.

The Hamilton branch of the W.C.T.U. has decided to petition the Council to issue no grocery licenses in Hamilton after the expiration of the present licenses. It was resolved that every available means should be used throughout the year to make the petition successful, and as a first step it was unanimously carried, that after May, 1897, no member of Hamilton Union shall patronize any licensed grocer.

TEST ALL THINGS.

The merchant who takes the trouble to weigh, count, or gauge everything he buys can often undersell the dealer who considered it a waste of time to thus check the shipper's billed figures, says an exchange. It is not that many shippers are occasionally subject to fits of dishonesty, but that mistakes are liable to occur in the most carefully conducted shipping department, and quite often errors of this character will be found to favor the interests of the jobber or manufacturer. Take nothing for granted when goods are received, and don't forget to examine the quality of the consignments. Remember, that the articles you send out are advertisements of your business.

BANKRUPTCY LAW IN THE U.S.

The Senate Committee on Judiciary, to which was referred the House Bankruptcy bill, has reported the measure to the Senate, with an amendment, striking out all after the enacting clause, and substituting the bill heretofore reported to the Senate. The House bill provides for both voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy, and the Senate bill for voluntary bankruptcy only.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

DAWSON & CO. are in receipt of a shipment of 1,000 boxes of "Canada" brand lemons.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have mackerel in 1-lb. tins. Quality extra good.

Davidson & Hay are offering choice evaporated peaches at a low figure.

Warren Bros. & Co. are offering Bosnia prunes in bags at very low figures.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co. are open to buy large or small lots of fresh eggs.

H. N. Bate & Sons, Ottawa, have just turned into stock a shipment of Hires' rootbeer.

Shipments of Chicago potted and canned meats are arriving this week for Davidson & Hay.

A large consignment of Comadra figs, in tapnets, arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are in receipt of a shipment of dates which, they say, are very fine stock.

Davidson & Hay claim to have the best values in the market in low-grade Japan teas arriving this week.

Rose & Laflamme have ex Brazilian next week a consignment of Huntley & Palmers, biscuits. Write for figures.

Lime juice sauce is a new condiment that is being put on the market by Stower. It is peptinized and is a nice article.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are offering California evaporated silver prunes, in 25-lb. boxes, at a very low figure.

T. J. Cooke & Co., Montreal, have distributed several shipments of Hires' rootbeer to the Montreal trade this week.

Davidson & Hay report a large demand for "Kurma" tea, which they have recently put on the market in a 25c. grade.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have some very fine quality canned peas, Boulters' and Belleville Canning Co.'s selected Early June.

"Our 'Gladstone' pickles are meeting with great favor with those who want a cheap pickle," report the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

Another shipment of Southwell's new season's orange marmalade just in for Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, 1-lb. glass and 7-lb. jars and tins.

A confection in cheese "La Delicatesse" is being offered in pots by Lucas, Steele & Bristol at $2.35 per dozen, or $2.25 in cases of 3 dozen each.

The brass tea scoops which go with Lucas, Steele & Bristol's "Potmahoff" blend of tea are particularly attractive in appearance and most useful.

The Scotch are credited with being experts in the manufacture of marmalade. T. A. Lytle & Co. make theirs from a famous Scotch recipe, and are careful to use nothing but the choicest Seville oranges. It is not surprising that they find marmalade always in demand.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are showing excellent values in teas. In Young Hysons, Indians and Ceylons, high and medium grades, they are particularly well supplied.

The new fancy white pots in which MacLaren's Imperial cheese is now put up are, according to Rose & Laflamme, largely increasing its sale in Montreal and the east.

The manufacturers of Keen's mustard are sending out some very fine new show cards. The agents, F. Magor & Co., Montreal, will be pleased to send to the trade on application.

Merchants looking for Gunpowder tea in half-chests or caddies, choice Oolong in boxes, finest Ting Ling Darjeeling tea in half-chests, can procure some from Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are receiving orders for Pilgrim's summer beverages (ginger ale, etc.), at the rate of from 150 to 200 cases per day, which should argue well for the quality of this manufacture.

The "latest fad" in gelatine, Knox's acidulated pulverized, is for sale by Lucas, Steele & Bristol. It can be dissolved in two minutes. It has already a large sale in Hamilton amongst the best grocers.

"During the warm weather we will send large sample tins of Robinson's patent barley or Robinson's patent groats to any of your customers free," write the agents for these well-known goods, Frank Magor & Co., Montreal.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. expect to receive some time next week the first direct cargo of new crop Barbadoes molasses that will be received in Montreal. They are booking early orders, and this is the time to secure quotations.

W. H. Gillard & Co. direct the attention of the trade to their advertisement on another page, reducing the prices of "Diamond" baking powder; and considering the high quality of the manufacture and the extremely low prices they anticipate a large demand.

The Eby, Blain Co. report the arrival of a large shipment of Crosse & Blackwell's goods, consisting of pickles (new style), marmalade, capers, Parisian essence, jams, jellies, bloater paste, essence of anchovies, shrimp paste, etc.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. call attention to their blends of "Victoria" and "Princess Louise" Ceylon teas; also Mitchell's Scotch whiskies. All three lines are worth inspection, and the firm will quote any reader of THE GROCER regarding them.

Rose & Laflamme have just received a small consignment of Lime Fruit and Tonic Marmalade, also "Lemona," which are something new. They are put up in 1-lb. jars. A line of "Bright" table jellies, in 1-lb. jars, with six flavors, is also on hand.

PUREST & BEST

The Largest Creamery in Canada

Is situated at Renfrew, Ont. Their output of Butter has a high reputation. In order to obtain it and keep the quality; they must use the best obtainable ingredients. They use "WINDSOR" SALT exclusively. Under date of December 17th, 1895, Mr. Wright has this to say :—

* * * * For your convenience I may add that it is certainly the finest salt we ever used. There may be as good, but I have never used it, It might interest you to know how we came to use it. For many years before starting our Creamery, I used English salt in my dairy, exclusively. Hearing of yours I sent for a sample, which was promptly forwarded, and we used it with our next churning. Although we used the same quantity we had always used, so much greater strength was there in your Windsor brand, that our butter was so salt that we could hardly use it. We then greatly reduced the quantity, and found it to work admirably, and consequently have used it ever since. When we opened our Creamery, Windsor Salt was at once adopted, and we have never had any reason to regret it. The barrels are well made, and being lined with paper it prevents any dirt or dust from getting in. This I consider a very important factor, and so long as you send us the same quality as you have been doing, it will require very strong inducements to cause us to use any other. You will of course understand from this that it was the Windsor Salt we used in our butter which took the Gold Medal at Ottawa in Sept. last.

(Signed) A. A. WRIGHT, Manager Renfrew Creamery Co., Ltd.

Grocers can obtain "WINDSOR" Dairy Salt, from any wholesale house, put up in 50lb. Linen Sacks and in 20lb. White Cotton Bags packed 15 in a paper lined Barrel.

A Ceylon Tea Garden

"The development of the Tea industry in Ceylon has been phenomenal. In 1875 the first shipment of 282 lbs. was made; in 1885 the export amounted to 3,796,684 pounds, while last year it reached the enormous total of about 97,000.000 pounds."

This increase in public favor is due to the wonderful purity, cleanliness of preparation, healthfulness of Ceylon Teas. Every wide-awake grocer in Canada has Ceylon Teas. They are absolutely necessary to hold your tea trade. Once your customers use these teas they will always ask for them. Write your wholesale grocer for Ceylon Teas.

WHAT BUSINESS IS.

BUSINESS, broadly speaking, writes Joel Benton in Business, the thing which, more fluently expressed, we may call the busy affairs of the world, is almost wholly a development of civilization. Nomadic and primitive people are practically without commerce or even domestic trade. The reason for this is, their wants are reduced to mere sustenance and shelter, their clothing being an almost missing factor, or fig leaf, in warm countries, and a crude covering of the skins of animals in countries that are inclement.

But civilization comes and wants increase. That which merely subserves animal existence in a rough way will not now be sufficient. We have learned what convenience is, and, as conveniences are one after another supplied, we crave luxuries and refinements. Go from an Indian tepee or a Bedouin tent to a first-class modern hotel with a button to press in each room for some appropriate genie to bring you what you wish, and you will see the distance upward the human race has toilsomely traveled.

A Roman emperor is said to have once advertised for a new pleasure. He who can offer this, or the satisfaction of any other new want, will find in his power to do so the key to success. When a tinder-box with its flint, or coals preserved in ashes brought from your neighbor's house a mile away, was the only way to light the morning fire, people did not miss the lucifer match. But now that it is known, the poorest and most abject will not go back to what the rich were obliged to be content with two generations ago.

The lesson of all this history and evolution is that, in ministering to the people's necessities and desires, we must first supply them with "the best"; for a good thing advertises itself. It does even more; it makes your printed story fully credited and thereby doubly emphatic. The pleased customer tells his experience and you gain his friends and acquaintaces and finally theirs also in a circumference and area not to be bounded.

But this "best" article must be easy to get; so that you must offer it at a low price or not unreasonably high. "The best," to be sure, is sometimes the cheapest even at a much higher price; but this fact the dealer must take pains to demonstrate clearly. Next to securing a good article there is nothing that pleases the modern purchaser better than obtaining a good bargain. And the purchaser must be pleased.

If a trafficker has his store or goods on some greatly thronged Midway Plaisance he can, perhaps, be a little less particular, as few customers pass twice, and his next day's patrons are from a new throng. But there is a Nemesis, I think, that follows "fleecing," somehow, everywhere, if only in the pernicious habit formed, which will somewhere be tried with sad results, or in vain.

The consumer who keeps trade going will, of course, try to buy the least that will cover his wants. Here the dealer's business is to show a new thing that will promote economy, or make something which the customer has already got go further by its use—as a patent burner over a gas-jet or some curious damper to a stove. The inventor is constantly supplying those things; so that from nothing in Eden to several thousand things—not less than ten thousand, certainly, now—has the multiplication of human wants gone on.

There will be no stop in the process or number, unless civilization turns backward. Nor will there be any let-up in the telling how and where these wants can be satisfied. He who does this service, and sets it forth in the best way, will, in that very expressive but slang phrase, "take the cake." For him who scorns publicity there will be public neglect and no "cake" to take.

Diogenes was said to have hunted with a lantern for an honest man. The customer will not look for bargains in this way. If he finds them, it will be because those who have them to offer hang their own lanterns out.

HOE PICKLES AND THE HAM.

Hoe rolled the whites of his eyes from side to side as he related his latest experience to me.

"Y' see, I did a job o' whitewashin' for Mistah Simpson dat keep a grocery store, and w'en he came to pay me he say: Two days at a dollar and a quarter a day makes two dollars and a quarter. I neber make no count till after I get home; but den I see how I done been cheated outer a quarter of a dollar by the transeckshun. Foh lawdsakesess' neber thought Mistah Simpson'd be de man to cheat a hard-workin' niggah outen dat small sum ob money. I hadn't orter tuk de job in the first place. Orter know'd better—but I dunn. FIRES.

Levescue & Cote, general merchants, South Durham, Que., have been burned out; partially insured.

DEATHS.

John Davis, fish merchant, Hamilton, is dead.

CALIFORNIA APRICOT CROP.

Apricots are in small supply in San Francisco and firmly held. The frost damage has been quite general and has curtailed the prospective crop at least 50 per cent. It may be that this quantity can be spared and still the output of the State be sufficient to satisfy the coming demand, says The California Fruit Grower.

PECULIAR ADVERTISEMENTS.

This is refreshingly frank, says an exchange, but could not be expected to tempt even chronic bargain seekers, but the Cincinnati grocer's ad. is about on a par with it for candor:

Our fresh eggs will be found cheap at 15c. a dozen, but the quality is not strictly first-class, as every now and again you may strike a bad one.

It was a London grocer who advertised some plum jam at a very low price, and apparently believing himself that his offer would be incredible supplemented it with the line:

Of course I cannot guarantee it to be all jam.

A provision dealer in Wales is credited with having put out this extremely candid advertisement:

Having thoroughly tested both sides of the question, and being now convinced that honesty is the best policy, I have decided to sell in future only unadulterated articles.

Dinner's first course

Is not always as appetizing as it should be. Making soup—good soup—requires particular care, and few housekeepers in their hurry can give the necessary attention. The best results can always be obtained by using our Canned Soups. They are faultlessly prepared from first-class stock and can always be relied upon for purity and delicate flavor. Make a personal test according to the directions on the can.

CANADIAN TOMATO CHUTNEE

For Soups, Gravies, Curries, Fish, Game, etc. Used for lunch and breakfast as sandwiches. Highly recommended by H. R. H. Princess Louise and by the late Sir John A. Macdonald. For sale by leading wholesalers.

Prepared by M. P. CARD, Guelph, Ont.

There's Money in Salt

If you know just what size to handle and the season for it. Take, for instance, the summer camping trade. That needs a strong package to stand the careless handling and one not easily upset.

For this purpose you can order, from any wholesale grocer in Toronto, "WINDSOR" Table Salt put up in 4-lb. round lithographed packages, 24 per case. Made of heavy cardboard, price $2.00 per case; sell at 15 cents per package. Profit on case, $1.60. You see it pays to sell them—why not do it?

COMPETITION

The tonic of business life—keeps us all hustling for supremacy and success. If we lag in the race competitors take advantage of our hesitancy and indecision. So it is all along the line.

ONE of the cardinal points in a successful grocer's career is to please his customers every time in tea. It pays to keep what the public want and he profits thereby.

We Are Modest, and our space is limited, therefore we simply direct your attention to the fact that TEA is a special department with us and is energetically and carefully looked after. The values we are offering in Young Hysons and Indians (High and Medium Grades) are, in our opinion, above competition. Ask for samples, and verify our statements.

THE CANADIAN GROCER

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, MAY 22, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 21

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

It is usually lazy people who are in a hurry to get rich.

Attend to your business, or it will not attend to you.

There is action in dry rot; but it is misplaced action.

The best way to get a man's custom is to get his confidence.

Earnestness is the parent of life and energy in business.

Mercantile exaggeration is the forerunner of mercantile annihilation.

Merit is the only safe foundation upon which business can be built.

The appearance of a rival in trade should induce a revival of energies.

The clerk who is not faithful to his employer is not faithful to himself.

A civil servant is frequently anything but civil to his masters—the people.

What we want just now is business in politics, not politics in business.

A wedding that is always desirable: The union of caution with confidence.

If advertising is worth anything, it is good for dull times as well as for bright.

A healthy business is not worth much if the body of the merchant is unhealthy.

If politics are not kept out of the store there is danger that customers will be.

Thoroughness, not genius, is the void which needs to be filled up in this world.

Business is giving place to politics in the country just now; it is to be hoped that when the new Parliament meets politics will give place to business. And it will if the right kind of men are sent there.

More money is made by keeping your eye on the markets than on your competitors.

Caution is a good quality, but it is confidence and push that restore good times.

An idea does not become active till it is hit on the head with the mallet of decision.

When an article tickles the palate of a customer it finds a warm place in his heart.

A good head for business is worth more every day in the week than a good hand for cards.

The average "drummer," like Napoleon's drummer boy, never learned to beat a retreat.

Patient merchants are frequently the most energetic and wide-awake hustlers after business.

A run into the country at this time of the year is as elixir to the weary, store-tied city merchant.

Summer is the season when people go holidaying with the money that they owe to the grocer.

During hours of judicious relaxation the merchant accumulates energy for the upgrades of life.

It is only by having good quality goods that a merchant can hope to have a good quantity of customers.

The man who is always looking for something for nothing eventually comes to be looked upon as nothing.

It is no excuse for a young man to diverge from the path of duty because an obstacle gets in the way. Men went through obstacles centuries before it was ever dreamed that X rays would penetrate opaque bodies.

The up-to-date merchant keeps his head replenished with new ideas as well as his shelves with salable goods.

It is not good for a merchant that he should have a big head; but it is good that he should have a big advertisement.

You may not see the fruit of your labors in a day, a week, a month, or a year. The best fruits usually take the longest to ripen.

The business tree that is not perpetually bringing forth new buds will eventually become barren and be cut down by the creditors.

The peculiarities of customers are as varied as the customers are numerous, and yet the up-to-date merchant knows how to deal with them all.

People who would not deign to earn their bread by the sweat of their brow are often made to sweat mentally keeping the wolf from the door.

A carload of potatoes sold at 4c. per bag, free on board point of shipment, last week. The hogs would have paid a better price than that for them.

The experience of the cash grocer is a creator of hope in the breast of the merchant who stands trembling, hesitating to take the step from credit to cash.

If some merchants, like horses, had blinkers on, they would make better headway, for less time would be spent in watching their competitors than there now is.

It is not because of the superabundance they possess themselves that some people are not open to new ideas: It is because the receipt of new ideas would burst the bubble of their own importance.

A TYPICAL GROCER - POLITICIAN.

THE following is from The Grocery World, and is quite apropos to Canada just now:

I got into the shop of one of those fellows who believe in mixing politics with his business. I think that if anybody who believes that this scheme is a good one could have seen the condition of that man's business affairs, as I did, he would change his opinion mighty quick.

This grocer lives in a good-sized Pennsylvania town, nearer to Philadelphia than it is to Pittsburg. He ought to do a business of at least $75,000 every year. Judging by the fact that he was unable when I called there to settle a little bill of $10, and that he showed me conclusively that he was unable, he isn't doing the half of that.

There was nobody in the store when I got there except a small boy, who was too busy looking at a dog fight in the lane beside the store to pay attention to anybody so unimportant as a customer. After several efforts I learned that the proprietor was over in the City Hall "tending a meeting of the Township Committee."

Meanwhile several customers came in. The boy waited on them in a slovenly sort of way, and flew back to his dog fight hardly before they were gone. Once or twice he snapped out a surly answer when a lady asked him a question. I wanted to kick him clear out of the window, but I didn't know how large his father was, so I repressed my wrath.

In about fifteen minutes the grocer himself came in, heading a crowd of five or six men.

"Come on in, boys," he said, "we can meet right here in the store." I afterwards found out that it was the "Ward Committee."

The meeting opened in one corner of the store, and once or twice the talk got hot. Lady customers came in and were waited on if the grocer wasn't just then deep in some political debate with another of the heelers. If he was, the lady waited. Even while he was waiting on customers he would put his oar in the conversation, yelling clear across the store, and paying scanty attention to the order of the customer. Once when he was in the midst of wrapping up ten pounds of granulated sugar, one of the rounders over in the corner said something which excited his ire, and he actually frothed at the mouth. He got so mad and talked so loud that the sugar bag got burst in the shuffle and the sugar poured out all over the customer's pocket-book which lay on the counter.

By and by the gang of heelers left, and the grocer got time to talk to me.

"You're quite a politician down here, they tell me," I said.

"Oh, yes," he said, swelling perceptibly with pride, "I'm a member of the Township Committee, chairman of the Ward Committee, school trustee, and now the boys are talking about making me assessor," with a fat laugh.

"How's business?" I asked.

"Very poor," he said, "nobody seems to have any money. I'm doing less than I did last year."

I didn't say anything, but I never felt more like giving that man some good advice in my life. I'm afraid, though, it would have been casting pearls before swine. He must have weighed at least 250 pounds.

A TIME TO SELL GOODS.

It is said that there comes a time in the life of every man when fortune or fame comes around to shake hands, says Inter-State Grocer. The grain of truth in this statement lies in the fact that there are always opportunities for success if they are recognized at the right moment and used in an intelligent manner. The trouble with too many men is that they do not recogize an opportunity when they see it. They have their views as to the best methods that will serve them, and will not consent to the adoption of any method that is not in accordance with their self-made ideas.

Failures are more often ascribable to an inability to take advantage of our disadvantages than to the absence or non-existence of advantages. Ability in business is better demonstrated by the tact shown in making a good use of existing opportunities than by the creation of opportunities.

Success is seldom attained by making the condition in advance of the requirements of the situation. Those who know how to make a profitable use of the existing conditions are the ones who most surely succeed. In short, we must take the world as it is. We are entitled to as much credit for ascertaining the best way to supply the known wants of the public as we are for creating or changing a demand.

Consequently to know how to sell known goods is as important as the knowledge which makes it possible to produce new goods that will "fill a long felt want," and thus exact patronage. In plain words, it is better for the average tradesman to learn how to sell known goods than to waste time in an effort to produce something new.

THE MOST PERFECT FRUIT.

The banana, remarks an exchange, is said to be the most perfect fruit that grows, in that it alone will sustain life for an indefinite time. It is an educated taste with adults to relish the banana, and its popularity in this country is largely due to the fact that children take to it naturally. It is cheap, healthy and abundant. Some recent figures show that its consumption in the United States has reached enormous proportions. Last year's importations amounted to 17,427,846 bunches. Many of these went to Southern ports, New Orleans taking 5,725,339 bunches, and Mobile, 2,496,138; New York, 4,557,671 bunches, and Philadelphia, 2,037,000. The amount is increasing steadily, and it is becoming more extensively used in the north.

Prominent Men

Possess distinct and notable characteristics which distinguish them from others—they are "marked" men.
Hillwattee in packets and Dannawalla in bulk are "marked" products of nature and science. They are distinct from ordinary goods and leaders in the tea-selling world.

THE LOBSTER BUSINESS.

THE catch of lobsters during the week may be considered fair under all the circumstances, that is, considering the earliness of the season, the cold weather and the scarcity of bait, says an Arichat correspondent in The St. Peter's Gazette. The number of men engaged in this fishery this year is larger than ever, with more than a corresponding increase in the number of traps, each fisherman having on an average augmented the capacity of his gear. In proportion to the increase in men and gear the quantity caught so far is reported to be small, although large in the aggregate.

The first shipment, from Isle Madame, of lobsters canned this spring, consisting of 136 cases, was made Friday morning, April 24th, by Mr. Henry E. Duff per steamer John L. Cann to Mulgrave, whence it goes by rail to Halifax, to be shipped thence by steamer to London. This is the earliest shipment ever made from this place, and no doubt from any part of Cape Breton, since the beginning of the industry here, as this is the first time a consignment of these freshly canned crustacea was made in April. The fact indicates the earliness of the season at which the fishing has commenced and affords another proof, if any was required, of the business enterprise of the shipper. Other canners, of course, have also large quantities on hand ready for shipment.

There are in all seven canneries operated on this island this season; two are operated by Mr. Duff, three by the Messrs. Power for W. K. Lewis & Co., one by Mr. Charles Mauger and one by Mr. James Dobson. This means the employment of many hundreds of our people and points to the very great importance and value of the industry to us, so great that without it our shore fishermen, many of them, would be in straitened circumstances. A simple calculation will demonstrate the advantage of this industry to our people. There are sixteen women and six men employed on an average in each factory; the men being paid $7.50 and the women $2 per week, making $77 paid weekly for wages in each and amounting to $540 for the seven establishments. There are at least 200 boats engaged in fishing, and if we put down the average catch per boat a day at 150 lobsters, we have a daily catch of 30,000, which, at $2 per hundred count, gives $500 a day, or $3,600 a week for the seven canneries. Adding the wages paid to the employes to the amount received by the fishermen we get a total weekly disbursement distributed among our population of $4,140. I feel I have kept below rather than above the real figures in my estimate.—Chronicle, Halifax.

A TERSE WINDOW CARD.

A terse, neatly lettered window card, remarks Chicago Grocer, often makes a good hit with the people who pass a store, and is productive of much good advertising. A Wabash avenue store displays this in one of its attractive windows: "A Flurry in Flour." These pertinent window card texts are not to be composed hurriedly. They must tell their story briefly and simply, and in a manner calculated to excite interest and inquiry.

COMMERCIAL EDUCATION.

The Central Business College, located at the corner of Gerrard and Yonge streets, Toronto, still continues to occupy a leading position among the commercial colleges of America. This is evident from the fact that the enrolment of new students for the current year is 25 per cent. in advance of that of any previous year in its history. Thorough conscientious work on behalf of its numerous patrons has won for this school a most enviable reputation, and all persons requiring a training in the special courses given by such institutions, will do well to write to the principal for a prospectus.

THE FRUIT SALES.

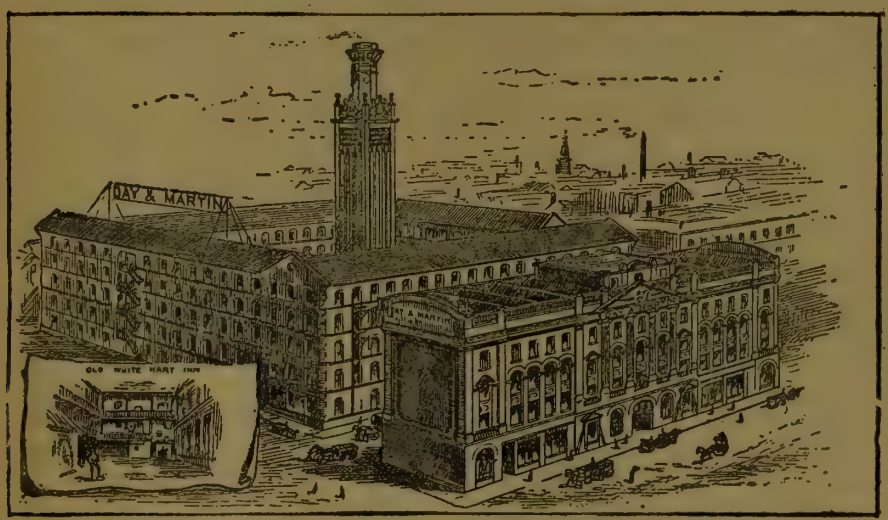
THE third fruit sale this season took place Tuesday at the Montreal Fruit Auction Co.'s room on McGill street. It was the steamship Bellona's cargo, and consisted of 2,000 boxes and 600 half-boxes of Messina oranges, a large quantity of Palermo and Catania in boxes and half-boxes, 1,600 cases of Valencia, 28,000 boxes Messina and 7,000 boxes of Palermo lemons. C. E. Thurston was the auctioneer, and started the sale at 2 p.m. sharp, and it was not over until after 8 p.m. The attendance of buyers from the United States, Upper and Lower Canada, and the city was fully as large as that of the two previous sales. The condition and the quality of the fruit was up to the standard, but buyers did not seem to be very hungry, except at low prices, and the bidding in consequence was very slow at times, and values were, no doubt, unsatisfactory, as a considerable quantity of the fruit was withdrawn. The bulk of the lemons was taken on American account, and the prices realized show a decline of 10 to 40c. per box, as compared with those paid for the previous cargo, sales being made at from 80c. to $3 per box as to quality and condition. On the other hand, oranges were bid up 50c. to $1.50 per box higher, but even at this advance they were not satisfactory, as a quantity of Catania oranges were withdrawn. Catania boxes sold at $3.50; half-boxes at $1.15 to $2; Palermos, boxes, $1 to $2; half-boxes, 90c. to $1.90; Messina, boxes, $1.50 to $4.50; half-boxes, 65c. to $1.50. The principal buyers were: Lumsden, of New York; V. Zorn, Herbert C. Parsons, Emery, of Boston; W. Spier, of Porter Bros., Boston; Thacker, Peacock, of Chicago; Clemes, McWilliam & Everist, Dawson, Toronto; W. Husband, of Guelph; Dixon, of Hamilton; Voishart, of St. Catharines; Shuttleworth, of London, Ont.; Bardon, of Quebec; Messrs. Rheume, Beauchamp, Plain, H. A. & J. A. Brouse and G. W. Hunt, of Ottawa. The principal local buyers were: Messrs. John Barry & Sons, Hart & Tuckwell, O. & E. Hart, J. R. Clogg & Co., Montreal Fruit Exchange, T. S. Vipond, Vipond & Vipond, Vipond, McBride & Co., J. J. Vipond & Co., L. M. Silvestre, Bowes & McWilliams.

TRADE CHAT.

Messrs. Fraser, Viger & Co. made a very large shipment of campers' supplies this week. They were going to W. K. Vanderbilt, who is enjoying the salmon fishing down on the Metapedia.

Early on Sunday morning Sarnia was visited by a serious fire, the total loss sustained footing up to close on $70,000. The large flour and oatmeal mills of the King Milling Co. were completely destroyed (partly covered by insurance), together with other business properties.

The roller mills, Tilsonburg, have commenced running again, after having been shut down for a few days to allow of some improvements being made to the rolls.



E. H. Thomas, of Norwich, is in Montreal making arrangements to establish a warehouse to facilitate the distribution of his goods throughout the province of Quebec.

Merner & Co., grocers, Brandon, Man., have decided to retire from business. The premises now occupied by the firm will on the 15th of June be taken possession of by W. R. Bartlett, druggist, who vacates the store he now does business in.

At the last meeting of the Brockville Cheese Board Mr. A. W. Grant, president of the Montreal Butter and Cheese Association, expressed the opinion that cheese would hereafter be cheap, as the English people could purchase cheaper food products.

Seeding along the main line of the Northern Pacific is being pushed rapidly. A great many thought that there would only be about 40 per cent. as large an acreage of wheet seeded as there was last year, but with favorable weather from now on it is thought there will be about 80 per cent. of last year's wheat acreage seeded.

A GOOD BUSINESS POINT

EVERY GROCER knows that often it is some little thing which brings a customer into the store, and some little satisfactory purchase often insures a customer's steady trade ---the paying kind of trade. For a single sale at double profit it doesn't pay to risk the dissatisfaction from an inferior article, when these goods will always give satisfaction and will always be asked for if you carry them. The question of supply and demand has an important bearing upon all trade and commerce. It not only largely influences price, production and profits, but the demand at least indicates the quality of an article. That is our strongest guarantee for these articles. They are known from Halifax to Vancouver, and wherever they are known they are used. See the business point? Always carry them.

Crown Brand Flavoring Extracts

In forty different flavors, absolutely pure and of greatest strength. We know—we make them.

Hubbard's Rusks

Every week marks an increase in sale of these celebrated Scotch Rusks. A reputation of fifty years as the most nutritious and easily prepared food for infants and invalids has its influence on Canadian trade. Put them in stock. You cannot recommend them too highly.

Bryant & May's Matches

The years of experience in building up a world-wide match trade—in making matches which strike easily, kindle quickly and burn steadily—are what count in making reliable matches. Housekeepers will use the "Tiger" and smokers the Wax Vestas, if you carry them.

BUSINESS MEN FOR PARLIAMENT.

A GRATIFYING feature of the election campaign now going on in the Dominion is the number of business men that are being nominated for parliamentary honors.

A country, like a mercantile concern, must be conducted on business lines if disaster is to be averted.

This principle has not been applied to the conduct of the affairs of the Dominion of Canada for a long time, if in fact it ever has been since the different provinces composing it federated. It may be that we do not enjoy a monopoly in this respect. But monopoly or no monopoly, we are none the less sinners.

It will not advance the interests of this country or help to work out its salvation among the nations to know that there are others in the same unregenerated state as ourselves in regard to weakness of business-like management of its affairs.

It is no use for us to thank goodness that we are not as bad as other nations. We know that in the past, and during the last few years particularly, we have managed the business affairs of the country shamefully. Our sins have been sins of omission and commission; and during the last session of Parliament we might well have been led to declare that there was no health in us.

It could not well be otherwise: We have been sending unbusiness like instead of business-like men to Parliament; or rather it has been left to the "machine" to select these men for us, and we have voted for them and elected them.

When a man has failed in law, in medicine, or some of the other professions, he has "called" himself to the service of the country and got the "machine" to ratify it. It would be a libel upon some of the undoubtedly good men in the last and previous Parliaments to assert that the total membership of the House has been of this type. But much the larger part of it has. And the fact that there has been so much bad legislation and ignoring of good legislation proves it..

When men go to Parliament to serve, first the party—and a good many of them to serve party for what the party can do for them—God help the country; or better, God help the country to help itself.

Where the Parliament of a country is burdened with such elements, these elements must perforce exert their influence in the heart of the system itself—the Cabinet. And this has been the trouble with Canada. Men have been appointed to superintend business departments, whose proper sphere was conducting a pettifoging police court case, or prescribing for an over-fed urchin, while capable men have been driven therefrom by the machinations of the political scourings who had floated into the House of Commons and occupied seats therein.

Men have asked whether representative government was not a failure. But it is obvious to the man who will give the matter second thought that the fault lies not in representative government as a principle, but in the apathy of the electorate. Upon their shoulders must chiefly rest the onus.

The first to recognize and the first to feel the adverse influence of the lack of the business element in Parliament and in the Cabinet was naturally the mercantile interests of the country. And following the recognition has come an awakening such as the business men of this country never experienced before.

From one end of the country to the other business men are asserting their independence and exerting their influence to bring out candidates that are qualified, not because of their faithfulness to party, but because of the practical business experience and practical business common sense which they possess. Such men, for instance, as E. B. Osler and E. F. Clarke in West Toronto, Robert MacKay in the St. Antoine division of Montreal, A. T. Wood and MacPherson of Hamilton, W. Paterson of Brant, James McLauchlan of North Grey, J. H. Ashdown of Marquette, Weismiller of West Huron, Lieut-Col. Prior of Victoria, Wellington Boulter of Prince Edward, and other business men of both shades of politics who might be mentioned.

The business man, like the professional politician, has his party sympathies. Practical business common sense does not crowd out party feeling. But it does keep that party feeling in check; it does not allow measures of evident advantage to the business interests of the country to go by the board, or allow measures inimical to the business interests of the country to find a place on the statute book.

It is about two years ago since THE CANADIAN GROCER started an agitation for better representation of the business interests and less of the professional politician type. The non-partisan press, daily and weekly, has since fallen into line, and, judging from the character of many of the candidates now in the field, the next Parliament promises to be a great improvement over its predecessor.

THE DECLINE IN JAPAN TEA.

EARLY last March THE CANADIAN GROCER called attention to the fact that forward contracts for early May Japan teas were lighter than usual. It was pointed out that a leading reason for this was the fact that in previous years jobbers, after contracting early in the spring, found out that if they had delayed their purchases, they might have secured their high-grade early-picked teas much cheaper. This was the experience during the two previous springs, and it was for this reason that THE CANADIAN GROCER drew attention to the fact. As a result the contracting since has not been heavy; in fact, it has been a general complaint that the forward import business in teas was extremely light. Still there were a few firms who contracted; and it now turns out, as in the two previous springs, that the process has been unprofitable

Recent advices from Japan state that the prices of the early-picked teas have declined fully 15 per cent. on the opening figure. This means that the traders who did not take the tip given by THE CANADIAN GROCER, on the 13th March last, are out so much money.

At the present writing the decline in prices at primary markets has greatly strengthened the determination so often expressed by importers to await consignments before they make any heavy purchases of tea.

Of course, many firms have to provide for a certain quantity of high-grade stock, but the tendency is becoming stronger each year to do as much of their purchasing on "laid down" basis as possible. A fact that tends to accentuate this disposition is the increasing volume of consignments that come forward every season. They promise, according to all accounts, to be as large this spring as ever.

CALIFORNIA LOOSE MUSCATELS.

The outlook for California three-crown loose Muscatel raisins is strong. Advices received in Toronto within the last few days state that stocks of this grade of fruit are getting very scarce there, and that before July 1, judging from present conditions, prices will be ¼ to ½c. per pound higher than at the moment.

It is expected that stocks will be much more nearly consumed by the time the new season opens than is usual, while the new crop fruit is not likely to be on the Canadian market until well into October, about one month later than last year.

SUGAR AGREEMENT WITHDRAWN.

THE CANADIAN GROCER understands that the agreement between the Montreal refineries regarding 250-barrel lots of sugar has fallen through, at any rate as far as the Toronto market is concerned.

For some time there has been an understanding between the refineries in question to the effect that a certain price was only good for 250-barrel lots. For anything below that quantity a fraction more was to be obtained.

Last week, however, for some unexplained reason or other, this agreement was suspended or withdrawn altogether, and one hundred, or even eighty, barrels of granulated can now be obtained at the figure which a week or two ago was demanded for two hundred and fifty barrels. It is understood that there also has been some actual shading of prices. "But," said one man, "you cannot get a concession except you buy a round lot."

Although the market, both at home and abroad, is dull, there are a good many who claim that those who are fearful of lower prices are so without good reason.

Whatever may be the condition of the market at the moment, those who are on the bull side have good reason for being there.

At the close of last week the total stocks of sugar in Europe and America were 2,176,976 tons, against 2,446,548 tons last year. On December 27th last there was a surplus of 758,248 tons. The cane and beet sugar production of 1895-96 is estimated at 7,062,700 tons, a decrease of 1,259,679 tons compared with a year ago.

The key to the situation is, of course, Cuba, where no less than 52 sugar mills have been destroyed by the rebels. As has been pointed out in previous issue, the Cuba cane crop is likely to be 800,000 tons less than last year.

Although the market is so dull at the moment, the refiners and the wholesale men look for higher prices with an improvement in the demand.

CARE IN PACKING BUTTER.

DAIRY tub butter is beginning to arrive on the Toronto market in the quantities usual at this time of the year. In view of the experiences of the past, a suggestion or so will not be inappropriate.

Unsatisfactory butter secures an unsatisfactory price, and the cause is not so much with the original butter-maker as with the person who packs the butter into the tubs. In other words, care is not exercised as it should be by some of the country merchants.

In making their selections for packing into tubs, merchants cannot be too careful in regard to uniformity of color and quality. It takes more time and trouble, but it earns more money. That this care is not always exercised is patent to everyone. That it does pay to exercise care in this respect is evident from the fact that the butter put up by some country merchants always obtains a better figure than that which ordinarily obtains on the market.

With the butter well selected, the next thing to take into consideration is the packing. The tubs should never be filled. A space of at least three-quarters of an inch should be left on the top for the receipt of the salt paste.

The reason that the Eastern Townships' dairy butter is so much more popular than western butter is largely due to the fact that the people down there exercise more care in packing it.

Country merchants should also ship their butter more regularly. Butter is not like bricks, uninfluenced by weather and atmosphere. And yet, in spite of the fact that the ordinary cellar is no place to keep store butter, stored it is, the result of which is deteriorated quality and decreased value.

Now and then money is undoubtedly made by holding butter, but the certainty of long-kept or ill-kept butter deteriorating in value, together with the uncertainty of the market, makes it evident that the better plan, in the long run, is to keep stocks well cleaned up.

MORE MOLASSES CHARTERS.

The barque Perfection, 509 tons, and the brigantine Mary Claasen, 200 tons, are both loading at Barbadoes, the former for Montreal and the latter for Quebec. The Perfection will carry about 1,000 puncheons and the Claasen about 350. This makes the aggregate contracts so far in the vicinity of 5,000 puncheons or so, and Canada's annual consumption is figured at 20,000 puncheons.

MAPLE SUGAR AND HONEY WANTED.

C. E. Jarvis & Co., of Vancouver, B C., are desirous of purchasing 1,000 pounds of pure maple sugar and the same quantity of good extracted honey. Any of our readers who may be in a position to supply the same are advised to wire prices.

GETTING READY FOR MORE BUSINESS.

Richardson & Loree, general merchants, Carman, Manitoba, have commenced building new premises, and work will be pushed vigorously until completed. They have selected a site in the centre of the town, adjoining the post-office. As the location is a good one and the firm well known, their already large trade will, no doubt, increase in their new establishment.

PURITY OF CANADIAN BUTTER.

THROUGH an American source we learn gratifying news regarding Canadian butter on the British market. It is embraced in a communication from the British Board of Agriculture to an official of the United States Agricultural Bureau at Washington.

It appears that the British Board of Agriculture has since May, 1895, up to February last, been systematically analysing samples of butter imported into Great Britain from the different countries. From Canada 39 samples were analysed, and each, it is gratifying to learn, were free from adulteration.

The noteworthy points in the report are the tremendous proportion of adulterated specimens (over 34 per cent.) from Germany, the large proportion (numbering over 25 per cent.) contributed from Holland, and the fact that Denmark, by far the largest contributor of foreign butter products to the British market, and enjoying hitherto an almost irreproachable reputation in the butter market, should have contributed in a total of 182 specimens 8 adulterated, or nearly 5 per cent.

The worst that could ever be said regarding Canadian butter was not that it was adulterated, but that it lacked uniformity in color and quality. Fortunately, however, with the expansion of the creamery system and the improved shipping facilities, we can look with confidence to an increased consumption of Canadian butter on the British market.

MANITOBA'S CROP ACREAGE.

General Superintendent Whyte, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was asked recently for information as to seeding returns from the districts lying along the line of railway. The weather, Mr. Whyte said, has been fairly favorable for seeding operations and good work has been accomplished. In the very wet section at Marquette and in the vicinity of Winnipeg there will be quite a decrease in the acreage under crop. From Austin east there is from 10 to 30 per cent. less acreage under crop than last year. The same applies east of the Red River on the Emerson branch line, and in some parts of Southern Manitoba.

On the other hand, there is a slight increase at such points in the west as Stockton, Indian Head, Regina, Whitewood, Wapella, Alameda, Sintaluta, Grenfell, Balgonie, and at Pipestone and Ninga in the province; the increase varies from 5 to 33 per cent. At Winkler and Gretna the decrease will be about 10 per cent. less than last year. Seeding will be finished by the 23rd instant.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

Cobourg people want reduced Saturday fares over the G.T.R. to Toronto and return.

THE SITUATION IN CURRANTS.

THE position of the currant market is somewhat unique. Taking into consideration the export duty imposed by the Grecian Government, the prices at which currants are being offered on the Toronto market are lower than they have been for many years.

In spite of the low prices being offered, they have little or no attraction for the wholesale man, although his stock appears to be fair only. The explanation of this is probably due to the fact that the quiet times of recent years have driven the spirit of speculation pretty well out of the wholesaler's mind.

It is estimated, based on the experiences of the past, that the new crop of currants will cost from three to five shillings more than the figures now ruling. And it is contended, by those who want to sell of course, that for anyone who knows how to use the old fruit, there is money in purchasing at present prices.

According to latest advices, the Greek market is strong, with a disposition to advance, the level of prices being higher there than in London, probably due to the export trade for wine making.

In referring to the low figures ruling on currants The Produce Markets Review, in a recent issue, says: "The present values of good medium qualities, compared with those ruling at Christmas, show a startling decline, probably as much as from 3 to 5s. per cwt., while the fine to finest growths are from 5 to 10s. cheaper. This is the more remarkable, as the consumption has been supplied for these descriptions, even to a greater extent than in former years; and, with so moderate a stock as now exists in London, it is highly probable that a scarcity will soon begin to make itself felt."

FREIGHT RATES TO KOOTENAY.

New freight tariff from Winnipeg to West Kootenay points went into effect on the 15th inst. The rates show an advance of about ten cents per 100 pounds over existing rates. They are as follows: To Nelson and common points—Class 1, $2.32; class 2, $2.06; class 3, $1.80; class 4, $1.59; class 5, $1.28. Sandon and common points—Class 1, $2.77; class 2, $2.44; class 3, $2.10; class 4, $1.82; class 5, $1.49.

A NATURAL SODA WATER.

A NATURAL soda water is an invaluable adjunct to the manufacture of soda water, ginger ale and other aerated liquids of the kind. When a manufacturer gets his supply right on the premises where his works are situated, he is indeed in clover. This is the position of the Laurentian Mineral Water Company, whose factory is at the corner of Craig and Beaudry streets, Montreal.

THE CANADIAN GROCER paid a visit to the establishment last week, and was furnished some interesting facts in connection with the source of water supply. Three years ago, R. White, one of the directors of the company, decided to bore for water under his shoe factory on Craig street. He wanted a supply for his boiler and engines. After he had gone to a depth of over 300 feet below the level of Craig street a beautiful clear water flowed out with great force. No particular attention was paid to it at first. Eventually, however, owing to its peculiar clearness and flavor, it was placed in the hands of Prof. Donald of Bishop's College for analysis, and then it was discovered to be a regular find. The professor declared that it was an absolutely pure and natural soda water, containing 35 grains carbonate of soda to the gallon. It is surmised that the water comes from the Laurentian range, about 65 miles back of Montreal, and as the well flows 50,000 gallons per day the vein must be a large one, especially as it has sufficient power to mount to the top storey of the Craig street factory, in the basement of which it was discovered. In addition to being used for the preparations put on the market by the Laurentian Water Company, the company supplies the Laurentian baths adjacent with water. When gassed, the water makes a perfect sparkling soda water, and the ginger ale and other preparations manufactured with this water are equally fine.

It is well known that in filtering any water loses a certain part of its life and becomes more or less insipid. The water from the Laurentian well is a crystal artesian water, which requires no filtering. Being already charged with soda, naturally the process of transforming it into soda water is easier than with ordinary water.

The water is carried from the spring by pipes direct into the factory. It is there received into an immense slate vat. It is drawn off from this vat and charged with carbonic acid gas by the most improved machinery, which was imported specially from Belfast by the company. In a word, the ginger ale, soda water, etc., turned out by the company, owing to the natural properties of their water supply, are the equal, if not the superior, of any imported liquids of the kind.

P.E.I. LOBSTER PACK.

Reports from Prince Edward Isiand show a fair lobster pack for the early part of the season. Prices at Grand Manan are very high, $4.50 per cwt. being paid one day for the grade used in canning, while those for market brought 8½c. each. These are for the American market. Large quantities are sent there alive from Yarmouth, N.S.

BUSINESS CALLS.

In making a business call, the business should be the object to the call, and when the business is transacted the call should be promptly terminated, remarks Michigan Tradesman. In too many instances, when the business is finished, there is careless, lazy hesitation and waiting. It does not necessarily follow that the business caller should always immediately proceed on his journey when the business of the call is ended. If the circumstances and the humor of the recipient of the visit are propitious, there may follow a friendly call or chat; but let the business be wound up and the change to the other kind of call be positive. Any hesitation or waiting, that seems to need something more to be said when all is said that is necessary, quickly becomes exceedingly annoying; and, while the man receiving such a call may not formulate in his mind the reason for the annoyance, he conceives a dislike unconsciously. There are some men—young men mostly—who consider an abrupt, gruff manner as a business-like acquirement. Such a manner is quickly set down by the man of experience as callow affectation. This is notso serious a danger as the other, bnt it is one to be avoided. Be natural; be courteous; and above all, be prompt.

MAPLE SUGAR IN THE STATES.

The ordinary annual product of pure maple sugar in the United States is estimated at from 18,000,000 to 20,000,000 pounds, and of pure maple syrup at from 1,800,000 to 2,000,000 gallons. Both the sugar and the syrup are extensively adulterated, especially in Chicago and Milwaukee, by the addition of from 90 to 95 per cent. of glucose to only 5 or 10 per cent. of pure maple sugar. Maple sugar is produced in Vermont, Massachusetts, Northern New York, Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana. About one-half of the crop comes from Vermont and one-quarter from Ohio, both of which States have stringent laws for preventing adulteration. The penalty in Vermont for each offence is a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $200, of which one-half is given to the complainant.

ST. PAUL-KOOTENAY FREIGHT RATES.

Notice has been given by the Soo line of its intention to put in effect June 1 a rate of $60 from St. Paul to Kootenay points. Tickets will have limits in both directions of forty days and final return limits of ninety days. The same road has also declared that it will maintain the round trip rate to points intermediate to those named which will be $10 lower than any round trip rates now in effect or which may be put in effect from St. Paul and Missouri river points to Spokane.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

REPORTS are heard here and there regarding slight improvement in business, but they are by no means general. The conditions are evidently much about the same as a week ago. Trade is quiet beyond question, "and it will be until after the elections," is what one hears on all sides. The sugar market is as dull as ever, and prices are not as firmly held as they were, although no quotable change has been made in figures. Canned vegetables remain strong, that is, peas and tomatoes, although the demand is scarcely as active as it was. The demand for canned salmon is gradually increasing. There are a few lots of molasses going out, but in syrups there is scarcely anything doing. New rice is receiving fair attention. Teas are quiet. In foreign dried fruits a fair demand is to be noted in Valencia raisins and currants. Payments are still unsatisfactory.

CANNED GOODS.

There have been a few offers of new season's salmon for forward delivery, but the prices asked have been, in the opinion of the trade, so ridiculously high that the wholesalers would have nothing to do with them. We hear of two distinct offers. One was at $4.75 and the other at $5 per case, f.o.b. at the Coast. The demand for salmon on the local market is gradually becoming more active, with prices firm and unchanged. A fairly active demand is still experienced in canned tomatoes and corn, but the volume of business is not as large as it was a week ago. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 55 to 65c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.35 to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.25; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.35 to $1 45; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7.50 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

COFFEE.

The local market is still devoid of special feature, business being quiet. The demand is principally for Rio coffee at about 17 to 17½c. At Rio receipts of coffee are liberal and at Santos light. The market is steady. We quote green in bags: Rio, 17 to 18c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

There is very little doing. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There is a fair movement, this being the season when molasses enters a good deal into the making of cakes. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, 21 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The volume of business is still very small. As far as prices are concerned, while quotations are unchanged, the feeling is weaker, the recent fluctuations in the outside markets having created a want of confidence in some minds. In the outside markets there is little disposition to operate although prices are fairly steady. Wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellows, 3⅞c. up; Demerara in bags, $3 75 to $3.85 per 100 lbs.

SPICES.

Trade is fair for the season, but devoid of any special feature. The exports from Singapore and Penang during the first half of May were as follows: Black pepper to the United States, nil tons, and to Great Britain 300 tons; to Continent 80 tons. Nutmegs to United States, nil tons. Total exports since January 1st were as follows: Black pepper to United States, 1,050 tons, against 2,925 in 1895, and 1,090 in 1894, and to Great Britain 3,030 tons, against 2,350 in 1895, and 2,840 in 1894. Nutmegs to United States, 51 tons, against 105 in 1895, and 113 in 1894. To Continent, total exports of black pepper were 1,750, against 3,790 in 1895, and 3,445 in 1894. Prices on the local market are unchanged at the following figures: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

A good movement is reported in new season's rice, particularly in No. 1 quality of imported Japan at about 5½c. There is also a good demand for tapioca. We quote; Standard "B" at 3½ to 4c.; imported Japan at 5¼ to 5½c.; tapioca, 3¾ to 5c.

NUTS.

Business is still quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Brazil nuts, 14 to 15c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10 5/8 to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

The first sample of new season's Japan teas arrived on the Toronto market on Monday. They were May pickings, but are attracting little or no attention, the day having gone by when wholesale merchants in Toronto purchase these fancy-priced teas. A good many forward orders for Japan teas have, however, been placed on last year's samples, but at considerably lower prices than obtained a year ago. Low grade Indian and Ceylon teas are scarce and firm in England owing to the way these teas are being picked up for blending purposes. The offerings of Indian teas in London during April were 67,000 packages, against 53,000 the same month in 1895. The qualities offered were not very attractive, nearly all the teas of the favorite garden marks having been sold. Advices by wire from Calcutta report serious storms, and the opening of the season has been retarded. The average of public sales for the month was 8½d. per lb. against 9¼d. per lb. same month last year. In Ceylon teas the offerings at public auction in London were 72,000 packages, against 81,000 in April, 1895. Finest teas with improved liquor are scarce and sell well. The average of public sale prices for the month was the same as a year ago, namely, 8¼d. per lb. Ruling prices to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

Valencia raisins are still in fairly active demand, with prices tending towards greater firmness in consequence. One Toronto firm has recently sold three or four carloads of Valencia raisins for shipment to Quebec. We quote: Off-stalk 4¾ to 5c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6½ to 6¾c. California raisins, 2-crown, 4¼ to 4½c.; 3-crown, 5¼ to 5½c.; 4-crown, 6½ to 7c.; seedless, 4½ to 5c.

The demand for California dried and evaporated fruits continues to ease off, although a good many are still going out. Higher prices are anticipated on 3-crown loose muscatel raisins. We quote: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 5¾ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.

Currants are still going out nicely for this time of the year. We quote: Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

There are a good many cheap prunes going out, but are becoming less active. We quote: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c., "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70 80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

Sultana raisins are quiet and firm at 5½ to 6c.

The improvement noted a couple of weeks ago in the demand for figs was temporary, there practically being nothing doing at present. We quote: Eleme, 14 oz., 8 to 9c.; 10 lb., 8 to 9c.; 12 lb., 10c.; 28 lb., 12c.

Dates are quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Valencia oranges are much firmer. It is getting toward the end of the season for this orange, and the fruit coming forward is "wasty" and is costing more. The demand is chiefly for Valencia oranges. There is not much doing in Messina oranges, although enquiries are beginning to come in. Although slightly lower prices are being quoted, the market is no easier, the lower figures being on soft lemons, which are showing a little waste. Bananas are in good demand and firm. Supplies of pineapples are fairly liberal, and although the demand is good prices are easier. The second shipment of Egyptian onions has arrived and prices are a little easier. We quote as follows: Lemons—Messina, $2 75 to $3.50 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $3 75 to $4.50, according to size; ditto seedlings, $2.75 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $6.50; Jumbo's, 420's, $7.50; ditto, 714's, $7.50; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $1.75 to $2; ditto, boxes, $3.25 to $3 75. Bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; cocoanuts, $5 to $5.50 a sack; apples, Spies, $4.50 to $5, Ben Davis, $3 to $4; Golden Russets, $3.50 to $4.50; domestic onions, 75c. per bag; Bermuda onions, $1.50 to $1.75 per small crate; Egyptian onions, $2.75 per bag; pineapples, 8 to 15c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of large rolls are not as free as they were, but larger quantities of tub butter are coming in, quality of which has improved. The commission houses are not experiencing an active demand for butter owing to the fact that a great deal is coming in direct to retailers. All that is coming in is being cleaned up. In creamery butter the only demand that is being experienced is for pound blocks. We quote: Large rolls, 9 to 12c.; dairy tubs, 10 to 11c.; dairy 1-lb. prints, 12 to 13c.; creamery pound prints, 16 to 17c.

CHEESE—There is a fairly good demand for old cheese at from 8 to 9c., and new cheese is receiving some attention at 7 to 8c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is scarcely anything doing, and prices are easy at 85 to 90c. per bushel.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There is a little more doing, and prices are slightly firmer. The ruling price outside is 5⅜ to 5½c. f.o.b. in round lots; jobbers still quote 5½ to 6c.

DRIED APPLES—Are dull at 3½ to 4c. in a jobbing way.

EGGS—Receipts are falling off, a good many eggs being picked up by packers at outside points. There are not a great many wanted, however, as the picklers are getting pretty well filled up. Prices are steady. We quote: Firsts, 9½ to 10c.; seconds, 8 to 8½c.

HONEY—There is still very little doing and prices are nominally unchanged. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—Very little doing. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

MAPLE SYRUP—Trade is quiet, with prices unchanged. We quote: Imperial gallon tins, 90c.; 5-gallon tins, 80c.; barrels, 75c. per gallon.

POTATOES—The market is dull and weak. Prices are nominally 18c. on track, and 25c. out of store.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade has been fairly steady in provisions, although orders are small. The few dressed hogs which are coming on the market sell at $4 to $4.75.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½ to 5¾c. for carload lots, and 6 to 6¼c. for small lots; backs, 7¼ to 7½c.

The Toronto Cold Storage Co. are prepared to store all kinds of meats, produce, etc., at very reasonable rates.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short-cut, $13 to $13.50; clear shoulder mess, $11.

FISH.

Three is a good supply of all kinds, and there are a great many lake white fish and herring coming forward. We quote: Lake Erie herring, 2½ to 3c. per lb.; blueback herring, $1.25 per 100; pike, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; British Columbia salmon, 15 to 20c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; whitefish, 7 to 9c.; salmon trout, 6 to 6½c.; eels, 5 to 6c. per lb.

SEEDS.

The season is practically over for alsike, red clover and timothy, but there is a good demand for ensilage corn, Hungarian and millet seed. The jobbing prices out of store here are as follows: Hungarian, 75 to 90c.; millet, 75 to 85c. per bush.; ensilage corn, 50 to $1 per bush., according to variety.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN — Receipts continue light. We quote: White wheat, 80c.; red, 78c.; goose, 55½c.; barley, 35c.; oats, 25 to 25½c.; peas, 52c.; buckwheat, 36 to 40c.

HAY — Supplies continue liberal, and prices are easy at $12 to $13 for No. 1.

FLOUR—Market continues dull and prices easy. We quote: Straight roller, $3.40 to $3.45, carload lots, Toronto freights, and $3.50 to $3.60 in job lots; Manitoba patents, $3.75 to $4 per bbl.; Ontario patents, $3.60 to $3.65 per bbl.; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.50 to $3.60.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business continues quiet. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.90 to $3; rolled wheat, $2.25 to $2.30 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

SALT.

Business continues fairly good. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.50 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PETROLEUM.

Trade continues fair and prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16½c.; carbon safety, 18c.; Canadian water white, 18c.; American water white, 21c.; Pratt's astral, 22c.

MARKET NOTES.

Valencia oranges are dearer.

Pineapples are in more liberal supply and firmer.

Evaporated apples are in better demand and slightly firmer.

The first samples of new season's Japan tea reached the Toronto market on Monday.

Canned salmon for forward delivery has been offered on the Toronto market at $4.75 to $5.

The second shipment of Egyptian onions has arrived and prices are lower in consequence.

California three-crown loose muscatel raisins are expected to be higher shortly owing to their scarcity.

Advices received from the Coast state that freight rates to the east will be advanced about five cents per 100 lbs.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, May 21, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market fails to show any radical change, business, as a rule, being of a quiet character. In sugar jobbers have been experiencing more enquiry, but the volume of business is narrow, as buyers are uncertain about the future in its political sense. More molasses charters are noted, but the cost will not mean any change in prices on new stock to arrive. Syrups are dull. The same can be said of coffees and spices. Teas have been more enquired for by retailers, but otherwise the market is dull, and importers are operating very sparingly. Dried fruits are steady, in fact firm, as to values, but business is unimportant. In canned goods vegetables have attracted some attention, and tomatoes and corn present a better tone. Otherwise the market is featureless.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has not shown any radical change since our last report, but there has been rather more enquiry during the week, though it was of a limited character. With the political uncertainty dispelled and a very good fruit season in prospect, many people look for an active trade in refined sugar later on. In a jobbing way we quote prices firm at 4⅞c. for granulated, and 3⅝ to 4¼c. for yellows, as to grade. The raw market abroad has been rather unsettled, both in beet and cane.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups continues quiet, with little signs of improvement. Stocks in first hands are very moderate, and the fact tends to prevent any slump in values. We quote: Bright grades, 2¼ to 3c., and dark 1½ to 1¾c.

MOLASSES.

There have been one or two more charters for cargo lots of Barbadoes closed for Canadian account, making the total quantity so far contracted 5,000 puncheons. The cost price was about the same as previous lots, and spot values are unchanged. The stock of old remaining in store is very small and there is little demand for it, as buyers are awaiting the new stock. Ex store old stock Barbadoes ranges from 34 to 37c. and Barbadoes to arrive is quoted at 31c. in car lots and 32c. in smaller quantities.

RICE.

The rice market has been more active since the new crop was offered and a good business is doing at steady prices. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50; and Java $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

Business in spices continues quiet, and though changes in primary cost are noted on some staple lines, no alteration on spot is recorded. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market is entirely without change. Indeed, there is almost no business at all to report in a wholesale way. We quote: Rio, 16½ to 20c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 21c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29 to 32c.

TEAS.

There has been a fair degree of activity in a jobbing sense from second hands, but in a wholesale way the market is lifeless, as importers are in no hurry at all about buying. Low-grade Congous and Japans are scarce on spot, and, as they are difficult to obtain, jobbers are holding all they have got for their own trade. The advices from primary markets continue of much the same tenor, viz., that the price has an easy tendency. We quote: Young Hysons 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is a steady demand for California raisins. Recent arrivals have been light, and stocks here are very moderate. As a result, values rule firm in their tendency at 6¾ to 7c. for 4-crown; 5½ to 6c for 3-crown, and 4¼ to 4¾c. for 2-crown.

Valencia raisins have been well cleaned up here by the recent purchases from first hands. There is little doing in them in consequence, but prices are firmly held. Common, 4½c.; fine, 5 to 5¼c.; selected, 5¼ to 6c., and layers 6 to 6¼c.

The strong advices from abroad on Sultana raisins continue and stocks are light here with prices firm at 5¾ to 6½c. No fresh supplies could be laid down at the inside figure.

Currants are quiet and steady. We quote: Barrels, 4 to 4¼c.; half-barrels, 4½ to 5c., and cases, 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

Advices continue strong on prunes and there is no change on spot, stocks being light and prices steady for all kinds. We quote: French, 5 to 5½c., and Austrian, 6 to 6½c. California and Oregons range from 5½ to 12c.

There has been a fair trade in figs at steady prices. We quote: Ordinary boxes, 8½ to 9c., and fancy, 12 to 17c. But little bag stock remains.

Dates continue quiet but firm at 5 to 5¼c. under gradually decreasing stocks.

NUTS.

The market is without feature, business being very quiet. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no great activity to note in canned goods, but a fair enquiry has been experienced during the week for canned vegetables. In this connection tomatoes are rather steadier than they were, and 75c. is now the inside price for them. Corn is also firm in tone at 65c. In canned salmon nothing in the way of new contracts is noted.

TORONTO - - ONTARIO

The spot cost on all leading brands in stock is below the parity of values asked so far f.o.b. on the Coast. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 65c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half-tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.35; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $7.25 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

The auction fruit sales of lemons and oranges still attract the chief attention, the third of this series taking place on Tuesday last, details of which are given elsewhere. In other fruits there is nothing special to report except that the general impression seems to be in favor of a large yield. We quote: Apples, $4.50 to $5; dried do., 3 to 3½c.; evaporated, 5½ to 6c.; bananas, $1.25 to $2; pineapples, 8 to 15c., and strawberries, 15 to 20c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market has continued to decline under increasing receipts, and now prices are away down to 9¼ to 9½c. for choice and 8 to 8¾c. for seconds.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—Have been in very good demand, and prices all round are firmer. Syrup has sold up to 60c. per tin, while sugar is ½ to ¾c. higher at 8 to 8¼c. for bright goods. Dark sugar is slow of sale at 7 to 7½c.

BEANS—Continue quiet but steady at 95c. to $1.05 in a jobbing way, with car lots on track at 85 to 90c.

POTATOES—Are slow and heavy at 30 to 35c. in a jobbing way, but car lots on track are freely offered at 25c. per bag.

TALLOW — continues dull and nominal as to price at 4 to 5½c.

HOPS—Furnish very few sales. We quote: Choice, 6 to 7½c., and fair to medium, 5 to 5½c.

HONEY—Continues dull at 12 to 14c. for bright comb, and 10 to 12c. for dark. Extracted is slow at 7 to 8c.

HAY.

There is no change in hay. No. 1 baled is offering at $13 to $13.50, and No. 2, $11.50 to $12.

PROVISIONS.

There have been few new features in the local provision market. Pork continues slow, but a fair jobbing enquiry is noted for lard and smoked meats. We quote as follows: Canadian short cut, clear, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short cut, mess, $13 to $13.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 7½ to 9½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There has been some fair export enquiry for flour during the past week which took some 4,000 sacks or so of Manitoba grades off the market. The local demand also has been fair. Prices generally are steady on the whole. We quote as follows: Winter wheat, $4.15; spring wheat, patents, $3.80 to $4; straight roller, $3.70 to $3.75; straight roller, bags, $1.75 to $1.80; extra, bags, $1.50 to $1.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.40 to $3.75.

The demand for oatmeal continues very slow, and the market is quiet and unchanged. We quote: Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10; granulated, barrels, $3.10 to $3.20; rolled oats, barrels, $2.80 to $2.90; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.

There was a weaker feeling in the feed market for bran, and prices are fully 50c. per ton lower, at $12.50. Shorts are plentiful and moving slow, at $12.50 to $13.50. We quote: Bran, $12.50; shorts, $12.50 to $13.50; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese furnishes many conflicting circumstances at the moment. West of Toronto buyers are only bidding 6½ to 6⅝c, whereas in eastern Ontario they have paid almost one cent more. At the wharf here Monday morning also some 500 boxes of French cheese realized 7 to 7¼c.

The butter market fails to show any radical change, though some enquiry is making itself felt on lower port account. With full grass goods on the market, the more sanguine expect that the low prices will induce some demand from abroad. Until this makes itself evident, the market will drag along slowly. We quote creamery 14 to 14½c. as to qualty.

ASHES.

There is no change in ashes and we quote first pots, $3.50; seconds, $3.25, and pearls, $4.75.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The first importations of new brandies and wines are expected this week.

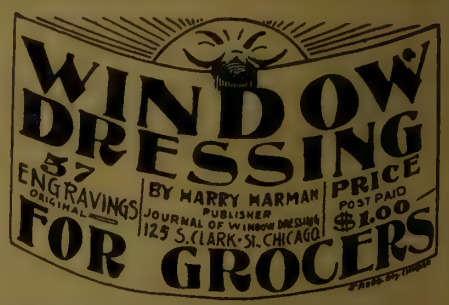
Recent sales have practically cleaned up the market on spot of Valencia raisins.

So far about 5,000 puncheons of Barbadoes molasses have been contracted for on Montreal account.

Since the new crop rice was offered, the demand experienced at the mills and by jobbers has been more active.

Low-grade China blacks and Japan teas are wanted here by jobbers whose supplies are light, while the demand from retailers is better.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.



OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., May 21, 1896.

DURING the past week the movement in business has been somewhat less than for some time past; and though there is still a good demand noted, the tendency is toward quieter business. Collections come in slowly. In the lumber business there is good demand at good prices, a number of very large steamers being here loading. The only trouble is, the weather is so dry that quite a quantity of logs will be hung up. The weather is also too dry for the farmer, everything burning up—very different from Manitoba, where there is too much rain. Markets show little change. Flour and sugar are dull, although the feeling is rather for higher prices. All kinds of fish are very dull, except fresh, which, owing to the small catch, are held firm. Canned goods show better movement, while provisions are dull. In cream of tartar, of which quite a large quantity is imported here from France, the price continues very firm and high.

Bird Lore.

Professional fanciers use almost as many drugs and special foods as do physicians; and birds in a wild state utilize herbs and seeds innumerable. "BIRD BREAD" results from a lifetime's study of these herbs and seeds, and so skilfully are its many ingredients balanced and their beneficial properties so harmoniously blended, that "BIRD BREAD" has been called "the Avicultural Wonder of the Age." "BIRD BREAD" is placed in every packet of COTTAMS BIRD SEED. Protect your customers by being sure "BART. COTTAM" is on every packet, there are so many imitations of this patent food.

OIL—There is still little of interest to note in both burning and lubricating oil. This season is always quiet. It is not thought there will be any change in price, at least, not till after the elections. We quote: American burning oil, 22½c.; best Canadian, 20½ to 21c.; prime, 18c.; 2nd, 17½c. No charge for barrels.

SALT—Two cargoes arrived during the past week by sailer, containing 14,000 sacks coarse and 2,500 sacks factory-filled. It is understood that all English factory-filled salt is not the same. This is not always taken into consideration, and when difference in price has been noted it is seldom thought that this is the reason. There is no doubt the sale of Canadian butter and cheese salt has been aided by cheap grades of English factory-filled being brought here. Demand is but fair, and most of the last to arrive has been put in store. No cargoes are reported afloat for here, but there are a number of small cargoes on the way for outside ports in the province. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags in barrels, $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags in barrels, $2.75 to $3; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.65 to $2.70 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—There is a better demand, and stocks are getting lighter. Prices of staples are, however, kept low. New lobsters have been on the market; all brands are higher than last season and held firm. Hoegg's lobsters, so well known here, are not seen here this season, though our merchants will, as a rule, pay higher for them than other brands, but this season the price was beyond them. He sold his full pack at his own price outside. New finnan haddies will soon be on the market. Very large quantities of these goods are shipped west. It is expected prices will open same as last year. A better demand is noted for oysters. Canned meats move more freely. We quote: Corn, 80 to 90c.; peas, 95 to $1; tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; gallon apples, $2.20 to $2.25; corned beef, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.70; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, $2.45 to $2.85; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2 to $2.40; salmon, $1.40 to $1.50; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; haddies, $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 to $5.75 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

GREEN FRUIT—There is a large business doing at present. Valencia oranges are scarce, but further shipments are expected.

HUGH WALKER & SON, Guelph, Ont.

Californias still show no sale. In apples there are but light stocks and light demand. Bananas are very large sale at this season. One of our merchants has six rooms for ripening. Pineapples still arrive only in small quantities. A few Florida cabbages are seen, but sale is very limited. Strawberries are coming in from the States freely, and have this week sold quite low, and it is doubtful if they will go lower for a little. Native rhubarb is now in good supply and finds good demand. Lemons have large sale. We quote: Apples, $2.50 to $4 ; lemons, $2.50 to $3 ; Valencia oranges, $5.50 to $6.50; California do., $2 ; Messina oranges, $3.50 to $3.75 ; blood oranges, $2.25 to $2.50 ; pineapples, $1.50 to $2.50; cranberries, $3 per box ; bananas, $1.50 to $2 ; rhubarb, 2½ to 3c.; strawberries, 18 to 20c.

DRIED FRUIT—This is the quiet season. From outside markets raisins are quoted firm, but no change is noted here, and demand is very light. In our climate California loose muscatels keep splendidly—much better than in New York. Currants continue a fair sale. Few merchants have yet placed orders for peels, the season being early with prices high. Figures have been received for September shipment of French prunes. The position of the California market will have more influence on this trade than before. Dried apples are looking in vain for buyers. There is some movement in evaporated, but at low prices. Bermuda and Egyptian onions are both in good supply and find good demand. We quote as follows : Valencias, 4½ to 5c. ; layers, 5½ to 6c. ; California L. M. 4-crown, 6 to 7c.; 3-crown, 5 to 6c.; London layers, $1.70 to $1.85. Currants, bbls., 3¾ to 4c.; cases, 4¼ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½c.: prunes, kegs, 4c ; boxes, 6 to 7c.; half-boxes, 7 to 8c.; dates 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 5c.; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c.; California evaporated peaches, 8 to 13c.; apricots, 12 to 14c.; pears, 12 to 14c.; onions, $1 to $2; Bermuda onions, $1.50 to $1.75 per crate ; cocoanuts, $3 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 8c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—In cheese a few new are here from Ontario and Quebec, and there is a fair movement. Old cheese is dull and moves only in small quantities. It will be three weeks before Maritime Province cheese are on the market. Present prospects are for an improved market over last year, but it is too early to know much. Butter continues to come in from Ontario and Quebec, where it is quoted very low. Where quality is right a good demand is noted. Creamery is chiefly bought. Our own butter is coming in more freely. In eggs the feeling is firmer, though they still sell low. We quote as follows: Common dairy butter, old, 10 to 16c.; new dairy, 16 to 17c.; new creamery prints, 22 to 23c.; cheese, 8 to 8½c.; creamery, tubs, 18 to 20c.; eggs, 9 to 9½c.

SUGAR—Stocks are getting lighter, but there is still a quantity held here. Demand is slow and the expected advance is still, as for so long, in the future. The extra demand of the berry season will soon be here and this should have the desired effect, if anything will. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—A small quantity of Porto Rico arrived this week. As noted last week, upwards of 1,000 casks is bought to arrive. This, with the quantity of Barbadoes now here, keeps the market easy. There is a fair movement. The large arrivals of West India affect the demand for New Orleans, some grades coming in at lower prices. In syrup at this season there is no demand. We quote as follows : Barbadoes, 31 to 33c.; Porto Rico, 34 to 36c., bbls.; New Orleans, 30 to 36c.; syrup, 36 to 38c ; Antigua, 27 to 28c.; St. Croix, 28 to 30c.

FISH—Fresh have the floor. Gaspereaux have been a light catch during the week and find a good demand at good prices. Shad are taken in large numbers, but season is yet early and very large catches are not expected. In haddock a better catch is noted, and the importing from Boston to smoke is stopped. Very few salmon are yet caught. In dry fish trade is slow and prices rather lower. Pickled show no change in price, but there is very little business. Smoked continue very low and dull. We quote : Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.25 to $1.30; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; new smoked, 4 to 5c.; Canso, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; shad, half-bbl., $5; Shelburne, $2.50 to $2.75 bbl., $1.65 half-bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; fresh Gaspereaux, 50 to 60c.; smoked do, 90 to $1; fresh shad, 15 to 20c.; salmon, fresh, 20 to 25c. per lb.

PROVISIONS—Holders of pork are blue. Prices continue to fall off, and at this season there is but limited sale. Plate beef shows little change. In smoked meats there is but fair demand at easy prices. Lard is also disappointing and keeps low. We quote : Clear pork, $14.50 to $15; mess, $13 to $13.50; beef, $13 to $14 ; domestic mess pork, $13 to $13.25 ; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; pure lard, 9 to 9¼c.; compound, 7¾ to 8c.

FLOUR, FEED, MEAL AND SEED—There is little new to report. Stocks are getting smaller, and, when merchants have to buy, it looks like higher prices, but the market cannot be called strong. The low price of corn keeps the sale of mill feed dull. In beans there is a firmness, but much advance is very doubtful. The bulk of what is quite a large stock was bought above present prices. In oatmeal, demand is quiet and price keeps low. Oats are relatively higher than meal, but there is no lack to fill all demand. After a very successful season—one in which a larger quantity has been handled than usual—the seed business is drawing to a close. We quote as follows : Manitoba, $4.60 to $4.65 ; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4 60 ; medium, $4.30 to $4.40; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.50; cornmeal, $2.10 to $2.15; middlings, $19 to $20 on track; bran, $18 to $19 ; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90c. to $1 ; oats, 34 to 35c.; hay, $11.50 to $13 ; barley, $4; round peas, $3.65 ; split peas, $3.70 to $3.80 ; yellow-eye beans, $1.75 ; buckwheat, native, $1.30 to $1.35; American timothy, $2 ; Canadian timothy, $2.75 ; red clover, 9 to 9½c.; alsike, 9¼ to 9½c.; mammoth, 9 to 9½c.

ato and anchovy sauce, bloaters, fresh herrings, etc. High quality keeps the brand of "Marshall" constantly in demand.

"We still have some extra values in 17 and 18-cent Ceylon and Indian teas," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol. "Pleased to send samples at any time."

"'Grand Mogul' tea stands the test of time. Our sales so far this year are the largest since it was first placed on the market," write T. B. Escott & Co.

The only stock of California raisins held in first hands here is a small lot of London layers. The agents are holding these for 5½c. net cash on the straight lot.

W. H. Gillard & Co. wish to direct the attention of the trade to their stock of Young Hysons and Indians, high and medium grades, which they state are bargains every one.

T. A. Lytle & Co. report that May sales are assuming proportions of great magnitude, not only in pickles, vinegars and catsups, but in jams, jellies and marmalade as well.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. will have in stock, they expect, by the end of this week their full spring importations of new French brandies and wines of all the leading brands. Now is the time to secure quotations.

A. P. Tippet & Co. note firmer advices from the Coast on all kinds of dried fruits. They closed out lots of both 2 and 3-crown raisins at an advance of ½c. on what they received in April last.

Pilgrim's New York ginger ale and other summer beverages are selling rapidly, and many repeat orders have been received by W. H. Gillard & Co.

James Turner & Co. advise having received a consignment of choice Vostizza currants; also a heavy shipment of the well-known "Ostrich" prunes.

James Turner & Co. are advertising this week a refreshing list of summer drinks for the warm weather, heading the list with Henderson's Wild Cherry Extract, which they introduced successfully last season.

Lumsden Bros., of Hamilton, have made arrangements for 200 bags of specially selected cocoanuts to arrive about every four weeks. They expect from this out to be able to fill all orders for shredded and feather strips promptly.

"Our steam power machinery is kept busy turning out the various brands cleaned currants (although the capacity is two tons per day), indicating that the people know a good thing when they see it," write T. B. Escott & Co., of London.

"We sent out nearly double the quantity of Robinson's patent groats and patent barley in 1895 than the year previous, and 1896 bids fair to show a still larger increase," write Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, agents for these foods.

HIS CUSTOMERS PAY INTEREST.

A WRITER in American Storekeeper ran across a retail grocer recently, whose experience may throw some light upon the present mooted question as to whether a grocer should charge a credit customer more for the same goods than the one who buys for cash. The business of the grocer mentioned is probably as good an example of the credit system as can be found. He has several customers who pay only twice a year, and some who settle yearly, the sums amounting to $600 or $700. This, of course, means that the grocer, unless he is possessed of abundant capital, must borrow the money at 5 per cent. interest to lend to his yearly-paying customers for nothing. This grocer had been troubled by thoughts like this, and resolved to do something, if possible, to relieve himself of it. He accordingly went to one of the customers who settled yearly, and laid the matter plainly before him.

"It is hardly fair," he said, "to allow my capital to lie during the whole year without return."

"That's your look-out," rejoined the customer, indifferently.

The grocer went home and pondered, and, since he had been plainly told that his protection was his own look-out, he resolved to protect himself. The method he hit upon was to add a small percentage to the account of this and other long-credit customers, the amount of which would be a fair rate of interest. Accordingly, every customer who takes more than an average credit now pays that grocer legal interest on his indebtedness, as he should do.

CANNED FRUITS FOR BRITAIN.

According to San Francisco mail advices of the 9th inst., the shipments of California canned fruits to Great Britain from July 10th, 1895, to date amounted to 273,266 cases. These shipments have comprised several varieties and have considerably relieved the market. It is now too late to expect further shipments hence to Europe of the pack of 1895. Despite the low freights by sail during the season, it is believed that considerable consignments of California canned fruit have found an outlet in Europe by way of Panama, and also by overland route to New York, and thence by steamer across the Atlantic.

ADULTERATED BUTTER.

A Washington despatch says: In a communication from the British Board of Agriculture a report is made of samples of imported butter, analyzed under the direction of the Board from May, 1895, to February, 1896, inclusive. The total number of samples so analyzed was 995, representing the products of twelve different countries. The countries in whose products adulterated specimens were found were Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Holland, Norway and Sweden and Russia. The countries contributing samples among which no adulterated specimens were found were Argentine, Austria, Canada, France, New Zealand and the United States. Denmark, by far the largest contributor of foreign butter products to the British market, and enjoying hitherto an almost irreproachable reputation in the butter market, contributed, in a total of 182 specimens, eight adulterated, or nearly 5 per cent.

Beginning with June 6, both the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways will issue Saturday return tickets good until Monday, to all points, at the rate of a single fare and 10c. over.

"Yes'm. Send 'em home?"

"I see you have some very fine laces, I see—"

"The rarest, ma'am. A few yards off this piece?"

"Well, yes; send eight yards and a load of coal—"

"Exactly. And the ribbons?"

"Send twenty yards of the pink and a bale of hay—"

"Um-huh! Now, as to the wrap. Here's a beauty for—"

"That will do. Send it with a bushel of turnips and a barrel of lime—"

"So. And the silk muffler—want it—think?"

"Oh—I—yes. You might send it with a thousand lap shingles, a peck of onions, a pair of tongs, a bolt of tidy cotton and a load of tanbark."—Exchange.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THE markets this week are practically unchanged. The refinery has been looking for an improvement in prices, and so have merchants who put in a big stock of sugars on the strength of the reports of a short crop. The improvement is slow in coming, and, in fact, seems further off than three months ago. The reports of an improvement in the West India fish market have been verified, and numerous shipments have gone forward. In this connection it may not be out of place to mention that the new fish drying process introduced by T. S. Whitman is having a good effect on the foreign markets. Imperfectly cured fish had an influence against Nova Scotia shippers, but fish cured by the new process is meeting with a ready demand, and is proving a strong competitor with the Norwegian article. Mr. Whitman has concluded a contract of Robin, Collas & Co. to put up one of the dryers at Paspebiac, Quebec. Canso fish dealers want him to put up one on the eastern shore, but it is understood he declines on the ground that he wants the Nova Scotia business for his Halifax establishment.

Molasses is coming in freely. The receipts during the past week have been very large, both by steamer and sailing crafts. The market keeps about steady. Quotations are: Extra fancy Demerara, 38 to 40c.; fancy Porto Rico, 35c.; good do., 33c.; Antigua, 26c.; St. Kitts, 26c., and other grades 25 to 26c.

Everything is quiet in breadstuffs. The flour market is quiet and weak and the outlook is not encouraging. Some dealers throughout the province try to boom trade by inserting misleading reports in the local papers. A New Glasgow paper recently said that bread was about to advance 3c. per loaf on account of the "rise," and a Charlottetown paper reports "flour has advanced 15c. per barrel." All this proves the necessity of the dealers taking a live trade paper. The new mill at New Glasgow is reported to be turning out a good article of flour, which is meeting with a fair demand in eastern Nova Scotia and Cape Breton. The Dartmouth corn mill is also doing a good business.

Eggs were quoted at 8½c. in Charlottetown on Monday. The price here seems to keep up to 10c. in a jobbing way. Retailers ask from 12 to 14c.

Live Canadian cattle continue to arrive. J. A. Leaman & Co. have a whole stable full of it, which they import mainly for their army and navy contracts and their own local trade. Trade in provisions is fair. The city trade is good, owing, no doubt, to the large amount of money being put in circulation by the work on the new electric tram company's gas-pipe line and other improvements. Chicago mess pork is quoted at $15.50 to $16; clear do., $16.50 to $17; P. E. Island mess, $13.50. Canadian plate beef is strong at $12 and Libby's at $14. Pure lard is worth 9½c.

Butter and cheese remain unchanged. The butter market is healthy, but the demand in cheese is limited.

Dried fruits are also quiet. The advance of 1c. per lb. in the London market in Valencia raisins has strengthened this market, but has not changed the price. The demand for prunes has improved. Evaporated apples, dates and figs are slow.

There is no change in green fruit this week, owing to the steamer not bringing the regular supplies from Boston on Monday, Some Mediteranean oranges were received from London on Saturday.

A good business is reported in canned goods, but prices remain low.

Mackerel has struck in on the western shore. Fair catches have been made near Yarmouth.

The annual meeting of the New Glasgow Milling Co. took place last week, when the following directors were elected: James Wentworth, Truro; J. L. Jennison, New Glasgow; T. P. Putnam, Onslow; H. V. Jennison, New Glasgow; J. Howard, New Glasgow; W. Christie, Moncton. The meeting was well attended, and the reports showed that the company is doing a very satisfactory business.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Theo. Leonard, of Detroit, representing Kingsford's Oswego starch, was in Toronto this week.

W. H. Murphy, representing the Armour Packing Co. of Kansas City, is in Toronto this week and is being introduced to the trade by Mr. Haywood, the firm's Toronto representative.

Mr. Wm. Ramsay, Midlothian, Scotland, formerly a well-known wholesale grocer in Toronto and father of Capt. Ramsay of the 48th Highlanders, is in Toronto this week.

The secretary of the Western Ontario Commercial Travelers' Association has been advised by the general passenger agents of the G.T.R. and C.P.R. that it has been decided to grant the request of the association to allow checking of baggage on tickets purchased ahead at the end of the week, in order to facilitate the movements of the travelers. Instructions have been issued to commence the practice at once.

BUSINESS CHANGES.

DIFFICULTIES, ASSIGNMENTS, COMPROMISES

JAMES DICKSON & CO., provisions and fish, Toronto, have assigned to E. R. C. Clarkson.

W. McKee, general merchant, Orton, is offering to compromise.

Joseph Matty, fish, Wellington, B.C., is reported to have left town.

L. R. Gingras, general merchant, Eastman, has assigned to Kent & Turcotte.

Arthur Bourgette. general merchant, St. Clair, Que., has compromised at 50c. on the dollar.

A meeting of the creditors of N. Bloom, general merchant, Valleyfield, Que., will be held 27th inst.

Mrs. J. Stewart, general store, Dunnville, who met her creditors in Toronto the other day, made an offer of 100 cents, but as she made this unsecured and wanted considerable time, the creditors gave her time to make a cash offer. The statement of affairs was as follows: Liabilities, $3,500; stock, $8,000; book debts, $1,100. Toronto houses are interested chiefly.

CHANGES.

James Matthews is starting a grocery store at Ottawa.

E. Merner & Co., grocers, etc., Brandon, Man., are retiring from business.

SALES MADE AND PENDING.

The stock, etc., of G. W. Halstead, general merchant, Roslin, are advertised for sale.

The assets of P. Johnson, general merchant, Lake Megantic, are to be sold on the 22nd.

Halifax Baking & Confectionery Co., Ltd., Halifax, is advertising plant and premises for sale.

Neville & Co., wholesale groceries and liquors, Ottawa, are offering the business for sale.

The stock of S. Hetherington, general merchant, Ayer's Flats, Que., has been sold at 33c. on the dollar.

The bankrupt stock of T. C. Maddock, general merchant, Acton, valued at $2,389, was sold on Saturday at 68c. on the dollar. The purchaser was H. Dolle, of St. Catharines.

PARTNERSHIPS FORMED AND DISSOLVED.

Chambers & Lewin, grocers, Halifax, have dissolved. Thos. E. Chambers continues in his own name.

Louis Bois and Louis Pigeon have registered a partnership in Montreal to carry on business as grocers under the style of Bois & Pigeon.

T. H. Mallette & Co., groceries and liquors, Montreal; a new partnership has been registered composed of Mr. T. H. Mallette as general partner and Joseph I. Mallette as special partner for $1,000, to May 1, 1897.

DEATHS.

H. Woodington, groceries, etc., Niagara, is dead.

James J. Fox, flour merchant, Fredericton, N.B., is dead.

W. Penny, of Penny & Sons, general merchants, fish dealers, etc., Ramea, Nfd., is dead.

METHOD OF PRESERVING HONEY.

Down cellar is where the ordinary purchaser of comb honey is almost sure to put it. No place could be more undesirable, remarks an exchange. Dryness and warmth are the requisities for keeping comb honey. As ordinarily kept, comb honey will candy before spring, but by keeping it in a warm atmosphere it will not candy and will really improve with time.

HIRED TO SELL GOODS.

ONE of the wealthiest and most intelligent ladies of Austin entered Mr. Conver's grocery establishment on Austin avenue, and, pointing a jeweled finger, said to the new clerk:

"Send me home a bushel of them pertaterses."

"I suppose you mean a bushel of potatoes," said the clerk, smiling in a supercilious manner. "'Them pertaterses' is hardly good grammar."

The lady flounced out of the store, gritting her teeth. When the proprietor of the store heard that he had lost one of his best customer, he, too, gritted his teeth.

At first he thought that he would discharge the clerk, but, on reflection, as clerks were scarce, he contented himself with telling him that his business was merely to sell goods, and not to correct mistakes in grammar.

"All right, sir," responded the clerk. "I will not seek to enlighten your ignorant customers again."

After that things went on smoothly. The proprietor noticed customers just flocking to his new clerk. He was kept busy all the time. The customers did not care to have anybody except that particular clerk to wait on them. At the same time he could not help noticing that the amount of cash taken was not as large as the run of customers seemed to justify.

One morning the proprietor seated himself near the clerk and pretended to be reading a paper. A colored woman came in and made some purchases. When it came to settling, she counted up:

"Ten pounds of coffee at 20c. a pound makes 40c.: 10c. for soap, 10c. for blueing and 30c. for starch makes 50c.," and putting down a dollar asked for 35c. change, which the clerk promptly gave her.

"Hold on, there! That's all wrong."

"Of course it's all wrong," responded the clerk, calmly, "but I don't consider it my duty to teach your customers arithmetic. I did start out to teach them grammer, when they asked for 'them pertaterses,' but you told me all I had to do was to sell them goods. If you are not going to let me correct their grammer, I don't see why I should correct their arithmetic."

"That's the last college graduate that I'll hire for a clerk," remarked the proprietor when he got through putting the ex-clerk out into the street.—Texas Siftings.

The Astute Grocer

Who experiments with a miscellaneous list of STARCHES is like the man who "digs a well to put out a house on fire." While he experiments, his customers are leaving. Our has long since passed the period of experiment, and has become the standard.

Don't risk the losing of customers by gratifying your curiosity in blind investigations.

Accept "EDWARDSBURG" as your standard, make it your Leader, and further investigation is unnecessary.

PUREST & BEST

The Largest Creamery in Canada

Is situated at Renfrew, Ont. Their output of Butter has a high reputation. In order to obtain it and keep the quality, they must use the best obtainable ingredients. They use "WINDSOR" SALT exclusively. Under date of December 17th, 1895, Mr. Wright has this to say :—

* * * * For your convenience I may add that it is certainly the finest salt we ever used. There may be as good, but I have never used it, It might interest you to know how we came to use it. For many years before starting our Creamery, I used English salt in my dairy, exclusively Hearing of yours I sent for a sample, which was promptly forwarded, and we used it with our next churning. Although we used the same quantity we had always used, so much greater strength was there in your Windsor brand, that our butter was so salt that we could hardly use it. We then greatly reduced the quantity, and found it to work admirably, and consequently have used it ever since. When we opened our Creamery, Windsor Salt was at once adopted, and we have never had any reason to regret it. The barrels are well made, and being lined with paper it prevents any dirt or dust from getting in. This I consider a very important factor, and so long as you send us the same quality as you have been doing, it will require very strong inducements to cause us to use any other. You will of course understand from this that it was the Windsor Salt we used in our butter which took the Gold Medal at Ottawa in Sept. last.

(Signed) A. A. WRIGHT, Manager Renfrew Creamery Co., Ltd.

Grocers can obtain "WINDSOR" Dairy Salt, from any w olesale house, put up in 50lb. Linen Sacks and in 20lb. White Cotton Bags packed 15 n a paper lined Barrel.

INSURANCE RATES depend greatly upon the fire extinguishing facilities of the building to be insured.

Fire Pails are indispensable in stores and warehouses, but they are often used for purposes for which they were not intended by employees, and are at times missing at the critical moment.

OUR ROUND BOTTOM FIRE PAILS . . .

cannot be used except for their legitimate purpose. They cannot sit alone ; they will tip ; they have to be hung on a nail or peg or placed in a rack. Thus they are always ready in an emergency.

These pails are made of Indurated Fibreware, being pressed into shape, including bottom, practically in one solid piece ; are seamless, hoopless, light in weight and handsome in appearance. They are lettered in bold red, " For Fire Only."

A warehouse or store equipped with these fire pails is always proof against fire in its incipient stages.

Nothing pleases a Grocer . . .

Better than to have his customers say, "That last pound of tea I got from you suits my taste exactly. It's delightfully aromatic and satisfying—strikes the right spot every time—give me another pound." There's some satisfaction in a deal of that kind. It makes one feel a sort of a public benefactor, while at the same time he reaps a substantial pecuniary reward and makes himself solid with his trade.

To have such results requires some forethought, and the source of supply must be reliable. It doesn't do to offer your customers an inferior line after having supplied them with something of superior excellence; therefore it behooves the merchant to take the question of uniformity in quality into consideration. With our Standard Black Teas

THE 400 SELECT — IMPERIAL CONGOU
RUSSIAN CONGOU — DALU KOLA CONGOU and THE GLOBE BLEND

Goes our guarantee of high-class quality and strict uniformity. Every pound is thoroughly matched to a standard. The public get the benefit of our vast experience in the selection and blending of teas, and the grocer is enabled to build up a trade exclusively his own in this particular.

Some fine bargains in Young Hysons and Japans (high and medium grades) are in our warehouse, and we shall be pleased to convince you of their real value.

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, MAY 29, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 22

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Self-denial is the foundation of success in life.

Faith is essential in trade as well as in religion.

The spirit of the age is live, wide-awake business methods.

Stick to good principles as tenaciously as you would your life.

Trade is only a lottery when you trust to luck for success in it.

One of the factors of success is the ability to gauge people's wants.

If money is the root of all evil, jealousy must be its twin sinner.

Earnestness, like a fire on a cold winter's day, draws people to it.

Merchants who catch the most trade are not those who travel in beaten paths.

Honesty is the best policy in the advertisement as well as in everything else.

"An "ad." is like a pointer dog : It hunts up the game and brings it to its owner.

A new line baited with a reasonable price can generally be trusted to catch trade.

It is more profitable to treat a traveling salesman with civility than with disdain.

Make a hit whenever you can, and the straighter it is from the shoulder the better.

Just as the poker stirs up the fire, so reading stirs up the latent thoughts within us.

It is not a wise merchant who trusts altogether to staples to bring stability to his business.

Publicity may be detested by the merchant personally, but his business is on the high road to oblivion if he does not court publicity for it.

It is the long pull and the strong pull that wins success in business, as well as fame with the oar.

Not until a young man has become master of himself should he essay to become master of others.

The way to get rich is to ignore the popular methods for getting rich suddenly and work like a niggar.

You may have a streak of luck some day, but in the meantime make the best use you can of your energies.

In the sea of mercantile life it is the easiest thing in the world for you to be lost unless you advertise.

An attempt to make money by questionable methods is an evidence of incapacity as well as of dishonesty.

The merchant who does not keep a check on goods coming into his store is likely to have a checkered career.

The old business methods may have been good enough in their day, but to-day they are better dead than living.

Have plenty of light in your store both by day and by night. Customers, like moths, are attracted by light.

Honesty and ability are the Siamese twins of success in business ; and the one without the other is not of much use.

The merchant who has not time to read cannot, it is safe venturing, find time to think. And yet he is outstripped in the race for business by the man who both thinks and reads.

A cobweb is an evidence of the spider's energy and ability ; but it is at the same time an evidence of the lassitude and inability of the merchant in whose store the spider is allowed to weave his artistic nets.

It is the merchant and not the customer that is the molder of business methods.

Life is a struggle. And it is a poor specimen of mankind that doesn't do any struggling.

Treat the commercial traveler as you would like to be treated if you were a commercial traveler.

Many a merchant would not have yet gone to his rest had he taken an occasional rest from the routine of business life.

Dishonesty robs a man of his good name, and he who is minus a good name is not likely to build up a good business.

When an article is sold, the person who sells it should aim to secure the customer's good opinion as well as his money.

The loafer is one of the most despicable of men, and yet we are enjoined to be "stayers" if we would win success in life.

Abrupt words to creditors are a great deal more expensive than pleasant words, and yet there is no comparison in their value.

Take an holiday yourself and do not forget to give your clerk one. It will pay. The clerk that it will not pay to give a holiday is unprofitable at any price.

It is not always the best work that is exposed to the public eye. But the hidden work is none the less commendable or utilitarian on account thereof.

He who indiscriminately sells goods on "tick" to every Tom, Dick and Harry who comes along is suffering from an attack of commercial insanity of a pronounced type.

TRADE CHAT.

AT Keewatin, where the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. is located, the Canadian Pacific Railway receives for freight one million dollars per annum.

The wholesale grocers of London, Ont., have decided to close their stores at 2 p.m. on Saturdays during the summer months.

Bogus $2 Dominion Bank bills are in circulation in many parts of Ontario. They are dated July, 1887, and numbered 134,001.

The Dominion Cold Storage Co. has decided to establish headquarters for Ontario in Toronto, and will erect a $50,000 building and put in a plant of $100,000.

One dollar counterfeit Dominion of Canada bills which had been raised by chemical process to the apparent face value of $10 are in circulation in Woodstock.

Borers are causing death to many fine maples throughout Ontario. Although there are several preparations for treating the trees, no effort seems to be made to kill the pest.

The town of Deseronto was visited by a terrific conflagration Monday, in which the Rathbun Co. lost $250,000 and a hundred families were burned out. Total loss, $300,000.

An export trade that shows great activity this season is that of shipping eggs to the United Kingdom. The current demand for Canadian eggs on British account surpasses that of any previous year.

St. Thomas has a by-law to prevent storekeepers placing goods in front of their places of business, and several merchants have been summoned before the magistrate lately for infractions of this ordinance.

A Glen Oak correspondent writes: "Early spring and summer fall wheat is heading out here in Caradoc. New clover meadows are heavy and nearly full grown. Fruit is far advanced, and promises to be abundant and of a superior quality."

The city travelers, Toronto, met in their rooms, St. George's Hall, Elm street, on Friday night, President R. Muat Corrie in the chair. It was decided to hold a picnic and games, and also an annual moonlight excursion and concert.

H. G. Reed, since assuming exclusive control of his grocery business on King street east, has made many improvements pertaining thereto. Yesterday a new sign was painted on the front window, and the store will now be known as the C.P.R. grocery.—Journal, St. Thomas.

The early closing of the stores is again a burning question in Leamington, Ont. The clerks of the town feel that they are justified in asking the merchants to close up at 7 p.m., instead of at 10 p.m., as at present. "The merchants will lose nothing by the change, for their employes will appreciate the move, and the public will, we feel sure, assist them in carrying it out," remarks the Leamington correspondent of The St. Thomas Journal.

Fire almost totally destroyed Hawley Bros.' commission warehouse, 88 Front street east, Toronto, on Sunday morning. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it got a good hold on the building, which suffered to the extent of $1,000, while the stock was damaged $3,000 worth. The firm carried $2,500 insurance in the Royal.

A number of business changes are reported this morning to take place at the end of the month, which will merge four of our firms into two departmental stores. A new photograph gallery is to be started, also another drug store.—Aylmer correspondence of St. Thomas Journal.

Freight business on the Pembina division appears to be brisk at present, owing to the shipment of grain east. At Manitou the Chalmers and Ironside elevators will contribute 35,000 bushels of grain, and the Ogilvie elevators about 15,000 bushels.—Manitou Mercury.

Mr. John M. Campbell, the well-known buyer of Messrs. R. J. Whitla & Co., of this city, will return from Europe with his bride early next month. The marriage took place on the 29th of April, at Wesleyan chapel, Whalley Range, Manchester, Eng., when Alice Maud, youngest daughter of William Leak, Demesne road, became Mrs. Campbell. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell have been enjoying a short honeymoon tour in Paris and on the continent, and expect to reach Winnipeg about June 1.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

A. Freeland Nickerson, merchant; Jas. E. Swim, master mariner; Smith F. Nickerson, barber; Maurice A. Nickerson, tinsmith, of Clark's Harbor; Thomas S. Poole, merchant; Wilfred C. Poole, accountant, of Arcadia, Yarmouth, and Albert H. Poole, of Yarmouth, trader, have been incorporated, under the name of "The Cape Sable Packing Company, Limited," for the purpose of buying, selling, catching, canning, curing, packing, forwarding and exporting of lobsters and fish of all kinds. The capital stock of the company is $8,000 divided into 80 shares of $100 each.

DEATH OF A MERCHANT.

Mr. Geo. Williams, until recently one of the leading merchants of Toronto Junction, died on Saturday afternoon about 1 o'clock at his home. The late Mr. Williams was born in Erin township 39 years ago and went to Toronto Junction about four years ago, when he formed the partnership of Horner & Williams, which firm carried on an extensive grocery business. About two years ago Mr. Horner withdrew from the firm, and Mr. Williams continued the business alone until last year, when he was obliged to retire on account of ill-health. Some months ago he went to Georgia in order to improve his health, but derived no benefit from the change.

APPEARANCE COUNTS.

As we judge men and things by their appearance, so do we judge of the success of a store by the features it presents to the observer, says American Grocer. A downtown merchant who needed accommodation at bank, was advised by a friend to buy a new silk hat and wear it when making an application, "for," said he, "the president or cashier will take the new tile as evidence of prosperity, and be more inclined to grant you a loan than if your personal appearance indicated a forced economy."

THE CALIFORNIA FRUIT CROP.

IN response to inquiries made by F. N. Woods & Co., of San Francisco, as to the prospects of the prune and peach crop, several growers have sent their views under date of May 12th to 14th. Timothy Paige, of San Francisco, states that so far as his observations go he would say that there will be a smaller quantity of prunes and peaches than last year, and possibly as many or a few more apricots and pears. He believes that the entire output south of Fresno will be considerably less than last year. Mr. R. A. Campbell, of Winters, writes that apricots in that section are a total failure. There are a few prunes on the tops of the trees, but the fruit lower down was all frozen. Of peaches there will be none. "Three miles above Winters," he says, "there is a fine crop of apricots, but prunes are light all over. At Vaca, I have, they say, the best crop in the valley—say a half crop. Dr. Dobbins, who has a large prune orchard there, says he will not have a quarter crop, and lots of them won't have any. Vaca has a fair crop, but it will all go East green." Mr. B. F. Walton, of the California Fruit Exchange, Yuba City, says: "We have as good a crop of peaches in this locality as last year; an excellent crop of Bartlett pears; a very few cherries; less than half as many apricots, which was only a half crop last year; a very few prunes; a few orchards, half as many as last year, others a fourth or fifth as many. The above is the comparative condition of all the orchards north of Sacramento, except that when you go ten miles north of Marysville pears and peaches have suffered. So you see we can only have from 25 to 35 per cent. of an average crop in this whole section." Mr. E. A. Wheeler, of West-Side, wrote: "The general opinion of the 'Granges,' a representative body, is that apricots, peaches and cherries will be much less than last year, and prunes will not exceed last year, and many think it will be less All the young orchards five or six years old that I have heard of have very little fruit, and all the old orchards have very light crops. On the west side of the valley I am sure there will be less than last year. I am inclined to think that the probability of their dropping in June is very great."

BUSINESS PAPER CIRCULATION.

By Nathl. C. Fowler.

FEW trade papers have large circulation. There is little reason why they should. A trade paper cannot have a circulation larger than the number of stores, offices, or factories representing the business.

A few trade papers have circulations exceeding 10,000.

Most trade papers do not print over 5,000.

Some trade papers print less than 2,000.

The reading circulation of a trade paper is from twice to ten times as much as the reading circulation of any other class of advertising medium.

The good trade paper is read by from one to fifty people.

The trade paper is only read by those directly interested in the business.

There is no waste to trade paper circulation.

Every copy goes into the store, office or factory of a probable buyer.

The reader of a general magazine or paper may be only a possible buyer, but every reader of a trade paper must be directly interested in the goods of his trade, or he would not be in that trade.

Trade paper circulation is limited to probable buyers.

The circulation of all other mediums is limited to possible buyers.

The advertising columns of a good trade paper contain as interesting matter as the reading pages.

A trade paper is a mirror of its trade, a sort of reflecting hopper into which is poured suggestions, ideas and fact.

The advertising columns of the trade paper are not directories, are not dictionaries, but they are encyclopedias of saleable goods and profitable things.

All trade paper readers are not successful, but no successful man is without his trade paper.

The daily paper may be skipped. The magazines may be thrown away, but the business man of brains, sense and profit, reads his trade paper, and turns it over to his partners, his clerks and his workmen.

The trade paper circulates into the inside of the business pocket-book.

It is studied from cover to cover, and read and re-read, for every business man knows that a single paragraph, or a single advertisement, may give him information absolutely necessary in the conduct of his business.

The circulation of a thousand copies, among a thousand actual and constant buyers, will sell more goods, or will assist in the sale of more goods, than will five times the circulation of a general medium.

Trade paper advertising does not take the place of general advertising, nor does general advertising take the place of trade paper advertising. They are different lines, but not opposed to each other.

The maker or seller of something must have a line of trade customers, and these customers are as much interested in his trade paper as he is himself.

The trade paper without circulation hasn't any value, and all things being equal, the trade paper of the largest circulation is the best advertising medium, but any trade paper with decent circulation has a right to claim advertising value, because it has it, and has a different kind of value than any other medium.

Circulation counts, even with trade papers, but the circulation of a trade paper cannot be compared with that of one of general circulation, and its value for advertising, inch for inch, is from ten to twenty times greater, because it goes just where you want it to go, simply because it cannot go anywhere else.

A daily paper or magazine reader buys to supply his own personal wants. The reader of a trade paper buys to supply hundreds or thousands of customers.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

THE first carload of strawberries to arrive on the Toronto market this season came to hand on Saturday. It was consigned to Dawson & Co., and the fruit was of Southern Illinois growth. The first carload of Baltimore cabbage came in on Tuesday, and was for the same firm.

W. H. Gillard & Co. announce that they have a snap in gallon apples.

Smith & Keighley have been advised of their first shipment of new season's Japan tea.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., have in stock another shipment of Southwell's marmalade, 1-lb. glass.

John Sloan & Co. are in receipt of a shipment of Crosse & Blackwell's goods, also Smith's fly poison pads.

Samples of the "King" and "Queen" of teas will be forwarded on application by Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

Graham, McLean & Co. have again secured control of the Chesley creamery butter for the Toronto market.

Buyers of Congous and Young Hysons at 10c. should get Lucas, Steele & Bristol's samples. They have a large assortment.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. are finding, as the season advances, an increasing demand for the "Maple Leaf" brand of hams and bacon.

Attention is called to list of canned goods offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol. This firm also offer a large assortment of canned fish.

The agents for Marshall's Scotch fish delicacies report an increasing demand in Winnipeg and the far west. Good goods always sell well.

In five-case lots and over Lucas, Steele & Bristol deliver Challand & Jenks' lemon sour, ginger ale, etc. They also pay freight on return empties.

The "Victoria" and "Princess Louise" brands of Ceylon tea which are offered by Laporte, Martin & Cie. are getting their slice of the trade.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are meeting with splendid success with the sale of their standard black teas, which appear to suit the Canadian palate to a nicety.

Clemes Bros. have their second shipment of Egyptian onions arriving, also Valencia oranges, ex ss. Scotsman. The latter are in excellent condition.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. received samples of their shipment of new Japan teas on Tuesday. The quality is extra good. Stock expected to arrive in a couple of days.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are in receipt of samples of their "Queen's Plate" brand of new season's Japan tea. The samples show good quality. The shipment is on the way between Hamilton and Winnipeg, and is expected to reach the "Ambitious City" the end of this week. The teas are ex ss. Empress of India.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. have some bargains in well-known brands of different lines of canned goods. They will quote promptly on application to St. Peter street, Montreal.

Clemes Bros. are receiving shipments of Baltimore strawberries. The quality is better, and the boxes larger, than the berries which have heretofore been coming on the market this season.

This is a good season for pickles and sauces, and T. A. Lytle & Co. are capturing their share of the trade in this line, which proves that there's always a market for goods of dependable quality.

The sales of Cottam's bird seed have doubled since the introduction, some two or three months ago, of improved bird bread and holder, together with the beak sharpener in each 1-lb. packet.

A 25c. package tea, under the name "Gold Medal," will be put on the market by the Eby, Blain Co. in about 10 days. The package is a handsome one, and they claim first place for it in point of quality.

R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa, is among the leading Canadian manufacturers of soda and other biscuits. Consult his advertisement in this week's CANADIAN GROCER as to the lines of goods he offers the trade. The marks are all well known.

In conservative Montreal, Marshall's kippered herrings, bloaters, fresh herrings, herrings in tomato and anchovy sauce, potted meats, etc., are regularly increasing in demand, both English and French houses always carrying the goods.

"Little wonder that Cottam's seed has such an enormous sale," said a grocer the other day. "They tell me that the Cottam people undertake the care of sick birds in all parts of the country free of charge. One of my customers had a very sick bird. It was in such bad shape they expected to lose it. The lady wrote to Cottams giving particulars, and by return mail they explained the trouble, giving directions for the care of the bird. Inside of a week it was better and singing as lively as ever."

The Laing Packing and Provision Co. are offering the trade this month their new cooking product "Bakerine." It is prepared by a process of their own from the best beef suet and prime cotton seed oil. It is put up at present in the following packages and prices: Tierces, about 350 lbs., 5¾; half-barrels, 125 lbs., 5⅞; fancy tubs, 50 lbs. net, 6; wooden buckets, 20 lbs., 6¼; 10 lb. tin pails, 6 in a case, 6¼; 5-lb. tin pails, 12 in a case, 6⅜; 3-lb tin pails, 20 in a case, 6½. Prices named are the lowest cash quotations, and are subject to market changes, orders being entered at market prices ruling at time of receipt.

CANNED HADDIES.

The Thistle Haddie Co. are as usual again the first in the market with new packed haddies, and the quality is like their pack has always been—most excellent.

This company have been now packing haddies for nearly fifteen years, being the pioneers in the business, and so high class has their fish been that they have been accepted as the standard by all other packers.

Mr. Robert Austin, manager of the factory, and holding the largest interests in the same, has practically spent his life in this business, and his father before him had the reputation in Digby of being the finest packer in Nova Scotia, having that peculiar understanding of the art of curing his fish, and turning out an article of superior flavor. This art has been evidently inherited by his son, the present Capt. Austin, and is, no doubt, responsible for the wonderful success that has attended his packing and the uniform quality that characterizes all goods put up by the Thistle Co. The scrupulous cleanliness which characterizes everything that is done at the packing house, the modern appliances in use for rapid work, and the pride taken by the packer in only turning out genuine haddies of the finest class, have all conduced to the results named, and his well-known reputation amongst all the fishermen for using the best, and only the best, of goods, gives him a well-deserved advantage over all of his competitors.

The motto of the company is, "The best, first, last and always," and they have well earned their reputation, for their well-known brand is found from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

FRENCH PRUNE TRADE POOR.

The Paris correspondent of The London Grocer writes that the French prune trade is in a bad way at present. It appears that American competition is causing serious damage to the once highly prosperous industry, which has its centre in Agen, in the southwest of France. The Americans are able to put upon the French market prunes which are prepared by a process so much superior to the old methods which are still in vogue at Agen that they beat the French on their own ground. The American system of drying has been put into operation at the College of Horticulture at Versailles, and, I hear, answers admirably. It is probable, therefore, that before long the new process will find its way to the fertile departments of Lot-et-Garonne, d'Ordogne and Lot.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. W. H. Gillard, who is to represent the Hamilton Board of Trade at the conference of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, leaves en route for London on June 6.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

Always used by every housekeeper who tries them once. That makes them also trade helps for every grocer who sells them. They meet with regular sales because they fill regular wants—wants felt every day by the housekeeper for a good flavoring and a reliable match.

Purity is what counts in extracts. Purity includes strength and flavor. We know the BUSINESS MEN IN PARLIAMENT.

THE demand for practical business men in the Parliament and in the Cabinet of the Dominion is not born of any desire for class representation.

The root of the whole matter is an innate desire to have the business affairs of the country carried on in a business-like way.

The business men of the country did not create the void that they might step into it: It was created as a result of sending men to Parliament who never should have been sent there.

The reins of a racehorse are not put into the hands of a man who has never steered anything but an erratic career, and yet this is just the class of men in whom we have put the reins of the country, for every man who sits in Parliament either as a private member or as a member of the Cabinet has more or less to do with the making or unmaking of the laws of the land.

The attitude the business men of the country are assuming, therefore, has been forced upon them: In self-defence they have been compelled to arise and, by their ballots, their influence, and, in some instances, allowing themselves to be put in the field as candidates for Parliamentary honors, inaugurate a better state of affairs.

There have been times in the history of every country when men have had, for the time being at least, to sink their party sympathies in order that needed reforms might be secured.

In the campaign that is now upon us in Canada there is a demand for practical, common sense business men. It is most imperative that the demand should be obeyed, for if ever practical business men were needed in the Parliament of Canada it will be in the next Parliament, no matter whether Conservatives or Reformers predominate therein.

There are questions looming up which affect the future destiny of this country which only men of high intelligence and men of practical business common-sense are competent to solve.

Send this class of men to Parliament—it matters not whether they be Grit or Tory—and it is not likely there will be any suffering of the country's interests.

Vote for business men.

F. O. B. OFFERS ON CANNED SALMON.

SOME of the Montreal salesagents have been wired f.o.b. figures on canned salmon on the Coast, but there is a hesitation to quote until they find out what their neighbors are doing.

Only one offer at Montreal has been heard of as yet. This was $4.50 f.o.b. at point of shipment, but the other agents, and some who represent the foremost brands offered on the eastern market, claim that the figure is not reliable. Their advices indicate that the canners are trying to arrive at some understanding as to a selling price.

If anything comes of the efforts that are being made it will mean an opening price of $4 75 per case f. o. b. on the Coast, or 25c. per case higher than the open ng figure last year.

Buyers in the east are in no hurry to place their contracts until they have more definite information regarding the pack, etc. The goods are not delivered until the fall, and in the meantime the stock that has been carried over by many jobbers is considerable. In fact, a broker told THE CANADIAN GROCER when discussing the question of f. o. b. offers that he could go out on the market, either in Montreal or Toronto, and buy good reliable brands that had been carried, relatively, for a considerable saving on $4.50 f. o. b. Coast.

So far none of the agents have any information regarding the fish, except what has been supplied through the daily press, that the run of Sockeye has commenced three weeks earlier than last year.

STRONGER FEELING IN MOLASSES.

THE Barbadoes molasses market, after the somewhat frequent fluctuation that it has recorded, so far exhibits steadier tendency, while sellers manifest a more confident feeling. The two chief reasons are advices from the Islands in regard to the crop, and indications that the demand from American buyers will be greater very shortly for obvious reasons.

With regard to the crop a late cable from Barbadoes states that it is turning out much smaller than was at first expected, and that the demand was good, sales being freely made at 12c. first cost. This is interesting to Canadian molasses buyers, in view of the fact that the American market is quite likely to want a great deal more Barbadoes molasses this year than usual. Most of the United States supplies are drawn from Cuba and Louisiana. The yield of the former, owing to the insurrection, is inappreciable, and American buyers are turning their attention to other sources of supply. So far this spring they have been large buyers of Trinidad and Porto Rico. So much so that little or none of the latter has been offered in Montreal this spring. Now they are turning their attention to Barbadoes stock, and will be certain to take quite a quantity before their wants are supplied.

In this connection it is interesting to note that Montreal importers have not operated very sparingly so far, and that their purchases fall short of those for the corresponding period last spring.

BETTER FEELING IN SUGAR.

A CHANGE in the uninteresting condition of the sugar market has taken place at last. The cause is primarily a stronger market in New York. It began on Saturday with an advance of 1-16c. per pound on all refined sugars. This was followed by a similar advance on Monday, making a gain of ⅛c. for the two days, or one half what was lost by the recent decline. In London on Monday beet advanced 1½d.

The recent weakness appears to have been induced by the fear engendered in Europe because of the heavy stocks there. The stocks in Europe at the end of last week aggregated 1,943,100 tons, against 1,919,146 tons the same week in 1895. The total stocks in both America and Europe were, however, 2,215,378 tons, compared with 2,523,260 tons a year ago. The deficiency is now 307,882 tons, against 328,750 the week before, and a surp'us of 758,248 tons at the close of 1895.

The fact that the usual heavy seasonable rains have set in on the island of Cuba naturally tends to strengthen the sugar situation, because these rains will curtail the already light receipts from that country.

It is the general opinion that the future of the sugar market in Canada will be largely governed by local conditions. So far these local conditions are favorable. The outlook promises an enormous fruit crop; and a big fruit crop naturally means a large consumption of sugar. Then the manufacturers claim that by the time the fruit season arrives they will be working on dearer raws than they are to-day, and consequently they will be compelled to advance prices.

The quotable price of granulated to-day in New York is 5⅛c. per lb., against 4¾c. in Canada, or, with the discount which the former figures are subject to, about the same as the price in this country.

Since the advance in the American market the demand has improved a little in this country, and a little more confidence is exhibited in prices, but there has been no change in quotations.

BUTTER PRODUCTION.

IF the quality of Canadian butter is as good as the quantity this season promises to be large, there will not be much cause for complaint.

The offerings of butter in the country during the past week or so has been unusually large.

The cause of this is probably three-fold. There is first of all the fact that increased attention is being given by the people of this country to butter-making. Then the low price which has been ruling for cheese, together with the representations which have been made by the trade press, have induced the factories to make more butter and less fodder cheese. Another cause is, of course, the ample and early pasturage which has been so characteristic of this spring.

Canada is not alone in increased production of butter this spring. In the United States a similar state of affairs exists. In New York the receipts of butter for the week ending May 23 aggregated over 50,000 packages, an amount that was never equalled before in any one week during the month of May.

Advices received in Toronto this week state that the production of butter in the United States is likely to be larger by 25 per cent. than the production of last year, while the heavy rains in the west have removed the possibility of drought.

The N.Y. Journal of Commerce on Wednesday, in its review of the butter market, said: "Operators here see nothing whatever to warrant a higher range of values. Without a liberal export demand we shall certainly have more butter this season than will be wanted at home, notwithstanding the low values that are current."

In view of the condition of affairs at home and abroad the hint to country dealers in Canada is obvious.

TO KEEP OUT SPURIOUS TEAS.

FOR some months past the tea importers of the United States have been actively discussing both the tariff and the Customs regulations regarding tea: The one sought to have imposed a duty of 10c. per pound on all tea imported, and the other sought to have a closer supervision as to the quality of the tea brought into the country.

The end sought by both parties was practically the same, namely, the exclusion of spurious teas. A law which was supposed to perform this act has been in force for some years, but there is no uniformity in its enforcement, and the evidence of its inefficiency is the large quantity of spurious and undesirable teas that gets into the country.

The agitation for an improved law has at last taken a practical turn, a bill having been introduced in the House of Representatives with that end in view.

The bill in question makes unlawful the importation of tea unfit for consumption. The standard of quality is to be fixed by a board of arbitration located at New York, Chicago and San Francisco. The arbitrators are to be appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, and are to be five in number. Each arbitrator must have at least ten years' experience as a wholesale tea merchant, broker or buyer.

The bill provides that when a shipment of tea is entered at one of the ports it shall be examined by a duly qualified inspector. All teas are to be tested according to the usages and customs of the tea trade, including the tasting of an infusion in boiling water. In case the importer or consignee shall protest against the finding of the examiner the matter in dispute shall be referred to the Board of Arbitrators, whose decision shall be final.

Another clause provides for the appointment of supervising examiner whose duty will be to visit the different ports of entry and see that the tests are being lawfully and uniformly made.

Teas condemned must be exported within six months after said condemnation, otherwise they will be destroyed.

This is but a brief summary of the bill, but it contains its salient points.

The bill appears to meet with the general approval of the tea trade of the United States, judging from the tone of our exchanges to hand.

BRITISH TRADE AND NAVIGATION.

British trade and navigation returns for April have the usual quarterly tables, showing the distribution of British over-sea trade among the principal countries and the proportion in which it was carried on with foreign nations and countries under the British flag. Compared with the two previous years, the figures for the first quarter are as follows:

IMPORTS.

	1896.	1895.	1894.
From British possessions...	£23,521,000	£23,572,000	£24,454,000
From foreign possessions...	88,698,000	77,115,000	83,260,000
Total.....	£112,219,000	£100,687,000	£107,714,000

EXPORTS.

	1896.	1895.	1894.
To British possessions	£21,022,000	£16,775,000	£19,702,000
To foreign countries.....	40,211,000	35,945,000	34,228,000
Total	£61,233,000	£52,720,000	£53,930,000

ADVANCE IN LOOSE MUSCATELS.

California loose muscatel raisins are getting much dearer on the Coast. As a consequence holders on the spot are compelled to ask higher figures. Agents of shippers on the Toronto market are getting a full ½c. per lb. above the figures which ruled when the lowest point was touched, and it appears to be the general opinion that there will be a further appreciation in values before the new crop can arrive on the market.

THE FUTURE OF CURRANTS.

A GOOD deal of uncertainty surrounds the future of the currant market. Stocks are but moderate, and of this moderate quantity only a small percentage is fine fruit, which is relatively cheaper than the poor to common grades.

Naturally at this season currants are not active in the primary markets, but just now they exhibit less life than is usual.

The kernel of the whole matter appears to be the next crop. The Retention Act passed by the Greek Chambers last summer for the purpose of decreasing the quantity of currants available for grocery purposes and thus appreciating values for the benefit of the currant growers of the country has not been as effectual as was hoped it would be. Therefore, as another big crop is promised for the ensuing season, the outlook is viewed in anything but a favorable light on the other side of the Atlantic; and it is likely that an effort will be made to induce the Government of Greece to enact legislation of a more drastic type than that now existing.

For the purpose of conveying an idea as to the position of the currant growers in Greece the following from a British consular report will be apropos:

The currant is the staple product of the Morea, and the prosperity of the entire district depends upon it. Unfortunately, the Morea, like many other countries, is suffering from over-production. In order to meet the almost unlimited demand from France for wine-making purposes, some years ago, an enormous area was planted with currant vines, and the crop within fifteen years has been almost doubled. The French vintage having to some extent recovered, and heavy import duties having been imposed on currants entering, the French demand has been almost entirely lost, the consequence being that 30,000 to 40,000 tons of currants are annually produced over what is required for the world's consumption. With an article like currants, whose consumption for eating purposes only increases very slightly, however low the price may be, it will readily be understood that such an enormous annual surplus over and above requirements has completely demoralized trade in the article, and brought down prices to a figure which scarcely covers cultivation expenses, and it is evident that if this state of affairs lasts two or three years longer, most of the currant plantations will have to be abandoned, and a once thriving community will be brought to utter ruin. The cessation of the French demand caused prices to drop 50 per cent. at once, property lost nearly all its value, and, although the growers have been fighting manfully, hoping against hope for the last three years, they are now at the end of their resources, for capitalists who have, in their own interests, been endeavoring, during these hard times, to support them, find themselves no longer able to do so. The currant industry in the Morea is doomed, unless some new outlet for the sale of currants were suddenly to be found, or some other expedient were devised. Could the currant growers all agree to uproot one-third of their plantations, the whole problem would be solved, but, unfortunately, this is an impossibility. Strange as it may appear, a currant crop of 130,000 tons, which is about the amount required for the world's consumption, would realise over £2,000,000, whereas a crop of 170,000 tons would bring in barely over £1,000,000.

NEW JAPAN TEAS.

THE first shipment of new Japan teas for 1896 arrived in Montreal this week over the Canadian Pacific. They were landed at Vancouver, B.C., six days ago from the Empress of India. There is only a limited quantity, as is usual, in the first shipment, but several wholesale firms each received a few packages. The leaf is much better than last year, and in the drawing qualities there is also a noticeable improvement. The prices, however, have not advanced, so it is now possible to get a much better tea than was offered last season at the same money.

The freight through from Yokohama and Kobe to Montreal is now 2c. per pound, against 2½c. last year. Is is expected that this rate will hold throughout the season. The prices of Japans will, perhaps, average about 1½c. per pound below the figures of last year.

The latest advices from Yokohama, dated May 7, state that the regular arrivals of the new crop reached that market on April 30. At Kobe the market has hardly opened, only a few piculs of tea from interior districts having arrived. Settlements are 600 piculs, as against 500 piculs at the corresponding date last year, and 3,540 piculs season 1894.

Total settlements to May 7 at Yokohama and at Kobe were 9,216 piculs, as against 13,915 piculs at the same time last year, and 28,440 piculs the previous year.

From the first arrival of the new crop at Yokohama on April 30 to May 7, the date of the sailing of the Empress of India, 8,600 piculs had been settled at an average price of $29.50 per picul, as against an average price of $40 per picul for the first 8,600 piculs settled last year. The demand has not been so active as during former seasons, and prices have ruled weak throughout the interval under review. At the close the market is very weak for all grades excepting attractive parcels of choice and choicest tea, which are more firmly held by the dealers.

PURE TRADE GOSPEL.

It is better that an article which has lost its original merit should be thrown into the sea than that by selling it money should be made and a customer lost.—Canadian Grocer.

This is pure trade gospel, and it is radically different from the idea some grocers have. Many grocers we have known have chuckled and thought they were doing something mighty shrewd when they worked off some old stock on an unsuspecting customer. One of these fellows said to the writer recently, "Well, I did a good job to-day. I got rid of a lot of stuff that I never expected to sell." "Was it good stuff?" was asked. "Well, it wasn't the best," was the answer with a wink and a chuckle. Good job! It certainly was for such a man's competitors. —Grocery World.

THE FRUIT SALES.

The cargo of the ss. Escalona which sold at auction Wednesday in Montreal comprised 12,000 boxes lemons and 4,000 boxes of oranges. Prices for lemons were 20 to 40c. per box lower at 60c. to $2.60, according to grade. Oranges were firm and 10c. higher at $1.80 to $3 60. This steadiness was due to the fine quality of the fruit which came from Sorrento, and the higher prices ruling south of the line for oranges. This is the last sale of the series.

THE CUBAN TOBACCO QUESTION.

The protest made by Secretary Olney, of the United States, against Captain-General Weyler's prohibition of tobacco exports from Havana, has been successful. He has been officially informed that all contracts for Cuban leaf tobacco entered into before the publication of the order prohibiting its exportation will be respected, and that citizens of the United States proving themselves to be bona fide owners of such tobacco prior to the promulgation of the order will be permitted to export the same as heretofore.

$1.50 EASILY EARNED.

An incident which aptly illustrates the condition of the apple market in Toronto occurred a few days ago. One of the women who keeps a fruit stand in St. Lawrence market bought a barrel of Spies from a wholesale house, paying $6.50 for the same. She had sold several small lots, when along came the proprietor of one of the leading hotels. The barrel of apples took his fancy and he purchased them at $8, or $1.50 more than the fruit woman had paid for them.

THE SUGAR SITUATION.

In regard to the position of the raw sugar market Willett & Gray say : "The present downward reaction which began early in the month has continued longer and extended further than any one in the trade anticipated, but seems now to be nearing its end. It is difficult to give any good reason for it, and in the absence of other causes it is placed to the credit of an over speculation in contracts on the foreign exchanges, and a violent and forced liquidation of the same, progressing more rapidly as the decline increased and became more unmanageable. The result is a shifting of contracts from weak into stronger hands, who will reap the advantage of the eventual rise which must come in spite of all intermediate reactions. Under such conditions there is but one thing for sugar holders to do, and that is to maintain a firm hold, if able to do so, and not add to the demoralization by forcing sales when there are no buyers. The total decline here, in following Europe, is now 3/16c. per lb. for centrifugals to 4c. for 96 deg. test, and this appears to be the end, subject, of course, to any further absurd decline in Europe. We rather expect that the present week will prove to be the low week of the future to the end of the 1897 campaign. The real circumstances and conditions are just as strong as ever to anticipate a large improvement in spite of all temporary sentimental reactions."

SOUP CANNED AT SEA.

THE Board of General Appraisers of the United States Customs has handed down a decision that the products of a canning factory, operated by American citizens on a vessel carrying cans of American manufacture, but operating in Central American waters and using Caribbean Sea and Gulf of Mexico turtles with which to fill the cans, are not dutiable.

The Gracie T. was sent from this port in 1895. The majority of the crew were not sailors, but were cooks and tinsmiths. The vessel proceeded to the Gulf of Mexico and at once began to capture the green turtles. When a sufficient quantity had been secured the fires were lighted in the kitchen and green turtle soup was made and packed. The experiment proved to be a success, and several thousand cans of the soup were sent to New York by the steamer Adirondack and were entered on August 29, 1895, the Gracie T. in the meanwhile remaining south for further orders.

When the goods arrived Collector Kilbreth assessed a duty of 20 per cent. ad valorem as a foreign soup product. R. F. Downing, representing the projectors of the enterprise, appealed the case to the Board of Appraisers, and a decision has been handed down sustaining the objection and overruling the collector.

The Gracie T. will at once be refitted in some American port, and will continue in the business of canning turtle soup.

The decision was that the expedition constituted an American fishery within the statute, even if the turtles were caught, cooked and canned in foreign waters.

WINDOW DRESSING.

It is a question of taste as to whether a show window produces more effect on the spectator when a single line of goods is exposed than when an assortment of different articles is displayed, remarks Merchants' Review. Perhaps the best plan, when there are several windows in the store front, is to devote each one to a separate line of goods and have, say, canned goods in one, cereal products in another, and wines and liquors in a third.

"Flat and Spoiled"

How often have busy housewives made this remark—and with dissatisfaction have they viewed the result of their morning's bake—flat, unattractive and unpalatable? Not because of any lack of skill or unfavorable conditions, but because the baking powder was unreliable. It is a sure thing that such an article will never be admitted into the confidence of such cooks again. But when a first-class Powder has proven its efficiency and reliability the demand naturally turns in its direction. One that has never disappointed is and thousands of Canada's best cooks endorse it in full confidence. The price is cheap but the quality is undoubted, and wherever used once always used. Prices to the retail trade are now as follows:

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery trade is a little more interesting this week, owing to the higher prices obtaining on refined sugars in New York. Locally the general trade situation is much about the same as a week ago, although the holiday intervening has naturally unsettled business to some extent. The demand for sugar, while still light, is, if anything, a little better than it was a week ago. Canned vegetables are still in good request. The demand for salmon is increasing. Good coffees are a little firmer. Rice is receiving more attention. For teas the demand is merely fair with the market firm on Indian and Ceylon teas. An improved demand has sprung up during the last week for Valencia raisins, and the demand keeps up well for currants. The movement in California dried fruits is gradually getting smaller. The same may be said with regard to prunes of all kinds.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand continues active for tomatoes, corn and peas. There are also a good many beans going out. Tomatoes are gradually getting into smaller compass and prices are firm. Packers are generally holding them at about 80c. For the few peas that are in packers' hands, 90c. is the idea. The demand for canned salmon continues to improve. The same may be said of all canned fish and meats. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 55 to 85c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $1 90 to $2.25 for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7 to $8; 14's, $14.50 to $15.50.

COFFEE.

High-grade coffees are still scarce, with prices a little stiffer. We quote green in bags: Rio, 17 to 18c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

The demand is still only light. Syrups with the refiners are scarce. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The movement is a little better than in molasses, but at the same time there is not a great deal doing. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, 21 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Granulated sugar advanced 1 16c. per lb. on Saturday, and gained another similar fraction on Monday. Yellows appreciated 1-16c. Beet advanced 1½d. in London on Monday. These advances have tended to strengthen the feeling on the local market, and the demand is a little better than it was, although the movement does not amount to much yet. A few more carload lots have been changing hands. The promising nature of the fruit crop is helping to add strength to the sugar market locally. Wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellows, 3¾c. up; Demerara in bags, $3 75 to $3.85 per 100 lbs.

SPICES.

Cream of tartar, although high, is a little lower than it was a week ago. The spice trade generally is much about the same as it was a week ago. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

There is an active, improving trade doing in rice and there is a good demand for tapioca. We quote; Standard "B" at 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan at 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¾ to 4½c.

NUTS.

The market is still without feature. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

Nothing particularly striking has developed in the tea market during the past week beyond the fact that the low price on Young Hysons has stimulated the demand, with the result that all low grades are about cleaned up. Now that these teas are getting scarce people are beginning to realize that they want them. Both Indian and Ceylon teas below 9½d. are dearer in London. China blacks are neglected. Wholesalers report a fair movement in Assams and Ceylon and in Japans. Ruling prices to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

In Valencia raisins the volume of business is light, although the demand at the moment is better than it has been for some time. California loose muscatel raisins are getting dearer on the Coast, and higher prices are being quoted by agents here. Wholesalers' prices are quoted without change. We quote: Off-stalk 4¾ to 5c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6½ to 6¾c. California raisins, 2-crown, 4¼ to 4½c.; 3-crown, 5¼ to 5½c.; 4-crown, 6½ to 7c.; seedless, 4½ to 5c.

The movement in California dried and evaporated fruits is gradually getting smaller. Prices are much as before. We quote: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 5¾ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.

Currants are in good demand at unchanged prices. We quote: Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

There is a little demand for prunes, but the volume of business is gradually getting smaller. We quote as follows: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c., "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70 80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

Sultana raisins are quiet and firm at 5½ to 6c.

Figs are quiet with prices nominally unchanged. We quote: Eleme, 14 oz., 8 to 9c.; 10 lb., 8'to 9c.; 12 lb., 10c.; 28 lb., 12c.

Dates are quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The demand is active for Messina oranges, they having succeeded to the place of preference during the past week. There is some good quality fruit on the market. There are still a good many Valencia oranges going out, but they are dearer than they were a week ago. Lemons are experiencing a brisk demand, and this will become more so as the weather increases in warmth. The demand for bananas is not so keen as it was, and prices are easier. There are not many pine apples on the market, but the supply is equal to the demand. Onions are quiet and a little lower. Southern strawberries are beginning to arrive on the market in larger quantities, some carload lots coming in. California cherries are on the market this week, and they are experiencing a fair demand. There are scarcely any apples on the market, and the few there are here are fetching fancy prices. We quote as follows: Lemons—Messina, $2 75 to $3.50 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $3 75 to $4.50, according to size; ditto seedlings, $2.75 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $6.50 to $7; Jumbo's, 420's, $7.50; ditto, 714's, $7.50 to $8; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $1.75 to $2; ditto, boxes, $3.25 to $3 75. Bananas, $1.50 to $2; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $4.75 a sack and 70c. per dozen; apples, Spies, $6 to $7; Golden Russets, $5; Bermuda onions, $1.50 to $1.75 per small crate; Egyptian onions, $2.50 to $2.75 per bag; pineapples, 8 to 15c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER— Offerings in the country are large and deliveries are free. The demand for butter is of a local character and it is fair. Receipts are largely confined to tub butter, the quality of which is now fairly good. The summer creameries are now in full operation. The receipts are large. As the prices obtained locally are above the export basis, dealers are forcing their supplies on the market with the result that the tendency of prices is downward. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11½ to 12c. for good, and 8 to 10c. for low grade to medium; pound prints, 13 to 14c.; large rolls, nominally, 10 to 11c. Creamery butter—Tubs, 15 to 16c.; 1-lb blocks, 16 to 17½c.

CHEESE—There are not many old cheese on the market, and anything of good quality is held firm at from 8 to 9c. There is a great deal of new cheese coming forward. and in this some business has been done at 7 to 7½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—The market is dull and weak. We hear of offerings at 80c. per bushel delivered at Toronto. The wholesale price is 85 to 90c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—The little firmer feeling noted last week has been maintained, and quotations are a little higher. We quote in a jobbing way 6 to 6½c. per lb.

DRIED APPLES—Dull and unchanged at 3½ to 4c. in a jobbing way.

EGGS—Receipts are still fairly liberal. Although they are falling off a little, picklers are about through, and it is anticipated that the supply will be in excess of the demand. We quote: 9 to 9½c. for firsts, and 7 to 7½c. for seconds.

HONEY—Very little doing. We quote as follows: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—Practically none on the market. We quote: Turkeys. 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

MAPLE SYRUP—Trade is quiet, with prices unchanged. We quote: Imperial gallon tins, 90c.; 5-gallon tins, 80c.; barrels, 75c. per gallon.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade continues steady in a small jobbing way with the demand fairly active for all kinds of smoked meats. Lard is slightly easier owing to the large number of live hogs which are being marketed.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½ to 5¾c. for carload lots, and 6 to 6¼c. for small lots; backs, 7¼ to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS — Breakfast bacon, 9½ to 10c.; rolls, 6c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 8½ to 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs, 9½c.; small hams, 10c.; backs, 9 to 9½c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7¼c.; tubs, 8c.; pails, 8¼c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short-cut, $13 to $13.50; clear shoulder mess, $11.

FISH.

Business continues quiet. British Columbia salmon is about out of the market, but Restigouche salmon is expected about June 1. Some choice Lake Erie whitefish is being offered at from 8 to 9c. We quote: Lake Erie herring, 2½ to 3c. per lb.; blueback herring, $1.25 per 100; pike, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; British Columbia salmon, 15 to 20c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; whitefish, 7 to 9c.; salmon trout, 6 to 6½c.; eels, 5 to 6c. per lb.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES — Unchanged, with limited demand. Dealers pay 5c. for No. 1, 4c. for No. 2, 3c. for No. 3. Cured hides quoted at 5¾ to 6c.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6c. for No. 1 and 4c. for No. 2. Sheepskins are firm at $1.15 to $1.25.

The Toronto Cold Storage Co. are prepared to store all kinds of meats, produce, etc., at very reasonable rates.

WOOL—Trade dull and prices unchanged. New fleece, 18 to 19c., and rejections 15c., and unwashed, 11c. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras, 22 to 22½c.

TALLOW—Unchanged at 3¼ to 4c. for rendered and 1¼c. for rough.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN — Receipts are still small. We quote: White wheat, 76 to 77c.; red, 74 to to 75c.; goose, 54½ to 55c.; barley, 34 to 35c.; oats, 24½ to 25½c.; peas, 50 to 52c.

HAY — Supplies continue liberal, and demand light at $12 to $13 for No. 1.

FLOUR—Trade is dull and prices unchanged. Straight rollers are nominal at $3.30 to $3.40, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business continues quiet. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.90 to $3; rolled wheat, $2.25 to $2.30 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

SALT.

There is still a good business doing, and prices are unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.50 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

PETROLEUM.

Trade continues fair and prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16½c.; carbon, safety, 18c.; Canadian water white, 18c.; American water white, 21c.; Pratt's astral, 22c.

MARKET NOTES.

Lard is a little easier.

Egyptian onions are 50c. cheaper.

California loose muscatels are dearer.

Granulated sugar is ⅛c. dearer in New York.

Valencia oranges are quoted about 50c. dearer.

Cream of tartar is easier in the primary markets.

California cherries are on this market. They sell at $2.50 to $2.60 per box.

Glucose has declined during the past week, it now being sold at a phenomenally low price.

dull, and the tendency is if anything easier in this line, with a possible decline in the near future. Tea exhibited more snap in consequence of the withdrawal of some stock from the market, but it was about the only branch to do so. The scarcity of low grade teas continues the leading feature in this line. Dried fruit rules firm but quiet, while coffees and spices were firm all round. In canned goods the only new fact to report is the offers of new pack salmon on the Coast. Molasses advices also are rather firmer from outside markets, but spot values are unchanged.

SUGAR.

Refined sugar of all kinds continues quiet, with a limited volume of new business, while prices are steady. Only small lots to fill actual requirements are taken. Stocks in refiners' hands are larger than usual for the season, but preserving of fruits will soon commence, and a better demand is anticipated after this. Some cutting is reported on the part of jobbers, who have been offering granulated and bright yellows at cost and less to induce business, but the business resulting was small. In fact, market values are steady at last week's level. We quote granulated firm at 4⅞c., and yellows, 3⅝ to 4¼c. as to grade.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in syrups. Demand rules slow, but with light offerings in first hands prices are firmly held at 2¼ to 3c. for bright, and 1½ to 1¾c. for dark grades.

MOLASSES.

There is nothing new to report in the spot market for molasses, except that values are now somewhat altered in consequence of the arrival of new Barbadoes stock. The shortage of Cuban has led to more extensive buying of Trinidad and Porto Rico by the Americans, and they will have to buy more freely also of Barbadoes to supply all their wants. For this reason the market has a firmer tone. We quote: New Barbadoes, 31c. in car lots and 32c. in less than car lots., while there has been further business in cargo lots on the basis of 29½c. here. The actual spot demand is small in a jobbing sense. Porto Rico is little enquired for at 31 to 32c, and Antigua dull at 28c.

RICE.

The rice market has been moderately active, while prices are steady. Burmah advices are exceedingly firm in tone, with an active enquiry reported. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50; and Java $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

There has been little change in the position of the spice market. Demand is quiet, business being of a jobbing kind, while prices all round are steady. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.

COFFEE.

There has only been a slow demand for coffee, and the market is entirely without change. We quote: Rio, 16½ to 19c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 19c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29c.

TEAS.

The tea market has exhibited an improved feeling since our last, in consequence of the withdrawal of some lots held here on American account. This has made buyers more willing to talk business, so that though the actual change is not great, the tone is a more cheerful one. Low grade Japans and blacks continue in fair enquiry at 13 to 14c., and orders on this basis are filled with difficulty, owing to the scarcity of the goods. In fact, the market presents a more cheerful tone all round as regards values. We quote: Young Hysons 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The advices from the Coast on California raisins continue firm, and with light supplies here prices are steadily held. Only a few lots are held in first hands, and these consist chiefly of 3 and 2-crown. One respectable order would clean them up, but the holders are trying to see that everyone has a show. We quote: 4-crown, 6¾c.; 3-crown, 5½ to 5¾c., and 2-crown, 4¼ to 4½c. for jobbing lots. Large lots could possibly be had for less money if they were available.

The market is firm also on Valencia raisins, which are a very light stock here and prices are firm as follows: Common, 4½c.; fine, 5 to 5¼c.; selected, 5¼ to 6c., and layers, 6 to 6¼c.

Sultana raisins continue firm in tone abroad. On spot any jobbing lots that are moved call for the payment of 5¾ to 6½c, as to grade.

The currant market is firm, while advices from Patras are of the same tenor. We quote: 4½ to 5½c., as to grade in cases, there being few lots of barrel goods remaining.

The firm position of the spot prune market is maintained. Stocks of all kinds are light, and business as a result moderate. We quote: Bosnias, 6 to 6½c.; French, 5 to 5½c., and California and Oregons 5½ to 12c., as to grade and size.

Figs are asked for in a quiet way and steady at 8½ to 9c. for ordinary grades, and 12 to 17c. for fancy.

There is no change in dates, which we quote quiet and steady at 5 to 5¼c.

NUTS.

The demand for nuts is of a very ordinary character. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no change of importance in canned goods. Offers of new salmon for forward delivery are spoken of, but the trade do not consider them a fair criterion. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 65c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half-tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.35; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $7.25 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

The last of the big auction sales of green fruit takes place this week, and after it is over the market will once more settle down to normal conditions. Naturally, the tendency of values under these heavy supplies of oranges and lemons has been downward, but the decline has not been by any means a remarkable one. All other fruits are steady. We quote: Apples, $4.50 to $5; dried do., 3 to 3½c.; evaporated, 5½ to 6c.; bananas, $1.25 to $2; pineapples, 8 to 15c., and strawberries, 15 to 20c.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market is quiet and fairly steady. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $12.50; Canadian short cut, mess, $13; hams, city cured, per lb., 7½ to 9½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The flour market has had a downward tendency during the past week and holders of Manitoba grades are open to concession in the case of round lots. We quote: Winter wheat, $4.15; spring wheat, patents, $3.80 to $4; straight roller, $3.70 to $3.75; straight roller, bags, $1.75 to $1.80; extra, bags, $1.50 to $1.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.40 to $3.75.

The market for oatmeal is dull and without any new phase to note. We quote: Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10; granulated, barrels, $3 10 to $3.20; rolled oats, barrels, $2.80 to $2.90; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.

The offerings of bran and shorts are large, for which there is only a limited demand at present, and the market is quiet. We quote: Bran, $12.50; shorts, $12.50 to $13.50; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese has exhibited an irregular and declining tendency throughout the week despite the fact that receipts generally at producing centres are lighter than last year. The English demand, however, is indifferent, and until it improves trade is apt to drag. To-day 6¾c. was paid for straight lots of Quebec cheese, which is a decline of ½c. from a week ago.

The firmer feeling in butter continues, but the demand does not exhibit any great desire to meet the higher prices asked by salesmen. In the country to-day 15½ to 16c. was made for straight lots of creamery and not spot, the outside price represents the basis for some small transactions that transpired. Export demand is still an absent factor, but some shippers state that at 15c. for fall grass creamery they could do some business over the cable. This is the old story over again.

ASHES.

The receipts of ashes have been fair, for which there has been a good demand from abroad, and in consequence the tone of the market is decidedly firmer, prices having advanced 10 to 15c. per 100 lbs. for pearls and first sorts. We quote: First, $3.60 to $3.65; seconds, $3.30, and pearls, $4.80 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Burman advices regarding rice are exceedingly firm, and sales so far are largely ahead of last season.

Cables from Barbadoes state that the crop of molasses at the island is turning out smaller than expected.

Advices on raw sugars this week are easier, beet cables Tuesday declining 1s. 3d. from the highest price.

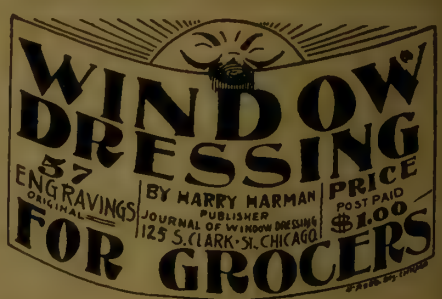
Americans have withdrawn a considerable quantity of low-grade teas from the market, which has further shortened the supply.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., May 28, 1896.

THIS has been a quiet week in general. The weather continues very dry, and our farmers complain very much. Besides the injury to the crops, a great deal of direct damage has been done by bush fires. Barns and their contents, houses, cars on the track, and even churches have been destroyed and some few lives lost. So that, on the whole, the loss has been large. One effect has not been as great as was feared; that is, the drives of logs are getting well in, and the quantity hung up, though still quite large, will be much smaller than was expected. Lumbermen as a rule feel well, there being a good demand at firm prices. This is of much importance to us. Freights keep low, however, principally on account of the very large steamers which come here. Politics are very active, the interest here being increased by the appearance of a third party, brought into being by the refusal of the Government to name St. John as well as Halifax in their call for tenders for the fast line, and to allow the steamship companies to name which port they prefer—seemingly not an unfair request, nor too much to expect, particularly when it is remembered that St. John and the province of New Brunswick have so regularly returned Government members. Mr. Frank Hatheway, one of our best known wholesale grocers, is the chief mover in the agitation.



OIL—The chief movement at present is perhaps in paint oils. There is a fair movement in lubricating and burning oils, but the business as a whole is quiet. Markets show no change. We quote: American burning oil, 22½c.; best Canadian, 20½c.; prime, 18c.; no charge for barrels.

SALT—There is a fair movement reported. Stock now here is quite large. Fine factory filled is quoted rather lower ex store; it has been getting lower by small drops for some time. The Canadian is, however, preferred by the cheese and butter factories. A good salt, particularly for butter, can be obtained in our own province, but the cost of manufacture has always been large, it being run in a small way. Little, if anything, is at present done at the wells. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; fine factory-filled, 95c. to $1.20; 5-lb. bags, $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; salt, bulk, $2.65 to $2.70 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS — New finnan haddies are now offered. This is a trade that has been growing, particularly the demand from the west. A much better business is expected this season than ever, not only because the goods are becoming more popular, but the price this season is quite a little lower than last. New salmon are being talked of. Letters to brokers from the Coast talk firm, as not a particularly large catch is expected, and the leading canners have already contracted for the bulk, and in some cases for all their expected pack. Peas are firm and prices should be higher than they are quoted. Lobsters, as noted in our report before, are higher and firmer. Canned meats, judging by reports received from American canners, tend easy, though this is the season of demand. The Canadian goods, on account of the price and improved quality, are being largely used, and the competition is much felt by American canners. We quote: Corn, 80 to 90c.; peas, 95c. to 1 $; tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; gallon apples, $2.20 to $2.25; corned beef, 2-lb. tins, Canadian, $2.40; American, $2.70; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, American, $2.45, Canadian, $2.85; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2 to $2.40; salmon, $1.40 to $1.50; lobsters, $2; haddies, $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

GREEN FRUIT— There is a good business doing, bananas having large sale. Summer products are coming in freely. Large quantities of rhubarb are daily received from the different parts of the province. American cucumbers find fair sale. American berries are not a success in this market; quality during the week has been poor. We do not quote apples or California oranges this week. Jamaica oranges begin to sell; Valencia and others are quoted rather higher. Lemons, which show good demand, are also higher. Pineapples showed better demand during the week. We quote: Lemons, $3 to $4; Valencia oranges, $6 to $8; Jamaica oranges, $5 per barrel; Messina oranges, $3 to $4; blood oranges, $2 25 to $2.70; pineapples, 10 to 15c.; cranberries, $3 25 per box; bananas, $1 to $2.50; strawberries, 10 to 18c. per box; rhubarb, 2 to 3c. per lb.; cucumbers, $1 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—The market continues to show little of interest. Currants are offered from New York at rather lower prices. Filberts are offered low, as are new Brazil nuts. The Virginia peanut people have advanced peanuts and New York houses are now offering under their prices. The demand for California prunes is less active. In currants the demand is largely confined to cleaned. Nova Scotia dried apples are plentiful, and could be bought cheap, but there is no demand. In evaporated there is a little movement. Bermuda and Egyptian onions move freely. There is a good demand here for cocoanuts. Quite large quantities are imported direct, they being used chiefly for manufacturing. We quote: Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; layers, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M. 4-crown, 6 to 7c.; 3-crown, 5 to 6c.; London layers, $1.70 to $1.85. Currants, bbls., 3¾ to 4c.; cases, 4¼ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½c.; prunes, kegs, 4c.; boxes, 6 to 7c.; half-boxes, 7 to 8c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 5c.; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c.; California evaporated peaches, 8 to 13c.; apricots, 12 to 14c.; pears, 12 to 14c.; onions, $1 to $2; Bermuda onions, $1.50 to $1.75 per crate; cocoanuts, $3 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 8c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs during the week have shown an improvement in both price and demand, the secret being small stocks. Should anything like a large quantity arrive, prices would soon drop off. Butter is low, choice Canadian creamery being offered to the trade by Ontario houses so as to cost but from 15½ to 16c., Lower Province creamery has also dropped off in price as there is but fair demand. Cheese moves in but small quantities. Our own province make will not be on the market yet for a little while. On account of the bad season last year there will be a smaller output here, at least, such are the present prospects. Many factories, thinking they paid too high for milk last season, find difficulty in getting the farmers to come to (what would be for the cheese men) more favorable terms. We quote: Common dairy butter, 10 to 14c.; dairy, 16 to 17c.; new creamery prints, 20 to 21c.; Cheese, 8 to 9c.; creamery, tubs, 18 to 20c.; eggs, 10c.

SUGAR—Stocks are getting lighter slowly, there being little movement. Prices show no change. On the whole, the market is an uninteresting one. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—Stocks at present are not large, nor, except in Port Rico, is much bought to arrive. Barbadoes is firmer and higher prices at the Island expected. There are at present a variety of kinds offered, not to speak of different grades of each kind, but there is a good demand. A small quantity of Trinidad molasses of good quality arriving by last steamer was quickly bought by our retailers. Besides over a thousand casks of Porto Rico bought by local dealers there is a small cargo coming here from Fredericton. A small quantity of syrup is still sold. Some St. Croix here gives good satisfaction. We quote: Barbadoes, 29 to 30c.; Porto Rico, 33 to 35c., bbls.; New Orleans, 30 to 36c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Antigua, 26 to 27c.; St. Croix, 28 to 29c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.; Trinidad, 30 to 31c.

FISH—The fresh are still of chief interest in the market. The catch so far is not large. A fair quantity of Gaspereaux were taken during the week. There continues to be good demand for them fresh, largely for bait. Smoked move less freely. Fresh shod are much lower; the number caught is not large, but the quality is good. Smoked shad are very fine. Salmon arrive more freely, but numbers are yet light. Smoked salmon have some demand. Lobsters are rather lower, though the quantity arriving is not large, and there is a good sale. In pickled, bay herring (new) are here. Prices are low and sale light; quality is very good. Good last season's Shelburnes can be bought low. Dry fish are dull, as are smoked herring, the latter being very low. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.25 to $1.30; bay herring, $1.20 to $1.25 per half bbl.; new smoked, 4 to 5c.; Canso, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; shad, half-bbl., $5; Shelburne, $2.50 to $2.75 per bbl., $1.65 half-bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; fresh Gaspereaux, 50 to 60c; smoked do., 90c. to $1; fresh shad, 9 to 10c.; salmon, fresh, 20 to 25c. per lb.; lobsters, 6 to 6½c.; smoked salmon, 20c.

PROVISIONS—There is a light sale, with market easy. Smoked meats are less active and require to be canvassed. Lard shows no change and stocks are ample. We quote: Clear pork, $15 to $15.50; mess, $14 to $14.50; beef, $13 to $14; domestic mess pork, $14 to $14.25; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; pure lard, 9 to 9¼c.; compound, 7¾ to 8c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour market in spite of the feeling to the contrary, is easy, some grades being rather lower. Oatmeal continues easier than oats, with but quiet demand. Cornmeal is still quoted at the low price. Merchants complain their business is hurt by millers selling in small quantities at the lowest price. Feed is very dull. A small quantity of feed flour is arriving. Quite a quantity of Ontario goods now come via Boston by schooner owing to the lower freight rate. Hay is dull, quite large shipments continuing to go to Boston via steamer. Through Carleton County, the great hay county of the province, the stock of hay is lighter than for years, and for the stock sold a very good price was obtained. It was all sold for the American trade. The holders in the eastern part of the province did not do so well. Quite a demand for seed continues. We quote: Manitoba, $4.55 to $4.60; best Ontario, $4.45 to $4.50; medium, $4.25 to $4.40; oatmeal, $3.15 to $3.30; cornmeal, $2 to $2.10; middlings, $18 to $21 on track; bran, $17 to $18; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90c. to $1; oats, 33 to 34c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3.50; round peas, $1.10 to $1.20; split peas, $3.40 to $3.50; yellow-eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat, native, $1.30 to $1.35; American timothy, $2; Canadian timothy, $2.75; red clover, 9 to 9½c.; alsike, 9¼ to 9½c.; mammoth, 9¼ to 9½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The Boston steamer last week took a number of cars of hay for that market.

Cream of tartar, though still quite high, has fallen off from the highest point.

The movement in brushes and brooms is quieter, but the spring trade has been a satisfactory one.

James S. Atkinson, general dealer, in Albert county, has assigned. Liabilities about $10,000; assets about $2,000.

Quantities of salmon are beginning to be received from the north for shipment to Boston. The shipments are re-iced here.

Mr. Joseph Finley, the well-known wholesale grocer, is again at his desk after a well-earned vacation spent in England and on the continent.

Since the first of the year the spice market has shown very little change. Pepper and cloves are rather higher, and ginger somewhat lower. Prices rule low.

Few may be aware that but a few miles from Sussex, Kings county, are wells supplying an extra quality butter salt. There is, no doubt, a good chance here for business if the capital were forthcoming.

Mr. R. Pratt, of Wolfville, is now traveling for Theodore Estabrook. The many friends of Mr. Pratt will be pleased to learn of his good fortune, the house he is with being one of our first houses in its line of

GOOD ENOUGH TO COPY.

SCOTT MCKERROW.

DO you remember when, a boy, you went fishing for tommy-cod or suckers, how you used to try to secure the best holes or lucky places in which to drop your line? How, no matter how good you thought your place and chances were, you still felt envious of the chances of your chum? How almost irresistibly the feeling came over you to drop your line down the hole from which your chum had just pulled up a "bite."

The "man is but the boy grown tall," and this thought struck me forcibly when reading the following extract which appeared in the advertising columns of one of Toronto's dailies recently:

GOOD ENOUGH TO COPY.

There are stores all over Canada being modelled after this—following our leadership and copying our methods. There are merchants here and elsewhere who rail against big stores who're not averse to growing big themselves. The simple fact is the trade has got largely into a rut, and the few who get out of it usually have this store to thank for the inspiration.

When this business sprang into existence new forces began to touch Canadian retailing. From the very first we emphasized—

—Early Closing!
—Cash and One Price!
—Direct Importations!
—Refunding Your Money!

and making everybody welcome whether they cared to buy or not. It's easy to see now that we were right and others are glad enough to follow our example, but plenty of stores are wasting strength and energy keeping open till late that could just as well close early. It's a question of principle to begin with. Later on it represents a substantial profit.

We've always championed early closing as a matter of simple justice to those who work hard during the day and faithfully during the week. Keeping open till near midnight Saturday is not uncommon in Toronto and elsewhere. That fact means nothing to us, but the contrast is bad for those who endorse it.

Some men will not adopt a plan for operating successfully, or more successfully, an undertaking they may have on hand, because the suggester may be an inferior in some respects or a younger man; fearing that the adoption might give the party who suggests it a chance to boast; while other men will accept readily a suggestion as to an improvement irrespective of the source, the consummation of the desired object being of more importance than either their position or prestige.

While no reader of the extract can for a moment lose sight of or doubt the very good opinion the management of the store in question has of itself, quite a few may doubt the claim that this store was the originator of the inspiration of such a method of doing business, more especially when we think of Whiteley's, Wannamaker's, Seigel, Cooper & Co., Mabley & Co., and others. Again, while my readers do not (and I think I am safe in saying the majority do not) advocate the business methods of the department store, nor even countenance their existence, none can but admire the platform as emphasized—

Early closing.
Cash and one price.
Direct importations.
Refunding your money.

To give the department store the credit of having a heart would call forth the derision or pity of my reader, as it is well known that the Almighty Dollar is the only shrine at which its knee bends. And the early-closing movement was adopted by many stores, not from a philanthropic standpoint, but simply because people could be educated to do their shopping within a certain time, just as they had been taught to do their banking, because as much work or more could be had out of clerks working ten hours as fourteen or fifteen, as they would have relaxation from indoor work and the monotony of business, and a change of air, which would build up, brighten and invigorate an otherwise sleepy or languid clerk, and at the same time reduce minor expenses considerably.

We cannot get past the fact that hands, or clerks, whatever we may choose to call them, are merely speculations. We may cloak the fact with a clerk's being decent, sociable and an all-round good fellow, but the "crucial test" (as I heard a gentleman call it the other day) is the sales total at the end of the month or year. Let some of our well-paid travelers have one or two unsuccessful seasons and we will find their salaries trimmed or places filled. Therefore, if clerks are speculations we want to get all we can out of them for the money, and if closing early the five days of the week will make them work harder and better, and they both will and can, from a financial standpoint, it will pay to close early. From a self-interested standpoint it will benefit proprietors for the very same reasons as it does clerks. Also, if he has a horse or a wheel, a spin out through the country would do him good physically. And a casual call on a customer might mean a sale, or close an old account.

Montreal clerks have won the contest re early closing, and the bylaw is being strictly enforced throughout the city and there is no doubt when merchants become accustomed to the change they will not wish to go back to the old regime. Many of the smaller towns have adopted the early-closing movement for the summer and more for the whole year. The latter would not under any consideration keep open after 7 p.m., as the volume of business would be no greater, while the difference is the amount of the gas or oil bill alone is considerable.

On the cash system I have already written, but in passing would merely say that not a day passes but the department stores dwell upon the merits of buying and selling for cash only, in their "ads." And this cannot fail to be a great influence in educating the people to the advantages of cash transactions, so that the pioneers of "cash business" will undoubtedly find that this persistent educating will be of great help to them in overcoming any difficulties in changing from credit to cash.

Space will not permit of my discussing the other two planks of the platform, but these are indeed "good enough to copy," both from a financial as well as a social and physical standpoint.

R. L. Werry & Co., of Port Stanley, are extending their bakery and grocery business by opening a new store on the west side of the village next to the Franklin House.

FOOD VALUE OF THE APPLE.

A paper recently read by Mr. H. E. Dosch at the meeting of the Oregon State Horticultural Society called attention to the dietetic value of the apple. In support of his position he quoted Dr. Bentzer, a German scientist, as furnishing the following reasons why the apple is desirable as an article of food :

1. It is brain food.
2. It excites the functions of the liver.
3. It promotes a sound and quiet sleep.
4. It disinfects the mouth.
5. It agglutinates the surplus acid of the stomach.
6. It paralyzes hemorrhoidal disturbances.
7. It helps the secretions of the kidneys and prevents calcareous disturbances.
8. It obviates indigestion.
9. It is a good preventive against diseases of the throat.

GOOD MORNING.

Don't forget to say "Good Morning!" remarks an exchange. And say it cheerfully and with a smile ; it will do you good, and do your friends good. There is a kind inspiration in every "Good Morning," heartily spoken, that helps to make hope fresher and work lighter. It seems to really make the morning good, and to be a prophecy of a good day to come after it. And if this be true of the "Good Morning," it is also true of all kind, heartsome greetings ; they cheer the discouraged, rest the tired one, and somehow make the wheels of life run more smoothly. Be liberal with them, then, and let no morning pass, however dark and gloomy it may be, that you do not help to brighten by your smiles and cheerful words.

SALMON FISHERY PROSPECTS.

WE have seen it stated that before very long we may expect to see a material, though, let us hope, only temporary, falling off in the salmon catch in the Fraser River, large quantities of dead fish having been discovered that had been unable to reach their spawning grounds. We take it that this and other considerations, that will at once suggest themselves to the trade, will have the effect of augmenting values to a certain extent. It is hardly likely, too, that the Alaska and Columbia River pack will be a heavy one at any rate this season. This ought to improve the prospects of the halibut fishery, whose proportions might, with the display of proper energy and enterprise be made very considerable, there being methods of preparation which will present the fish in a very attractive and palatable shape. Advices from the east indicate that owing to the prospective withdrawal of the George's Bank fishermen, there will be a shortage in the supply of cod fish, which will result in an advance in salt cod by the middle of June.

The outlook for mackerel seems to be improving, with the prospect of a long season and a large catch. A letter recently received from Maine states that no sardines have yet appeared on that coast, the first time in twenty years when they have not appeared in large numbers before that date. No lobsters are, it is said, likely to be packed along the coast of Maine, it being impossible under the present law to put them up profitably there. Lobsters will, it is held, realize this season the highest prices ever obtained, the only canneries of any consequence being located in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.—B.C. Commercial Journal.

William Fitzpatrick, grocer, Ottawa, has compromised at 25 cents on the dollar, and will retire from business. The liabilities were $2,000.

EARLY CLOSING IN WINNIPEG.

Bylaw 1,152 of Winnipeg, providing for the early closing of flour and feed stores, went into effect on Friday. It provides that the places affected by it shall not be open between the hours of 7 p.m. and 5 a.m., except on Saturdays, or days immediately preceding civic holidays ; and during the days on which the Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition is being held. The penalty for violation of this bylaw is a fine, the maximum of which is $50.

PENCILS IN GROCERIES.

I never thought I could sell pencils in my store, says a grocer to me, but when I bought two gross of Dixon's, by way of change, last week, I put them on the counter and sold three dozen the first day. It seems a grocer can sell almost anything, if he has the room and space to show it.—Ex.

RAMBLER'S NOTES.

WINGHAM.

MR. T. A. MILLS, who had the misfortune to fracture his leg in three places, confining him to the house for the past seven weeks, is able, we are pleased to note, to visit his store with the aid of crutches. During his absence from business, the same was ably conducted by Mr. Hill, brother-in-law, and J. T. Paint, the latter having been in Mr. Mills' employ for seven years.

Mr. N. A. Farquharson, who purchased the grocery and crockery business carried on by Mr. Will Yates, now representing Gowans, Kent & Co., is meeting with deserving success. Being obliging and attentive to business, cautious and painstaking in his purchases, displaying judgment and taste, together with neatness and attractiveness of his store, has won for him the trade of a goodly number of first-class customers.

In the genial and accommodating person of Mr. Jack Sullivan, Mr. Geo. E. King has a salesman of whom any employer might well feel proud. He has a personality and individuality that makes for him fast friends.

Mr. John Galbraith, who for some time contemplated removing from here, has, after due consideration, decided to continue in business at the old stand. His many friends approve of the act and show their appreciation by bestowing on him a very liberal support. Mr. Galbraith is a young man of many fine qualities and a strict sense of honor.

Mr. C. N. Griffin, of the City Grocery, is a business man in every sense of the word. He keeps his stock clean and attractive, pleasant to customers and particularly courteous to travelers. Valuing the time of the latter, he gives his favors without hesitation. He is a keen, shrewd buyer and knows just what he wants.

BRUSSELS.

Mr. Geo. Thomson, besides being a live up-to-date grocer, holds a first position in breeding Jersey cattle. His stock farm of Jersey beauties is conducted like his grocery business: systematically and profitably.

Mr. Alex. Strachan carries on a successful general business. His genial manner and the care exercised in selecting stock, together with the experience of many years, advanced in ideas and keeping posted to the wants of his large trade is the secret of his success.

GODERICH.

Mr. Geo. Price is now located on the east side of the Square. His store is very attractive and tastefully decorated. Next month George will take in a life partner. THE GROCER extends congratulations.

Mr. G. M. Elliott has one of the best paying businesses in town, and no one is more deserving of success. From a small beginning a prosperous and substantial trade has been evolved.

Sturdy Bros. have established a very gratifying trade, and no firm is more worthy of support. They bestow careful attention to the smallest order and make it a point to stock with only saleable and strictly first-class goods.

Mr. Geo. Haley, recently in the employ of Mr. Geo. Elliott, has branched out for himself, and, we are pleased to state, is very much encouraged by the support tendered him. He is a young man of good address, and thoroughly up in his business, and will doubtless make a success.

RAMBLER.

GOOD IN EVERYTHING.

The well-known naturalist and writer, Frank Buckland, is said to have maintained the eatableness of all kinds of fish, giving proof of his assertion by tasting the meat of all animals, reptiles and birds which he met in his career. According to this statement, summarized by The New York Tribune, he found the flesh of the rattlesnake delicate and succulent, that of the blacksnake was not so good, lizards were unexceptionable, while panther chops were not equal to those of pork, with which they had an affinity; the finest eating was furnished by elephants' feet baked in a hole in the ground, according to the mode in vogue in Africa. In New Zealand, where grasshoppers are so abundant, they are used for food by Europeans, and are pronounced a great delicacy, prepared according to the following formula: One bushel of the insects, immersed for two hours in a half-gallon of pork brine, are boiled in the liquid for some twenty minutes, then thoroughly rinsed in warm water, and placed in an oven to become crisp, and when cold the heads are removed and they are ready to be eaten.

A Ceylon Tea Garden

"The development of the Tea industry in Ceylon has been phenomenal. In 1875 the first shipment of 282 lbs. was made; in 1885 the export amounted to 3,796,684 pounds, while last year it reached the enormous total of about 97,000,000 pounds."

This increase in public favor is due to the wonderful purity, cleanliness of preparation, healthfulness of Ceylon Teas. Every wide-awake grocer in Canada has Ceylon Teas. They are absolutely necessary to hold your tea trade. Once your customers use these teas they will always ask for them. Write your wholesale grocer for Ceylon Teas.

MACARONI.

"WHAT is macaroni?" asked a young lady of her grocer. "An article made of flour, in the shape of pipe stems, and used for making soup," was the answer.

This seems to be about as intelligent an answer as the average grocer is able to give, as he doubtless never gave the matter any thought.

This question started the writer on a tour of investigation. The same question put to several grocers elicited almost the same answer invariably: "Something to use in soup."

A tour of several of the macaroni manufacturers in this city proved that macaroni was something else than "pipe stems," and used for other than "making soup."

In fact, there are between thirty and forty kinds, and their uses are almost as numerous.

Macaroni, as its name would infer, is of Italian origin, at first being made in Genoa, but as the demand increased and it became better known as an article of food, the manufacture gradually extended to France and this country. The finest goods are made in Italy. Up to several years ago the American product was given little attention, the trade being of the opinion that unless it was imported it would not sell. The home manufacturers, by strict attention to the wants of the consumer, and with the aid of improved machinery and new methods, are overcoming this idea and are proving by the quality of the goods that as for quality, style and price the imported article will soon not "be in it."

Macaroni is made from wheat, rich in gluten, ground into flour called semola. This is made into a dough by the addition of water. The process of kneading is a simple one. A circular iron tub about ten feet in diameter and one foot high is used, and into it the dough is placed. A revolving stone, like a huge mill-stone, weighing about three tons, is set in motion, and this process continues for about an hour, when the dough becomes very tough. It is then placed in the press and the process of giving it shape commences. The question is often asked: "How do they put the holes in?" In the bottom of the press is a copper plate drilled with holes the size of the "pipe" required. In the centre of these holes is fixed a wire which makes the perforation. The press being set in motion, the dough is slowly pressed through and is cut off in lengths of about thirty-five inches. It is then spread out on poles and hung up to dry, which generally takes about five days, great care being taken to ensure a uniform temperature, as a sudden draft of cold air will make it brittle.

Spaghetti is made the same way. Vermicelli, after being pressed, is taken while moist and curled into shape. The enormous pressure required is something startling, it being estimated that a particular press used in one of the Philadelphia works on fine grade spaghetti and vermicelli attains over 125 tons, while on ordinary macaroni a pressure of 100 tons is often used.

Macaroni is one of the most healthful articles of food, and the numerous ways in which it can be prepared always makes it an acceptable dish.

It would be well for the grocer to give this particular item more attention and educate his trade in its uses. A neat little pamphlet containing a number of recipes, with a description of macaroni, its origin, manufacture, etc.; a special sale day, in which a display could be made in an attractive way of the various kinds, would held wonderfully. Try it. It will pay you.—R. A. Neely in Grocery World.

MADE THE CLERK A PARTNER.

"John," said a Houston grocer the other day to one of his clerks, "you have been a faithful and competent clerk, and in order to show my appreciation I have decided to take you into partnership. From this time on you are to have a share in the business and be a member of the firm." "But, sir," said John, anxiously, "I have a family to support. I appreciate the honor, but I fear I am too young for the responsibility. I would much rather retain my present place." "Can't help it," said the grocer. "Times are hard, and I've got to cut down expenses if I have to take every clerk in the house into the firm."—Houston Post.

SMOKED MEATS AND LARD CHANGES.

THE Laing Packing and Provision Company have just issued a circular to their patrons notifying them that on and after May 1st uncovered meats are shipped at buyers' risk. After that date all smoked meats should be shipped in canvass to protect them from the fly. The Laing Co. make no extra charge for meats canvassed and yellow washed or put up in burlap. The company have taken this course because it is impossible for them to guarantee uncanvassed meats against shippers, and they have therefore made the price of canvassed meats the same as uncovered. All canvassed hams or bacon should be taken out of package immediately on arrival and hung in a cool dry place. The company's new general circular for date of May 20th, notes changes in pork, beef and compound lard. It will be sent to any reader of THE CANADIAN GROCER who applies to the Laing Packing and Provision Company, 839 and 841 St. Catherine St., Montreal.

VANCOUVER'S WORLD-WIDE TRADE.

A GLANCE at the quarterly Customs returns for the three months ending March 31st, 1896, gives some interesting evidence as showing how widely the trade of Vancouver is distributed, and how her productions are sent to the four corners of the globe.

One of the most striking features of the returns of the imports is the large percentage which comes from Great Britain, particularly in free goods, which in itself is sufficient refutation of the charge frequently made by those opposed to the National Policy of Canada, that it discriminates against the Mother Country.

The following figures speak for themselves :

Imports from Great Britain : free, $98,928; dutiable, $44,090 ; total, $143,018. From the United States ; free, $13,329 ; dutiable, $97,596 ; total, $110,925. From Java, $80,406; China, $13,751 ; Australia, $13,577 ; Japan, $12,813 ; East Indies, $4,252. Other countries from which goods were imported were Cuba, Germany, France, Switzerland, Sweden, Holland, Belgium and Hawaii. The total imports for the quarter were : free, $127,157 ; dutiable, $254,522 ; total, $381,679.

Turning to the exports, the United States come first, with $83,875 ; Australia next, with $62,116 ; China third, with $41,498 ; Great Britain fourth, $39,732 ; Chili fifth, $23,050 ; British South Africa next, $12,210, and Germany, $11,915. Other countries are Japan, Hawaii, Fiji and Brazil. The total exports were $276,414, the produce of Canada, and $4,650 not Canadian produce, a total of $281,064.

The above does not, of course, include the large amount of imports or exports which passed through Vancouver in bond and which run into very large figures. Nor does it give any indication of the large export and import business done overland with Canada. The aggregate trade, domestic and foreign, reaches very large and satisfactory figures for Vancouver.—Statistic News-Advertiser.

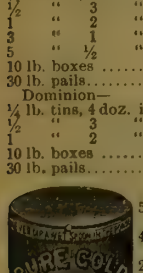
CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

TORONTO, May 28, 1896.



This list is corrected every Thursday. The prices are solicited for publication, and are for such qualities and quantities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations in this department are under the direct control of the Editor, and are not paid for or doctored by any manufacturing or jobbing house unless given under their name, the right being reserved to exclude such firms as do not furnish reliable information.

PUREST & BEST

"Dairying for Profit" or "The Poor Man's Cow"

Is the title of a treatise on Buttermaking written by Mrs. E. M. Jones of Brockville, Ont. Mrs. Jones' Book has been so highly thought of by the Ontario Government that it has been printed and distributed free among farmers as an authority on this subject. The following letter explains itself.

Some time ago I commenced using the Windsor Salt in my dairy and I have been surprised and delighted at the result. It appears to me to be a PURER SALT than any I have ever used (although I have always obtained the very best, regardless of cost). It is entirely FREE FROM ANY BITTER TASTE and it DISSOLVES SO RAPIDLY as to be at once incorporated in the butter. To the practical dairyman these are vital points. MORE BUTTER IS SPOILED BY POOR SALT THAN IN ALL OTHER WAYS PUT TOGETHER. Not only is the taste disagreeable but the grain of such salt is so sharp and its nature so insoluble that butter has to be worked almost to a paste and is thereby spoiled before it is even put on the market. WINDSOR SALT IS FREE FROM THESE OBJECTIONS and its quality and price ought to make it a boon to every dairy in Canada. I shall use no other in future, and as the output of my private dairy is 7000 lbs. a year, which all brings the highest price ever reached by Canadian butter, the importance of my choice in salt can hardly be over-estimated.

Yours truly,
(Signed) ELIZA M. JONES.

Any wholesale grocer can supply you, in any quantity, with this "WINDSOR" Dairy Salt in 20lb, White Cotton Bags, packed 15 in a paper lined barrel, or in 50lb. Linen Sacks.

THE CANADIAN GROCER

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, JUNE 5, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 23

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Trust not in luck: Trust your brains.

Genius is sometimes a curse; common sense, never.

The novelty in advertising should not be the nonentity.

Attend to your books or your creditors will attend to you.

—

Consistency in advertising brings continuity in trade.

Politics and business, like oil and water, do not mix well.

The liberal advertiser is, as a rule, the judicious advertiser.

The deceitful merchant becomes in time the decimated merchant.

An over-stocked store, like an over-fed stomach, induces congestion.

Close and careful buying does not mean penurious and skinflint buying.

Money makes the mare go, but, after all, it is brains that makes business go.

Idleness has killed more people than hard work has ever decimated by disease.

"S" stands for sugar, a commodity sweet, which helps drive the retailer into the street.

It is not always the politician who has the glibbest tongue that has the most common sense.

When efforts to secure a customer have been rewarded efforts to keep him should be begun.

When a merchant has to "pay the piper," it is not always music that he gets in return thereof.

He is a wise merchant who takes more pride in his business than he does in his ancestry.

It is not so much quantity as quality of material that is desirable in efficient business building.

Be not deceived; questionable business methods will not always keep the "mill" grinding.

What is needed for the next Canadian Parliament is many politic men and few men of politics.

Politics are getting hot, but he is a foolish merchant who allows them to burn a hole in his pocket.

Cease bad business methods; learn to practise good ones, should be every merchant's motto.

Merchants or clerks who imagine that independence is arrogance are the close prisoners of delusion.

There are some men who try to cover up their ignorance of business by a superabundance of bluster.

It stands to reason that the merchant who does not know his stock cannot know how to sell his goods.

The devil sometimes gets into the business, but business keeps a good many people from going to the devil.

Untold advantages are lost by every one of us because we do not keep our eyes and ears as open as we might.

—

Credit will never be wholly driven from the commercial field, but Cash is gradually becoming cock-of-the-walk.

Hope for success in business must have a foundation, and there is none other foundation than brains and capital.

Don't ignore a lesson, even if it is conveyed by the departmental store. Old Lucifer himself sometimes teaches useful lessons that saints can with profit appropriate.

The difference between the sugar beet and the "dead beat" is this: the one gives out saccharine and the other gall.

It is no credit to a merchant to assert that because credits were long twenty-five years ago that they should be long still.

—

Every merchant should help build up his town as well as his business; for in building up his town he helps build up his business.

The stock on your shelves represents money as much as the five-dollar bill in your pocket. Be careful to whom you entrust it.

Love of novelty is one of the predominant peculiarities of humanity, and the merchant who judiciously caters to it gains profits thereby.

Our cousins across the border are still agitating for sound currency. They will get sound currency when they get sound ideas; and not until then.

Assiduous attention to business is the price of success; and yet he who does not occasionally forget his business can hardly become a successful man.

Reserve force is necessary in business as well as in battle. And the way to keep augmented the reserve force is to read, think and keep your eyes open.

Physical force no man has a right to use upon his clerks, but a few metaphorical undercuts judiciously administered to a thoughtless clerk are quite likely to knock a little sense into him.

What a blessed thing it would be if the people of this country could generate as much earnestness and enthusiasm regarding business matters as they now do over race and religious questions.

FOOD FOR CLERKS.

"WHEN a man has done his work," says Ruskin, "and nothing can any way be materially altered in his fate, let him forget his toil, and jest with his fate if he will; but what excuse can you find for wilfulness of thought at the very time when every crisis of fortune hangs on your decisions? A youth thoughtless, when all the happiness of his home forever depends on the chances or the passions of the hour! A youth thoughtless, when the career of all his days depends on the opportunity of a moment! A youth thoughtless, when his every action is a foundation-stone of future conduct, and every imagination a foundation of life or death! Be thoughtless in any after years, rather than now—though, indeed, there is only one place where a man may be nobly thoughtless, his deathbed. Nothing should ever be left to be done there."

Reserves which carry us through great emergencies are the result of long working and long waiting. Collyer declares that reserves mean to a man also achievement—"the power to do the grandest thing possible to your nature when you feel you must, or some precious thing will be lost—to do well always, but best in the crisis on which all things turn; to stand the strain of a long fight, and still find you have something left, and so to never know you are beaten, because you never are beaten." Every defeat is a Waterloo to him who has no reserves.

He only is independent in action who has been earnest and thorough in preparation and self-culture. "Not for school, but for life, we learn;" and our habits—of promptness, earnestness, and thoroughness, or of tardiness, fickleness, and superficiality—are the things acquired most readily and longest retained.

One who reads the chronicles of discoveries is struck with the prominent part that accident has played in such annals. For some of the most useful processes and machinery the world is indebted to apparently chance occurrences. Inventors in search of one object have failed in their quest, but have stumbled on something more valuable than that for which they were looking. Saul is not the only man who has gone in search of asses and found a kingdom. Astrologers sought to read from the heavens the fate of men and the fortune of nations, and they led to a knowledge of astronomy. Alchemists were seeking for the philosopher's stone, and from their efforts sprung the science of chemistry. Men explored the heavens for something to explain irregularities in the movements of the planets, and discovered a star other than the one for which they were looking. A careless glance at such facts might encourage the delusion that aimless straying in bypaths is quite as likely to be rewarded as is the steady pressing forward with fixed purpose towards some definite goal.

But it is to be remembered that the men who made the accidental discoveries were men who were looking for something. The unexpected achievement was but the return for the toil after what was attained. Others might have encountered the same facts, but only the eye made eager by the strain of long watching would be quick to note the meaning. If vain search for hidden treasure has no other recompense, it at least gives ability to detect the first gleam of the true metal. Men may wake at times surprised to find themselves famous, but it was the work they did before going to sleep, and not the slumber, that gave the eminence. When the ledge has been drilled and loaded and the proper connections have been made, a child's touch on the electric key may be enough to annihilate the obstacle, but without the long preparation the pressure of a giant's hand would be without effect.—Architects of Fate.

CASH VS. CREDIT.

"Marshall Field's recent declaration that a retail business should be a cash business is founded upon wide experience and expresses a marked tendency of modern trade, as seen in the modern shortening of Chicago credits," says The Chicago Dry Goods Reporter. "But it also has its modifications and exceptions, and these grow largely out of the nature of the community in which the merchant is doing business.

"The system of long credits in vogue throughout the country a quarter of a century ago was not a mistake, though to adopt it again in large towns would be the worst of mistakes. * * *

"The whole question of cash versus credit turns upon the one vital pivot that determines the whole destiny of the merchant—his judgment. The first point to consider is whether you are doing business in a cash or a credit community, whether the people who buy the bulk of your goods have a steady or intermittent income. * * *

"There are agricultural sections in the west, where even well-to-do farmers may be temporarily short of ready money, and this in spite of the general truth of Mr. Field's remark about farmers being able to sell for cash. There are times when the farmer demands the right to hold his products from a ruinously low market. In such times he will ask credit of his local merchants, and everyone who knows the facts must admit that it would be folly to refuse it to an honest and solvent customer of this sort.

"There are risks which the merchant must take, and this is sometimes one of them. The error is not in refusing to adopt a stiff open-and-shut cash policy under all circumstances, but in neglecting to trust judiciously and to demand cash judiciously."

BREAD PRICES A CENTURY AGO.

BAKERS one hundred years ago were saved the arduous labor of setting a price upon their bread. It was never necessary for the boss bakers to meet when flour went up 75 cents a barrel and advance the price of bread 1 cent a loaf. The Town Council was kind enough to relieve them of that trouble. In the advertising columns of old colonial newspapers will be found, among other things quaint and curious, the price and weight of bread, published at intervals by the city officers, as the price of wheat varied. For instance, in a copy of The Massachusetts Gazette, in the year 1765, is the following typical advertisement:

ASSIZE OF BREAD.

Wheat 4s. 6d. per bushel.

	lb.	oz.	dr.
A fourpenny white loaf	2	5	1
A twopenny white loaf	1	2	9
A fourpenny brick loaf	2	2	1
A fourpenny loaf brown bread, 3 qrs. wheat, 1 qr. rye meal	2	13	0
A 4d. ditto, not more than half Indian meal	3	12	0
A bisket of a copper price	0	6	2

N.B.—Allowance must be made for the drying of the bisket.

ALL BAKERS TAKE NOTICE.

Jonathan Sefton
City Treasurer.

This was published on the 20th of June, 1765. On the 15th of August following wheat went up to 4 shillings 10 pence a bushel. A new assize was published, and it is interesting to compare the schedule with the other:

Wheat 4s. 10d. per bushel.

	lb.	oz.	dr.
Fourpenny white loaf	2	2	12
Twopenny white loaf	1	1	0
Fourpenny brick loaf	1	15	12
Fourpenny loaf brown bread, 3 qrs. wheat, 1 qr. rye meal	2	10	0
Fourpenny do., not more than half Indian meal	3	8	0
A bisket of a copper price	0	5	12

It will be noticed that the price of bread did not fluctuate. But as wheat went up or down the consumer received more or less bread for his money. The difference of four pence a bushel in the price of wheat made a difference of three ounces in the weight of a four-penny brown loaf, and of two ounces five drams in the size of a fourpenny white loaf. The sensitive "bisket of a copper price" shrank six drams at a fourpence rise in the price of wheat.

The bakers in those days must have appreciated the force of that consoling phrase that "they also serve who only stand and weigh it." Apparently life had little else for them to do, with a frequently changing scale of weights so elaborate, and a Town Council always admonishing them to "make allowance for the drying of the bisket."

The connection between a loaf of bread and a bushel of wheat at so many shillings and pence is too much for the modern mind. It is rejoiced to find an assize that uses the familiar term of dollars and barrels, so that it may revel in comparisons.—Grocery World.

ABOUT PINEAPPLES.

PINEAPPLES will soon be very plenty and within the reach of every housewife's allowance. A test to determine whether a pineapple is ready for use is to pull out one of the green spike leaves at the top. It should come out readily if the fruit is ripe. Pare the pineapple and carefully remove the eyes with a sharp pointed knife.

The better way to treat the fruit, remarks an exchange, is to pick the flesh from the core with a silver fork, commencing at the stem end. The uneven pieces look better and are nicer to handle than when cut into slices. The rind of the pineapple contains acid that is apt to cause a swollen mouth and sore lips. If the fruit is to be sliced, the same knife should not be used for slicing and peeling. The Cubans use salt as an antidote for the ill effects of the peel. The fruit itself contains a vegetable pepsin, and, if eaten after a hearty meal, will assist digestion.

A very pretty way to serve a pineapple is in the shell. Select a nice large pine and wash it well. If there are any imperfect leaves at the top remove them. Cut the top straight across, leaving about one inch of it in depth below the leaves, and lay it one side. Trim off the rough places on the bottom just enough so that the fruit will stand level. Now with a sharp knife cut out the inside of the pineapple, leaving a wall three-quarters of an inch thick all around. With a silver fork pick the flesh into small pieces, rejecting the core. Peel two oranges, remove all the white part, and slice the fruit toward the centre. Put the orange pulp and juice with the shredded pineapple, cover them with sugar and keep in the ice chest one hour at least. At serving time place the pineapple shell on a large plate covered with a pretty doily and fill the shell with the prepared fruits, which should be very cold. Replace the top of the pineapple and send to the table at once. A little sherry may be used with the pineapple if desired. Strawberries may also be used in place of oranges.

Brandied pineapple does not require to be cooked, and is exceedingly nice to serve with ice creams, custards or corn starch puddings. After peeling the pines and removing the eyes, begin at the stem end, and with a silver fork pick the fruit from the core. Take self-sealing jars and pack them with the picked pineapple and granulated sugar, allowing as much sugar as you have fruit. Pour very slowly over them white brandy until the jars are filled. Screw the covers down tight and keep the jars in a dark place. If one does not wish to use so much brandy the fruit can be prepared thus : After picking the pineapples into pieces, for every pound of fruit take one pound of granulated sugar. Put them in alternated layers in an open-mouthed stone jar or porcelain kettle. Cover and stand in a cool place over night. In the morning put the fruit in jars and fill with the syrup, letting the jars overflow to remove all the air. Add a tablespoonful of sherry to every quart jar. Before filling the jars stand them with the tops down in hot water ; keep the lids and rubbers also in water. Keep the filled jars in a dark, cool place.

A pudding called pineapple cream is made thus : Rub half a pound of butter and one pound of sugar to a cream. Stir in one pound of grated pineapple and add the yelks of three well beaten eggs and one cup of milk. Beat the whites of the eggs light and stiff and add them last. Line a pudding dish with a rich pie crust, rolled very thin, fill it with the prepared custard, and bake in a moderate oven until the custard is done.

TO FIGHT DEAD BEATS.

The grocers of Hoboken, according to a paper of that place, have formed the "Hoboken Retail Grocers' Association," which organization is designed to associate together the many grocers of that city for their own protection and benefit, and especially for the purpose of security against "dead beats," for which purpose a black list will be formed. Another object will be to purchase as an association goods in large quantities and distribute them among the members at the actual cost price, thereby enabling them to offer the same to the public at a uniform price.

HANDY BICYCLE BRUSH.

SINCE the bicycle attained its present popularity, a most important question for every cyclist has been "how shall I keep my wheel bright, clean and attractive, ?" and the use of a rag has not been found a satisfactory means for accomplishing this object. The demand for something more satisfactory was strongly felt, and the result is the Boeckh all-bristle bicycle brush, which is now having a large sale. The accompanying cut shows the design of the brush, and by its means every part of the machine can be reached. The stiff bristle part can be used to remove any mud, grease, or dirt that may have become attached to the tubing, tires, chain and sprocket; and the soft hair part, for dusting and removing oil, or sand, etc., from around the bearings and between the spokes, which could not easily be reached by any other means. These brushes are guaranteed to be of pure materials, and in consequence, will outwear any common brush several times over, and besides are sold at a very reasonable figure for a high-class article. They are manufactured by Chas. Boeckh & Sons, of Toronto, and may be had from all the leading dealers in the Dominion.

THE FRENCH PEA PACK.

The continued drought in France has seriously injured the pea crop and the packing has virtually ceased from lack of material, according to reports just received in New York. Some of the packers have cabled instructions to their representatives here to cease taking orders for futures. The spot market has not been affected by this information, as there is a large stock of old crop to be disposed of and buyers show little interest.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

TEA DISPLAYS IN WINDOWS.

The grocer who is attempting to push his tea and coffee trade, and no articles are more deserving of being pushed, may get an idea from the following, says St. Joseph Journal of Commerce. In the background show a drapery of garnet cotton flannel hung from a curtain pole, half the height of the window, over which hang a bamboo curtain. On the pole drape three Japanese newspapers. On the bottom of the curtain, on the floor, place three large Japanese fans an equal distance apart. In the centre of the window show a large "T" made from lumber and decorated with "T's." Glue on top of this "T" two Jap dolls standing holding a small Jap parasol. On each side of the "T" build pyramids of caddies, with a party of Brownies having a tea party. From the ceiling suspend a large Japanese umbrella, from the ribs of which hang tiny parasols and lanterns. Around the entire window panes tack Jap napkins, while on the floor of the window place teas and coffees in Jap trays. This will be quite a drawing card and a success in the tea trade.

The creditors of David Daniels, general store, Bracebridge and Burk's Falls, will meet on Friday in the office of Henry Barber, the assignee. The statement shows assets of about $8,500, $6,000 at the Bracebridge store, and $2,500 at Burk's Falls. The liabilities total about the same amount. It is probable that an arrangement will be effected.

Spend not your substance in trying to work out visionary business schemes, but exercise your brains and muscle in developing practical business methods.

CANADA IGNORED.

FOR some months an agitation has been on foot in the United States having for its object the inauguration of a reciprocity policy similar to that abrogated by the Wilson tariff. In pursuance of this circulars were addressed to manufacturers representing the various industries of the country. And last week the instigators of this investigation, the Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee, laid the report which they had drawn up before their Democratic colleagues on the committee.

The report in question is an extensive one. It deals exhaustively with the trade relations with Germany, Cuba, Brazil and the South American Latin States generally, and shows that since the abrogation of the treaty clauses of the McKinley law the relationship of the United States with these countries has not been satisfactory commercially, and in some instances fraternally as well. But not a word does there appear to be in regard to the question of reciprocity with their nearest neighbor—the Dominion of Canada. This is significant.

The ignoring of Canada cannot be because her trade is not worthy of being courted, for Canada ranks third in the list of that country's customers. The goods bought by Canada from the United States last year for home consumption aggregated $54,634,521, the largest, with one exception, on record. The United Kingdom, of course, is Uncle Sam's best customer by two or three hundred millions of dollars. Then comes Germany with $92,053,958 worth to her credit. France ranks fourth with nearly seven millions less than the Dominion.

The trade of none of the countries to the south, with which the United States is at present so desirous of renewing reciprocal relations, is anything in comparison with that of Canada. Brazil, the best of them, only takes about $15,000,000 worth of United States products annually, and the Spanish West Indies and Mexico about the same. The purchases of the best of the South American countries and West India Islands do not come within more than one-third of those of Brazil, Spanish West Indies and Mexico. Some of them, in fact, take very little more than half a million dollars' worth.

Neither is the fact that Canada has been ignored in the report in question due to passiveness on the part of this country. Canada is desirous of extending its trade with the United States, just as it is with other countries. At present it is growing on the one side: We are buying more from the United States annually, but selling less. Indeed, our exports to the United States were nearly a million and a quarter dollars less in value than they were twenty years ago.

The kernel of the whole matter is that Canada does not appear to be able to get a reciprocity treaty with the United States, and at the same time preserve her national honor. First, there is demanded discrimination against the Mother Land, and that, whether we are inclined to do so or not, is something which the Home Office has intimated no colony or dependency shall be permitted to do. But at any rate we are not at all inclined to secure a treaty on any such terms.

While Canada desires closer trade relations with the United States, and would probably get along better with than without them, yet we shall not die if we do not have them. We shall go on growing just the same. Perhaps not so fast, but we shall grow, if we so choose, and if we send to Parliament the right kind of common-sense business material.

THE TWO-CENT POSTAL RATE.

THE agitation for a one-cent postal delivery in cities is growing. The various boards of trade throughout the country are gradually enlisting themselves in the cause, and it is but a matter of time before the desideratum will be secured.

The demand for the reduction of the rate to one cent per ounce is not an unreasonable one. It is perfectly reasonable. The postal authorities themselves do not deny that such letters can be profitably delivered at one cent. They base their argument in rebuttal on the statement that they cannot afford to reduce the present rate because it helps to lighten the deficit created by the postal service outside the cities.

When a wholesale merchant discovers that his country trade is not paying as well as he would like he does not cripple his city business in order to make up for the loss entailed. On the contrary, he will rather try what can be accomplished by economy.

The Postal Department chooses to follow an opposite course. It adopts a principle which cripples one part of the postal service without in any way facilitating the other. And not only cripples this service, but handicaps the mercantile men of the cities by increasing the expenses of their mailing department by 100 per cent.

The trouble is that the Post Office Department, like all other business departments of the Governmental system, is almost continually in the hands of men who are mediocres of one of the professions, and not practical business men.

If the Department would remove the sinicures from office, curtail the franking system by about 75 per cent., and cut off the fake publications that have the free use of the mails, there would be no excuse for continuing the present rate of two-cent on "drop" letters.

It is economy, not the imposition of unnecessary burdens upon the mercantile community that will place the Post Office Department in a healthier condition financially. If there are private individuals who are only too willing to deliver local letters at one cent each, surely the Post Office Department, with all its facilities, can afford to do so.

WRONG CONCEPTIONS OF WINDOW DISPLAYS.

A STORE window may attract crowds and yet not be worth two cents. Attractive window dressing means window dressing that will sell goods as well as catch the eye of passers-by.

A jackass in the window is all right if jackasses are sold in the store. But it is a wrong conception of the office of the window that a merchant has when he sticks a jackass in the window to sell groceries, hardware, or dry goods. Yet there are people who do equally as foolish things.

Not long since, one of the departmental stores placed a lot of painted young women, and badly painted ones too, in its windows. The scheme drew crowds—men and boys who ogled the girls, and women who turned away with shame and disgust.

If a window is to be turned into a side show for exhibiting female beauty (?), monstrosities, etc., by all means make the females, the monstrosities, or whatever it may be, sell goods.

When a window attraction over-shadows the particular line of goods which the merchant sells it is a failure.

There is one departmental store in Toronto whose windows always attract crowds and yet the designs and the figures in the windows are consistently made to bring out strongly certain lines of goods. At present in one of the windows of that store is the wax figure of a lady in the act of mounting a bicycle. It attracts a great number of people; but it is patent to everyone that the object is to advertise the bicycle costume which gracefully fits the figure. And there is no question that it does what it is designed to do.

Make your windows attractive by all means, but make the attractiveness sell goods.

THE GERMAN SUGAR BOUNTY.

THE new German sugar bounties which have been agreed to by both the Reichstag and the Bundesrath fixes the bounty on raws at equal to 27c. per 100 lbs., against 13½c. under the old system, and on granulated at equal to 38½c. per 100 lbs., against 21½c. per 100 lbs. as before.

Mr. Willett, of Willett & Gray, stated in an interview recently "that taking into account the amount of raw sugar required to make one hundred pounds of granulated, the new rate will be equal to 30c. per 100 lbs. on raws, against 38½c. per 100 lbs. on granulated, or, say, 8½c. per 100 lbs. more bounty on refined than on raws against present difference of 6c."

The increase in the bounties in question naturally means a decrease in the protection enjoyed by other countries in which German sugar comes into competition. The refineries in England, of course, enjoy no protection except that which distance may afford. But as the competition of German sugar has already wrought much harm to the refineries in Great Britain we may expect it to work still more.

As far as Canada and the United States are concerned, the new bounties are tantamount to a reduction in the tariff on sugar in the respective countries of about 3½c. per 100 lbs.

A couple of years ago German granulated sugar was a factor on the Canadian market, and the unpopularity which it then earned is not likely to be soon forgotten. The Canadian refineries are turning out the best granulated sugar in the world, and the public taste has had a correspondingly high cultivation.

Into the United States German sugar comes steadily, and the increase in the bounties will of course tend to increase the quantity. On account of the shortage in the Cuba crop the United States had up to the middle of last month received about 173,000 tons of German sugar, and it is expected that the yearly importations of this sugar, until the normal conditions again obtain in Cuba, will be 500,000 tons.

An English trade journal, in commenting upon the increased sugar bounty, while the matter was under consideration by the Reichstag, said :

The duty on home consumption is to be raised 3s. per cwt., a further charge on the German consumer of £2,000,000. The ludicrous nature of this proposal from the point of view of political economy is to be seen in the fact that, after paying freight charges, German sugar is already sold in English shops at from one-third to one-half of what it fetches in Germany itself. This absurd position can only be aggravated by the new proposal to surtax the home producers in order that England may have cheaper sugar. France and Austria are arranging to increase their bounties in proportion to any increase in Germany, and thus the policy goes merrily on of beggaring your continental neighbor for the enrichment of your insular one. The over-production of sugar could be readily consumed at home, for the German consumption is only about 34 lbs. per head, and the French under 27 lbs., while ours is about 80 lbs. On the English scale the consumption of Germany, Austria-Hungary and France would be 4,700,000 tons a year. It is now 1,600,000, or, say, 3,000,000 tons a year less than it soon might be with sugar at English prices. The whole exports of the three countries are 1,800,000 tons a year. It is to be remembered, also, that it is not alone the crushing cost of militarism, and the consequent duties, which render sugar so dear on the Continent, but that the bounties gratuitously added to this heavy burden probably already cost the sugar consumers of the three countries in question from £3,000,000 to £4,000,000 a year—a charge they now propose to double—all for our benefit.

SHARP ADVANCE IN GINGER.

THE ginger market has taken a decided jump within the last week or two. The Jamaica and Cochin kinds particularly are affected, and the advance in the former is equal to about two cents per pound.

The cause of the advance is a threatened shortage, while the consequent natural appreciation in values is being helped by capitalists, who are trying to corner the market.

Canada gets the greater part of her ginger from Jamaica and China, although a great deal of Japan ginger has been coming into the country lately. This last named is a cheap ginger.

NO MORE BEET ROOT SUGAR.

The beet root sugar industry in Canada is now a thing of the past. Three years ago the factory at Farnham was closed, and now the one at Berthier has met with a like fate. The machinery has been purchased by a syndicate of New Mexico capitalists, who are establishing a factory at Eddy, Peccos Valley, and it is now en route to that place. The New Mexicans paid only $32,000 for the machinery, the original cost of which was $1,500,000. A remarkable incident in connection with the transaction was the destruction of 2,000,000 lbs. of molasses. This was contained in puncheons, which were sold along with the machinery, and when the time came to deliver them they were still full of molasses. This had to be got rid of in some way, and as no other means was available, the whole of it was dumped into the St. Lawrence, where, perhaps, it served as food for the fishes.

A CHOCOLATE KING.

Henri Menier, the French chocolate king and millionaire who recently purchased the island of Anticosti, has arrived at English Bay from France in his steam yacht Velleda, on his first visit to the island. A large number of men, with a quantity of building materials, have been awaiting his arrival to begin work.

MORE ABOUT NEW JAPAN TEAS.

A WEEK or so ago THE CANADIAN GROCER noted the fact that there had been a sharp decline from the opening price of early May picked high-grade Japan teas.

This is quite true, but it is not true at the same time, as some assert, that on the average Japan teas were being bought for less money than last year.

It is understood in this connection that some Canadian houses, in Montreal among other places, have been sending out circulars to the trade saying that Japans were being bought at 6 to 7c. a pound less than a year ago. This is entirely wrong. Sales have been made at $6 to $7 a picul less than a year ago, which is equal to only 2 to 3c. per pound less. But, as intimated before in these columns, this has been only on choice grades, costing, laid down at distributing points in Canada, 22 to 26c.

As the demand in Canada, and especially in the east, is almost entirely for the medium and lower grades, which are not yet quotable, the circulars above mentioned are apt to be misleading to the trade in general.

No medium or low-grade teas have come on the Canadian market yet, but it may be mentioned that the impression is that they will be no lower than a year ago. For instance, on lower grades of Japans, prices that have been quoted to some Montreal selling houses are practically identical with those mentioned, viz. 14 to 15c., and these are not definite figures. On other lines ¼ to ½c. higher has been stipulated for in some cases.

Settlements up to date are three and a half million pounds less than a year ago. As we have already noted, the quality of the crop is fully equal to that of 1894, which was the best in years.

MOLASSES CARGOES.

The brigantine Rapid, with a cargo of molasses from the Barbadoes, arrived in Montreal last week. She is a vessel of 325 tons and came up from Quebec in tow of the Spray. This is the first cargo of molasses to arrive this year. The Rapid sailed April 25 on her voyage to this port, so it is self-evident that the brigantine is rapid in more than name.

AN UP-TO-DATE PICTOU FIRM.

Mr. Hamilton, of G. J. Hamilton & Sons, Pictou, N. S., has been in Toronto this week in the interests of his western branch. He has secured one of the best biscuit and confectionery travelers in Ontario to manage this agency. Mr. Hamilton speaks highly of business prospects in the Maritime Provinces. G. J. Hamilton & Sons have one of the best equipped establishments of the kind in the country, as they are constantly adding new and modern machinery.

RAMBLER'S NOTES.

SEAFORTH.

MR. B. B. GUNN, one of the solid men of the town, finds his present premises inadequate, and will shortly commence extensive alterations. Prosperity has kept B. B. company from the beginning of his mercantile career, and he is deserving of the success which has attended his untiring efforts in climbing the ladder, overcoming many difficulties and finally reaching the top rung. He is a good neighbor, a popular citizen, warm hearted and genial. The new Commercial Hotel is a credit to the town.

Mr. M. Jordon, after endeavoring to lead a life of leisure and pleasure, found time hanging heavy on his hands, and is back again in business, comfortably located in a neat and attractive store, wearing that becoming smile of contentment.

Mr. Will Sadleir, of the firm of Sadleir Bros., Wiarton, who purchased recently the grocery business of Mr. Fred. Davis, has had the store greatly improved by an immense plate glass front. Being a wide-awake business man, success will surely crown his efforts here, as it has at Wiarton. He has our best wishes.

MOUNT ALBERT.

Mr. H. Ross is now comfortably situated in his new and commodious premises. The store has a frontage of 50 feet, with two entrances and four show windows of plate glass, which affords ample room for the display of goods, and at the same time furnishes splendid light. The depth is over 75 feet. Upstairs will be devoted to millinery art and the display of carpets. Mr. Ross has lived here about six years, and by good judgment, strict attention to the details of his business, fair and honorable dealings with his patrons, has developed a prosperous and growing business. He is one of nature's whole-souled men, and is deserving of the success he has achieved. Mr. Ross is also postmaster, and in building he has devoted a convenient space for the post office.

BELHAVEN.

Mr. I. Gilpin, formerly of the firm of Kirkpatrick & Gilpin, Lefroy, is meeting with gratifying success, which his geniality so richly deserves. There is an irresistibility about Mr. Gilpin that is entirely original, and wins friends on sight.

BETHESDA.

Mr. W. D. Hesie has one of the most complete and conveniently arranged stores it has been my pleasure to come across in my rambles. The fittings are of his own workmanship, and certainly reflect great credit on his skill and ingenuity. The store is finished throughout in two shades of wood—light and dark—and presents an attractive appearance, blending harmoniously. Space has been carefully utilized. Two pillars in the centre of the store provide two excellent upright show cases, accessable only from behind the dry goods and grocery counters. The grocery drawers are close-fitting, while with a slight pressure of the hand the bins, capable of holding a barrel of sugar, revolve outward, and return without any apparent exertion on the part of the operator. Mr. Hesie has every reason to feel proud of his work. He reports trade fairly good and prospects encouraging.

PICKERING.

John Dickie & Co. report business with them ahead of this time last year. The result, so satisfactory, is due to the fact that they do not allow themselves to fall into the error of so many merchants of crying hard times. Within their neatly-arranged and well-kept store you encounter a spirit of cheerfulness that is as fragrant as the flowers of summer. Many merchants throughout Ontario might emulate this firm to their own advantage.

OAKWOOD.

Hogg Bros. surprised your correspondent at the enormous extensiveness of their business, when taking into consideration the size of the village. They are exceedingly popular and highly respected by the community for miles around, and the courteous and fair handed treatment they accord to each and every customer has solidified them with their numerous patrons. Besides carrying on successfully a general store business, they deal largely in grain of all kinds, owning two elevators of immense capacity. Both brothers are workers, pushing, enterprising, energetic and shrewd business men.

BROOKLIN.

Holliday Bros. greet you on entering their handsome, well-stocked and well kept store with a genuine, warm welcome. You are at home at once with them. They carry a very extensive stock of general goods, and, as would be supposed, have a vast trade. Their store is kept scrupulously clean, and has an inviting appearance. Both are thorough business men, young and prepossessing, pleasant and justly popular.

RAMBLER.

A DROP IN COTTONS.

A circular dated May 27, from the Merchants' Manufacturing Co., reduced prices of grey cottons, drills and pillow cotton 5 per cent. Certain lines of bleached sheetings were dropped 7½ per cent. The other mills have not yet met the cut. Some of the trade, seen as The Review went to press, expressed surprise at the drop and could see no reason for it at this juncture. Said one staple buyer: "Even with this new drop cotton prices are still 10 per cent. higher than when purchases were made last August for the spring trade." In the United States the prices both of raw cotton and manufactured goods are tending downward.—Canadian Dry Goods Review.

CALIFORNIA PRUNES.

The California Fruit Grower says in its last issue regarding prunes: "Conditions are unchanged so far as we are able to learn. It looks as if the prune crop would be ample for trade requirements, unless some unlooked-for demand sets in. It is too early to talk crop, but we report the situation as we find it at this time. Reports from France indicate the conditions favorable for a good crop of prunes. We expect full and complete crop reports from all European countries at an early date. The low prices at which large sizes were offered induced a few buyers to enter the market on a speculative basis, but the movement was checked by the Santa Clara Valley exchanges quoting lower prices."

CULTIVATE THE OLD CUSTOMERS.

Life insurance companies obtain a large share of their profits from "drop outs"—the policy holders that run well for a season and then stop, remarks American Grocer. A like policy would ruin the grocer, whose prosperity depends, in most cases, on steady and regular patrons—residents in the neighborhood of the store—and not transient customers.

A customer won is a steady contributor to your bank account, a regular and inexpensive advertiser of your store. Hold fast to him; bear with his idiosyncracies, notions, whims, peculiarities; make him your fast friend. Don't get mad when he does; wait till he overcomes his temper, and then quietly and tactfully show him the injustice of his position. It is easier to hold an old patron than to win a new one. This does not require subserviency or a sacrifice of manliness, but it does demand tact, courtesy, and the art of saying and doing the right thing at the right time, in the right place and the right manner.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, June 4, 1896.

BUSINESS is hobbling along in much about the same way as it has been during the past couple of weeks. It is no better than it was a week ago. Some wholesalers declare it is rather worse. On account of the vagaries of the sugar market in London and New York during the last week or ten days, buyers in Canada are afraid to purchase beyond their actual requirements. The refiners, however, still profess confidence in the future of the market. About the most active line in the market is canned goods, the demand being good all round. Foreign dried fruits are receiving fair attention, particularly currants, which are a little higher in the primary market. A further appreciation in the price of oranges is to be noted. Although trade generally is not satisfactory, yet it is not accompanied with any feeling of despondency. Everybody is looking for a more active business after the Federal elections, and with this hope wholesalers are buoying themselves up. Payments are improving a little.

CANNED GOODS.

No new features have developed in the canned goods trade during the week. The improvement in business noted in previous issues in certain lines appears to be extending to others. Tomatoes, peas and corn are still in active request, and an improved demand is reported for canned fruits. Salmon is in good demand with a scarcity still to be noted in the cheaper lines. "Horseshoe" brand of salmon is now held at $1.50 by most houses, and there is a firmer feeling all round. New season's canned lobster has arrived on the market this week, but up to the time of writing it is only one or two houses that have been the recipients, some of the brands not having come forward as promised. What new is on the market is held at $2.10 in tall tins. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 55 to 85c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.45 to $1.50; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, old, $1.90 to $2.25 for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; ditto new talls, $2.10; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1 30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7 to $8; 14's, $14 50 to $15.50.

COFFEE.

Goods grades of green Rio coffee are still difficult to get, but the common grades are plentiful. Fresh shipments of fine grade of Rio are due here in about a week. There is a fair enquiry. We quote green in bags: Rio, 17 to 20c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

A scarcity is still reported in syrups, although the demand is light. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Business is moderate, and without special feature. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, 21 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

There is scarcely anything doing, everyone evincing a disposition to hold back while the fluctuations are going on in New York and London. Although generally speaking the market is so dull, refiners' agents report fair buying by some of the jobbers who have faith in the market, and who are looking for a good demand when the fruit season is well upon us. But retailers are afraid to buy, confining their wants to small lots. During the week Scotch granulated in bags has been offering on the local market at about ⅛c. below the price of the domestic article. So far, however, we have heard of no transactions. We place our quotations slightly lower than a week ago. Granulated, 4.70 to 4¾c.; yellows, 3.70c. up; Demerara in bags, $3 75 to $3.85 per 100 lbs.

SPICES.

Ginger, both Jamaica and Cochin, is dearer in the primary markets. Tapioca and sago are about 3d. dearer. There are no changes of any kind to note on the local market. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

Trade continues fairly good and prices unchanged. We quote: Standard "B" at 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan at 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¾ to 4½c.

NUTS.

Almonds of all kinds are expected to be a short crop, and the market in consequence is steady. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

No new features have developed on this market during the week. The little demand there has been on wholesalers' account has been chiefly for low-priced Young Hysons and China black teas, the former of which has been practically cleaned out of the market. Wholesalers report a little better demand for Indian and Ceylon teas, although the tea trade generally with them is quiet. Ruling prices to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

Through a cable offer it has been ascertained that the price of currants in the primary market is about 6d. higher. Stocks on the local market are getting exhausted, and as there are no shipments nearer than three weeks away, there is a firmer tone to the market. The demand is active. We quote: Provincials, 3¾ to 4c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

Valencia raisins are in better demand, while stocks are gradually getting smaller. We quote: Off-stalk 4¾ to 5c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6½ to 6¾c. California raisins, 2-crown, 4¼ to 4½c.; 3-crown, 5¼ to 5½c.; 4-crown, 6½ to 7c.; seedless, 4½ to 5c.

California dried fruits are still receiving fair attention for this time of the year. We quote: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 5¾ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.

Prunes are not generally receiving much attention, although the demand for California prunes keeps up better than was expected. We quote as follows: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 6½ to lb. 9c.; "B," 7½ to lb. 7¾c., "U," 10½ to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per Dates are quiet at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

An active demand is to be noted this week for all kinds of green fruits, both domestic and dried. Oranges are higher in price. Bananas, on the other hand, are a trifle easier, owing to the increased quantity of strawberries and other fruits on the market. Deliveries of domestic strawberries are free now, and about two weeks earlier than usual. Domestic cherries are also upon the market. We quote as follows: Lemons—Messina, $2 75 to $3.50 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $3.75 to $4.50, according to size; do. seedlings, $2.75 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $7 to $7.25; Jumbo's, 420's, $8 to $8.25; do, 714's, $8; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $1.75 to $2; ditto, boxes, $4 to $4 25. Bananas, firsts, $1.50 to $2; do., seconds, $1 to $1.50; cocoanuts, $4.75 to $5 a sack and 70c. per dozen; apples, Spies, $6 to $7; Golden Russets, $5; Bermuda onions, $1.50 to $1.75 per small crate; Egyptian onions, $2.50 to $2.75 per bag; pineapples, 8 to 15c.; domestic strawberries, 11 to 12c.; domestic cherries, $1.50 to $1.75 per basket; cucumbers, $3 per basket and 40 to 50 per dozen.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER— Offerings in the country are unusually large. Consignments are moderate, but wholesale dealers who are purchasing butter report large deliveries. The fact that a good deal of butter is coming direct from the country to retail merchants in the city accounts for the moderate consignments to commission merchants. There are not many dairy pound prints coming in, and scarcely any large rolls, receipts being largely confined to dairy tubs. Creamery tubs are beginning to arrive more freely, although not in large quantities, and they are beginning to accumulate. There is a fair demand for creamery pound blocks. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 12½c. for good; low grade to medium, 8 to 10c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c.; large rolls, nominally 11 to 12c. Creamery—Tubs, 15 to 16c.; 1-lb. blocks, 15 to 17c., according to makes.

CHEESE—There is not much doing, although the market does not appear to be as weak as it was. Some new cheese is reported to have been taken on English account at 6⅜c. f.o.b. We quote: June, July and August makes, 7½ to 8c.; September and October, 8 to 9c.; new, 7 to 7½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is no demand, and prices are being held at 80 to 90c. per bushel.

EVAPORATED APPLES—The increased demand noted the past couple of weaks has been satisfied, there being little business doing at present. The market appears to have been pretty well cleaned up. At outside points prices asked by holders are various, ranging from 5½c. upward. The ruling jobbing price is 5½ to 6c.

DRIED APPLES—Are dull and weak. There are not many offering, but jobbers do not seem inclined to pay more than 2¾c. f.o.b. outside. The jobbing price is 3c.

EGGS—Receipts are not as heavy as they were, while the demand is better and prices firmer. We quote 9½ to 10c.

HONEY — Dull. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—Practically none on the market. We quote: Turkeys. 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

MAPLE SYRUP—Trade is quiet, with prices unchanged. We quote: Imperial gallon tins, 90c.; 5-gallon tins, 80c.; barrels, 75c. per gallon.

POTATOES—There has been a scarcity of potatoes on the Toronto market and prices are much higher. Out of store dealers are now getting 30 to 35c. per bag. Although locally potatoes are scarce and dear, dealers are not prepared to pay relatively as high prices for carload lots, their ideas seemingly not being above 20c. on track.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The demand is active for all kinds of smoked meats, hams and breakfast bacon taking the lead. Lard is from ¼ to ½c. per pound lower, largely on account of the heavy production.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½ to 5¾c. for carload lots, and 6 to 6¼c. for small lots; backs, 7¼ to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS — Breakfast bacon, 9½ to 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 8½ to 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs,

FISH.

Restigouche salmon are on the market this week. The fish are averaging a good size, one box of eleven weighing 275 pounds, or slightly over 25 pounds per fish. British Columbia salmon are on the market this week. There is a fairly good supply of all kinds of fish, but the demand is not brisk. Prices are much as before. We quote: Lake Erie herring, 2½ to 3c. per lb.; blueback herring, $1.25 per 100; pike, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; Restigouche salmon, 18 to 20c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; whitefish, 7 to 9c.; salmon trout, 6½ to 7c.; eels, 5 to 6c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN—Wheat is steady and oats easier. We quote: White wheat, 75c.; red, 74c.; goose, 54½ to 55c.; barley, 34 to 35c.; oats, 23½c.; peas, 50 to 52c.

BALED HAY—Dull at $12 to $13 for No. 1.

FLOUR — Dull and unsettled. Straight rollers are quoted at $3.50, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business continues quiet. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.90 to $3; rolled wheat, $2.25 to $2.30 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

SALT.

Salt has been rather scarce in Toronto during the past week or two. The demand is fairly good and prices steady and unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.50 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

WOOL.

Business on the Toronto market was dull to-day, no doubt on account of the cool spell, which prevents clipping. Some buying is being done outside, but not to any great extent. Dealers still pay 18c. for choice fleece, 15c. for rejections and 11c. for unwashed.

PETROLEUM.

Trade continues fair and prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16½c.; carbon, safety, 18c.; Canadian water white, 18c.; American water white, 21c.; Pratt's astral, 22c.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 4, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE week has witnessed little change in the demand for staple groceries, which continues quiet on the whole. Values are rather unsettled in some leaders, and this fact, with other conditions, tends to deter buyers from operating largely. Sugar is unchanged so far as refiners' prices go, but some large outside holders of granulated here have been cutting prices by ⅛ to ¼c. per pound. Cables on molasses also have proved a surprise, being a complete reversal of those noted a week ago, and have unsettled prices for cargo lots, though the jobbing price is unchanged. In teas some sales agents in Montreal have been sending out somewhat misleading circulars regarding low grade and medium Japans. These are commented on elsewhere. Nothing new is to report in canned goods; no further definite news has been received from the Coast on salmon. All kinds of dried fruits remain firm, with light stocks both in first and second hands.

SUGAR.

The only change in the situation of the sugar market since our last writing has been the cutting in prices of granulated by large outside holders, and considerable business has been done at 4⅛c. and a trifle under. This action, however, has had no effect whatever upon refiners' prices. There has also been a recent decline of ⅛c. per lb. in prices for granulated in New York, and this, even, has not made any change in values here. The demand at refineries is reported slow, but as there is every prospect of a large fruit crop, an improvement is looked forward to in the near future. We quote granulated 4⅞c., and yellows, 3⅝ to 4¼c. as to grade.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in syrups to note. The demand is slow, but as stocks in refiners' hands are light, prices rule firm at 1½c. to 2¾c. per lb. as to quality at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The feature of the molasses market has been the weaker cable advices received from the Island noting a decline of 1c. per gallon, first cost now being 11c. This had its full effect on the local market, and the price for cargo lots declined 1½c., agents now offering Barbadoes to arrive at 28c. ex-wharf. The demand from the country for small lots has been good, and orders have been booked for about 3,000 puncheons at 31 to 32c. Business in Porto Rico has been quiet, but, in sympathy with Barbadoes, prices have declined 1c., round lots now offering at 30c. and small at 31c.

RICE.

A fair business continues to be done in rice at steady prices. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50; and Java $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

The market for spices is quiet, as is generally the case at this season, the demand being only for small lots at steady prices. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.

COFFEE.

The demand for coffee is principally for small lots to fill actual requirements, and the tone is easy. We quote: Rio, 16½ to 19c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 19c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29c.

TEAS.

There has been considerable business done in new crop Japan teas to arrive at prices ranging from 24 to 27c. Samples of these teas have come to hand of which the quality is very fine. Outside of the above the market has been quiet, buyers generally holding off for new crop goods. Some small lots of pea-leaf gunpowder have changed hands at 17c. Old crop low-grade Japans are very scarce and wanted. We quote as follows: Young Hysons 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The firmness noted in California raisins at the Coast continues, and any new business that is done on spot means an advance of ½c. in the cost to the importers. Only a few small lots offer occasionally, and business is for this reason restricted. Any 4-crown that are here are held on jobbers' own account. We quote: 4-crown, 6¾c.; 3-crown, 5½ to 5¾c., and 2-crown, 4¼ to 4½c. for jobbing lots. Large lots could possibly be had for less money if they were available.

Valencia raisins are practically cleaned up in this market, with little or no fruit available in first hands. Prices rule very firm. We quote: Common, 4½c.; fine, 5 to 5¼c.; selected, 5¼ to 6c., and layers, 6 to 6¼c.

Sultana raisins rule strong and unchanged as to price, at 5¾ to 6½c, as to grade. Jobbers are the only holders, and they want all they have got.

Currants continue firm and unchanged. We quote: 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

Prunes remain firm and unchanged. Stocks of all kinds are light, some moderate shipments of California and Oregon which have come forward being readily absorbed. We quote: Bosnias, 6 to 6½c.; French, 5 to 5½c., and California and Oregons 5½ to 12c., as to grade and size.

Figs are are steady but quiet at 8½ to 9c. for ordinary grades, and 12 to 17c. for fancy.

Dates steady but featureless at 5 to 5¼c.

NUTS.

A moderate jobbing demand is the only feature to note. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½ to 12c.; pecans, 8 to 12c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 19c.

CANNED GOODS.

There have been some queries in regard to new pack canned salmon, but matters are still in an indefinite state. As noted previously, however, packers' ideas seem to range from $4.50 to $4.75 f.o.b. on the Coast. In other lines there is nothing new to report. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 65c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half-tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.35; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $7.25 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

The auction sales of direct Mediterranean lemons and oranges are now over, and the market has once more assumed a normal basis. The tendency on the whole is easy, though no remarkable alterations are to report. We quote: Apples, $4.50 to $5; dried do., 3 to 3½c.; evaporated, 5½ to 6c.; bananas, $1.25 to $2; pineapples, 8 to 15c., and strawberries, 15 to 20c, lemons, $2 to $3.50; oranges, $1.50 to $6, according to brand and package.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The dull dragging feeling in eggs has continued, and prices are lower. We quote: 9 to 9¼c. for firsts, and 8 to 8¼c. for seconds.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—There is no change in these. Syrup in wood sold at 5 to 5½c. per lb., and in tins at 55 to 60c. per tin. Sugar, 8 to 8½c. per lb. for bright and 7 to 7½c. for dark.

BEANS—The market for beans was weaker, and prices declined 5c. Car lots of choice are offering at 75 to 80c., and in a jobbing way at 85 to 90c.

POTATOES—The demand for potatoes is slow at 25c. per bag in car lots, and at 30 to 35c. in a small way.

TALLOW—Dull but steady at 4 to 5½c.

HOPS—No change. We quote: Choice, 6 to 7½c., and fair to medium, 5 to 5½c.

HONEY—Unchanged at 12 to 14c. for bright comb, and 10 to 12c. for dark. Extracted dull at 7 to 8c.

HAY.

Baled hay has ruled easy, $13 now being the top price for No. 1. No. 2 sells at $10 to $10.50.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market continues dull for both pork and smoked meats. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $12.50; Canadian short cut, mess, $13; hams, city cured, per lb., 7½ to 9½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The demand for flour both for local and export account has been exceedingly slow, and the market in consequence quiet and easy, with prices in buyers' favor. The sharp decline in wheat in the west will no doubt cause another reduction in prices in the near future. We quote as follows: Winter wheat, $3.90 to $4.10; spring wheat, patents, $3.80 to $4; straight roller, $3.65 to $3.75; straight roller, bags, $1.70 to $1.80; extra, bags, $1.40 to $1.55; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.30 to $3.75.

There was no improvement in business in oatmeal. The demand is slow and the market dull. We quote as follows: Standard, barrels, $3 to $3.10; granulated, barrels, $3 10 to $3.20; rolled oats, barrels, $2.75 to $2.80; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.

The feed market continues quiet, and prices show no change. We quote: Bran, $12.50; shorts, $12.50 to $13.50; mouillie, $19 to $20.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market continues to decline and if it goes much lower will soon touch the record low price of the last ten years, which was 6c., made in May last. The chief business on spot consisted in the dealings at the wharf on Monday, where 2,000 boxes of Quebec cheese were offered. These sold at a range of 6¼ to 6½c., the ruling being between these two figures. This is a decline of ¼ to ⅜c. from last week, and the demand is not brisk even at the drop. The cable also declined another shilling Monday, and private advices were of a discouraging character. In fact, the picture as a whole presented for the approval of cheese makers is not a cheering one. Butter was dull, but unchanged on the whole. Demand is of an indifferent character, with 16c. the extreme outside idea.

ASHES.

The ashes market has been fairly active and firm. We quote: Firsts, $3.60 to $3.65; seconds, $3.30, and pearls, $4.80 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The ss. Isis, with a cargo of raw sugar for the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, ran aground near the refinery's own docks at Maisonneuve. She was got off during the week.

John D. Roberts, manager Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., Toronto, was in Montreal last week. He reappointed W. H. Dunn their agent for Montreal. Both gentlemen report having booked quite a large amount of orders.

The sailing ship Kingsport, from Manilla, with a cargo of sugar, arrived at Montreal Monday. Her cargo is for the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, and is consigned to McLean, Kennedy & Co. The Kingsport sailed from Manilla on December 25, and made the passage to Delaware Breakwater in 125 days, and from that point to Montreal in 27 days.

importer talking to THE GROCER during the week said the market at Barbadoes was sure to advance, and it was but the next day when cable reports stated it easier. In lumber, although a large quantity of logs are still hung up, and it is now thought they will continue to be, the quantity is not as large as at first feared. However, that so many are hung up is much to be regretted, as they are such an important factor in our business. Politics here are very active, and will be, which will affect business. It is a three-cornered fight. Cream of tartar, which has been changing so much in price during the past few months, is again quoted higher. Market on the other side is reported excited.

OIL—No market shows less of interest; there is little demand, and burning oil has shown no change in price for some time. There is a steady demand for lubricating, and quite a fair business in paint oil, though even the last is less active than it has been. We quote: American burning oil, 22½c.; best Canadian, 20½c.; prime, 17½ to 18c. No charge for barrels.

SALT—Demand is quiet. Arrivals during the spring were quite large, and fishermen and others are well supplied. Quite ample stocks are held by city dealers. Price of factory filled fine is low. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags in barrels, $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags in barrels, $2.75 to $3; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.65 to $2.70 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—Fall goods are being quoted. In salmon the market is very firm, with buyers not inclined to buy so early. Stocks here are not large. In vegetables the prices at which the market is opening for fall business are rather below those of last season, and some packers guarantee against a decline. Lobsters continue high, and lower prices are not looked for. There is a chance to sell canned lobsters here if at a right price. New haddies move freely, local dealers getting in stocks, and many shipments go west. These are a very popular canned fish. We quote: Corn, 80 to 85c.; peas, 95 to $1; tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; gallon apples, $2.20 to $2.25; corned beef, Canadian, $2.40 to $2.45; 2-lb. tins American, $2.70 to $2.75; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, American, 3's, $2.40; Canadian, $2.70 to $2.75; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2.25 to $2.40; salmon, $1.40 to $1.50; lobsters, $2 to $2.10; haddies, $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2 75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 to $5.75 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

GREEN FRUIT—This is one line in which trade is active. Valencia oranges are about out of the market. Season being late a small quantity of Jamaica oranges are sold, but chief demand is for Messinas and bloods.

Choice and Strictly Fancy Lemons PRICES RIGHT
Finest Bananas
Arriving Weekly——

HUGH WALKER & SON, Guelph, Ont.

Lemons are firm, quality of stock here good, and good demand. Pineapples arrive more freely and are quoted lower; a good many small ones are noted. Strawberries, American, have better sale and are quoted lower. American cabbage also moves more freely. A few green peas have arrived. Rhubarb is in large supply and moves freely at low figures; the supply is local. Very few tomatoes are being received. Cucumbers are also as yet light sale. The large sale is bananas. We quote: Lemons $3 to $4; Valencia oranges, $5 to $6; Messina oranges, $3 to $3.50; blood oranges, $2 to $2.25; pineapples, 10 to 14c.; cranberries, $3 per box; bananas, $1.25 to $2; rhubarb, 1 to 1½c.; strawberries, 10 to 15c.; cabbage $2.50 crate; cucumbers $1 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—Demand is still quiet. Quite a quantity of currants, both cases and barrels, direct importations, are daily expected. Evaporated apples, though low, have some movement. Dried, though lower, have no movement. Quite a quantity of Nova Scotia dried are here, and could be bought low. Advices from France quote prunes for fall shipment higher, though little can be told for sure for about a month. Bermuda onions are easy. Egyptian are quite freely sold. Peanuts are beginning to sell more freely. Prices are firm. We quote: Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; layers, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M. 4-crown, 6 to 7c.; 3-crown, 5 to 6c.; London layers, $1.70 to $1.85. Currants, bbls., 3¾ to 4c.; cases, 4¼ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½c.: prunes, boxes, 6 to 7c.; half-boxes, 7 to 8c.; dates 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 5c.; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c.; Egyptian onions, 2 to 2¼c; Bermuda onions, $1.50 to $1.75 per crate; cocoanuts, $3 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 8c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Market is on the whole quiet; In cheese a few Canadian have been sold here, but stocks are very light, buyers waiting for local made cheese to come in, which will be on the market shortly, when they will fill all demands. Eggs have held their price well, but cannot be called firm. Supply is fully up to demand, and for case eggs lower prices are looked for. Butter, if anything, firmer than last week, but is still low. The low price at which Canadian has been sold here is keeping market down. The very dry weather has prevented more local butter coming in. From present outlook, the quantity of cheese made in this province this season will be less than last. There is no demand for old cheese. We quote: Common dairy butter, old, 10 to 16c.; new dairy, 15 to 16c.; new creamery prints, 22 to 23c.; cheese, 8 to 8½c.; creamery, tubs, 17 to 19c.; eggs, 9 to 9½c.

SUGAR—Stocks are still quite ample. There is little life shown, while higher prices are expected. Sugars here are sold at about refiners' prices, and the happy event is still in the future. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—Market is hardly as firm here. The West India steamer, due in little over a week, has a full cargo, some orders for St. John not being filled. Some Porto Rico is daily expected. During the week a cargo for Fredericton arrived for transhipment. Stocks held and to arrive are quite ample. We quote: Barbadoes, 29 to 30c.; Porto Rico, 33 to 35c., bbls.; New Orleans, 30 to 36c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Antigua, 26 to 27c.; St. Croix, 28 to 29c.; Nevis, 25 to 26.

FISH—Movement in dry fish dull and prices continue low. The same is true of pickled. Some new are arriving, which show good quality. In boneless cod there is very little demand. Smoked herring are still very dull. The chief movement is fresh fish. Gaspereaux are a good catch at present and have good demand at fair price. Shad so far are small catch. Salmon are arriving freely from the north shore and quantities are shipped. Local catch is still light. It is a very active business after it opens. Mackerel are reported large catch. They are a splendid fish, not having the bones to trouble one which shad have. Halibut are received quite freely. Lobsters have been received in fair quantities during the week. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.25 to $1.30; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; new smoked, 4 to 5c.; Canso, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; shad, half-bbl., $5; Shelburne, $2.50 to $2.75 bbl., $1.65 half-bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; fresh Gaspereaux, 50 to 60c.; smoked do, 90 to $1; fresh shad, 10 to 12c.; salmon, fresh, 11 to 12c.; mackerel, fresh, 11 to 12c.; lobsters, small, 3 to 4c.; medium to large, 6 to 7c.

PROVISIONS—There is still light movement. Stocks of pork and lard are quite large and have disappointed holders. In compound lard demand is very light. Buyers want pure. American lard, pure, is offered so as to cost under the price of Canadian and sales are reported. We quote: Clear pork, $14 to $14.50; mess, $13.50 to $14; beef, $13 to $14; domestic mess pork, $13 to $13.25; hams, 9½ to 10c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, 8½ to 9c.; compound, 7c.

FLOUR, FEED, MEAL AND SEED—There is but light movement in flour and markets show no change, at least they are no firmer. In cornmeal the sale is still large at the very low price. Oatmeal is quiet, and like other lines quoted low. Prince Edward Island oats are lower, but at the price of the Ontario they have the market. In split peas and barley prices are very low. The sale is, however, limited. Very little barley chop is sold and very little raw barley ground. Beans show no change; stocks large. Hay quiet. The sale of seed is about over. We quote as follows: Manitoba, $4.55 to $4.60; best Ontario, $4.45 to $4.50; medium, $4.30 to $4.40; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.50; cornmeal, $2.10 to $2.15; middlings, $19 to $20 on track; bran, $18 to $19; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90c. to $1; oats, 34 to 35c.; hay, $11.50 to $13; barley, $4; round peas, $3.65; split peas, $3.70 to $3.80; yellow-eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat, native, $1.30 to $1.35; American timothy, $2; Canadian timothy, $2.75; red clover, 9 to 9½c.; alsike, 9¼ to 9½c.; mammoth, 9 to 9½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

In one day during the past week, twelve thousand live lobsters were shipped from Digby to Boston.

Shipping soft wood to Rockland is, as a rule, a large business here, but this year the market there is dull.

Many of our wholesale merchants this week received shipments of pickles from the well-known Toronto house of T. A. Lytle & Co.

St. John hotels are busy making improvements this spring. The amount of accommodation has also been much increased. Though outside the buildings may not be as imposing as some elsewhere, the internal arrangements have a splendid reputation, such as is equalled by few.

Very large catches of mackerel are reported. The catch in one week at the Burn Point trap, near Port Maitland, was valued at $10,000.

The firm of Murray & Murchie, Benton, have admitted Mr. Samuel Arscott a partner. The firm name now is Murray, Murchie & Arscott Co.

Alexander Diotte, of Campbellton, has found it necessary, owing to increased business, to enlarge his store. He is putting up a fine new building.

Not only flour, but other goods, continue to arrive from Ontario via Boston. Our railway companies should re-arrange their freight rates if they want the business.

Of late, quite a demand has grown in our city for tapioca, prepared so as to be ready for immediate use. So far, this article has been imported. It is now being put up by a local firm.

The first Canadian canner to quote vegetables in this market for fall shipment is the Delhi Co. Their Mr. Stoddard was this week calling upon the trade here with Broker F. H. Tippet.

Each year there are more apples grown in our province, and, to judge from the quantity of nursery stock delivered this spring, the results have been satisfactory. Our farmers intend to do a still more extensive business along this line.

Quite a large quantity of currants are daily expected. They are all to be cleaned. The sale of cleaned currants has very much increased. They are a large proportion of the total sales. Our wholesale grocers clean and pack their own in many instances. Some have already made a reputation for quality.

The bank clearing house here has just closed its first month's business. Our banks are well pleased with what is, at least in St. John, a new venture. The following is the amount of business reported: First week, $665,560; second week, $555,345; third week, $525,048; fourth week, $464,473; total, $2,413,591.

Special values are offered by Laporte, Martin & Cie. on all kinds of nuts.

T. A. Lytle & Co. report a steadily increasing trade in pickles and catsup.

Davidson & Hay offer imported French castile soap, in boxes at close figures.

N. Turcotte & Co. are receiving this week a consignment of Paterson's camp coffee.

Another shipment of Southwell's Kentish jams, jellies and marmalades in this week to Frank Magor & Co., Montreal. These goods are fast becoming prime favorites throughout Canada.

T. Kinnear & Co. have in stock a shipment of new season's lobsters in tall tins.

John Sloan & Co. are in receipt of a shipment of fine Patras currants in cases and half-cases.

Dawson & Co. have this week received two carloads of cabbage from Crystal Springs, Mississippi.

T. Kinnear & Co. still have a lot of California dried peaches which they are offering at low figures.

James Turner & Co. are offering an extra fine 20-oz. mixed pickle, the best 10c. article on the market.

"Phœnix" matches are again in store with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. Special terms for 5-case lots and over.

A shipment of Albert sardines, ¼'s and ½'s, key openers, arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

Flys will soon be here. Lucas, Steele & Bristol have the Tanglefoot fly paper. Large cases only cost $4 each.

The Eby, Blain Co, Ltd., are offering special values in California evaporated fruits —peaches, pears, plums and apricots.

McWilliam & Everist, Clemes Bros. & Dawson & Co. are daily in receipt of consignments of strawberries (Canadian.)

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of a large consignment of Sultana raisins, which they say are fine stock.

East India pickles are finding ready sale with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. They are packed in cases, 1 dozen each. Try a case.

A large shipment of cheap Young Hyson teas arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., which they are offering at low figures.

W. H. Gillard & Co. advise the trade that they are offering special prices in California evaporated peaches of excellent quality.

A. E. Richards & Co. note a large demand for Knox's gelatines, their orders during May being larger than for any previous month.

Balfour & Co., of Hamilton, are in a good position to fill orders for fine quality selected Valencia raisins—bought before the advance.

A. E. Richards & Co. are offering special values in tomato catsups, made by Williams Bros. & Charbonneau, in half-pint and pint bottles.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie. report a fresh arrival of Batger's Nonpareil jellies and Batger's Seville orange marmalade in 1-lb. glass jars.

A large consignment of P. Richard's brandy, via ss. Colona, just reached Laporte, Martin & Cie., Canadian agents for this popular brand.

Titterington & Co., St. Catharines, have some magnificent strawberries ready for shipment. They also expect to do well in cherries this season.

THE CANADIAN GROCER found things going pretty lively at Boulter & Sons' Toronto factory yesterday. Their shipments of Florida pines are now arriving, and no time is lost in preserving them when they are unloaded from the refrigerator cars. Special mention might be made of their new line of "grated" pineapple, of which they speak in their advertisement.

"Diamond" baking powder at the reduced prices is meeting with an active demand, report the manufacturers, W. H. Gillard & Co.

James Turner & Co. advise they have the finest Japan tea ever sold in Canada, which their friends can sell at 25c. and pay a handsome profit.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. report rapidly increasing sales of "Victoria" brand of matches. They sell them at $2.40 a case; less in large lots.

James Turner & Co. report the arrival of a large consignment of French Imperial prunes and Imperial plums, which they are offering at low prices to the trade.

A shipment of Batger's goods has been just received by W. H. Gillard & Co., containing, among other things, solidified jellies in tablets and marmalade in jars.

New pack "Golden" haddies are being offered, and the agents, Northrup & Co., say the trade are taking them almost faster than they can get them from the factory.

F. W. Fearman is finding a good demand and ready sale for his "Star" brand kettled lard, which is looked upon by the trade as the standard article for purity and quality.

A wide-awake grocer in Guelph wrote us recently: "I have been handling Keen's mustard and Oxford blue for 25 years and always found them give satisfaction. Keen's show cards are the best and most attractive in my store." Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, will express new cards to any grocer in Canada.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of a shipment of Morton's goods, consisting of table salt in glass bottles, pickles, arrowroot, French peas and mushrooms.

D. C. Brosseau & Co. are offering to the trade the finest lot of fancy Ponce molasses ever brought into Canada, which they say is worth 5c. per gallon more than Barbadoes.

The following firms in Quebec are receiving this week per ss. Concordia shipments of Paterson's sauce: Whitehead, Turner & Co., N. Rioux & Co., J. B. E. Letellier, Langlois & Paradis.

The Mazawattee Tea Co. have withdrawn from the Canadian market their late representative. The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report having sold out of all lines except 40c. 1-lbs. and 60c. ¼, ½ and 1-lbs.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol have just received their consignment of Truro condensed milk; also condensed coffees, viz., Mocha and Java, Jamaica, Java. They also have condensed cocoa in tins and evaporated cream.

"Several grocers in the west," write Frank Magor & Co., of Montreal, "applied for a supply of Keen's mustard and blue show cards, and we ran short of mounted ones. A fresh supply is at hand and being sent out this week."

LOTS OF THEM IN YOUR TOWN.

The number of people who are constantly on the lookout to get something for nothing never grows smaller, says a contemporary.

A trifling article advertised to be given away free with every purchase never fails to influence scores of people in favor of the store making the offer. The article presented, if of any value at all, will, 19 times out of 20, be valued more highly than its real worth, because it was obtained free of cost and will always bring favorable recollections of the store where it was obtained, unless the article is "free" in name only, and the customer is made to pay dearly for it in the quality or price of other articles purchased. But a merchant so shortsighted as to resort to such practices must expect them to do the boomerang act.

SILVER DUST MFG. CO. - - HAMILTON

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

TRADE throughout Nova Scotia is dull in all lines, especially in breadstuffs and provisions, and the trade say they cannot recollect a time when business was so dull and so utterly impossible to make a brokerage. The impending elections are put down as the cause, and if this is so it is satisfactory to know they will be over in a few weeks.

In breadstuffs the markets seem easier all along the line. It is possible to lay down good flours here for $4, and some very good mixtures are sold at $3.85, Manitoba and Ontario mixtures.

As corn is lower, cornmeal is not expected to improve in price. It is now quoted somewhere about $2 by the carload.

Oatmeal and rolled oats are about $3 by carload lots.

Live hogs are being imported from Ontario, the price being paid there being $3.80 to $4.

The only mutton on the market is P. E. Island. The demand is fair. It is worth 7 to 9c. per lb.

There is a fair demand for veal at 4 to 5½c.

The provision market is quiet. Beef cattle are more plentiful than for years, and the quality is fully as good as it has ever been, both in native and Ontario. The good quality is owing to the low prices and great quantity of grain. J. A. Leaman & Co. received four carloads of cattle last week, two from Guelph and two from Fergus. The demand is only fair, and the large quantity of beef in the market makes trade rather stagnant. Cattle are worth $7 to $9 per 100 lbs. in Halifax, sinking offal.

Little can be said about poultry at this season. A few occasional old turkeys and hens offer.

Eggs are very plentiful and on delivery here by the case at 8 and 8½c.

Butter is fairly plentiful and the demand is good. There is no scarcity of good grades, which is a change for Nova Scotia.

The produce market is dull. Potatoes and oats are plentiful and dull. Potatoes sell at 20 to 25c. per bushel on the deck of vessels. A good quantity of white Ontario oats sell on the track by the carload at 31 to 32c, which about shuts out the P.E.I. article.

The sugar market is very quiet. Prices of refined remain unchanged. The movement is very limited.

There is about the usual demand for green fruits. Supplies now arrive from Boston on Wednesday night instead of Sunday. The market is well stocked with oranges, which sell at an advance of from 50c. to $1 per case. Lemons remain at the unusually low price of $3.50 for 300 count. Bananas continue steady in price, $2 to $2 50 per bunch, with fair demand. Pineapples, fancy stock, are worth $2 to $2.25 per dozen. New cabbages are in, and sell at $2.25 to $2.50 for choice. Cucumbers, in crates, are worth $3 25, and natives 7 to 8c. per lb. Egyptian onions are worth 2¼ to 2½c. per lb., and Bermudas $1.40 per crate.

Dried fruits are quiet, there being no variety offering. Some California peaches sell readily, but they are in the hands of the retail trade. Prunes sell freely at 5c., and dates from 4 to 5c.

There is the usual demand for canned goods. Prices are unchanged.

Fish dealers have been interested in the large catches of mackerel on our Coast. The fishermen have been very successful. Large quantities of the mackerel have been shipped to Boston in ice. The steamer Lunenburg took a full cargo the other day, the first full cargo of fresh fish ever sent from this port. The fish are very large, some weighing as much as 5½ lbs. In other lines of fish there is little or nothing doing.

Considerable molasses has arrived of late, but no more than previous seasons. The only difference is that this season it all arrived about the same time. Business is not brisk; in fact, it is remarkably slow, buyers taking very small quantities. Merchants who at one time bought from 40 to 50 puns., now purchase only one or two at a time. Prices here are: Extra choice Demerara, 38 to 40c,; fancy Porto Rico, 35c.; good ditto, 32c.; Antigua, 26c., and St. Kitts, 26c.

The death is announced of Wm. Hood, who carried on a retail grocery at 73 Agricola street.

Retail trade in Halifax is fair.

Gottingen street is now the grocery street of the city. It is in this vicinity the working classes live, and on Saturday nights the street presents a regular market appearance.

Public works to the extent of two million dollars are going on in Halifax, which helps retail trade.

CANADA MUCH TO THE FORE.

THE London, England, correspondent of The National Provisioner, New York and Chicago, says :

The bacon market has at last turned the corner. Two weeks ago it became apparent that the pigs would become fewer in Ireland in the near future, and as the killings there and in Denmark were stationary the curers advanced the price 50c. per 112 lb. Stocks were further reduced last week in spite of the rise and the market bounded up to an advance of $1.50 to $1.75. Since then an even, firmer tone has been maintained and stuff selling well. The advance has come rather late, but is grateful even now, as the terribly low markets of late have taken the heart from everybody.

February will long be remembered as the black month of the bacon trade. Never in the memory of anyone I have met have prices touched such a low ebb, and it is gratifying to have to record that none of the curers of repute have wavered during the crises.

Canada is much to the fore just now in consequence of her vigorous protest against the recently introduced bill of the Minister of Agriculture making the slaughter of all animals at port of entry compulsory. In spite, however, of all protests that may be made, the bill will certainly become law and the thin edge of the protection wedge introduced. It was indicated in these columns when the present Government assumed the reins of office that much reactionary legislation would doubtless follow, as the majority is conservative or belonging to the patrician class. Mr. Long's bill is a breeder's bill as against the feeder, and more especially in Scotland he has earned thereby many deep down curses. The Scottish farmers are meeting and protesting as hard as they can, but the inscrutable authority of the Agricultural Department is against them. It is quite true, as Dr. Montague puts it, that the question is not so much one of prohibiting the import of disease, as most people here who know anything of the matter are distinctly of the opinion that the Canadian herds are free. The meat imports continue to increase, as the figures for the first quarter of the present year clearly show :

First quarter.	Cattle.	Sheep.	Fresh beef.	Fresh mutton
	No.	No.	Cwt.	Cwt.
1896	135,622	214,845	625,971	713,842
1895	73,479	197,670	451,424	538,812
Increase	62,143	17,175	174,547	175,030

In addition to the increase in the numbers of cattle and sheep to be slaughtered for food, we here see an increase of some 350,000 cwt. of fresh beef and mutton recorded in the brief space of three months. For the first quarter of the year our imports have been at the rate of 2,500,000 cwt. per annum for beef and of 2,800,000 cwt. per annum for mutton—totals exceeding any that have hitherto been recorded.

There is a "best" in everything.

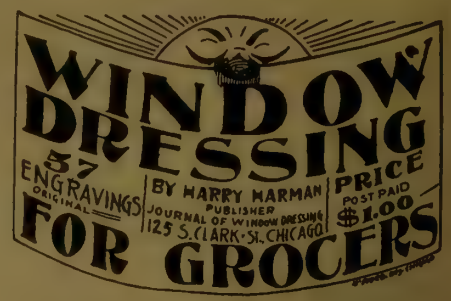
POST-MORTEMS ON DEAD SCHEMES



OF all the peculiar characters to be found in trade there is none so provoking and irritating as the person who insists upon holding post-mortem examinations over his dead schemes, says Inter-State Grocer. We can always find an excuse for the man who fails and accepts his misfortune without a calamity yell; but there is neither defence nor palliation for the weakness that impels or actuates a man to explain the causes of every mistake and outline the reasons for all failures.

There is too much of a tendency to hold post-mortem examinations over blunders. The world cares less about the reasons for the failure than for the reasons why success has been made possible.

There is no one to be dreaded more than the man who talks too much. He is not only a nuisance and an annoyance, but is a disturbance as well. There are some people who are irritating and there are others who are provoking, simply because they do not do the things they are expected to do; there are others who are both irritating and provoking, because they insist upon explaining why they have failed to do the things they should have done and are determined to give reasons for doing things that no business man of ordinary sense will do.

In trade enterprises the only man for whom no excuse can be found or apology offered is the man who works harder to explain his failures than he does to accomplish his purposes. Trade has its friendships and sympathies, but does not care to take part as a pall-bearer in the funeral of misfortune. In short, we care nothing for the failure of a single enterprise, provided there is a successful effort following it; but we do dread the failure that has an unending line of explanations on its trail.

Have You Noticed

Edwardsburg Starch Co., Cardinal, Ont.

The increased demand for Corn Starch during the last few weeks? You can build on good sales all through the summer if you have the right stock. There is not a prepared Corn on the market that will beat "Benson's." Just to emphasize it we will put it in large type.

PUREST & BEST

The Largest Creamery in Canada

Is situated at Renfrew, Ont. Their output of Butter has a high reputation. In order to obtain it and keep the quality, they must use the best obtainable ingredients. They use "WINDSOR" SALT exclusively. Under date of December 17th, 1895, Mr. Wright has this to say :—

* * * * For your convenience I may add that it is certainly the finest salt we ever used. There may be as good, but I have never used it. It might interest you to know how we came to use it. For many years before starting our Creamery, I used English salt in my dairy, exclusively Hearing of yours I sent for a sample, which was promptly forwarded, and we used it with our next churning. Although we used the same quantity we had always used, so much greater strength was there in your Windsor brand, that our butter was so salt that we could hardly use it. We then greatly reduced the quantity, and found it to work admirably, and consequently have used it ever since. When we opened our Creamery, Windsor Salt was at once adopted, and we have never had any reason to regret it. The barrels are well made, and being lined with paper it prevents any dirt or dust from getting in. This I consider a very important factor, and so long as you send us the same quality as you have been doing, it will require very strong inducements to cause us to use any other. You will of course understand from this that it was the Windsor Salt we used in our butter which took the Gold Medal at Ottawa in Sept. last.

(Signed) A. A. WRIGHT, Manager Renfrew Creamery Co., Ltd.

Grocers can obtain "WINDSOR" Dairy Salt, from any wholesale house, put up in 50lb. Linen Sacks and in 20lb. White Cotton Bags packed 15 in a paper lined Barrel.

THE CANADIAN GROCER

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, JUNE 12, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 24

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Ideas, like muscle, develop with exercise.

Sincerity is the seed of business prosperity.

There is a limit to a merchant's as well as to a monarch's sway.

Economy is wise or it is not economy at all. It is a misnomer.

Court confidence if you never court anything or anybody else.

Get after the truth in business even if you have to perspire a little.

Success depends upon our ability to paddle our own canoe.

A light heart in business is a good thing; a light head a bad thing.

Be what nature intended you to be or you'll be next to nothing.

Until a man gets down to business he cannot get up to success.

Time is a commodity which, if thrown away, leads to bankruptcy.

When prosperity comes along be in a position to jump on board.

Time cannot be coined, but it is money nevertheless, and can be saved.

He is a lucky man whose trust is in his own enterprise and not in stars.

You need skill to blow your own trumpet as well as to play the saxaphone.

It is often easier to erase a mistake from your ledger than it is from your life.

Men of mark are men of work. Even the convict has earned the stripes he wears.

Politics are getting hot, and it is to be hoped that while there is plenty of heat, a strong chain of business men will be welded together to protect the business interests of the country in the next Parliament.

Keep your nose to the grindstone when the "boss" is away as well as when he is nigh.

It is not every man that is a genius, but every man can cultivate the faculty for work.

An article that is popular to-day may not be to-morrow. Push, therefore, while it is to-day.

You cannot throw business mud, political mud or street mud without being be smirched yourself.

Canada expects that every business man will on June 23 vote for business men and a business Parliament.

Tuition in the school of experience comes high, but it is usually cheap if the pupil chooses to profit by it.

—

The man with a candle and a case or two of eggs gets an insight to more things than ordinary people imagine.

Cheek is not a substitute for brains; it is what a man gathers up when he has no brains or only a liliputian portion.

A man has got to dig for business as well as for gold. And if he digs right for business he will not fail to strike gold.

When a man in business lacks backbone he can hardly be even termed a jellyfish; nonentity is perhaps the better term.

A man starting into business should be careful regarding the neighborhood he selects, as well as the company he keeps.

It is better that every young man should be the architect of his own fortune. Trust the work to somebody else and it will be a failure, no matter how clever that somebody else may be. There are some things others can do for us; but hewing out our own destiny is not one of them. The best influential and wise friends can do is to assist us in erecting the superstructure.

He who backbites his competitor is chewing asunder the chain of unanimity which binds merchants together against trade evils that assail them.

The departmental store is an evil, but it (unintentionally, of course,) teaches good lessons to business men which it would be unwise to ignore.

The soundness of a theory is only determined after it has been hatched. Even then you may have to wait a while. It is not therefore wise to judge hastily.

A little discontent induces energy, but over much of it makes the discontented a crank which retards rather than helps the wheels of progress forward.

It is wiser for the business man to steer as far as he can from the line of dishonesty, instead of studying to see how near he can go to it without over-stepping it.

The little duty shirked or the little discrepancy covered up may lead to disastrous results in a clerk's life, just as some times does a hidden flaw in a piece of machinery.

A crooked act, like an addled egg, is almost sure to be discovered by some one. At best the chances against it are so great that he is a rash man who would run any risk.

Do you know that when you drop your advertisement from the columns of a good medium, you are dropping out of sight from a constituency large or small, as the circumstances may be.

As to whether a business is good or bad is not determined by the territory it covers, but by its soundness. Many a merchant has a big business that is unhealthy because of the bad credit holes with which it is punctured.

GETTING READY FOR THE PICNIC.

THE Montreal Retail Grocers' Association have selected Otterburn Park as the place for their picnic and annual outing this summer. This is the picnic of the season, and the thousands outside of the grocers and their clerks who make it a point to be present every season will find the site for this year's event most convenient. Otterburn Park is on the Grand Trunk Railway, just this side of St. Hilaire. It is situated on the banks of the beautiful Richelieu, and is perhaps one of the best picnic places around Montreal. The grocers have been there before, but they always distribute their favors impartially, and though St. Rose made a bid for it this year, the association decided that as they had visited St. Rose the year before last, it was time for Otterburn to have its turn, and the majority voted accordingly.

President Vallieres was in the chair, and, once the momentous question of the site was decided, got the meeting promptly to work organizing the committees who will have the affair in charge.

The success of the picnic depends largely upon these gentlemen, but the following names are calculated to dissipate any alarm in this connection :

Games—B. Taylor, chairman ; W. Willison, S. Demers, J. Johnston, T. Gauthier, C. A. Corrigan, W. Duckworth, J. Rabeau, J. O. Levesque, D. Lapointe and A. Cardinal.

Music and Dancing—J. A. Dionne, chairman ; C. A. Corrigan, D. O. Lapointe, Hodge, W. Duckworth, E. A. Cardinal, J. B. V. Daoust, S. Demers, J. O. Levesque.

Railway—S. Demers, chairman ; J. Johnston, N. Lapointe, J. Scanlan, J. B. V. Daoust, B. Connaughton, P. B. Menard, G. T. Vincent, M. P. Laverty, E. W. Summerskill.

Refreshments—J. E. Manning, John Johnston, N. Lapointe, M. Kilkenny, J. Picord, P. O'Brien, V. Daoust, P. Laverty, W. Duckworth.

Reception—President S. D. Vallieres, chairman, and all the past presidents of the association.

Finance—Ald. Turner, chairman, and chairmen of all the other committees.

Printing and Advertising—J. O. Levesque, chairman; W. Duckworth, T. Gauthier, H. Poirier, A. E. Anthier, Ald. Connaughton, J. Johnston, J. Massicotte.

Subscription—A. D. Fraser, chairman ; J. Johnston, V. Raby, R. B. Hall, S. D. Vallieres, J. Scanlan, J. B. Daoust.

J. O. Levesque wanted to know why the wholesale grocers as a body had never been asked to take part in the annual outing. He was sure that if the wholesale trade were approached they would see no objection in closing down for one day in the year, and enjoying a day's outing with their friends of the retail trade. John Johnston considered the suggestion a first-class idea, and advised the appointment of a strong delegation. The matter eventually materialized in the appointment of President Vallieres, A. D. Fraser, Treasurer Raby, R. B. Hall, N. Lapointe, John Johnston, Ald. Turner, S. Demers, Ald. Connaughton, J. D. Manning, H. Poirier, A. Latreille and J. O. Levesque as a delegation to wait on the wholesale men and ask them to join hands and partake of the enjoyment on the 15th July, the date already announced in a previous issue.

The association, besides making an effort to gather in the wholesalers, have instructed their secretary to extend an invitation to the president and officers of the sister association in Toronto to be present.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS.

THE regular monthly meeting of the association was held in St. George's Hall on Monday last, the 8th inst., President White in the chair.

There was only a small attendance. Among those present were Messrs. White, Mills, Bond, Booth, McMillan, Corrie, McCleary, Roberts and D. W. Clark.

Secretary Corrie submitted the name of W. H. Harper, King and Peter streets, as a member. On motion of Mr. McMillan, seconded by Mr. Roberts, he was received to membership on payment of the usual fee.

Mr. Mills reported that he, with several other members of the association, waited on the City Council a few days ago, when that body dealt with the pedlars' licenses. They could do nothing in regard to the license on wagons, except having a license cover a wagon, a driver (who was debarred from soliciting) and one man. If the driver solicited, either from the wagon or otherwise, a separate license would have to be secured ; likewise, if two men solicited, two licenses would have to be taken out. In reference to push carts the deputation had had the fee raised to $10, and it had gone through as amended at the meeting held on the 8th inst. He also stated that the Council had fixed the license for selling cigarettes at $25.

A communication was read from Street Commissioner Jones, in answer to the association's letter re watering the streets. He asked for more specific information as regards the streets complained of.

On motion of Mr. Booth, seconded by Mr. Clark, the communication was received.

Mr. Bond moved that the Street Commissioner be written stating that Yonge street was the one complained of. This was seconded by Mr. Clark and carried.

A few small accounts were presented, which on motion were referred to the Executive Committee, and if found correct, will be paid.

A great deal of dissatisfaction was expressed on all sides at the manner in which the commission men were treating the grocers in the sale of fruit this season.

The meeting adjourned at 10.30.

WISE ECONOMY IN BUSINESS.

Economy and enterprise are both necessary to success, remarks an exchange. Too often the merchant fails to secure a great measure of prosperity because he considers these qualities contradictory, and cultivates one at the expense of the other. Economy may consist in saving every scrap of paper, metal, string, wool, coal, etc., which has use and value, and may lessen expenditure ; it may be extended to mean a wiser expenditure of money for fuel, light, wages, rents, advertising and personal expenses, but the limit of this kind of economy is the proportion of actual waste which can take place in a given amount of gross profits. So wherever economy fails to recognize the necessity of making more business on a scale of expenditure necessary for the larger activity, economy degenerates into a weakness, and not infrequently into a vice. It is always both a vice and weakness when economy becomes meanness, and excites dislike and even hatred in the hearts of employes, relatives and the general public.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND COD FISHERY.

IN regard to the outlook of the summer cod fishery, it is at present somewhat doubtful, especially as far as Labrador is concerned, writes the Newfoundland correspondent of The Montreal Gazette. Heavy losses were incurred there last year, partly in consequence of the bad cure and partly owing to the low price of fish. This will lead to a considerable curtailment this year in the supplies issued, and probably the number of fishermen will be reduced. Our rivals, the Norwegians, are crippled this year by a short catch at Loffoden. On the other hand, intelligence has been received that the French — our bounty-sustained rivals—are fitting out for the fishery on a greatly extended scale. The advantage on the one hand may be more than counterbalanced by an increase of the French competition. It is fortunate for us that so many men are absorbed by the work on our new line of railway. Two thousand at least will obtain employment. The work is just now commenced. Only 120 miles remain to be completed, and this year will probably see the line finished, or nearly so. The stream of emigration to the United States and Canada is again swelling and large numbers are leaving by every steamer. The terrible ice blockade, which is only raised a few days ago, has been a serious drawback to the business of the country. There is little warmth as yet in the atmosphere, and two days ago we had a sharp frost. Farming operations are far behind.

A TEST.

A Parisian merchant, who has been several times robbed by unfaithful cashiers, has invented an infallible test of competency. The cashier presents himself, offers his services, and produces his reference. Then says the merchant : "Show me how you would erase a mistake in your figures." The aspiring cashier sets to works with scraper, ink eraser, and what not ; and if he succeeds in destroying all trace of the erasure, he is invited to take his hat and leave.—Tit-Bits.

The MASCOT Blend

(REGISTERED.)

We have, at the solicitation of our friends who handle the MASCOT bulk blend of tea so successfully, put up this blend in one pound lead packages, packed in 60-pound cases, all black tea or green and black mixed.

To accommodate grocers who wish to make a trial of the mixed teas we will ship assorted cases containing 30 packages black and 30 packages mixed.

We will continue as before to put this up in 100-pound tin-lined cases.

No. 1 Packing contains 60 lbs. black.

No. 2 Packing contains 30 lbs. black and 30 lbs. mixed.

No. 3 Packing contains 60 lbs. mixed.

We feel confident that this package tea will meet with a success second only to that of Ram Lal's.

R. J. Whitla & Co., of Winnipeg, have decided to close their wholesale warehouse at 5 p.m., commencing June 4th, and on Saturdays at 1 p.m.

G. A. Bingham, grocer, Aylmer, has placed a handsome new delivery wagon on the road. The design is different from anything used in that town.

The Kenilworth cheese factory commenced operations for the season on Monday last. A new foundation has been put under the building and new vats put in.

An entirely new system of checking baggage will soon go into effect on the G.T.R. system. Fifteen thousand of the new brass checks are being manufactured at the shops in Port Huron. Besides a general check with the words, "Property of the Grand Trunk," a local check will be supplied to every station on the road.

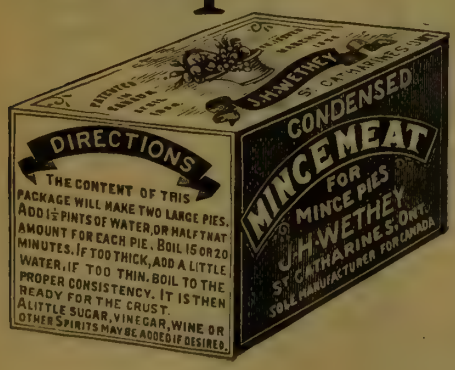
The Hamilton grocers' picnic will be held this year on July 15 at the Falls, as usual. The excursion will be over the T. H. & B. Railway, a new and exceedingly interesting route.

Mr. J. A. Hunter finds business so rushing that he has engaged Mr. Robt. McCracken. When Mr. H. A. Hunter returns this week there will be six busy salesmen in the departmental store.—Review, Durham.

The strawberry crop this season is exceptionally large, and prices will be away down in a few days. One firm has contracted for 1,500 quarts at 4 cents per quart.—Aylmer correspondent of the St. Thomas Journal.

Carlisle, Pa., boasts of a Grocers' Association that has secured to the members a profit on sugar for three years past. It is stated that during that period not a single package of granulated has been sold in the town for less than 6c. per pound.

A clerk in a Woodstock store recently took in a cleverly raised $1 bill, which was made into a $10 bill. A stranger entered the store and purchased a 40c. pair of overalls, tendering the raised bill, and receiving $9 60 The bill was detected when taken to the Imperial Bank for deposit. The two large figure 1's on each side of the bill had been erased by chemicals, and a good imitation of lettering on a $10 bill had been placed there with pen and ink.



Fruit growers along the Niagara frontier have now no anxiety on account of frost, and the prospects are far above the average. Never, says The St. Catharines Star, did the Niagara district look more beautiful and never did both fruit and grain crops promise better for the returns of the labor bestowed on them.

The retail grocers of Omaha have organized for the purpose of curtailing their credit system. Many retail grocers have gone to the wall in that city recently solely because they found that they could not do business without extending credit to a majority of patrons, many of whom proved themselves unworthy of such favors.

A good argument from The American Miller : When you hire a doctor or a lawyer, do you let the contract to the lowest bidder? Why should you let your advertising to the lowest bidder? Does not the character and circulation of a paper cut quite as much of a figure in advertising your business, as the skill of the lawyer or doctor does in attending to other wants?

Hotel Clerk (who has noticed rice in Alkali Ike's hair)—Hum ! the bridal chamber, I presume? Alkali Ike (drawing his gun) —Looky here, pard ! THE VALUE OF A MAN.

MANY employers pay men on the basis of their monthly sales—an apparently narrow-minded, short-sighted policy, writes "S. P. J." in American Grocer. The man on the road may sell goods by force of wit and personal magnetism, and at the same time build up for his house and brands a gradual distrust, a weakening faith in their genuineness, which will cause the customer, sooner or later, to try other brands, other houses, just because the salesman did not always tell the truth.

Men in stores where others are employed can exert an influence of far greater value to their employers than mere precise execution of orders, mere selling of goods or keeping books.

Younger employes often mould their habits, thoughts and lives upon the lines laid down by older ones. If they see a man advanced and pushed ahead whom they know does not scruple to lie or misrepresent, they will do likewise; and the public, who, as a rule, are more intelligent than the clerk, will discover the unreliability of that store and its employes, and avoid it and them, to the loss of the employer.

The influence of a senior employe who sets an example of straightforwardness, will be of great value at the present time, and more as time progresses.

The man who is alert, quick, bright, wide-awake, active, who respects and teaches others to respect his employers, and whose word in trivial things as well as big is not doubted, whose life outside of business is above reproach, has a value far beyond the one who simply sells goods or keeps books without other aim or ambition.

THEY KNOW WHAT THEY WANT.

The man who palms off on a customer what he neither asks for nor desires is practically a bunco steerer, says The Boston Globe. He not only discredits the intelligence and judgment of his patrons, but to all intents and purposes is guilty of obtaining money under false pretences.

The field is wide. There is nothing to prevent any dealer who so desires from bringing before the public any proprietary preparation of his own in which he has faith. Indeed, a man who really believes he has a "good thing" owes it to the public, as well as to himself, to give the fact the greatest attainable publicity. But the penny-wise, pound-foolish dealer who tries to palm off "something else" when a customer wants a certain well-known and widely advertised preparation ought to be sent to Coventry in double-quick time. The people know what they want and are entitled to it.

POSSIBILITIES OF THE GROCERY TRADE.

MANY retailers are of the opinion, says an exchange, that there is no money in their business. Now it may be admitted that success in the grocery business is not for everybody. In all departments of enterprise there is a crowd of competitors, the more capable of whom rush to the front and seize the prizes. To be among the winners requires superior qualifications, and expecially superior industry, qualifications in many cases no doubt natural, but that are also to a large extent capable of acquisition; and to this extent it is open to each man to decide whether he is to be amongst the winners or not.

A lack of progressiveness causes many failures. There must be no such thing as standing still in business. Old methods get worn out, and are no longer capable of yielding a profit. This is above all an age of change and unceasing development, and demands that a man must be forever on the watch to meet its varying requirements, and to trim his sails to catch every favoring breeze. Of course to do this you must have resources in reserve; no business can be successfully carried on without these; on the hand-to-mouth principle you will never trade with any effect.

TRADE AND ITS PROSPECTS.

TRADE in Canada to-day is not satisfactory. It is unpleasant to say so, but it is a fact nevertheless. But at the same time it seems reasonable to say that the dissatisfaction is more the cause of unfulfilled expectations than the relative size of the volume of business: A year or more ago, a good many merchants and manufacturers became possessed of the idea that better times were coming on with a sweep. The consequence was that a stimulus was given both to production and to stock replenishing. But the good times did not come on with a sweep. When the fall came around, both merchants and manufacturers found themselves with more goods in their possession than was convenient. To make matters worse, the price of farm produce ruled low.

This condition of affairs was as pronounced in the United States as in Canada. In fact, just as that conntry led in the return of commercial activity so it did in the retrograde movement. And it is a noteworthy fact, that the depression which has ruled in the United States to such a marked extent during the last five or six months came into existence with the message of President Cleveland to Congress on the Venezuela question.

The millions of dollars of British capital which were withdrawn from the United States, the slump which took place in the price of stocks, delivered a blow to the industrial interests of that country so severe that the concussion was felt by the commercial interests of Canada sharp enough to create unrest, and the natural concomitant—want of confidence. Then followed the unusually large failures that characterized the past winter.

But while the experience of the last eight or ten months has not been bright, it is gratifying to know that the dark cloud of depression is vanishing and that the sunshine of better times is peeping out here and there. And to-day the things that give confidence are greater than those whose tendency is in an opposite direction.

Railway earnings are better than they have been for two or three years; our foreign trade is expanding; the reports of the banks and loan companies indicate healthy conditions; the fruit and cereal crops are, taking them all round, most promising; business is much brisker with our coal mines; the output of our gold mines is rapidly increasing, and payments are now in a more satisfactory condition.

One of the most satisfactory features is the tendency in both banking and commercial institutions to conform to more business-like methods. We have been altogether too lax in our business methods heretofore, and the loss we have been put to on account thereof is the price we have been compelled to pay for the lessons we have learned.

Good merchants, like good soldiers, are the product of discipline. Canadian business men have been receiving their discipline during the last few years, and they are evidently determined to profit by it.

The Federal election campaign is now interfering with trade to a more or less extent, but in another week or two this disquieting element will have vanished, when we may expect increased trade activity.

In the United States, however, there does not appear to be much of a rift in the cloud of depression yet, the reviews of the trade press of that country being unitedly pessimistic. The seat of the trouble over there is undoubtedly the currency question, which of late has been aggravated because of the unexpected strength recently shown by the silver faction.

In Canada to-day we have the satisfaction of knowing that our financial and commercial system is built on a solid foundation, and that there are none daring to lay violent hands upon it. Herein is it that we differ from the United States. And herein is it that Canadians have much food for gratification and cause for confidence in the future.

SULPHATE OF COPPER IN PEAS.

A RECENT case which came before the courts of Great Britain is of particular interest to the Canadian wholesale and retail grocery trade. The sanitary authorities of Southwark, one of the metropolitan municipalities in London, took suit against a well-known firm for selling preserved French peas containing 3.16 grains of sulphate of copper.

The sanitary inspector testified that he had bought a pound bottle of the peas in question, which on analysis were declared to contain copper to the extent of 8-10 of a grain to the pound. This proportion was alleged to be injurious to the health. Four medical men of eminence testified that the quantity of copper was injurious, and six medical men swore that it was not. After a trial and appeals extending over several months, and the hearing of volumes of expert evidence, the Court of Sessions decided that the sanitary inspector was right, and that peas containing three grains of sulphate of copper to the pound must not be sold as food.

This decision is of direct interest to retailers and consumers in Canada, as these preserved peas are sold here as well as in England.

How are retailers to know when the injurious limit has been reached? The goods are received securely packed and ready to hand over to their customers, and the average trader hardly possesses the necessary scientific knowledge to determine the exact percentage of the coloring ingredient, when eminent medical authorities were unable to agree upon it.

This is an important matter to the community at large, and our own authorities should deal with it in a way which would establish the fact beyond a doubt whether goods of this kind are injurious or not.

Arising out of this last consideration comes the query: Is the eating of preserved green peas really injurious? We have the fact that at least the enormous quantity of 20,000,000 pounds are eaten in this country every year, and yet all the endeavors of the recent prosecution failed to produce a tittle of evidence, either oral or written, to prove that any injury resulted from that immense consumption. There were innuendoes and assertions and beliefs galore, but not one single authenticated case of injury from the eating of preserved green peas. Here is one fact that is worth thousands of theories. But after all it is not surprising when we remember that metallic copper of itself is harmless, and that eth object of adding sulphate of copper is to preserve or fix the color of the pea. Again, the pea, which is more nutritious and easy of digestion than most vegetables, is one of the few in which in its natural state no trace of copper is to be found. Moreover, sulphate of copper is actually used as a medical remedy in doses of one-half to two grains, while in the case under consideration an eminent scientific authority quoted by the prosecution admitted that four ounces of preserved peas would be a reasonable quantity to be consumed by a person at an ordinary meal, and in that quantity there could be no danger.

In France there is no restriction placed upon the use of sulphate of copper in coloring peas. In the United States the subject has been thrashed out. At a recent conference between the food purveyors of Pennsylvania and the Food Commissioner, a carefully prepared paper on the question was presented, and received marked attention. It demonstrated that the use of sulphate of copper in such proportions as are needed for retaining the natural color of the vegetable is absolutely harmless," and that peas so colored did not come within the provisions of the food law which classifies an article as adulterated if colored." The Deputy Attorney-General, who listened to the proceedings, publicly expressed the opinion that there was but one side to the case, and that the commonwealth surely could not interfere with the sale of preserved peas unless more substantial evidence or information proving their unwholesomeness could be given.

THE TUMBLE IN MOLASSES.

THE sudden somersault in the molasses market at Barbadoes, after it had been giving every indication of a strong upward tendency, is difficult for the trade to understand.

After dropping from 13c. to 11c., it recovered to 12c., but now recent advices state that sellers are free at 10c. first cost at the Island. The only apparent reason for this sudden change is that the quality of the goods is not up to expectations.

THE CANADIAN GROCER early in April pointed this out as a possibility, and recent intelligence, which has been placed at its disposal, confirms the belief.

The later arrivals show disappointing quality, and advices state that buyers who wait for June shipment run great danger of getting dark, thin, acidy molasses. Besides this, there will be great danger of loss in gauge on these later shipments, the possibility being that by the time they are landed on the wharf in Montreal they will show great shrinkage.

At 10c. it may be stated that cargoes could be laid down at about 26½c. in Montreal, which is a considerable shading even on the recent decline in prices for cargo lots. In contrast to Barbadoes, Porto Rico goods maintain a steady aspect on the whole. Letters this week from a leading firm state that 1,000 to 1,500 puncheons is about the limit, and that the goods can hardly be laid down in Canada under 28 to 29c.

SICILY FILBERTS HIGHER.

Late advices from Sicily by cable report a higher market there for filberts, but no cause for the upward movement is assigned, and in the present dull condition of trade the spot market has not been affected. The last mail advices were to the effect that there would be a good crop.

TERMS ON RICE.

An impression appears to prevail in some quarters that the Mount Royal Milling Co. prepay freight on 10-bag lots of rice. This is not correct. The change made in deliveries, referred to in our issue of 8th May last, simply reduced the minimum quantity of a delivery from 20 bags to 10 bags, but in all cases prices continue as before to be f.o.b. Freight is not prepaid.

REACTION IN SUGAR.

THE feeling in regard to sugar is better than it was a week ago, although the market is still dull as far as Canada is concerned. The better feeling is due to stronger markets in London and New York.

The improvement began on Saturday in London and up to the time of writing the price of beet and cane there has, by successive advances, gained from 4½ to 6d. In New York on Tuesday, raws advanced 1-16 to 3 13-16c. for '96 test crystals, and the refiners were buyers at that figure, while on the previous day, what is known as Empire A granulated, was marked up 1-16c. In its market report of Tuesday, The New York Journal of Commerce, in regard to refined sugar, said: "There was a very good demand, although most of the orders were for small lots. The market is oversold somewhat, and there is more or less delay in shipping the principal grades. The general advance looked for did not come to-day, but some country buyers show more disposition to anticipate a rise, and they have purchased some sugar to provide for the wants of the immediate future at least. Foreign refined sugar is in fair demand at steady and unchanged prices."

The week before last THE CANADIAN GROCER referred to the fact that a speculator, who controlled a round lot of granulated sugar, was offering it at less than refiners' prices by ¼c. His sugar was bought several months ago when refiners' prices were still lower than they are to-day, which allowed him a good margin to work on. Besides the weight of this outside lot on the market, stocks in refiners' hands are ample for some time to come, and jobbers also are well known to be supplied ahead. These conditions naturally tend to keep the market in Canada dull.

The failure of several heavy speculators in London was the cause of the decline there toward the close of last week. But, as already intimated, a re-action has set in.

Refiners claim that granulated is cheap at its present price, which is a full ½c. below New York, and that buyers might do worse than purchase at to-day's figure.

It may be remarked that at this time last year sugar, both granulated and yellow, was selling at about present prices in Montreal. In New York granulated was 9-16c. lower at this time last year than it is at present, viz., 4 7-16c. against 5c.

NEGOTIATING FOR AMERICAN BUTTER.

The position of the butter market is not one that gives much assurance at the moment, receipts both in Canada and the United States being large, while the English and Continental markets do not afford much encouragement to exporters, although a great deal is going out from New York for these points. Last week the exports from New York aggregated 9,650 packages, against 1,558 packages the same week a year ago.

In the Western States prices are low, and a Toronto firm has this week been offered both by mail and telegraph from Chicago the finest creamery at 14½c. per pound in store. This is from ½ to 1c. per pound lower than similar butter could be obtained in Canada.

The persons on this side who are negotiating have no intention of bringing the butter into Canada, the duty of 4c. per pound making that, of course, out of the question. The intention is to hold the butter for export via one of the United States ports.

CANNED SALMON FUTURES.

THERE has not been much doing yet on the Toronto market in regard to transactions in futures in canned salmon; but there has been probably more done than is apparent, the little business passing having been carried on quietly.

A good deal of secrecy is being maintained, but as far as THE CANADIAN GROCER can learn, the full allotment for the Toronto market of one of the leading staple brands has been disposed of at $4 75 per case f.o.b. at the Coast. This is 25c. above the figures obtained for the pack of 1895.

Of course, it is yet too early to say what the coming season's pack will be, but advices from the Coast state that it is expected to be small. In consequence of this, some at least of the packers are making their allotments for the eastern markets less this year than last. At any rate, it appears quite likely that the canners will be compelled to pay higher prices for their fish.

The canneries on the Columbia River have for some months been experiencing a strike with the fishermen, and several of the men who took the place of the strikers have been murdered. Besides this the run of fish on that river has been light, and a much smaller pack than last year is looked for. Although this only immediately concerns the United States pack, yet, if these conditions continue, they will naturally have their influence upon the price of Canadian salmon.

FIRE IN A CHINA SHOP.

Sunday night last a disastrous fire broke out in the warehouse of J. L. Cassidy & Co., wholesale crockery, 339 St. Paul street, Montreal. It started in the top flat, and the upper flats were almost completely gutted. The water tower poured immense quantities of water into the blazing building, and a great deal of the stock, uninjured by the flames, suffered seriously from the water, which caused the glazing to crack. The firm estimate their loss at about 75 per cent. of the stock, or about $100,000. Several hundred crates of goods were at the bonded warehouse, besides a quantity of goods at the dock.

CHAT WITH A CEYLON TEA MAN.

MR. R. VALENTINE WEBSTER, manager of the Ceylon Co-operative Tea Gardens Co., Colombo, Ceylon, arrived in Toronto on Friday last. He remained in the Queen City three or four days and visited the wholesale houses in company with Mr. George Stanway, the representative in Toronto of Mr. Webster's company. Mr. Webster makes a tour of the world annually in the interest of his firm, and this is his fourth trip to Canada. Before he left the city I had a short and pleasant chat with him.

Mr. Webster left Colombo in February last, and before reaching Canada visited Calcutta, Australia, Honolulu, and the United States. While in Calcutta he made arrangements with a well-known firm there, Shaw, Wallace & Co., for the shipment of Indian grown teas direct from that port to foreign countries, including Canada and the United States. The firm name of the concern under which these shipments will be made is the Hooghly Indian Tea Co. Shaw, Wallace & Co. have hitherto confined their energies to Mincing lane, London. Gillespie & Co., of Montreal, will be the agents in Canada for the Hooghly Co.

"We expect to have samples here next month," explained Mr. Webster, "when we shall begin operations."

Mr. Webster, while in Australia, started the first coffee plantation that that colony has ever possessed. It is situated in Queensland. When I queried him as to its possibilities, he said :

"It will turn out a very profitable industry, as the countries now producing high-class coffees have suffered very much from disease during the last fifteen years."

"But what makes you think coffee growing will succeed in Queensland?" I ventured.

"The climatic conditions. But then we have been experimenting. We began four years ago with planting three or four acres, and the result has assured us of success. The kind of coffee we are growing is the Arabian."

"How did you find the general trade conditions in Australia?"

"They are improving, and this year will be the best that the business men there have experienced for the last five years. The gold mines in Western Australia are drawing a large number of people from South Africa. The sugar crops of Queensland also show a large increase over previous years."

"What about the tea situation in India and Ceylon?"

"The demand for Indian and Ceylon teas," replied Mr. Webster, "is not only increasing in Canada and the United States, but in all quarters of the globe. The increase at present is chiefly in Russia, where a very strong demand has sprung up for the better class of teas. In fact, the greater part of the better class of Indian and Ceylon teas are now going to Russia. I am sorry to say," added Mr. Webster, "that Australia is taking most of the cheaper grades, teas which are entirely unsuited for this market." And then he animadverted upon the folly of attempting to cultivate trade in low-grade teas, and the wisdom of cultivating trade in the finer teas.

"Are there any new features to note regarding the tea trade in Ceylon?"

"Yes," said Mr. Webster somewhat emphatically; "there is quite a boom on in Ceylon. Several estates changed hands shortly after my departure at equal to $550 per acre."

"Can you give me any information regarding the new crop of Indian teas?"

"The new crop of Indian teas should be arriving on this market the latter part of next month. By-the-bye, you might explain one thing. I am being repeatedly asked by people on this side of the Atlantic whether I can send samples of first crop of Ceylon teas. Now, there is no such thing as first crop of Ceylon tea. Ceylon is only four degrees—or, strictly speaking, three and a half degrees—north of the equator, where we have perpetual summer, and pick the tea all the year round. In Assam, in the northern part of India, the teas do not flush during the winter. Flush is the tea planter's term for sprouting. There they begin to pick tea about May 1, and keep it up till about January 1."

During our conversation I incidentally referred to the ambition of the United States to become a tea-growing country.

"Well," he quietly remarked, "tea can be grown in almost any country. The tea plant is one of the hardiest of shrubs. But it is quite another thing to grow tea and produce it profitably. It is all a question of labor, and the cost of labor in the United States precludes the possibility of that country ever becoming a tea producer."

"How many pounds of tea, on an average, does a native pick?" I asked.

"The average native will pick about twelve pounds per day, working from six in the morning till four o'clock in the afternoon. As it requires four pounds of the green leaf to make one pound of the dried article you will see that a native only really picks three pounds of tea per day."

Mr. Webster's firm, the Ceylon Co-Operative Tea Gardens Co., it is worthy of note, has this year secured the contract for supplying the British army and navy, in foreign service, with tea. For the army now in the Soudan 120,000 pounds of Ceylon tea have already been shipped. The British Government has hitherto been getting its supply of tea from China. "That proves how Ceylon tea is getting along," remarked Mr. Webster, with pardonable pride.

NO MORE DAMAGED LOBSTERS.

PRIVATE advices from Charlottetown, P.E.I., are full of interest to dealers in lobsters. For many years past the trade has been a very precarious one on account of the large losses sustained through deterioration of the quality of the goods. This condition is known as "blackening" or "smut." Many of the cans when opened are found coated with black, which after some time extends to the contents, and alters them to a dark, grimy mass. The evil is widespread and extends to all the lobsters packed on the eastern coast of Canada to a greater or less degree. Many European houses, for example, Crosse & Blackwell, London, refuse to handle Canadian lobsters on account of the uncertain quality of the goods. Last year there were 80,000 cases shipped from Prince Edward Island alone, and it is estimated that the depreciation in value through "blackening" was equal to $3 to $5 a case, making a total loss of nearly a quarter of a million dollars. Indeed there is probably not a dealer in any Canadian or American city who has not suffered more or less from this source.

Nearly a year ago the matter was brought to the notice of Dr. Andrew Macphail, professor of pathology and bacteriology, Montreal, who all last winter, with Dr. Arthman Bruere, worked at the problem. Early this spring they went to Charlottetown and opened their laboratory there. All the canneries were visited and test packs were made in different places. This week in the presence of those interested samples were opened, which seem to show that a solution of the difficulty has been reached. The doctors refuse to give any explanation of the process until it is fully tested, and all the details are worked out and proved by actual experiment. They state, however, that the fish are admirably suited for preservation by proper means, and believe that they can be kept for an indefinite time. This, however, remains to be seen, and six months must elapse till that time. The packers are reported as being most enthusiastic, and see a fortune in store if they can properly preserve their lobsters.

It is better than a gold mine, as it means fully half a million dollars a year more profit to the packers.

PURE NATURAL WATER.

The Laurentian Spring Water Co., Montreal, should make the fortune of its owners. They have a water that is so pure that no expensive machinery is required for filtering and otherwise preparing it for the market. They simply let the water run from the spring into the bottles, aerate it, and it is ready for use. In Montreal it is taking the place of many imported waters.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

A LITTLE more interest is being taken in the sugar market in consequence of the firmer conditions in London and New York, and wholesalers are experiencing a better demand. With the refiners business is still dull. Generally speaking, the wholesale grocery trade is still quiet, although there is a better feeling, owing, no doubt, to the reaction in the outside sugar markets. Canned goods are still in demand, with prices steady. There has been a little doing in the way of futures in canned salmon. The coffee market is quiet and steady. In teas there has been a little more buying by retailers, but the market on the whole is dull. Currants continue in active demand. Almonds are reported higher in France. In foreign green fruits the feature is a stronger market on oranges. Payments are moderate.

CANNED GOODS.

There have been a few transactions in canned salmon for future delivery at $4.75 f.o.b. on the Coast. The local demand for canned salmon is active at firm prices. Canned tomatoes and corn are still going out nicely. Surplus stocks of the latter are being rapidly cleaned out. Canned fruits are neglected. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 55 to 85c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2 40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.45 to $1.50; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, old, $1 90 to $2.25 for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; ditto new talls, $2.10; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7 to $8; 14's, $14 50 to $15.50.

COFFEE.

Advices received on the Toronto market this week regarding the new crop of Rio coffee state that it is of small bean and "foxey." All the better grades of Rio are scarce. We quote green in bags: Rio, 17 to 20c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

Demand is light for syrups, and there are none offering. We quote: Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

A little better demand is being experienced, but the volume of business is still light. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, 21 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

There have been several advances in beet and cane on the London market since the latter part of last week, making a gain of from 4½d. to 6d. all told. A better feeling also obtains in New York, where the price of refined sugar is 1-16c. dearer, with buyers taking more freely. In Canada, prices are unchanged and the demand is dull, although there is a little better demand on retail account. With the advent of the fruit season and an improved demand, a good many people are looking for higher prices. We quote wholesalers' prices as follows: Granulated, 4⅝ to 4.70c.; yellows, 3⅝c. up; Demerara in bags, $3.75 to $3.85 per 100 lbs.

SPICES.

The market is quiet and unchanged. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE.

A fair movement is reported in rice, but the demand does not appear to be as good as usual owing to the low price of sago. We quote: Standard "B" at 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan at 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¾ to 4½c.

NUTS.

Advices report the price of almonds higher in France, stocks there getting very much reduced. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted, and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

The chief feature of the market has been the new season's Japan teas, which are beginning to arrive more freely, although there are only a few here yet. They are showing good value in the medium and better grades. Style and cup quality is good. China teas are dull, and there is not much doing in Indian and Ceylon growths. Ruling prices to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

The currant market continues firm. Local wholesalers are still experiencing a brisk demand. The demand appears to be mostly for Patras currants at 4¼ to 4½c. in cases and half-cases. We quote: Provincials, 3¾ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Patras, 4¼ to 4½c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; ditto, half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; ditto, extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

Stocks of Valencia raisins are light and the high prices ruling prevent the demand from being anything but quiet. We quote as follows: Off-stalk, 4¾ to 5c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6½ to 6¾c. California raisins, 2-crown, 4¼ to 4½c.; 3-crown, 5¼ to 5½c.; 4-crown, 6½ to 7c.; seedless, 4½ to 5c.

In California fruits a small but steady business is passing. We quote: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 5¾ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted, and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.

Prunes are quiet and without special feature. We quote as follows: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c., "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

The primary market for Sultana raisins continues firm at the recent advance. Locally there is no feature to note, and the idea as to price is still 5½ to 6c.

Dates are quiet and unchanged at 4½ to 5½c. per lb.

GREEN FRUIT.

The orange market is very much firmer. There are but few Californias on the market, and ordinary Valencias have been marked up to $8. Sevilles are about out of the market. In bananas, both the supply and demand are fair, with prices unchanged. The pineapple season shows signs of getting towards the close. The summer fruit market at the foot of Scott street was opened for the season on Monday last. There is a fair enquiry for fresh fruits. We quote as follows: Lemons—Messina, $2 75 to $3.50 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $3 75 to $4.50, according to size; do. seedlings, $2.75 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $8; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $2 to $2.25; ditto, boxes, $4.50 to $5. Bananas, firsts, $1.50 to $2; do., seconds, $1 to $1.50; cocoanuts, $4.75 to $5 a sack and 70c. per dozen; apples, Spies, $6 to $7; Golden Russets, $5; Bermuda onions, $1.50 per small crate; Egyptian onions, $2.25 to $2.50 per bag; pineapples, 8 to 15c.; domestic strawberries, 11 to 12c.; domestic cherries, $1.50 to $1.75 per basket; cucumbers, $2.25 to $2.50 per crate and 40 to 50 per dozen; Mississippi tomatoes, $2.25 to $2.50.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There has been no material change in the situation. Buyers' and sellers' views are apart, and there is not much demand. Creamery butter, both tubs and pails, is in liberal supply, while the demand is limited. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 12½c. for good to choice; low grade to medium, 8 to 10c.; pound prints, 12½ to 13c. Creamery—Tubs, 15 to 16c.; 1-lb. blocks, 15 to 17c., according to makes.

CHEESE—Market is dull. We quote: June, July and August makes, 7½ to 8c.; September and October, 8 to 9c.; new, 7 to 7½.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Dull, at 80 to 90c. per bushel.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There is very little doing, and the ruling jobbing price is 5½ to 6c.

DRIED APPLES—Dull, at 3c. in a jobbing way.

EGGS—The quantities coming forward are not large, but the consumption is lighter than it was, and were it not for the fact that pickling operations are still being carried on by some firms, prices would be lower. The ruling idea as to price is 9½c., although the range runs up to 10c.

HONEY—Dull. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

POULTRY—Practically none on the market. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 12c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 40 to 60c.; ducks, 60 to 90c.

MAPLE SYRUP—Trade is quiet, with prices unchanged. We quote: Imperial gallon tins, 90c.; 5-gallon tins, 80c.; barrels, 75c. per gallon.

POTATOES—The scarcity noted last week still exists, and prices are higher. On track 22c. per bag has been paid, but from 2 to 3c. more would probably be paid on track today. Out of store 25 to 30c. is being asked.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

A steady trade is reported in provisions, although most of the dealers decline to buy in any other than small quantities. Owing to the low prices ruling for lard, the quantity being consumed is larger than usual, while very little attention is being paid to compounds.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½ to 5¾c. for carload lots, and 6 to 6¼c. for small lots; backs, 7¼ to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 9½ to 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 8½ to 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs 9½c.; small hams, 10c.; backs, 9 to 9½c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7¼c.; tubs, 7½c.; pails, 7¾ to 8c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short-cut, $13 to $13.50; clear shoulder mess, $10.50 to $11.

FISH.

There are no new features to note, business being quiet and unchanged. We quote: Lake Erie herring, 2½ to 3c. per lb.; blueback herring, $1.25 per 100; pike, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; Restigouche salmon, 18 to 20c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; whitefish, 7 to 9c.; salmon trout, 6½ to 7c.; eels, 5 to 6c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN—There is not much coming forward. Prices are easier. We quote: White wheat, 72c.; red, 70c.; goose, 49 to 50c.; barley, 31 to 35c.; oats, 23 to 23½c.; peas, 50 to 52c.

BALED HAY—Dull at $12 to $13 for No. 1.

FLOUR—There is practically no demand. Straight rollers offered at $3.40 in barrels, middle freights west, and in bags at $3.30.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is quiet and prices rather weak. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.75 to $2.85; rolled wheat, $2.25 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES — Unchanged, with limited demand. Dealers pay 5c. for No. 1, 4c. for No. 2, 3c. for No. 3. Cured hides firm at 5¾c.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6c. for No. 1 and 4c. for No. 2. Lambskins are firmer at 30c., and pelts, 15c.

WOOL—Trade dull and prices unchanged. New fleece brings 17 to 18c., rejections, 15c., and unwashed, 11c. Pulled supers are 19½ to 20c., and extras, 21c.

TALLOW—Unchanged at 3¼ to 4c. for rendered and 1¼c. for rough.

PETROLEUM.

Trade continues fair with prices a little lower on some lines. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16c.; carbon, safety, 18c.; Canadian water white, 18c.; American water white, 20c.; Pratt's astral, 22c.

MARKET NOTES.

Oranges are dearer on the local market.

The outside sugar markets are stronger.

Potatoes are scarce and dearer on the Toronto market.

There has been a slight decline since last week in the price of glucose.

The fruit market on the Esplanade at the foot of Scott street was re-opened on Monday for the season.

Advices to P. L. Mason & Co. report stocks of almonds in France very much reduced and prices higher.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 11, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THERE is little or no improvement in the volume of business in staple groceries, which continues limited in all leading lines. Sugar is firmer this week in the outside markets, but the local market is dull. The same weak feeling prevails in molasses, which has taken a complete somersault. New Japan teas have been moving in a quiet way, but there is no great urgency shown on the part of buyers. Dried fruits of all kinds are firm, stocks of California and Valencia raisins and European and California prunes being almost exhausted. In canned goods jobbers have plentiful supplies of all kinds, and there is little prospect of advance in values, but rather the other way on several leading lines.

SUGAR.

Sugar has been demoralized since our last report, and prices are lower all round owing to weakness outside as well as cutting from first hands on spot. All these causes have resulted in a decline of ⅛ to ¼c. all round, and demand is slow at the decline, while stocks in both refiners' and jobbers' hands are ample for some time to come, even when the preserving enquiry commences. At this writing refiners are free sellers of granulated at 4½c., and it is quite possible that a jobber could buy a round lot for even less money. In consequence of this easiness in first cost jobbing prices have been reduced as follows: Granulated, 4⅝ to 4¾c., and yellows, 3⅜ to 3¾c. The present week, however, has opened up with the outside markets stronger.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in the syrup market. Offerings are light, but demand is limited, and prices are unchanged at 1½ to 2¾c. per lb. as to quality.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market has developed a feverish, unsettled feeling in consequence of advices from primary markets, the latter having taken a regular somersault from their previous strong position. As a result of this, round lots are offering at a decline of 1c. on last week's figures, and the Guild, to meet the decline, have shaded their prices to a proportionate extent. They are now quoting car lots of Barbadoes at 30c. and smaller quantities 31c., with Porto Rico selling at the same money. There are many complaints about the quality of the first receipts of new stock of Barbadoes. This bears out the information from the islands given by THE CANADIAN GROCER early in April that this molasses was not showing the same quality as the previous year. Demand here from retailers is exceedingly slow.

RICE.

A fairly active business for the season is reported in rice, there being a good demand for small lots at steady prices. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50; and Java $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

There was no change in the spice market, business being of a very quiet, jobbing character. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There is little change in the coffee market. Some low prices are reported on round lots of Maracaibo and Rio, but they have not led to any alteration in jobbing values, which rule unchanged. We quote: Rio, 16½ to 19c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 19c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29c.

TEAS.

The tea market exhibits no material change from its position of a week ago. There have been sales from first hands of some of the recent arrivals of new crop Japans all the way from 25 to 28c., and several lots have also been sold to arrive on the same basis. The second shipments are due at Vancouver this week, and two or three carloads are expected in Montreal in the course of a fortnight. Black teas appear to be scarce and are firmly held. We quote as follows: Young Hysons 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45 for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

Stocks of California raisins are greatly reduced on spot, and there have been few or no arrivals during the past week. Stocks of 2 and 3-crown fruit are entirely exhausted, and we omit quotations on them this week for this reason. The jobbing houses have a small supply of 4-crown fruit which they are holding firm at 6½ to 6¾c.

The same firmness characterizes the position on Valencia raisins. For '94 ordinary off-stalk, holders are firm at 4½c., while '95 fruit cannot be had under 4½ to 5c. Fine off-stalk are almost nil, and 5¼c. is asked for what remains, while selected are quoted at 5½ to 6c., with layers, 6¼c.

The stock of Sultanas is exceedingly light, and no orders can be filled under 6 to 7c. this week.

Currants continue firm and unchanged at 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

Stocks of prunes of all kinds are down to bed rock. Bosnias are held firm at 6 to 6½c., and French at 5 to 5½c. The inside price on California prunes this week is 8½c., and they range up to 12c., according to quality.

Figs continue the same at 8½ to 9c. for ordinary and 12 to 17c. for fancy brands.

Dates continue featureless at 5 to 5¼c.

NUTS.

There have been some small receipts of both Grenoble walnuts and Tarragona almonds this week, and prices on both are somewhat lower. Shelled walnuts are also offered rather lower. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c.; and shelled walnuts, 15 to 16c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no change in canned goods. Sales agents continue to repeat $4.50 to $4 75 f.o.b. on the Coast for salmon, but the stock of these goods in jobbers' hands is more than sufficient to last them a long while, and there is no hurry to place orders. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 65c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to 2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half-tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.35; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $7.25 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market generally, except in the case of apples and pineapples, has an easy tendency. The stock of the former is all gone, while the latter are very firm at American points. We quote: Apples, $5 to $6; dried do., 3 to 3½c.; evaporated, 5½ to 6c.; bananas, $1.15 to $1.50; pineapples, 17c., and strawberries, 9 to 10c; lemons, $2 to $3.50; oranges, $1.50 to $3.50, according to brand and package.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Choice eggs have developed a firmer feeling under an improved demand, but seconds are over-plentiful and a regular drug on the market. We quote: Firsts, 9 to 9½c., and seconds, 7½ to 8c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—These are practically off the market.

BEANS—The market for beans was easier, and choice hand-picked in car lots were offering at 70 to 75c., while small quantities sold at 85 to 90c.

POTATOES—In potatoes some business was done, and car lots changed hands at 26c. per bag. Small quantities brought 30 to 35c.

TALLOW—Continues dull and nominal at 4 to 5½c., as to quality.

HOPS—Without movement at 6 to 7½c. for choice, and 5c. for fair stock.

HONEY—Continues slow and unchanged. We quote: Bright comb, 12 to 14c.; dark do., 10 to 12c., and extracted, 7 to 8c.

HAY.

There was a firmer feeling in the market, and prices advanced 25c. per ton, with sales of car lots of No. 1 at $13.25. while No. 2 was quiet and steady at $10.50 per ton on track.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for pork continues of a limited character, and sales are in small lots at $12 to $12.50 for clear cut, and at $12.50 to $13 for mess, but holders would no doubt shade these figures for round lots. In hams and bacon a fair amount of business was done at steady prices. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short cut, mess, $15.50 to $13; hams, city cured, per lb., 7½ to 9½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 6¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There has been a better demand this week for flour, both Ontario and Manitoba grades furnishing activity. Prices generally are steady and unchanged. We quote: Winter wheat, $3.90 to $4.10; spring wheat, patents, $3 80 to $4; straight roller, $3.65 to $3.75; straight roller, bags, $1.70 to $1.80; extra, bags, $1.40 to $1.55; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.30 to $3.75.

Oatmeal is easier all round than it was eight days ago, and continues weak at the decline. We quote: Standard, barrels, $2 90 to $3; granulated, barrels, $3 to $3.10; rolled oats, barrels, $2.70 to $2.75; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs., $2.40 to $2.50.

Although the demand for feed was active from both Ontario and Quebec points, the tone of the market was weaker, and prices declined 50c. per ton. Bran sold at $12, including sacks; shorts at $13, and mouilie at $16 to $18, and in some cases as low at $15 has been accepted. We quote: Bran, $11 to $12; shorts, $12 to $13; mouillie, $16 to $18.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market has developed more activity since our last, chiefly on speculative buying and purchases to cover short sales for export, which have been rather extensive. In French cheese over 6,000 boxes have changed hands at an advance of ⅛ to ¼c., at 6½ to 6⅝c, while 3,000 boxes of Townships make changed hands on Monday and Tuesday at 6¾c. In addition to these purchases and the sales at the different country boards, the May make of two big Eastern Ontario combinations have been bought at 6½ to 6⅝c. at the factory, the deal comprising possibly 15,000 to 20,000 boxes. Estimates vary as to the aggregate short sales of June cheese for July shipments. A conservative figure would be between 45,000 to 50,000, at prices ranging all the way from 38s. down to 32s. 6d. The shippers could not afford to pay more than 6¼ to 6½c. on the inside basis. It is possible, therefore, that a good deal of the recent purchases in the country will go out to fill these short sales. In this connection the country is sold up much cleaner than it has been before at this period of the year. Reference has been made to the fact that the volume of the make for the entire country is not up to that of last year. The receipts at the wharf to-day tend to strengthen this idea, for they were 1,000 boxes below those for the same day last season. In fact, no single section gives any sign so far of increasing its output. The exports to date, in addition to this, are short by 42,000 odd boxes of what they were last year.

The butter market continues dull, and unless exporters take a hand soon, will certainly go lower. The make in contrast to cheese is larger than last year, if the receipts are any criterion, while the exports on the other hand are away behind. Last week over 8,000 tubs of butter were received in Montreal over the two railways as compared with 3,000 last year. Local jobbers are still paying 16c. for late made creamery. But it is doubtful if they would take a line at that price, and shippers' ideas range from 15¼ to 15½c., with possibly a fraction or so more in the case of creamery in boxes, but the receipts of butter in this kind of a package are exceedingly light.

ASHES.

There has been no change in the ashes market, which continues quiet and steady. We quote: Firsts, $3.60 to $3.65; seconds, $3.30, and pearls, $4.80 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL NOTES.

There are no low-priced California prunes now available on this market, the best inside figure on these goods this week being 8c.

Both granulated and yellow sugars at the refineries are weak at the decline, viz., 4½c. for granulated, and 3¼ to 3¾c. for yellows.

The molasses market shows no symptoms of recovery from its sudden somersault, and the Guild's prices show another decline of 1c. all round.

All the 2 and 3-crown California raisins have been entirely cleaned up off this market. There are only 4-crowns left, and they are held strong.

The second direct shipments of new Japan teas arrived at Vancouver on Wednesday of this week. They are expected to arrive in Montreal in two weeks time.

Montreal jobbers generally report having ample stocks of canned salmon to carry them along some time. Sales agents, therefore, find it impossible to book any contracts on new pack.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 11, 1896.

BUSINESS is quiet and will be till after the election. Travelers say it is almost useless to be on the road, as people will not talk anything but politics. They say the people through the country not only as a rule talk more politics than city people, but they know more about them. This is rather an off season in groceries at best, and the unsatisfactory state of the markets does not tend to help the matter. As always there are the bright spots, there is a good demand for deals from Great Britain, also from South American ports for such lumber as their trade calls for. Recent rains have much improved the condition of the country, and although there is still a quantity of logs hung up, there are not as many as was feared. Collections are but fair, money being hard to get. The principal market of interest is molasses, but profits, owing to an easy market, and fairly large stock, are not very satisfactory. Fresh fish move freely and at this season dealers are very busy.

OIL—With the long days now here the movement in burning oil is very light. Prices show no change. There is a fair demand for lubricating and paint oil, but the movement at this season is always limited. We quote: American burning oil, 22½c.; best Canadian, 20½c.; prime, 18c.; no charge for barrels.

SALT—This also is particularly quiet at present. There are no arrivals; sales are light and stocks fully equal all demand, with prices low. There is some movement for dairy and cheese purposes, but this demand is at best a limited one. For retail grocery trade the demand is for 10 and 20-lb. wood boxes and 4-lb. cartoons. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; fine factory-filled, 95c. to $1.20; 5-lb. bags, $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; salt, bulk, $2.65 to $2.70 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—This is beginning to be a market of interest. Some few cars are reported sold for fall shipment. Some canners, and they are among those best known, sell at a price guaranteed against lower prices on the part of outside houses. Although this may be of some advantage to the buyer, and may aid the canner in getting orders, and getting them early in the season, it is a very bad principle, is not business, and can only lead to trouble and dissatisfaction.

F. W. FEARMAN
HAMILTON

Of the new goods corn is quoted lowest, then peas, and tomatoes held highest. For spot goods tomatoes are scarce and higher. Peas are also a very small stock. Corn seems plentiful and low. Some retailers sell tomatoes as low as jobbers' prices. New haddies are on the market at prices lower than last year. Lobsters continue firm at the high price. American packers are pushing canned meats, but dealers are well supplied. We quote: Corn, 80 to 85c.; peas, 95c. to $1; tomatoes, 85 to 90c; gallon apples, $2.20 to $2.25; corned beef, 2-lb. tins, Canadian, $2.40; American, $2.70; 1-lb. tins, $1.50 to $1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.25; 1's, $1.60 to $1.65; peaches, 3's, American, $2.45, Canadian, $2.85; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2 to 2.40; salmon, $1 40 to $1.50; lobsters, $2; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

GREEN FRUIT— There is no new feature. A large business is doing. Some Valencia oranges continue to arrive, but the quality is but fair. Messinas have the largest sale. Lemons have a large sale at this season, and the price continues low. Very few, if any, tomatoes are arriving. Rhubarb has not been so plentiful during the past week, and is quoted rather higher. Strawberries arrive freely, and are of good quality. Pineapples are also in much larger supply, and are marked lower. The sale of cabbage is very small. In bananas there is a large movement, and the fact that to prevent loss sale has to be pushed, increases the business. We quote: Lemons, $3 to $3 50; Valencia oranges, $7 to $7.50; Jamaica oranges, $5 per barrel; Messina oranges, $3.50 to $4; blood oranges, $2.25 to $2.50; pineapples, 10 to 12c.; cranberries, $3 25 per box; bananas, $1 to $2.50; strawberries, 12 to 15c. per box; rhubarb, 2c. per lb; cucumbers, $1 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—This line is still very dull. There is nothing to be said but has been said again and again. In evaporated apples the feeling is firmer, and rather higher prices would not surprise, but demand is light. There is nothing to encourage holders of dried apples. An offer was received from Toronto of 2¾c. for a few cars good Nova Scotia, but holders preferred to hold. A few orders for immediate shipment for currants continue to go forward. They are imported direct, New York houses not being able to compete. Onions have good sale, both Bermuda and Egyptian moving freely; the former are much liked on account of being mild. There is a fair demand for dates, but prunes are dull. We quote: Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; layers, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 5 to 6c.; London layers, $1.70 to $1.85. Currants, bbls., 3¾ to 4c.; cases, 4¼ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 6 to 7c.; half-boxes, 7 to 8c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples, 5c.; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c.; onions, $1 to $2; Bermuda onions, $1.50 to $1.75 per crate; cocoanuts, $3 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 8c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs hold their own in price, but there is very little demand. In cheese quite a quantity have come in from Ontario, principally about 30-lb. cheese. Prices have been easy and have fallen off somewhat. At present the market is a dull one. It looks as if many of our local factories would not start, not at least until (or it might be better to say unless) a better market is noted. This is true chiefly of the smaller factories. Local creameries are finding it hard to sell butter, owing to low prices quoted from Ontario and Quebec, some of which butter gives good satisfaction. We quote: Common dairy butter, 10 to 14c.; dairy, 16 to 17c.; new creamery prints, 20c.; Cheese, 8 to 9c.; creamery, tubs, 17 to 19c.; eggs, 9 to 10c.

SUGAR—Demand is still very quiet, and though prices are held firm, they are such as show small profit. The large stocks held have given little satisfaction to the holder and are getting well sold. We quote: Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellow, 4 to 4⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 5½c.; powdered, 5¼ to 5½c.

MOLASSES—Market has been a disappointing one. Barbadoes at the island is reported down to as low a point as it has been of late seasons. This caused a weak market here, though none of the lowest priced goods could get here for six weeks at least, and then the quality would not be likely to turn out equal to that so far received. A cargo of Porto Rico is to hand and another daily expected. This grade is also lower, but on account of quality it has a large sale. Other grades are dull. We quote: Barbadoes, 29 to 30c.; Porto Rico, 32 to 34c.; New Orleans, bbls., 30½ to 36c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Antigua, 26 to 27c.; St. Croix, 28 to 29c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.; Trinidad, 30 to 31c.

FISH—Dry fish are marked lower, sale being dull. The new fish are coming in. The present price is very low for new fish. Pickled show little movement, and price is just average. Few new have yet been received. The market for smoked herring shows no improvement in either demand or price. There is an active fresh fish market. Large numbers of Gaspereaux are being caught, and what was thought would be a small catch will be at least as large as usual. Those caught now are chiefly packed and sold as alewives, although quite a quantity are still sold fresh and smoked. In shad the catch is about over, and has been small. There is, however, another run in the fall. Salmon are the fish now, and there is just a fair catch and the quality is good. These are almost all sold fresh. Large numbers are being shipped. Our harbor-caught salmon are a particularly fine fish. Lobsters hold firm, and there is a fair catch. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.00 to $3.25; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.25 to $1.30; bay herring, $1.20 to $1.25 per half bbl.; new smoked, 4 to 5c.; Canso, $4 to $4 50 per bbl.; shad, half-bbl., $5; Shelburne, $2.50 to $2 75 per bbl., $1.65 half-bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; fresh Gaspereaux, 50c.; smoked do., 90c. to $1; fresh shad, 9 to 10c.; salmon, fresh, 10 to 12c. per lb.; lobsters, 5 to 6c.; smoked salmon, 20c.

PROVISIONS—Pork is dull and low, with mess, of which the stock held is almost all domestic, bringing about the same price as clear, of which there is still a large stock here. Beef shows little if any change, and it holds its price well. Lard is easy, with American offering freely at a low price that leads to sales. Stocks of lard are too large for the season. Smoked meat is quiet, with rolls very low, but no demand whatever. We quote: Clear pork, $15 to $15 50; mess, $14 to $14.50; beef, $13 to $14; domestic mess pork, $14 to $14.25; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, 9 to 9¼c.; compound, 7 to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour is a light sale, with prices easy and rather lower. Cornmeal is largely sold, and is still quoted at the low price. Beans are a small movement, though low; they are off season; stock is large. Feed is very quiet. Sale of seed is over. Dealers are well pleased with the season's business; prices held well, and a very large quantity was handled. The late rains have much improved prospects for hay. Old is better cleared up than for a long time. Oats are a slow sale. We quote: Manitoba, $4.50 to $4 60; best Ontario, $4.40 to $4.50; medium, $4.25 to $4.30; oatmeal, $3 15 to $3 30; cornmeal, $2 to $2.10; middlings, $18 to $21 on track; bran, $17 to $18; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90c. to $1; oats, 33 to 34c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3.50; round peas, $1.10 to $1.20; split peas, $3.40 to $3.50; yellow-eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat, native, $1.30 to $1.35; American timothy, $2; Canadian timothy, $2.75; red clover, 9 to 9½c.; alsike, 9¼ to 9½c.; mammoth, 9¼ to 9½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The Clearing House reports the amount of business for the past week as $593,880.

D. M. Doherty, late with W. Frank Hatheway, is now on the road for Baird & Peters.

Mackerel catch continues large. Five hundred barrels fresh were shipped to Boston one day last week.

St. John salmon have no equal. John Sealy daily receives large quantities of these fish, which are largely shipped west.

Everything points to a most successful exhibition here next fall. The committees are now hard at work. Much space has already been taken.

Quantities of "Golden" and "Thistle" brands of canned haddies are on the move. They are brought by schooner from Nova Scotia and shipped west by rail.

Charles A. Phillips, of Bristol, Carleton county, general dealer, who some months ago asked for an extension of time, this week made an assignment. Liabilities, about $14,000.

Summer travel has set in. A large movement is expected. The number of Americans coming this way is larger every year. Through our provinces they have cool, fine weather and beautiful scenery.

Mr. Thos. Gorman has received a consignment of new Grand Manan dulse. A large quantity is retailed in the city; also a large quantity is shipped to the American market. A little finds its way to Ontario.

The retail grocers should now close their stores early at least five evenings a week. No clerks work harder or go to work earlier than grocery clerks, and during the hot summer weather they should have their evenings.

Mr. Harry Dalley, who was so successful in placing a quantity of Lytle's pickles and jams with the wholesale trade, has much reason for satisfaction in the reports he receives from the merchants regarding the quality of the goods.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

JOHN SLOAN & CO. are in receipt of a line of French prunes in 28-lb. boxes, which show extra good value.

See "Mascot" on page 9 of this issue.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. will, during July and August, close on Saturdays at 1 o'clock.

Durkee's salad dressing, large and small size, is now in store with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the sales of their "Kolona" Ceylon tea to be rapidly increasing.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have a shipment of new pack canned strawberries. Quality extra good.

M. Masuret & Co., London, are just in receipt of an assortment of Batger's "Nonpareil" jellies.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering snaps in evaporated peaches in bags; fine quality; in prime condition.

A carload of pickles, bankrupt stock, is being offered at low prices by T. B. Escott & Co., of London.

The Pure Gold Co.'s "Reception" coffee, in 1-lb. small tin pails has been having a brisk sale during the past week.

T. B. Escott & Co. are offering a glass case free with 50 pounds "Grand Sultan" tea for a few weeks.

A shipment of choicest Japan tea, May pick, has been received by John Sloan & Co. It is an extra fine drawing tea.

A shipment of Jas. Marshall's, Glasgow, farinaceous products, has just been taken into stock by Robert Greig & Co.

James Turner & Co. are offering a great bargain in 20-oz. bottle cheap pickles. "Quality is first rate," write the firm.

D. Gunn Bros. & Co. are putting attractive packages of the "Maple Leaf" brand of lard on the market in 3, 5 and 10-pound tins.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. have recently received their cargo of Barbadoes molasses, and have shipped 200 puncheons during the past week.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co. are issuing a circular to shippers soliciting consignments of butter and eggs, or offering to purchase.

Pure Gold Mfg. Co. have received an order for another 150 cases sweet tomato catsup from their agent in London, England.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are in receipt of a shipment of fine flavory Ceylon teas in half chests, 50 lbs. nett, and caddies 30 lbs. nett, which they are offering at exceptionally low prices.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have a full supply of canned fruits, including pears, plums, peaches, apricots, blueberries, raspberries, etc.

Attention is called to Lucas, Steele & Bristol's ad. this week. They claim Challand & Jenks' soda water equal to old country goods.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are having a large demand for "Diamond" baking powder since reducing the price of this well-known article.

Geo. Childs & Co., Forbes Bros., and P. Grace & Co., Montreal, have landed shipments this week of Patterson's Worcestershire sauce.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are still selling enormous quantities of Pilgrim Bros.' summer beverages, which evidently are becoming popular in Canada.

T. A. Lytle & Co. are finding an ever-increasing demand for jams, jellies and catsup, which speaks well for the quality of their goods.

James Turner & Co. advise being sold out of their first consignment of 10's pickles, and have disposed of a large part of the second shipment.

"Proof spirit vinegar: carload received and selling rapidly, as we are handling a very high quality at a low price," write T. B. Escott & Co.

"Every grocer who is a grocer has a 'hankering' for fine currants. If he orders a few Vostizzas from us he will be more than satisfied," write James Turner & Co.

"A thousand packages of tea are being packed specially for us in Japan," write T. B. Escott & Co. "Will be shipped this month. A first-class 25c. tea."

"Our 'Phœnix' matches," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "are getting us repeat orders all the time. They are in 5-case lots. We sell at $2.75, freight paid."

The past week has been the busiest during the spring trade season for Laporte, Martin & Cie. The bulk of the business was done in the grocery department.

A large shipment of Dandicolle & Gaudin's, Bordeaux, preserved vegetables, and other French goods, are expected in the course of a day or so by Robert Greig & Co.

In addition to Dandicolle and Gaudin's choice olive oil, Lucas, Steele & Bristol also handle "Huile Surfine de Provence." This latter through Crosse & Blackwell.

The rapid increase in business done by Laporte, Martin & Cie. has necessitated more room for their general offices. Alterations are now being made to meet this want.

The Eby, Blain Co., Toronto, report the arrival of a shipment of Batger's "Nonpareil" jellies, and also a large assortment of Batger's Seville orange marmalade in 1-lb. glass jars. This firm say that the above goods are very popular with their customers.

James Turner & Co. are selling large quantities of their choice select Valencias, Arguimbau's packing. These goods are scarce, and the firm recommends buyers to load up.

"We shall have a supply of new Japans towards middle of month. Will be able to offer some exceptional values in choicest goods," write Lucas, Steele & Bristol, of Hamilton.

Baird & Peters, of St. John, N.B., have recently received a large assortment of Batger's jams in 1-lb. glass jars, and also Batger's celebrated whole strawberry jam in 1-lb. glass jars.

Dawson & Co. this week received a carload of Louisiana cucumbers. There were 420 cases in the car. It is said that this is the first carload of these cucumbers to arrive on the Toronto market.

A large shipment of Cunningham & De Fourier's famous English potted fish and game delicacies arrived for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd. They claim that these are the finest goods packed.

D. Brown, the Canadian manager of Jas. Tetley & Co.'s teas, left Montreal this week on a trip to the Eastern Townships. He is driving through the section and calling on all the country retailers.

James Turner & Co., Hamilton, have received confirmation of the registration of their "Mascot" brand of tea. Like "Ram Lal's," this tea will be kept out of the hands of pedlars and gift tea stores.

SPRING CLOTHES PINS.

A unique and practical household article is the Hoyt patent spring clothes pin, which is illustrated by the accompanying cut. Spring clothes pins are not a new article, there being several kinds on the market, but the price has always been too high to admit of their coming into general use. This difficulty has now been overcome by placing the "Hoyt pin" on the market, so that they can be retailed at 6c. per dozen, and afford the retail dealer a very liberal profit. They can be used on wire or rope clothes lines, will not split like the old-fashioned pin, and will hold the clothes securely. They are put up in 5-gross cases, and can be had of all wholesale and retail dealers in Canada. The firm of Chas. Boeckh & Sons, wholesale brushes, brooms and woodenware, Toronto, have the exclusive agency, and will be pleased to quote prices on application.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THERE is some little stir in business this week, but nothing in comparison with former years. The activity seems to remain with the dealers in fresh fish, who are taking advantage of the unusual large catches of salmon and mackerel and sending them in ice to the American market. Salmon was never so low in this city and mackerel never so plentiful. Good salmon sell at retail by the piece as low as 10 cents per lb., and mackerel are hawked around the streets at 10 cents each. Some lines are low, such as corn, oats, oatmeal and potatoes.

The flour market is steady, but nobody seems disposed to buy beyond immediate wants. Ogilvie's or Five Lilies is quoted at $4.55 to $4.70; Ontario made Manitobas, in wood, $2.25 to $2.35; Manitoba shipments, in sacks, $4.20 to $4.30; Ontario and Manitobas, mixed for patents, $3.30 to $4.40; 9 p.c., $4.10 to $4.20; low grades, $3.45 to $3.70.

A better feeling pervades the sugar market. The cables to the refinery here show beet to be up 3d., being qtoted on Monday at 10s. 9d. to 11s. f.o.b., but the domestic markets show no change in refined sugars.

One has only to pay a visit to the wharves to get an idea of how little there is doing in molasses. On one wharf to-day I counted 800 puncheons of Barbadoes and Antigua, and on an adjoining wharf a couple of hundred puncheons of Porto Rico and Demerara, and the whole had the appearance of a graveyard, the only sign of life being the flies. The movement is very slow, caused by the fact that purchasers are looking for a decline in prices. Some very choice Demerara, the best on the market, sold this week at 38c., but the lot was small; 37c. is a fair quotation to-day for fancy, and 33 to 35c. for choice Demerara. Porto Rico is quoted at 32 to 34c. Stocks are more than sufficient for all requirements. No sales have been made this week on outside account.

There is a lot of salt afloat, several cargoes of Liverpool and Trapani having arrived recently. It is all in the hands of dealers, and, consequently, the price is not changed, both Liverpool and Trapani selling at $1.40 to the trade.

The fish trade, that is outside the boom in fresh salmon and mackerel, is dull. A slight improvement is reported at the Windward Islands, but there is no telling if it will last. There is no doubt the scarcity of fish in Newfoundland will have some effect on this market. Reports from Jamaica just to hand show a decidedly bad state of affairs there, and orders received here are accordingly very small. This seems to suit shippers, who, as a rule, are short of suitable quality for the local trade, and prospects are poor for replenishing stocks. Labrador and Bank cod are worth $2, and Cheticamp and French cured $2.90, tol quol. New alewives are coming in, and the catch is reported very good, and the ruling price is $2.75. Competent judges predict the ruling price of mackerel will be $5 to $6 per bbl. in the near future. New salt salmon will soon be along.

Eggs have taken a big slump, being sold to-day as low as 7c. by the case from schooner; P.E.I. stocks sell at 8c. The market is well stocked and no improvement is looked for.

Good creamery butter is still in demand at 20c., retailing readily at 25c.

The beef market has been fairly active the past few days. Choice is quoted at $8.25 and contract at $7 to $8. It will be lower by the end of the week.

There were no arrivals of green fruit on Monday, stocks coming now on Thursday morning. Oranges are dearer. Some lemons sent here from Montreal sold in a jobbing way at $2.67, but the stock turned out poor.

A. Tourangeau, general storekeeper, of L'Orignal, has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors to Henry Barber & Co., of Toronto. The estate is valued at between $18,000 and $20,000, and the assets are said to compare very favorably with the liabilities. The principal creditors are Montreal houses.

BLACK AND WHITE PEPPER.

In regard to the statistical position of black and white pepper, W. T. Sargant & Sons, of London, write as follows : " The present low range of prices coming at the period when the advance in silver has further operated to the disadvantage of growers to the extent of 16½ per cent. viz.: from 27d. per dozen to 31½d., will for some time prevent an increase in the dollar value to any extent, and probably restrict the planting of fresh vines to any extent for some time to come. The supplies from Penang during the last three and four years have been augmented by the old stocks, estimated at 6,000 tons, that have been stored in Acheen for some years back during the late Acheen war, so that only current crop may now be expected. The cultivation of tobacco plantations of late, having been much more profitable in Sumatra than pepper plantations, is a feature not to be lost sight of. The reports from Singapore speak very positively that present crop will be considerably short, owing to neglected cultivation and bad weather. The Chinese are this year storing large quantities rather than meet current rates, a proceeding seldom done before to any extent. This has occurred in Penang, as well as Singapore. It must be borne in mind, with reference to the large accumulation of stocks in Hol'and and France, that the terminal markets established there during recent years necessarily require a large supply."

HELP FOR CURRANT GROWERS.

It is understood that the Greek Government has officially promulgated a decree continuing the measure (commonly known as the retention scheme) for the coming year. This may be all very well so far as it goes, but it has frequently been pointed out that the scheme in question is utterly inadequate to the necessities of a very large crop. The production of 1895 is likely to be far exceeded this season ; and it is only too evident that the measure was only just sufficiently drastic to bring about the desired rise in values even with the smaller weight of fruit last year. The conclusion which naturally follows is that the effect produced by the retention of 15 per cent. of the growing crop will be altogether insufficient. It will be remembered that one of the previous proposals was to retain all the fruit harvested above a certain given weight, which was to be fixed at what was likely to be required for grocery purposes. We appear in the near future likely to be brought face to face with the difficulty which has all along been foreseen ; and it would seem to have been wise to have at least so strengthened the law, as to have enabled it to cope with the altered conditions, instead of merely confirming the one already in force. The experience of the last few years should have taught the grower that, unlike most other articles of produce, the consumption of currants cannot be increased in any reasonable proportion to the fall in values.—Produce Markets' Review.

WHY THE GROCER LOST HIS MONEY.

THE grocery business, as a rule, does not contain the elements of dramatic incidents, yet I saw last week about as dramatic a situation as the grocery trade can yield, says a writer in Grocery World. In the situation which I saw there stood revealed in a flash the one reason for half of the losses through bad debts, misplaced credits, etc., which retail grocers have to contend with.

The store which formed the setting for this incident was right here in Philadelphia; that's what makes it seem so strange. I had gone into a certain good-sized grocery store on some business, and the proprietor had taken occasion to pour into my ear a tale of woe concerning his losses, his decreasing trade, etc. He had me there altogether for about an hour giving me the history of his life and a few other details.

"Here's one of my best customers," he said, with a doleful whine, "gone and done me out of nearly $200. I trusted him and let him have all the goods he wanted, and now the other day he goes and fails, and where do I come in? I'll never get a cent. What can a man do? If I hadn't trusted him some other grocer would."

I ventured to suggest that as the money was lost it would have been just as well for some other grocer to have trusted the man, but his mind was on his troubles and he wouldn't answer me.

As we were talking a decent-looking man crossed the street in front of the store.

"There he goes now!" said the grocer. "There's the fellow that owes me nearly $200. I'll never get a cent. Here, Brown!" he called.

Brown came in, and the grocer at once started to haul him over the coals about his grocery bill. The man showed that his business troubles had told upon him, and I could see that this whining irritation by the grocer was like rubbing a raw sore.

"Don't you think you can pay me anything at all?" said the grocer. "There's nearly $200 you owe me. You ought to be able to give me something out of all that. You ought to think of your grocery bill the first thing."

Brown bore it all patiently and waited till the grocer was through, then he straightened up and presented his side of the case.

"See here, Smith," he said, "we might as well understand each other on this business first as last. I consider it's your own fault that you've lost this money, and I don't see that there'll be any chance of getting it for you. I haven't got a cent and don't see any prospect of getting any. When I first began to deal with you I told you that I wanted to settle monthly. For six months I dinged at you at the end of every month to give me my bill. Once or twice you did it, but oftener you were too infernally lazy to make it out, and the account climbed up. Now it's gotten big and I'm in a hole and can't pay it. And you're more to blame than I am, for you could have had your money if you'd done as I told you." Then he walked out.

The grocer looked up at the shelves for a moment and then said:

"Looks as if we'd have rain, don't it?"

How many of my readers can take this to themselves?

SOME FAMOUS TEA DRINKERS.

THE noted lexicographer, Samuel Johnson, LL.D., was a man whose only safety from injury through alcohol was by a policy of total abstinence, from which he at times relaxed, says an exchange. His tendency to excess is indicated by his describing himself in 1757, when editing Shakespere, "as a hardened and shameless tea drinker, who has for twenty years diluted his meals with only the infusion of this fascinating plant; whose kettle has scarcely time to cool; who with tea amuses the evening, with tea solaces the midnight, and with tea welcomes the morning." From which we infer that the habit was formed in 1739, possibly when with Garrick he visited London, where he became a slave to tea, as he would have been the slave of wine had he not possessed the strength of character to resist the temptation to use it, which came frequently and to which he at times yielded, seldom indulging to excess. In his diary he claimed that he never felt the least inconvenience from it, but this was the tea lover's excuse probably, for over indulgence, as his rest at night was bad.

Boswell was of the opinion that "no person ever enjoyed with more relish the infusion of that fragrant leaf than Johnson," in spite of Johnson's statement to Jonas Hanway: "I allowed tea to be a barren superfluity, neither medicinal nor nutritious, that neither supplied strength nor cheerfulness, neither relieved weariness nor exhilarated sorrow." At a sitting with Sir Joshua Reynolds he drained a dozen cups, while Mrs. John Scott was fond of telling that she had herself helped Dr. Johnson one evening to fifteen cups of tea. It is related (Northcote's "Reynolds," i., 81) that at Dunvegan Lady Macleod, having poured out for Dr. Johnson sixteen cups of tea, asked him if a small basin would not save him trouble and be more agreeable. "I wonder, madam," answered he roughly, "why all the ladies ask me such questions. It is to save yourselves trouble, madam, and not me." The lady was silent and resumed her task. Dr. Johnson's frequent night interviews with Miss Williams were closed over a cup of tea, no matter how late the hour.

In 1734 tea was sold in London at the following prices: Ordinary Bohea, 9s. per pound; fine Bohea, 10s. to 12s.; Pekoe, 15s.; Hyson, 20s. to 25s.

KEEP UP YOUR STOCK.

Never economize in the quality of your stock, even though the profit may be doubled, remarks an American contemporary. The minute you get a reputation for selling "cheap" stuff—and you will get it if you do this thing—you may as well give up and retire, so far as the possibility of any permanent, continuous family trade is concerned. You'll have transient "cheap" trade, but family trade don't go to the cheap man. It goes to the merchant who keeps the best, lets people know it, and sells for the smallest possible price which will allow a decent profit.

EAST INDIAN TOBACCO GROWING.

FRANK SHAW, a leading tobacco planter from British North Borneo, was recently at the Windsor Hotel in Montreal. Mr. Shaw possesses and manages estates both in Borneo and Sumatra, and has had a long experience of the conditions which prevail at East Indian tobacco-growing centres.

Borneo is divided between several native chiefs, who have given an immense territory to a British company, whose charter is very much like that of the original East India Company. This company, which is composed of a number of British capitalists, lease or sell lands to those wishing to establish tobacco plantations, and thus make a great revenue. In time these privileges will be increased, with the ultimate result in all probability that the whole of Borneo will come under British influence.

According to Mr. Shaw, the "wild men of Borneo" are almost a thing of the past, although here and there there is a little "head hunting" still. "We employ Chinese labor entirely on our estates, for we find the natives quite unreliable. They are lazy, and could not be depended on to do steady work. They plant some bananas and other fruits, and generally do nothing in the shape of labor. They are a mixed race, which includes almost a dozen varieties. Life is quite safe now, although it was not always so. The influence of the British has had the effect of causing a number of native customs, cruel in their character, to be abandoned. Some of them, particularly those on the coast, are Mohammedans, but the bulk of them are without any religion. They are fairly moral and quiet in their ways, but they are not much use for anything. Some attempt has been made to civilize them, but, to tell the truth, I would prefer the native in his natural state to the native civilized. In his natural state he is not, although a liar, a bad sort of fellow; civilized—especially civilized according to our notions—he becomes a thief and a drunkard. The Chinese we can rely upon to do the work much better than the natives. They have the one vice of opium-smoking, but I would rather have this than the vice of drunkenness. Borneo does not produce so good a tobacco as Sumatra, where a fine leaf is grown, which brings a good price in Amsterdam."

WHEAT IN THE TERRITORIES.

Speaking about the acreage of wheat under crop in the Territories and province, Mr. Whyte says the area is surprisingly large, considering the backwardness of the season. From reports of the company's agents, he believes there is not more than ten per cent. less under crop this year than last. The increase in the acreage in the Territories will go a very long way to make up whatever deficit there is at some of the wheat producing centres in Manitoba. Owing to the scarcity of men who desire to do railway work, there were not many improvements in progress along the line, and construction work was at a standstill. Hundreds of men are waiting for the Dauphin railway work to start, expecting to get high wages on that line. No decision has been reached on the summer time table and no change will probably be made this year.—Leader, Regina.

AUSTRALIAN TRADE.

The satisfactory development of the trade between Canada and Australia, which has been made possible by the establishment of the Vancouver and Sydney steamship line, is becoming very apparent. The steamship Warrimoo, of that line, which will leave here in a few days, has a full outward cargo, similar to the case with several other outward bound sailings during the last few months.

Among the cargo are 800 tons of Manitoba wheat and about 150 tons of flour, the latter the product of the Ogilvie mills at Winnipeg. The balance of the cargo consists of machinery, beer, lumber and other Canadian productions.

The line also appears to be becoming a favorite one with passengers, judging from the inward list of the Warrimoo. With faster and larger boats in the service we believe that the passenger traffic would assume important proportions, and this improvement in the character of the vessels employed is likely to take place with the commencement of the fast Atlantic Canadian service, to which the Pacific service will be a necessary complement in the Imperial mail route through Canada.—Statistical News-Advertiser.

BOULTERS' NEW CANNERY.

THE vast proportions to which the fruit canning industry of this province has attained was strikingly manifested here last Saturday at Messrs. W. Boulter & Sons' new establishment on West Mary street. About two o'clock p.m., great crowds of people were seen assembling in the vicinity of the works to witness the raising of the immense smoke stack, being several tons in weight and which now towers majestically above the engine room to a distance of about a hundred feet. This monster tubular column was raised to its present position by the aid of a temporary crane with properly adjusted ropes, blocks and halyards, all working in beautiful harmony and precision, the power being furnished by a ponderous windlass placed in the yards and worked by a dozen or so of the employes.

After placing this mammoth chimney in position, Mr. Boulter stepped to an elevated position on the engine room and, waving above his head the old flag, announced that Mr. R. Dobson, B.A., would address the audience. Mr. Dobson briefly referred to the successful completion of the difficult job in hand, and took occasion to speak of the great advantages enjoyed by our town and surrounding country by the establishing of industries of such huge proportions and equipments, and very eloquently lauded the company for their enthusiasm and enterprise.

Mr. Boulter then gave a short history of their industry since its inception at Picton, following its extension to Demorestville and Toronto, and ultimately its concentration into the premises now under construction here. Among those present were: Judge Merrill, John Prinyer, Esq., A. C. Miller, ex-M.P., Rev. D. G. MacPhail, W. V. Pettit, Esq., S. P. Niles, Esq.. Rev. Mr. Cook, Dr. Branscombe, Messrs. R. Hadden, Geo. Martin, Wm. Woodrow, H. Moxon, R. Ringer, J. L. Fralick, and many other prominent citizens, as well as leading representatives from the surrounding town and townships. Gazette, Picton, June 4.

Have You Noticed

Edwardsburg Starch Co., Cardinal, Ont.

The increased demand for Corn Starch during the last few weeks? You can build on good sales all through the summer if you have the right stock. There is not a prepared Corn on the market that will beat "Benson's." Just to emphasize it we will put it in large type.

ALL THE LEADING WHOLESALE TRADE HANDLE SEAL OF NORTH CAROLINA SMOKING TOBACCOS

We desire to express our great regret to those of our customers whose orders have been delayed, and beg to thank them for their consideration in waiting.

Repairs to our wells caused our works to be shut down several weeks, causing an accumulation of orders which we have been filling as rapidly as possible since resuming operations.

We trust in a short time to have all delayed orders filled, and hope to fill all future orders with promptness.

THE CANADIAN GROCER

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, JUNE 19, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 25

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Vote for business men.

Live salesmen attract live customers.

The fraud is his own business grave-digger.

Bright advertisements, like kind words, never die.

Hang on like a bull-dog, but be sensible like a man.

Return goods if you should, but be sure you should.

He who would acquire capital must expend energy.

Business, like a pretty girl, can only be won by being courted.

Integrity exceeds in value all other jewels. So it does in brilliancy.

The honest man fails for want of cash; the rogue for want of honesty.

The active merchant may wear himself out, but no rust accumulates upon him.

Charity among business men, like oil to machinery, is a preventive of friction.

People with lame business methods, like lame ducks, do not amount to much.

The cash system is a soil upon which the dead beat dies and the merchant thrives.

—

Business would often look brighter than it does if people would only rub it up a little.

The ideal clerk is he who works hard and at the same time exercises common sense.

Neither of the great political parties will be defeated on the 23rd inst. Victory is perched upon the banners of each. At least, each party declares with confidence that it will win.

In business play your cards well, but be careful that cards do not play you for a fool.

If you haven't your heart in your business it is not much use hav ng your head there.

If you cannot coax people to your store, don't, for goodness sake, try to drive them there.

Many a man has floated into affluence on printers' ink as well as many a man into publicity.

Lack of perception is excusable; refusal to see when there is no lack of perception is obstinacy.

—

Many a man does not come out "flat-footed" for right business principles because he is "flat-headed."

Strive to expand your trade; but be careful it is not expanded to bursting point. Such things have happened.

Merchants who give the cold shoulder to their customers cannot expect the latter to give them the cold cash.

You cannot put hay seed into a mill and turn out hay, but you can put common sense into operation and produce gold.

The cutting to be encouraged is that which enables the business man to carve out in business a successful career for himself.

A merchant cannot tug away at business always any more than can the boatman tug always at the oar. There must be a time for rest.

Be as careful about getting into a position for which you are unfitted as you would into a suit of clothes that was fit only for a man with an avoirdupois fifty pounds in excess of your own.

Clerks who spend their evenings playing billiards are not likely to make many successful caroms in the play of practical business life.

The man who buys a pig in a poke often does a great deal of grunting afterwards; and it is not the grunting that comes of satisfaction either.

A good business man is the result of his own handiwork. Others may assist in supplying the materials, but he alone can put them together.

The ideal merchant never had, nor never will have, an existence; and yet he is an unwise man who does not aim to become an ideal merchant.

The moment a man sets himself up in business he becomes a mark for somebody's shafts; but that should not deter a man from going into business.

There is a great deal of sand in some of the strawberries that are on the market. So there is in some of the grocers who sell them, and it is a praiseworthy thing.

When an order is cancelled without just reason, he who does so has cancelled the right to be termed an honest man, even though he may say his prayers in high places.

A merchant who would be successful should remember that there are as many temperatures and characteristics among his customers as there are in a North American climate.

When a merchant loses money on goods which he has sold on credit he may at least be said to be an accessory after the fact, for the dishonest creditor could not have obtained the goods without his assistance.

CHAMPAGNE VINTAGES.

CHARLES HEIDSIECK, Reims, has given out the following statement for publication :

So many reports have been circulated during the last few months respecting the champagne vintages of 1892 and 1893 that an authoritative statement may, I think, be appreciated.

Vintage 1889.—These wines, which commanded prices at the vintage not known before, have kept their promise as to development of the quality, and now that 1884 are scarce, are certainly the wines to drink. These wines possess delicacy and body, and, therefore, suit the English market. The 1889 vintage being good, was principally reserved for England. The following vintages, 1890 and 1891, were of a lighter style and have been disposed of in other countries.

Vintage 1892.—The characteristic of this vintage is that, with the exception of 1888, which produced a light and acid wine, it has been the smallest we have had in the champagne district since 1880 ; accordingly, prices paid for the grapes were very high, as in the latter vintage, and the result has been that the fine wines and cuvees of 1892 are only found in limited quantities. The 1892 are showing bouquet, delicacy and body, and the development of the wines shows that they have fully answered to the expectations as to their quality which we entertained from the first.

Vintage 1893.—After the scarceness of good wines in previous years, this vintage came as a relief to the champagne trade, both as regards quantity and quality, being nearly four times larger than that of 1892. The grapes were gathered during a hot and favorable temperature, and owing to the fine weather the mildew was quite absent from the vineyards. For these reasons 1893 is an excellent vintage, and the good cuvees of the year are certain to improve with age. As to body and character, this vintage comes near to those of 1874 and 1865, and we say with confidence that if the 1893 vintage keeps its promise, it will give much satisfaction to the consumer and the trade. If some cuvees are showing deficiencies, the reason is that the grapes have suffered from the heat before being pressed, but the cuvees are many that highly maintain the reputation of the year.

Vintage 1894.—The bulk of the vintage amounted to about half of that of 1893, and its quality has been found indifferent and irregular, not good enough for the English market.

Vintage 1895.—The quantity of this year's vintage is still smaller than that in 1894. After a wet and cold summer, an exceptional heat set in at the end of August and September, which not only cured most of the vineyards of the mildew, but gave the grapes, especially in some of the best crus, a ripeness which is only found in good years. One must, however, be reticent in forming any opinion of the quality of this year's vintage, the wines being too young to form any authentic opinion.

WILL CARRY FREIGHT TO TRAIL.

All the whistles in Trail made themselves heard when the C. & K. S. N. Co.'s new freight boat, "City of Trail," came into town on Tuesday morning. Every man in town was at the landing to meet the namesake of our embryo city. Capt. J. W. Troup was on hand and showed the visitors over his new boat. She is 162 feet long, 30 feet beam, the hold is 5 feet deep, the engines 14 inch, with 5 feet stroke, and the boilers carry 150 pounds of steam. While the boat is built for freighting, there are accommodations for a number of passengers—berths, dining-room and smoking-room. The boat will run for the present between Trail and Arrowhead, carrying coal, moving barges and doing general freighting. The Trail was built at Nakusp.—News, Trail Creek, B.C.

WHY DO BUSINESS MEN FAIL?

THIS is by no means a difficult question to answer, says American Investments. It is because they are either not making enough profit ; are being sapped by excessive expenses ; are pulling too much out of their enterprises for personal expenses, or are being robbed. There are many other contributing causes, but these will embrace about the whole category. If a man hasn't brains enough to know what his profits are, or whether he is making over-drafts on his business, it is altogether absurd to expect him to know whether he is being robbed or not. Some will hire a cheap, one-horse bookkeeper who has just about ability enough to take out the books from the safe and put them back again, and flatter themselves that because they have conformed to the usual standard of the business community and have a bookkeeper they are all right. There are times when cheap help is of the most expensive kind. The genuine man of business wants his yearly statements as regularly as his meals. He wants them all made out with persistent similarity so that he can discern the weak points. It is an absolute fact that a very small percentage of our business men pay the attention to this that they should.

We have a case in mind where a woman investor consulted one of these "business doctors" regarding the continuance in, or withdrawing from, an old and apparently profitable business. A fortune depended upon the decision. The "doctor" had the balance sheets of nearly 30 years ; the latest inventory ; a detailed schedule of the accounts and notes receivable, and the character and habits of the manager of the business before him for consideration. After due weighing and deliberation he advised his friend to pull out, which advice was reluctantly followed, in view of the age and standing of the company. Within two years the firm was compelled to liquidate under a showing which demonstrated that following the doctor's advice saved her nearly a cool hundred thousand. Whilst not every business man can afford to hire a business doctor continuously, few, if any, there are that cannot afford at least one consultation and prescription.—American Investments.

BEETROOT IN GERMANY AND FRANCE.

From the results of the campaign of 1895-96 the difference in the production of beetroot in Germany, as compared with that of France, appears to be a very drastic one. The Freisinnige Zeitung reports on the subject of statistics for January as follows :—

	Germany	France
Factories in operation	397	355
Area planted with beetroot	374,174	200,093	hd.
Crop of beetroot harvested	11,672,000	5 411,000	T.
Sugar produced	1,610,000	670,000	T.
Production of sugar per head	43.03	35.48	qs.
Production of beetroot per head	311.94	270.42	qs.
Sugar obtained from beetroot	13.25	12,00	p.c.
Beetroot worked up per factory.....	294.000	152.420	qs.
Receipts from the production of sugar per head (23 M. per 100 kg)	.690	.770	M.
Quantity of beetroot required to produce 1 q. of sugar.....	7.25	8.08	qs.

According to these figures, the production of beetroot and sugar per head, also the yield of the beetroot, is therefore considerably larger in Germany than in France, and our contemporary remarks that they speak very powerfully against an increase in the premium.

BUTTER AND EGGS IN GOTHAM.

Receipts of eggs at this city between January 1st and May 1st amounted to 1,014,842 cases, whereas in same period last year only 794,072 cases were received and only 949,474 cases in the same four months of 1894. No wonder eggs have been selling at very low prices. It is worthy of note that the freshness of eggs and the quality of butter, as sold in this vicinity, never were so far above suspicion as to-day, yet the prices are about the lowest ever known.—Merchants' Review, New York.

Prospects for a great apple crop in western New York have now reached the secondary stage. Reports from all over Monroe and Orleans counties show that the orchards, which blossomed abundantly, are now set full of fruit, growing rapidly, and so thick are the apples that not half can even mature.

The Executive of the British Columbia Fruit Exchange at Westminster, B.C., are busying themselves getting everything in shape for the season's work. A carload of fruit packages has been received and will be distributed among the members.

Mr. J. T. Gordon, of Gordon & Ironside, has returned from a trip to the western ranches. His firm has shipped to the Old Country this season about 2,000 more head of stall fed cattle than last year. He expects the number of ranch cattle that will be exported by his firm this year will be fully equal to 1895, when 35,000 head were sent out.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

Cocoanut culture in Florida is on the increase. At present there are about 250,000 palms of all ages on the east coast, some 25,000 of which are bearing. Growers bury the nuts until they sprout, and then plant them in holes about two feet deep. The tree begins to fruit in from five to seven years. There are trees at Key West 50 years old. On the shores of Lake Worth there are some 50,000 trees, old and young.

A firm in Aberdeen recently engaged as office boy a raw country youth. It was part of his duties to attend to the telephone. When first called upon to answer the bell, in reply to the usual query, "Are you there?" he nodded assent. Again the question came, and still again, and each time the boy gave an answering nod. When the question came for the fourth time, however, the boy, losing his temper, roared through the telephone: "Man, a' ye blin'?" I've been noddin' me heid aff for t' last hauf oor."—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

WATERMELONS.

WATERMELONS have commenced to arrive quite freely from both Georgia and Florida, and the season may be said to have fairly opened. Advices from growing sections conflict somewhat relative to the crop, but the acreage is thought to have been fairly large, especially in Florida, and there will doubtless be enough melons to supply the trade until Jersey receipts appear about the middle of August. Previous to that time the market is supplied by Florida, Georgia and Carolina melons. The first car last year was received June 11, and supply increased so rapidly that 310 carloads had arrived before July 1. During July 973 cars came in, that being usually the heaviest month. Receipts during July, 1894, were 971 carloads. The first melons this year in carload lots were received June 8, when 4 cars arrived; since then one or more cars have arrived almost daily. The first cars sold at $35 to $45 per 100, but prices have steadily declined, until at present $15 to $25 is the general price. There have been some warm days, but the weather has been quite cool since melons commenced to arrive and the consumptive demand has widened slowly; but with the return of warmer weather demand will increase and some improvement in prices may result. A car is supposed to be 1,000 melons, but when the melons run small it is possible to get 1,100 or 1,200 melons in a car, and in instances a car arrives with 1,300 or 1,400 melons, but they must run very small. On the other hand, large melons do not exceed 800 or 900 to the car. In the past some seasons have been very unprofitable to Southern growers, as the supply has been so large that the melons have not realized much over freight, which is very high from the far south, and the acreage has not been as large during the past year or two as previously. With low transportation rates the production south could be increased materially and still show a profit to the producer.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

SPANISH ALMONDS.

Nearly every known kind of almond grows in Spain. The Spaniards divide them into two general classes—the sweet (almendras dulces) and the bitter (almendras amargas). The former are cultivated especially in Alicante, and are of five varieties—Pestaneta, Bale, Blancal, Mollar and Comun; the latter are produced in Tarragona, Malaga and Majorca. Perhaps the best of Spanish almonds are those of Malaga, which are almost cylindrical in shape and have a very fine flavor. The principal markets for Spanish almonds are Great Britain, France and the United States.

TO TELL THE AGE OF EGGS.

A. R. Frisenberg, of Dixon, Ill., has communicated the following method for determining the age of eggs. The method is based upon the decrease in the density of eggs as they grow old:

Dissolve two ounces of salt in a pint of water, and when a fresh laid egg is placed in the solution it will immediately sink to the bottom of the vessel. An egg twenty-four hours old will sink below the surface of the water, but not to the bottom of the vessel. An egg three days old will swim in the liquid, and when more than three days old will float on the surface. The older the egg the more will it project above the surface, an egg two weeks old floating on the surface with but very little of the shell beneath the water.—Egg Reporter.

A CRISIS.

SPECIAL training is demanded for special work. A man does not study law in order to become a physician; he studies medicine. When a merchant wants a man to manage one of his departments he secures the services of someone who, by previous experience, has acquired the knowledge necessary to qualify him for the position. When a commander is wanted for the army an experienced soldier is appointed.

The same law rules in nearly everything except in transacting the business relative to the governing of a country. In this respect what is the rule in mercantile matters becomes the exception; the great majority of the members of Parliament are drawn from the ranks of the professional politician, which are made up of the sediment of the learned professions. A stream cannot rise above its source; neither can the Cabinet be expected to be much superior to the Parliament from which it is drafted.

Back of the Parliament the responsibility of course lies with the electorate. If the people do not send the right kind of men to represent them, naturally the Cabinet constructors are unable to secure suitable material for the proper performance of the work to which they have set their hands.

It is a bad thing for any country when the majority of the people who sit in its Parliament are of the professional politician type. These men do not go to Parliament because of their special fitness to go there: they go there because it is the best paying job which their mediocrity will allow them to obtain. They do not go there to sacrifice themselves for their country's good: they go there for the purpose of serving their own personal and selfish interests.

In Canada we for a long time plumed ourselves upon the fact that we were a somewhat superior people in regard to the moral purity of our parliamentarians; we were not as those in the United States. Neither, we believe, are we. But our skirts are not altogether clean. While we have been boasting and lifting our eyes in admiration of ourselves a good deal of dirt has gathered about our skirts. We have discovered this; and now we are cleaning off the mud by sending into private life some of the men who did not walk circumspectly in their political career. But we also realize that we want something more than even pure men in politics.

We want pure men with practical, common sense business heads on their shoulders. We want them even more than we do pure men, because in the last Parliament the deficiency was not so much in men of moral purity as it was in business material. A lamb is all right in its place, but it will not do the work of a trained trick horse.

The trouble is that we have been hiring unsuccessful lawyers and doctors to manage the business of the country. Men who were more at home discussing such questions as to whether a candidate for baptism should be baptised in a tub or in a lake, than discerning a fine point in business ethics. Men who were more at home stirring up sectarian strife than devising ways and means of building up the trade of the country. Men who could devote years of their lives to feeding the fires of racial animosity and not one hour to the work of propagating the seeds of nationalism and good will. The last Parliament was so prolix in the undesirable material and so deficient in the desirable that a "Thank God," uttered and unexpressed, went up all over the land when it died.

Next Tuesday is the judgment day. It is to be hoped that there will be a careful sifting of the wheat from the chaff. If there is not it will be unfortunate for this country.

The remedy lies in returning to Parliament good, honest, practical business men, men who have gained their mercantile experience from actual and successful engagement in mercantile pursuits and not from having, perhaps, slept under a merchant's roof. A man can in an hour learn to saw wood, but it takes years of practical experience to master the ethics of business.

If the merchants in this country will, on Tuesday next, cast their ballots for practical business men wherever possible or, where this is not possible, for men who are known to be blest with a good measure of practical common sense not subservient to partisanship, the next Parliament is not likely to spend its time in stirring up sectional and racial strife, or of passing legislation detrimental to the business interests of the country. We have got the men in the country. Let us get them into the House and into the Cabinet.

Canada has arrived at a critical period in her history. During the next Parliament questions will, in all probability, have to be solved which may settle the future destiny of the country. Theoretical professional politicians cannot solve them: The duty devolves upon practical common sense business men. Shall they be forthcoming? The answer depends how the business men use their influence and votes on Tuesday next.

THE TRAVELER NOT A NUISANCE.

SOME merchants appear to have become possessed of the idea that the traveler is a nuisance. This is a grave mistake.

With the advent of the class trade journal, the telegraph, the telephone, the rapid postal delivery, a great deal of the work which the traveler formerly did is now performed by these. But there is work in the commercial system of the country, the performance of which is the peculiar duty of the traveler. He alone can perform it. The merchant who imagines otherwise and essays to get along without him is really trying to do business with incomplete machinery.

At Dover, England, there was, or is, a cannon with an inscription something like this upon it: "Load me well and keep me clean and I'll carry a ball to Calais Green."

When a traveler is of no use to a merchant it is because the latter has badly treated him and crippled his usefulness as far as that particular merchant is concerned. You cannot remove a nail from a mule's fetlock while the beast persists in kicking you.

The traveler does not demand that carpet be laid wherever he shall tread. The man who demands that, or as similar delicate treatment, is not found in the "drummer" army. Neither does he demand that the merchant leave his customers to attend to him. All he demands is that he be treated as one gentleman would another. And he has a right to demand this. Too often he does not get it.

But the merchant who is discourteous to travelers gains nothing thereby. On the contrary, he loses by it. Travelers, like other human beings, do not throw plums in the way of their foes. They give them to their friends. Ten chances to one, these friends are the competitors of the discourteous merchant; and they are thus better fortified to bid for business.

Make the traveler your friend. It will pay you. Most merchants realize this and act upon it. It is only a small minority that do not.

CHOOSE THE BUSINESS MAN.

IT would be unfortunate for the business interests of the country were the people of Prince Edward County, on Tuesday next, to select as their representative in Parliament the Patron candidate.

The Patron is one of the worst elements that we have to-day in the country. As far as the business interests are concerned he is an iconoclast: He would tear down the business system obtaining in the country and set up one of his own conception—a system which is fathered by ignorance and cradled in prejudice.

The Patron has conceived the idea that, in addition to the duty of tilling the soil, Providence has delegated to him the right to transact the business of the merchant, to rule in the Provincial Legislatures and to govern at Ottawa.

Mr. Boulter is the very antipodes of the Patron: He believes in building up the business interests of the country. He believes that there is a place for the business man as well as the farmer. Indeed, the industry—the canning industry—which he has been instrumental in so successfully establishing has created a market where the farmers in the neighborhood of the same can find an outlet for their fruits and vegetables.

The success which has attended his canning factories at Picton, Demorestville and Toronto is evidence that Mr. Boulter possesses the practical business common sense so essential to a parliamentarian, while the number of years for which he held the presidency of the Canadian Packers' Association is evidence of his executive ability.

The business men of Prince Edward County should vote for Mr. Boulter, not because he is the standard-bearer of one of the great political parties, but because he is a business man.

The experience which he has acquired in his particular business will be of value in the next House, whatever may be the political complexion of the party which may rule there. It is to be hoped that the electorate will not deny the House this experience.

Every Patron that goes into the House is a disturbing factor as far as the business interests of the country are concerned. Every man of Mr. Boulter's type, be he a Reformer or Conservative, is a reassuring factor.

LOBSTERS TO KEEP GOOD COLOR.

The Ottawa correspondent of The Toronto World says: "The news published by THE CANADIAN GROCER that Dr. MacPhail, professor of bacteriology at McGill, who was commissioned by the Fisheries Department to endeavor to find a remedy for the blackening of canned lobsters, has been successful, gives great satisfaction here. If the lobsters are handled by a certain process which Dr. MacPhail has discovered, they will keep their color for an indefinite period without turning black or smutty. It is estimated that this process will save the Canadian lobster packers nearly a million dollars a year. The greater portion of the lobster pack is sold in England, but during the last year or two many of the best firms would not handle the Canadian product because of the tendency to turn black."

SUGAR DEMORALIZED.

THE sugar market in Montreal is demoralized, and the course of events in outside markets appears to have no bearing on it whatever at the moment.

For some time back prices from jobbers' hands have not been guided at all by the first cost at the refineries. Still, though individual members of the trade were freely filling orders for granulated at 4⅝c., the Wholesale Guild, as a body, never sanctioned such a cut.

On Friday last, however, in consequence of the irregular, unsettled condition of values, the Montreal Guild declared that the official jobbing basis on granulated was 4½ to 4⅝c., and it is not unlikely that before the week is out they may make another cut.

At this writing the refiners' price is still 4½ to 4⅝c. also, but it is more than likely that they would consent to a material shading on this basis in the case of a round lot. Yellows are equally difficult to quote.

Outside advices have been a little steadier the last few days, but large stocks of the refined article, both in refiners' and jobbers' hands, have created a strong desire to reduce them to some extent in the event of any possible changes at Ottawa resulting from the coming elections.

SHIPMENTS OF CURRANTS.

The London Produce Markets' Review has been favored by correspondents with the following list of shipments of currants, made up to May 23rd, from the crops of 1894 and 1895:

	1894	1895
London	33,922	33,003
Liverpool	22,735	18,721

EXPORTS OF THE UNITED STATES TO CANADA.

A FEW weeks ago the Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee of the United States House of Representatives presented their report on reciprocity. It was in favor of the scheme. Now the Democratic members of the committee have presented their report. It is against the scheme.

It is advanced by the latter report that the exports of the United States increased at a much higher rate in the years before reciprocity than during its existence. The trade with Canada is taken as one of the illustrations of this, the assertion being made that the exports to this country, without any reciprocity arrangement, increased from $36,000,000 in 1891 to $50,000,000 in 1894.

If all the report in question is based on similar statements, it has not much of a foundation.

The figures as far as 1891 is concerned are entirely erroneous. In that year our imports from the United States for home consumption, instead of being valued at $36,000,000, aggregated $53,685,657, which, instead of being smaller than the imports from that country in 1894, were larger by $651,557. It is 15 years since our imports from the United States were anywhere in the neighborhood of the minimum figures produced by the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee. That was in 1881, and then they were over $36,000,000.

It is well known that the Canadian figures relating to imports from the United States are often slightly in excess of those showing the exports from that country to Canada, but this is explained by the fact that such a close record is not kept by the United States Customs authorities on the goods exported as there is in Canada on the goods imported. This may afford an explanation of the difference between the United States and Canadian figures for 1891, great as the difference is. Even the figures regarding the exports to Canada in 1894 do not agree with those published by the United States Bureau of Industries, the latter giving the value of the exports at $56,664,094, or over 6½ millions more than the figures adduced by the Democrats. There is evidently loose figuring somewhere across the border.

ABILITY TO BUY

Ability to buy right is the chief essential to success in business, for where there is not the ability to buy, the position to sell cannot be favorable. Wet powder will not fire a gun; neither can a merchant compete for trade with badly-bought goods.

HOW SHOULD CALIFORNIA FRUIT BE PACKED?

THE season is again rapidly approaching for importations of California dried fruit, and in this connection the old controversy regarding the packing of the fruit is again cropping up at the chief buying centres in Canada.

THE CANADIAN GROCER called attention to this matter during the past winter. Since then, through the kindness of some members of the trade in Montreal and elsewhere, it has been enabled to gain some data of interest both pro and con.

A leading Chicago firm takes the bag side of the case, as against shipment in boxes. They point out that the railway rate is $1 per 100 pounds, but add that there is no tare deducted from the weight of box shipments, and that therefore it is no cheaper to ship dried fruit in boxes from California to the East than in bags. They instance the case of a shipment of 828 boxes of fruit from Vacaville, 25 pounds net fruit each, on which the railways charged gross weight amounting to 25,150 pounds at $1 per cwt; also local charges from Vacaville to Elmira $7.55, making the total charge $259.05. The net fruit in this shipment was 20,700 pounds, on which the freight was $259.05, or $1.25 per 100 pounds. When the fruit was sold they got nothing for the boxes.

On the contrary, they point out that when dried fruit in bags is sold, on which the rate is $1.20 per 100 pounds, the gross weight is billed to customers without deducting any thing for bags which, of course, is trifling anyway. They were aware that box fruit was quoted a little higher than bag fruit, but found that the great majority of the trade preferred bag fruit to box fruit, other things being equal.

This is the Chicago side of the picture. The California side is entirely the reverse.

A leading firm at Madera, Cal., contend that the real weight of the boxes cuts no figure, as the scale weight governs the basis of freight charges and leaves an uncertain margin of freight charges which, however, is just a uncertain if in bags as in boxes. A box 5½ x 9 x 15 inches, with ⅞ inch ends, planed sides, tops and bottom, 3 cuts to the inch board, when made up nails and all, if cut from thoroughly seasoned lumber, will weigh 3¼ pounds, and, with proper fruit press, will hold 25 pounds fruit. A box to contain 50 pounds of fruit, size 11 x 9 x 15 inches, same thickness of sides, top and bottom, and same kind of lumber, will average 4½ pounds weight of box. Boxes such as described contain respectively 25 and 50 pounds of dried fruit and should be protected while in the fruit press. Any mechanic can arrange this.

As to freight charges, a minimum carload of 24,000 pounds of dried fruit, if loaded in sacks of 24,000 pounds at $1.20 per 100 pounds makes a freight charge of $288. In 25-lb. boxes, dried fruit 24,000 pounds, 960 boxes 3¼ pounds each, 3,120 pounds; total weight, 27,120 pounds, at $1 equals $271.20. In sacks, 24,000 pounds of fruit at $1.20 per 100 pounds equals $288, or $16 odd more than in boxes. In 50-lb. boxes the advantage over sacks is even greater. In 50-lb. boxes 24,000 pounds dried fruit fills 480 boxes of 4½ pounds each, or 2,160 pounds, making a total weight of 26,160 pounds at $1, or $261, or a saving over sacks of $26 odd.

The California people also answer the claim that the trade prefer bag to box fruit by stating that it is, as far as true, a manufactured sentiment in the interests of the middlemen. They allege that many California houses had an extended contest with their brokers in the east in regard to packing in boxes, the latter contending for bags and the former for boxes. On investigation the shippers at the Coast claim that they found that their brokers had facilities for boxing two carloads per day of sacked fruit and carried on the business extensively. The difference in price between sacked and boxed fruit did not warrant the establishment of this packing plant, but the loss in weight which sacked fruit sustains, and which the Coast shippers claim is restored by steam, or wetting and sweating before being transferred to the boxes, probably did warrant it. For this reason it was the sincere desire of the packers at the Coast in the interests of consumers to see all the prime grades of California dried fruit put up in neat boxes without repacking, believing that their sales will be greatly increased by their improved appearance.

A firm who import dried California fruit largely, after discussing the matter pro and con, expressed the opinion that it was highly advisable to have the matter settled beyond dispute. Their individual opinion was that, aside from there being a manifest difference in the freight in favor of the boxes, there was little doubt that the majority of the trade preferred to buy in boxes at materially advanced prices, provided they could feel assured that the contents of the boxes were straight goods. Dealers demanding sack goods were not those who sold goods to consumers in the east, but principally firms in the middle western states, who "worked over" and boxed the fruit themselves, and not a few of them had the habit of making very inferior sack goods show up as first-class goods (on the face) in boxes, and if there was any prejudice in favor of sacks on the part of dealers who do their own boxing, this fact had to be considered. The less handling any kind of goods had between the producer and consumer's hands the better for the latter. This was a fact that could not be disputed.

FOREIGN FRUIT CROPS.

ADVICES so far received re growing crops are favorable both as regards quantity and quality, with the exception of Sultana raisins, which promise a small crop.

Currants—Advices are that the new crop is progressing favorably, and promises to be an abundant one.

Sultana Raisins — Advise considerable damage by frost to the vines, and from reports received from all sections, they estimate a shortage of fully 30 per cent. in the crop.

Figs—The cold weather has been rather beneficial than otherwise to the fig trees, and prospects so far are in favor of a satisfactory yield.

Bosnia Prunes—Advice of May 30 from Trieste is that up to that date the trees were in a flourishing condition, and the prospects of the crop good, and that with continued favorable weather there will be a large crop and of good quality. Prices are likely to rule much lower than last year.

Malaga and Valencia Raisins—Prospects are good.

Valencia Shelled Almonds—Crop of almonds is most promising, and we are justified in believing that prices will be lower than last year.

THE RICE OUTLOOK.

The latest mail advices from London to Gustave A. Jahn & Co., of New York, report that the bulk of their usually heavy arrivals of rice per steamer have arrived in Europe, and been absorbed with the greatest ease. The stocks are nowhere heavy, and in Liverpool and London are much less than last year. "This," they say, "makes the position of our market very strong, and is creating closer attention among genuine buyers. The prevailing opinion is that we will experience a quietly advancing market from now on to the new crop in 1897, and that all requirements should be secured at once. Japans are in limited supply in consequence of the receipts being fully 30 per cent. less than last year, and prices are hardening. Javas are receiving considerable notice, and the tendency of the market is decidedly upward. Rangoon is firmer and advancing slowly. Patna is in a strong position, the importations being only about half of last season, with an increased disposition to buy. An advance of 1s. may be looked for at any moment."

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

ELECTIONS and not business is what is the talk this week along the street. There is very little business to talk about at any rate. The sugar market, which, at the time of last review, showed more strength, has again developed weakness, but at the time of writing there appears to be a little steadier feeling, although the market has not yet lost its feverish feeling. There is a little sugar being sold both by the refiners and the wholesalers, but it is merely for present requirements. In canned goods the demand is easing off for vegetables, and there is nothing scarcely doing in fruits, but there is an active demand for salmon, and meats are being enquired after more frequently. There is a better supply of green Rio coffees on the market and the demand is fairly good. Currants have again advanced, and the demand keeps good. In other lines of foreign fruits there is not much doing. The firmness noted of late in oranges has been maintained. The butter market is in much the same condition as it was a week ago. Practically the same thing may be said of eggs. In provisions the feature is still a good demand for smoked meats.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned salmon continues to experience a good demand at firm prices. There is a scarcity of lobster on the market ; some houses report not being able to get a case anywhere in order to fill an order. New pack strawberries are being offered on the Toronto market this week, and the wholesale houses are quoting $2 per dozen. New season's pack of peas have also been offered, and we hear of one jobbing house quoting to arrive at 85c. We quote: Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 55 to 85c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.45 to $1.50; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, old, $1.90 to $2.25 for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; ditto new talls, $2.10; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7 to $8; 14's, $14.50 to $15.50.

COFFEE.

The local market is better supplied with green Rio coffee, fresh shipments having arrived during the week. The demand is fairly good. We quote green in bags : Rio, 17 to 20c., according to grade ; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

There is not much doing. We quote : Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Business is much the same as a week ago, moderate only. We quote : New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, 21 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has been attacked by another weak spell since our last review. The London market declined 3d. on Saturday last, and on Monday granulated depreciated 1-16c. per pound in New York, touching a point within a fraction of he lowest price since January 1. At the time of writing the market is a little steadier again, but the feeling is still somewhat feverish. The statistical position is still strong. The demoralization which struck the sugar market in London on Saturday was due to the failure of a large sugar operating firm in Hamburg. On the Toronto market both refiners' agents and wholesalers report a little better movement than a week ago. Business, however, is still dull, and there is not much basis to wholesalers' prices. The ruling figure appears to be $4.62½, 10 days. Yellows range from 3⅝c. up. Demerara in bags is unchanged at $3.75 to $3.85 per 100 lbs.

SPICES.

Trade is reported fairly good in pepper. We quote : Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE, ETC.

There is a good demand for rice, and there is a fair quantity of both tapioca and sago selling. We quote : Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

The market is quiet and featureless. We quote : Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green ; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack ; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots ; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

There has been some irregularity, and on the whole lower prices ruled on the London market, except for Ceylons, at the last London sales, but the best authorities there state that it is entirely owing to the poorer quality of spring picked teas which are coming on the market, and that any teas possessing point and flavor, so far from being cheaper, are scarce and keenly competed for at stiff rates. Shipments of Japan tea, via the second steamer, have reached the Toronto market, but notwithstanding the low prices ruling shippers' agents report that the wholesale men are holding off. The China market has opened, and shipments are on the way, but none of those teas are expected to reach this market till about the middle of July. The first shipments of new season's Japan teas which reached wholesalers' hands here appear to have been pretty well cleaned up at about 28c. Wholesalers report a fair demand for Indian and Ceylon teas at about 18 to 25c. Ruling prices to retailers are : Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades ; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades ; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

A cable announces a further advance of 6d. in the price of currants. The demand for currants is being well maintained. We quote : Provincials, 3¾ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do., half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Patras, 4¼ to 4½c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; do., half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; do., extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; do., half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote as follows : Off-stalk, 4¾ to 5c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c. and layers, 6½ to 6¾c. California raisins, 2-crown, 4¼ to 4½c.; 3-crown, 5¼ to 5½c.; 4-crown, 6½ to 7c.; seedless, 4½ to 5c.

In California dried fruits there is scarcely anything doing. We quote: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 5¾ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.

Outside a few low-priced lines on the market there is not much doing in prunes. We quote as follows: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c.; "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

Sultana raisins are quiet and firm. We quote 5½ to 6c. as the ruling price.

Dates are scarce, with the demand light at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Florida water-melons are on the Toronto market this week. The enquiry is good both for oranges and lemons at steady prices. The season for pine apples is nearly over. There is a good demand for bananas and receipts are liberal. Strawberries and other seasonable fresh fruits are in good demand with prices lower. New season's raspberries are expected on the Toronto market this week. We quote as follows: Lemons—Messina, $2.75 to $3.50 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $3.75 to $4.50, according to size; do. seedlings, $2.75 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $8; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $2 to $2.25; ditto, boxes $4.75 to $5.25. Bananas, firsts, $1.50 to $2; do., seconds, $1 to $1.50; cocoanuts, $4.25 to $4.75 a sack and 70c. per dozen; apples, Spies,, $6 to $7; Golden Russets, $5; Bermuda onions, $1.50 per small crate; Egyptian onions, $2.25 to $2.50 per bag; pine-apples, 8 to 15c.; domestic strawberries, 6 to 8c.; domestic cherries, $1 to $1.25 per basket; cucumbers, $2 per crate and 40 to 50c. per dozen; Mississippi tomatoes, $1.50 to $1.75.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

CHEESE—Receipts of butter are not heavy, people in the country evidently holding supplies in the hope of getting better prices. The demand is only fair, and we quote much as before: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 12½c. for good to choice; low grade to medium, 8 to 10c.; pound prints, 12½ to 13c. Creamery—Tubs, 15 to 16c.; 1-lb. blocks, 15 to 16c., according to make.

CHEESE—The factories are asking little higher prices, and the demand is fairly good for new cheese. There is not much old on the market, and there is not much wanted. We quote: June, July and August makes, 7½ to 8c.; September and October, 8 to 8½c.; new, 7 to 7½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Dull, at 80 to 90c. per bushel.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Quiet at 5½ to 6c.

DRIED APPLES—Dull, with 3c. the idea as to jobbing price.

EGGS—Picklers are now about through. As a good many eggs are believed to be in the country, while the demand has not increased, the feeling regarding prices is somewhat unsettled. We quote 9½ to 10c.

POTATOES—Potatoes are scarce and wanted on track at 25c. per bag. Out of store the idea as to price is 35c. New southern potatoes are on the market this week. The price asked for them is $1.15 per bushel, which is rather too high to affect the price of the domestic article.

HONEY — Dull. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

MAPLE SYRUP — Trade is quiet, with prices unchanged. We quote: Imperial gallon tins, 80 to 90c.; 5-gallon tins, 70 to 75c.; barrels, 65c. per gallon.

PROVISIONS.

There is a fairly good trade doing, particularly in smoked meats.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5¼ to 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7¼ to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 9½ to 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 8½ to 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 9½c.; small hams, 10c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7¼c.; tubs, 7½c.; pails, 7¾ to 8c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short-cut, $13 to $13.50; clear shoulder mess, $10.50 to $11.

in by express and a good demand is being experienced for them. Restigouche salmon is quoted lower. We quote: Lake Erie herring, 2½ to 3c. per lb.; blueback herring, $1.25 per 100; pike, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; Restigouche salmon, 12½ to 18c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; whitefish, 7 to 9c.; salmon trout, 6½ to 7c.; eels, 5 to 6c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN—Receipts continue small. We quote: White wheat, 70 to 71c.; red, 69 to 70c.; goose, 49 to 50c.; barley, 31 to 32c.; oats, 23 to 24c., peas, 50c.

BALED HAY—Dull at $12 to $13 for No. 1.

FLOUR—Trade quiet. Straight roller is quoted at $3.25 to $3.35 outside.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is quiet and featureless. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.75 to $2.85; rolled wheat, $2.25 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

SALT.

The demand noted last week for carload lots has been maintained, and prices are steady and unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES—Are firm, with sales of cured at 5¾ to 6c. Dealers pay 5½c. for No. 1, 4½c. for No. 2, 3½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6c. for No. 1 and 4c. for No. 2. Lambskins are firm at 30c., and pelts 15c.

WOOL—Trade dull and prices unchanged. New fleece brings 17 to 18c.; rejections, 15c., and unwashed, 11c. Pulled supers are 19½ to 20c., and extras, 21c.

TALLOW—Unchanged at 3¾ to 4c. for rendered.

PETROLEUM

Trade is fair and prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 16c.; carbon, safety, 18c.; Canadian water white, 18c.; American water white, 20c.; Pratt's astral, 22c.

MARKET NOTES.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 18, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THERE have been few changes of any genuine importance in staple groceries in this market since last report. The general complaint is that the volume of business is contracted to very narrow limits, owing to the coming elections. This more especially applies to sugar, teas, spices, etc., and other lines of necessaries in regard to which apprehension of possible tariff changes exists. Values generally are steady with the exception of sugar, which is demoralized, as will be seen elsewhere, owing to large stocks, both in refiners' and jobbers' hands.

SUGAR.

This market is completely demoralized now, there being no difference whatever between the nominal cost price at the refineries and what jobbers are selling at. The latter are quoting granulated 4½ to 4⅝c. which is exactly what refiners ask and the same is the case on yellows at 3¼ to 3¾c.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market continues quiet and without special feature. Prices are nominally unchanged at 1¼ to 2¾c. per lb., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

The call for molasses during the past week has been exceedingly slow. At the Islands no change has been advised recently, 10c. being quoted first cost, but advices are not exactly favorable regarding the quality of the later arrivals. A few lots of Barbadoes have been placed on spot at 28½c. net cash, and we quote as before, car lots 30c., and smaller quantities 31c. Porto Rico is quoted from jobbers' hands on the same basis. Advices from primary markets, however, are steadier on it than on Barbadoes.

RICE.

There is a fair seasonable demand for rice, but orders are confined strictly to actual wants. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50, and Java, $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

Business in spices continues quiet with values generally steady, however. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market is dull and unchanged. In a jobbing way there is little doing, while a few lots of Maracaibo at 17c. between dealers is the only trade noted in a wholesale way. We quote: Rio, 17 to 19c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 19c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29c.

TEAS.

The tea market has been very quiet with very little demand on spot in a wholesale way. The next receipts of new season's teas, which were referred to last week and which will arrive shortly, are not of as fine a grade as the first receipts. We note business in round lots of Japans all the way from 22 to 28c., and some mediums down to 16c. We quote as follows: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c for mediums, and 25 to 55c for high grade; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65 for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The stock of California raisins is almost nil on spot. Jobbers have a few 4-crown left, which they hold firm at 7c.

Valencia raisins are as scarce as Californias, and prices are firmly held at 4½ to 5c. for ordinary and 5¼ to 5½c. for fine off-stalk grades. Selected are almost all gone, 6c. being asked for them, and 6¼ to 6½c. for layers.

Sultanas are in small supply and firm at 6 to 7c.

Currants firm and unchanged at 4½ to 5½c., as to grade.

Prunes of all kinds in light supply with prices strongly held. We quote: Bosnia, 6 to 6½c.; French, 5 to 5½c., and Californias, 8½ to 12.

Figs quiet and steady, at 8½ to 9c. for ordinary and 12 to 17c. for fancy.

Dates dull and unchanged at 5 to 5¼c.

NUTS.

There has been nothing new to report in these since our last. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 16c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is little change in canned goods, except a disposition to shade prices on tomatoes and corn by jobbers who have carried over rather larger stocks than usual. The same remark applies also to canned salmon, and a buyer could, no doubt, do better in these in old stock on spot than by ordering new pack on the Coast. Offers in the latter connection are still being made on the basis of $4.50 to $4.75 f.o.b. Coast. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 65c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half-tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.35; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $7.25 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a fair seasonable trade in green fruit during the past week. The auction sales of the stock arriving by express at both depots have cleared off stock well. We quote: Apples, $5 to $6; dried do., 3 to 3½c.; evaporated, 5½ to 6c.; bananas, $1.15 to $1.50; pineapples, 17c., and strawberries, 9 to 10c.; lemons, $2 to $3.50; oranges, $1.50 to $3.50, according to brand and package.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand for eggs was fair, and the market is moderately active and steady at 9 to 9½c. for choice and at 7½ to 8c. for culls per dozen.

BEANS—The market for beans was quiet, but prices rule steady at 70 to 75c. for car lots and at 85 to 90c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES—There was no change in potatoes. Car lots were offered at 25 to 26c. per bag, and in a small way at 30 to 35c.

TALLOW—Nominal and unchanged at 4 to 5½c.

HOPS—An occasional sale of medium to fair stock is made at 5 to 7c.

HONEY—Slow and unchanged. Bright comb, 12 to 14c.; dark do., 10 to 12c., and extracted, 7 to 8c.

HAY.

The market for baled hay is quiet with prices steady at the advance: No. 1 $13.25, and No. 2, $10.50.

PROVISIONS.

A fair trade continues to be done in smoked meats, the demand being good for small lots at steady prices. Pork is dull, and likely to continue so for some little time. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short cut, mess, $12.50 to $13; hams, city cured, per lb., 7½ to 9½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 6¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The flour market has sagged off a trifle further in values since last report, but there has been a fair local and export demand. We quote: Winter wheat, $3.80 to $4; spring wheat, patents, $3.75 to $3.85; straight roller, $3.60 to $3.70; straight roller, bags, $1.70 to $1.75; extra bags, $1.40 to $1.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.30 to $3.50.

There was no change in the situation of the oatmeal market, business being dull and values in buyers' favor. We quote: Standard, bbls, $2.90 to $3; granulated, bbls, $3 to $3.10; rolled oats, bbls, $2.70 to $2.75; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs, $2.40 to $2.50.

Feed has continued in its downward tendency and prices are again lower this week. We quote: Bran, $10.50 to $11.50; shorts, $11.50 to $12.50; mouillie, $15.50 to $17.50.

CHEESE.

The firm tone of the cheese market has been maintained since our last, and active buying has continued throughout the week at an advance of ¾c. per lb., over 60,000 boxes in the aggregate leaving first hands since last report all the way from 6¾ to 7⅛c.

The butter market also has been steady for finest creamery on good buying by local jobbers, who have freely paid 16c. in the country and 16¼c. on spot.

ASHES.

There is no change in ashes. We quote: Firsts, $3.60 to $3.65; seconds, $3.30, and pearls, $4.80 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The sugar market is worked at present entirely irrespective of nominal first cost at the refineries.

W. M. Griffin, of Griffin & Skelly, the well-known California fruit firm, was in town on Saturday last. He went west from Montreal.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 18, 1896.

WHOLESALE trade continues quiet in all lines. The universal expression is that we are in for a quiet summer. The continued depression of the flour, sugar and provision markets has been a disappointment to the trade generally. Dairy produce shows no sign of improvement. The trade in fish has been disappointing on the whole, the low price of fresh fish being an offset to the large movement in that line. In the lumber trade, most encouraging reports come from the British market, and South American demand is excellent, while quite large shipments will also go to France; but the United States market continues in a dull and depressed condition, which affects not only the trade in small lumber but the business of the schooners owned here. Recent heavy rains have greatly benefited the crops, but in some sections of the province the moisture came too late to ensure a good crop of upland hay. Other crops promise a good yield.

OIL—The market shows no special feature, and quotations are unchanged. We quote: American burning oil, 22½c; best Canadian, 20½c; prime white, 17 to 18c; barrels free in all cases.

SALT—Stocks are ample and trade is without special feature. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c; English factory-filled, 90c to $1; 5-lb bags in barrels, $3 to 3.25; 10-lb bags in barrels, $2.75 to 3; 20-lb wood boxes, 20c; 10-lb boxes, 12c; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz; butter and cheese salt, bulk. $2.65 to 2.70 per bbl.

CANNED GOODS—Nothing of special interest has transpired in this trade since last report. Lobsters are about out of the market. There are some slight changes in quotations. We quote: Corn, 80 to 85c; peas, 95c to $1; tomatoes, 90 to 95c; gallon apples, $2.20 to 2.25; corned beef, Canadian, $2.20 to 2.25; 2-lb tins American, $2.45 to 2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.50 to 1.60; oysters, 2's, $2 to 2.25; 1's, $1.35 to $1.45; peaches, American, 3's, $2.40; Canadian, $2.70 to 2.75; 2's, $1.90 to 2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2.50 to 2.75; salmon, $1.35 to 1.40; haddies, $1.25; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.75 for 2 doz; scallops, $5.50 to 5.75 for 4 doz; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

GREEN FRUITS—Valencia oranges are decidedly higher, also Messinas; and bloods are firmer in sympathy. Lemons are also firmer. Cranberries are out of the market. Bananas have a higher range. Strawberries, gooseberries, peas, cucumbers, cabbage and tomatoes are coming in from Boston. Regarding early California fruit, now on the Montreal market, a leading firm state that it does not pay to bring it down here until the season is a little further advanced. Trade in green fruit is active. We quote: Lemons, $3.50 to 4; Valencia oranges, $8 to 8.50; Messina oranges, $4.50 to 5; blood oranges, $2.50 to 2.75; pineapples, per doz, $2 to 2.25; bananas, $1.75 to 2.50; rhubarb, 1½c; strawberries, 15 to 18c; cabbage, per doz, 80c to $1.20; cucumbers, per doz, 90c to $1; tomatoes, $3 to 3.50 per crate.

DRIED FRUIT—There is very little movement in this line, and very few changes in quotations. We quote: Valencias, 4½ to 5c; layers, 5½ to 6c; California L.M. 4-crown, 6 to 7c; 3-crown, 5½ to 6c; London layers, $1.50 to 1.75; Currants, cases, 4¼ to 5c; cartoons, cleaned, 6½ to 7½c; bulk, cleaned, 6½c; prunes, boxes, 6 to 7c; half-boxes, 7 to 8c; dates, 4½ to 5c; dried apples, 5c; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c; Egyptian onions, 2¼ to 2½c; Bermuda onions, $1.50 per crate; cocoanuts, $4 to 4.50 per 100 lbs; figs, 10 to 12c; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.

DAIRY PRODUCE, ETC.—The butter market is very quiet, with stocks ample and prices easy. We quote: Dairy tubs, 14 to 16c; old stocks, 8 to 12c; creamery, roll, 19 to 20c; do tub, 17 to 18c. Eggs are steady at 10 to 11c. Cheese is unchanged at 8c.

SUGAR—There has been a further easing of the market here in common with other centres. Trade is quiet, despite the fact that the berry season is at hand. Traders generally are prety well supplied. We quote: Granulated, 4¾c; yellows, 3⅝ to 4c; Paris lump, 6c; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—The market is lower. Complaint is made of some price cutting in Barbadoes. Stocks are not excessive, and quality generally is good. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 29c; Porto Rico, 32 to 34c; New Orleans, 30 to 34c; Antigua, 25 to 26c; Nevis, 25 to 26c; syrup, 36 to 38c.

FISH—Trade in cured fish is very dull, whether in dry, pickled, or smoked sorts. The trade in fresh fish cannot be called very satisfactory either, as heavy supplies have depressed the market all round. Large shipments of mackerel, salmon, lobsters and some other fish are going forward from provincial points to Boston. There is still a fair catch of alewives here and the salmon catch is fair, but shad are a short supply this season. The packers get good supplies of haddock and cod, and halibut is also coming in, but in small lots. In dry codfish there is a wide range in quotations. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3 to 3.25; medium, $2.90 to 3.10; pollock, $1.20 to 1.25; bay herring, $1.25 to 1.30 per half-bbl; new smoked, 4 to 5c; Canso, $4 to 4.50 per bbl; shad, half-bbl, $5; Shelburne, $2.75 bbl, 1.65 half-bbl; boneless, 2½ to 8c; fresh Gaspereaux, 50c; smoked do, 80c; salmon, fresh, 11 to 12c; mackerel, fresh, 10c each; lobsters, small, 3 to 4c; medium to large, 5 to 6c.

PROVISIONS—The market is dull and easy. The trade is well supplied. We quote: Clear pork, $14 to 14.50; mess, $13.50 to 14; beef, $12.25 to 12.75; domestic mess pork, $13.75 to 14; hams, 9½ to 10c; rolls, 7½ to 8c; pure lard, 8½ to 9c; compound, 7c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED—The flour market is easy at the decline. The local millers have cut the price of cornmeal to a very low figure. Middlings and bran, oats and peas are lower. There is nothing doing in hay. Beans are dull and unchanged. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.55 to 4.60; best Ontario, $4.30 to 4.40; medium, $4.20 to 4.30; oatmeal, $3.10 to 3.25; cornmeal, $1.95 to 2; middlings, in bulk, car lots, $15.50 to 16; bran, do do, $14.50 to 15; hay, $10.50 to 12; handpicked beans, $1 to 1.10; prime, 90c to $1; oats, 31 to 32c for Ontarios; barley, $3.50; round peas, $1.15 split peas, $3.30 to 3.50; yellow eye beans, $1.75.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

J. Hunter White, the well-known young broker and produce merchant, is away on his wedding tour.

The arrangements for next fall's big exhibition here are being steadily carried on, and we are promised a much better show than the very successful one of last year.

Many of our merchants have taken up their summer residence at points along the rail a few miles out of the city. Rothesay and Westfield are favorite and charming resorts.

Fresh salmon were cheap last week. They sold out of the boats one day at 7c per lb. The large and early supply of mackerel this season has cut into the salmon market in Boston and other cities.

Summer travel from the States has begun, but the rush will not set in until after the Fourth of July. The I.S.S. Co. begin their daily steamer service between here and Boston on June 29. The company have three fine steamers on the route.

George H. Beaudoin, representing Ewing & Co., of Montreal, died at the Dufferin Hotel here on Sunday last, of inflammation of the bowels. He was ill for three weeks, and his wife was with him at the end. The remains were taken to Montreal.

Tenders are asked for important additions to the wharf and warehouse accommodation for steamships at this port, to be ready for next winter's business. It is stated that Furness, Beaver, Donaldson, Allan and French line steamships will engage in the winter export and import trade through St. John next winter.

There are probably more merchants on the stump in St. John in this Federal election than in any former one. With three tickets in the field, and the winter port question a very live issue, the merchants have taken one side or another, and quite a large number have discovered that it is almost as easy to talk on the public platform as to handle a wily customer. And they are at it, hammer and tongs. The quiet condition of general business affords them time, and the campaign managers furnish the opportunity.

The financial statement of the St. John Street Railway Co. presented at the stockholders' meeting, Wednesday of last week, showed a net profit, after providing for interest and all charges, of $31,789.03. From this, two dividends of 2 per cent. each have been declared, using up $20,000, and $5,000 has been put to suspense account and $6,789.03 to profit and loss, The assets of the company are $1,023,397.42.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

WE are a community of traders and politicians down here by the sea. It has been correctly said of England that she is a nation of shopkeepers, and it can be said with equal correctness that we of Halifax are a community of traders. Halifax is the national gateway of Canada. Summer and winter its noble harbor is open to receive the shipping of the world, should it come along. We can, somebody says, accommodate the navies of the world, but, somehow or other, only dear old England seems to tumble to the advantage. It is true our West India business has fallen off. There was a time when our docks would be crowded with trim little brigantines, which carried our fish to the denizens of the sunny islands and brought back cargoes of sugar, molasses and rum. Now there are none of them. The subsidized and unsubsidized steamers do all the trade. The new way is the swiftest, but, somehow or other, our merchants sigh for the good old times of the brigantine. We don't send out as much fish now as we did in the days gone by, but if the natives of the West Indies have tired of our fish it is not our fault. In the good old days fortunes were made in the West India business here. They are being spent by the sons of the men who made them.

Halifax lost the West India business, but it has not lost heart, and we are expecting big things when the direct fast line is established.

As I said, we are politicians as well as merchants. We can drive a bargain or make a speech. We are now making the speeches. Business is dull, says the merchant, and he orders his team and drives to some rural settlement and expounds the trade policies of the Government and Opposition to his entire satisfaction. "Business is dull on account of the elections." That is the general cry. We are forced to accept the statement or go look for proof. But we can't help thinking that people must eat and have wherewithal to be clothed (to say nothing of the drink), even if an election is approaching. Perhaps after all there is considerable of the imaginary in it all. Because an election is on we think times are dull, and we are content to let everything slide until it is over. Thank goodness, we won't be able to use that excuse after the 23rd, for it is only an excuse to get clear of business. For my part, I don't believe trade is duller than on any corresponding period in any other year. Our imports and exports keep up just the same. The price of cod went down in the W. I. market, but the price of fresh mackerel went up in the States, and we had an abundant catch, too. Certain it is there has not been a spring for many a year when so much money was being paid out in Halifax for labor, public works to the extent of $2,000,000 being in course of erection, and labor, skilled and unskilled, in demand. Failures are few and far between, and we have the prospect of an abundant apple crop in the Annapolis Valley, coupled with the knowledge that the apple crop in England is a failure. But for all that, when the elections are over, we will be crying for the fast line to stimulate trade. See if we don't.

THE MARKETS.

You can buy three dozen fresh case eggs for 25 cents. That is the price paid for them on P.E. Island. But you can only buy them at one store, and that store is at the north end, the part of the city which is getting the lion's share of the retail trade to-day, because it is the portion of the city in which the working people reside. Eggs are a drug on the market, and will be unless shippers hold up for a few weeks.

The butter market is in a healthy state. Desirable stocks are in demand, and retail at 23 and 24c. Jobbers' quotations are about 18c. for new creamery and 19 to 20c. for creamery prints. Townships dairy is worth 16 to 17c. in a jobbing way.

Dealers report a slight movement in cheese, new grass jobbing at 8½c.

In green fruits the indications are for higher prices in oranges and lemons. Valencia oranges are worth $6 for 420 count, and Messinas $3.75 to $4 in cases of 150 to 200. Lemons are quoted at $3.50 to $4, 300 count, for choice fruit. Bananas are in good demand, and the fruit on the market is excellent. The tendency is stronger in price, the quotations being $2.25 to $2.50 per bunch for fancy stock. Egyptian onions are plentiful, and sell at $2.25 per 100 lbs. Bermudas are worth from 90c. to $1.10 per bag. Pineapples are coming in more freely, and sell at $1.65 to $1.90 per doz. American tomatoes have arrived in limited quantities, and as they are high on the other side, so are they high here. Some nice Bermuda tomatoes sold at 70 to 75c. per bag this week. They arrived on the Alpha. Very few strawberries have been received. Natives will be on the market in two weeks.

There is no change in the domestic sugar market. Jobbers are filling orders at 4¾ and 4⅞c. for ordinary sized lots of granulated, and yellows at 3¾ to 4¼c., according to grade and color. Three cargoes of molasses arrived since last report. Barbadoes has declined 1c., and Porto Rico quotations are also a fraction down. Some small lots are moving, and a sale of 60 puncheons, held over from last year, is reported. Quotations are: Extra choice Demerara, 38 to 40c.; fancy Porto Rico, 35c.; good do., 33c.; Antigua, 26c.; St. Kitts, 26c.

In fish stuffs there is very little change. Some shipments have been made to the West Indies, Musgrave's new steamer taking quite a cargo. Fresh mackerel is down in price, but the total catch is being sent to Boston iced.

Breadstuffs remain steady. Quotations in flour remain same as last week, viz.: Ogilvie's or Five Lilies, $4.45 to $4.60; Ontario made Manitobas in wood, $4.20 to $4.30; Manitoba shipments, in sacks, $4.15 to $4.25; Ontario and Manitobas mixed, for patents, $4.25 to $4.35; 90 p.c., $4.05 to $4.15; low grades, $3.35 to $3.60.

THEIR REPORT IS FAVORABLE.

Mr. George Wedlake, of Brantford, mechanical superintendent of the Cockshutt Plow Co., has returned with the local manager, Mr. A. E. Mott, from a trip through almost every district in the province and the Territories as far as Moosomin, the M. & N.W. district being the only portion not yet inspected. They are of the opinion that the amount of wheat in crop is not far short of last year, and every farmer spoken to on the subject said the grain was as far advanced at present as during the corresponding week of 1895. The farmers had to work harder this year, but the results have amply repaid them. In the districts around Morris, Dominion City and Emerson, where it was impossible to sow wheat in time, the farmers are all sowing flax, which is a very profitable crop, but somewhat trying on the soil.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

CALIFORNIA PRUNES.

The California Fruit Grower says in its issue of the 6th inst.: "The stock of prunes remaining on hand is limited to about 30 cars, and these are fast going into consumption, but at low prices. The general market is weak in tone, and we learn of sales at less than a 3c. basis for the four sizes. And as to the growing crop, conditions are at present favorable for a larger crop than last season. This may all change before the month of June has passed. In the great San Joaquin valley, where the crop was a failure last year, this season promises a good crop. The Santa Clara valley promises a larger crop than last season, while some sections in the north are short. Indications point to better than 60,000,000 pounds cured prunes for crop of 1896. Oregon prunes are largely a failure this season. Europe reports the promise of a good crop."

A NEW FISH SALT.

AN Inverness paper has the following from its Stornoway correspondent with regard to a fish salt which will, it is expected, revolutionize the fish-curing trade. "No little interest was occasioned at the fish mart by the appearance of Herr M. Stare, of Charlottenburg, Germany, who came to Stornoway to introduce a fish salt which, in his estimation, is to revolutionize the fish-curing business. He claims that fish treated with this salt can be kept for an indefinite period—say for months—in a perfectly fresh condition. He also maintains that his salt is capable of curing the fish with the addition of a little ordinary salt. During his stay he purchased some herrings and put them up in small barrels treated with his preparation. Mr. Stare returned to Germany a few days ago, but left these barrels behind to be examined in the course of a month or two with a view to proving the efficacy of his preparation. He also left samples of the salt in the hands of various curers in town." The opening of the barrels will be waited for with interest, as if the salt comes up to expectations it will mean the beginning of a new era in fish-curing trades.

Speculation is all right in its place, but its place is not giving a man credit, speculating upon his honesty to pay you. There should be no speculation as to whether a man who asks credit is able to meet his obligations.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

DAWSON & Co., of Brampton, are handling from 100 to 150 crates of strawberries per day at the warehouse in that town.

Large shipments of potted meats are arriving this week for Davidson & Hay.

The Port Fish Co., Toronto, is in receipt of Lake Winnipeg white fish.

Another large direct shipment of currants is to hand this week for Davidson & Hay.

Warren Bros. & Co. are in receipt of a shipment of green Rio coffee this week. The samples are good.

Davidson & Hay are offering Wilson's root beer and Bull's ginger beer to retail at 10c.

The proceedings recently taken against makers of and dealers in spurious vinegar are causing grocers who value their reputation to buy only from reliable manufacturers. T. A. Lytle & Co., who are known throughout Ontario for the purity of their goods, report a decided increase over last season in vinegar sales.

Clemes Bros. have received two carloads of water-melons during the week direct from Florida.

Davidson & Hay are showing some particularly good values in low-grade Japan teas.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering a fine line of Young Hyson, which can be retailed at 25c. and leave a good margin.

English spiced sweet gherkins are being sold by A. E. Richards & Co., in pint and half-pint bottles. The price is low.

"Repeat orders for East India pickles are coming in very freely," say A. E. Richards & Co. This delicious pickle is fast becoming popular.

W. H. Gillard & Co. beg to advise the trade that they have another shipment of Gillard's pickles, and will now be able to fill all orders.

Warren Bros. & Co. have in stock a shipment of Filiatra currants in cases and half cases; also Crosse & Blackwell's marmalades, olives and pickles.

Blair's liquid rennet is being imported by A. E. Richards & Co. It is put up in handsome packages and its purity and strength are well known.

Dawson & Co., of Toronto, are in receipt of a carload of new potatoes from St. Louis, Mo. They also have a car each of cucumbers and "Crystal" tomatoes.

Pilgrim Bros.' summer beverages are steadily and rapidly becoming the warm (or rather cool) favorites of the public, so the wholesale agents, W. H. Gillard & Co., say.

Marshall & Co., Aberdeen, Scotland, report a steadily increasing demand for their kippers, bloaters, herrings in tomato and anchovy sauce, and fresh herrings. These goods have become a staple article in Canada.

Morton's and Marshall's canned herrings are leading summer goods with the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

The progress in the popularity of Ceylon tea continues steadily. Laporte, Martin & Cie. report good sales of their "Victoria" and "Princess Louise."

Cunningham De Fourier's celebrated potted fish and game delicacies are being offered by the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., at very low prices.

Buyers looking for fine Moning tea can procure same from Lucas, Steele & Bristol. The firm also have excellent value in gunpowders and Oolong.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are offering special bargains in California dried fruits for the next two weeks. They have an assortment of peaches, pears, prunes, egg plums and apricots.

"Yes," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "our berry sugar is selling better every day. We also have a big demand for our XXX line. People have found out its purity and keeping qualities."

Another week of lively selling of the fresh cargo of Barbadoes malasses is reported by Laporte, Martin & Cie. This molasses seems as popular as ever with the trade, and is especially choice this season.

"Magic" soda, (bi-carb.) is just to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. It is packed in cases of 30 1-lb. and 60 ½-lb. packets, 60 pounds in all, quality is first class, and being handsomely put up it looks well on the shelves.

Another shipment of Marshall's Scotch herrings has just been landed, consisting of kippers, bloaters, herrings in anchovy and tomato sauce, fresh herrings, etc. The goods are consigned to the leading wholesale trade throughout the country.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of a large shipment of Filiatra currants in barrels, half-barrels, cases and half-cases. "The sales of our 'Kolona' Ceylon tea are increasing rapidly, and it is becoming more popular every day," so say the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

J. W. Beardsley's Sons, New York, packers of shredded codfish, "Acme" sliced smoke beef and "Star" boneless herring, the last two in tins with keys, wish to call the attention of the trade to their prices on page 41, this issue, of THE CANADIAN GROCER. New stock of the above is now in the hands of jobbers throughout Canada, and at this season of the year "Acme" beef and "Star" herring are finding ready sale with all live retailers.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Theo. Leonard, of Detroit, representing Kingsford's Oswego starch, was in Toronto this week.

Mr. Joseph F. Eby, of the Eby, Blain Co., is enjoying a few days' fishing in the neighborhood of Havelock.

Mr. F. W. Dawson, manager of the Brampton branch of Dawson & Co., who has been visiting Great Britain, sailed for home on the 11th inst.

Mr. W. F. Carter has resigned his position with George Craig & Co., and will take the management of the grocery department, which Jerry Robinson & Co. are about to establish.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

Charles E. (Duke) Mellish, who for many years has been in the sample room of the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., is now representing that firm on the Lake Shore territory and Niagara Peninsula. Charley possesses the qualities necessary to a traveler, and his success is assured.

Mr. Justice Burbidge delivered judgment in the Exchequer Court, Ottawa, on Monday, in the case of McKay's Sons & St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co. v. the Queen, claim arising out of damages to steamship Acadia in Morrisburg Canal. EVERY GROCER HIS OWN EXPERT.

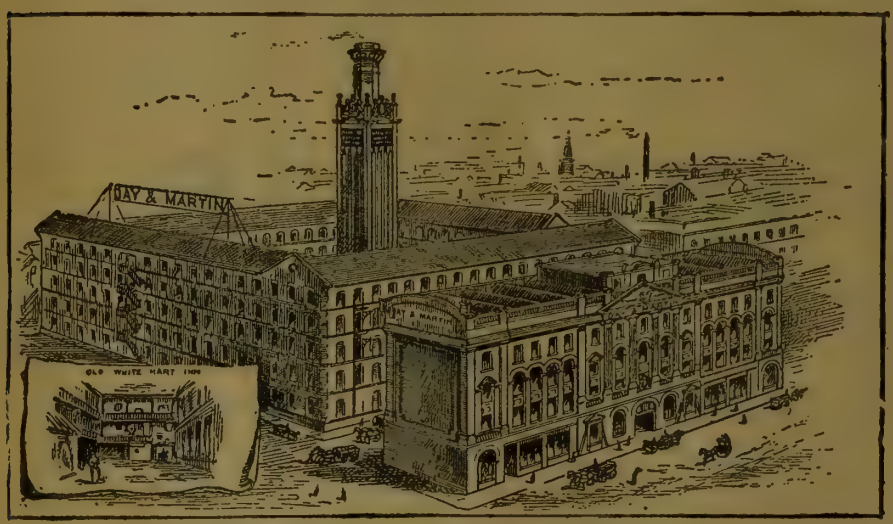
A PIECE of advice frequently found in trade papers, remarks Merchants' Review, is comprised in the following sentence: "Let every grocer qualify himself to judge of the quality of the goods he sells and, if he cannot do that, let him employ an expert to do the work for him." There are two reasons why grocers should lay this advice to heart. First, self-interest demands that they shall know something about the goods they buy, otherwise how can they avoid being cheated? Second, the public is entitled to some degree of protection at the hands of the merchants whom it supports.



It requires considerable presumption on the part of a dealer in food products to offer to cater for consumers when he knows less about the products than the consumers know.

Ignorance of such matters is at the bottom of much of the adulteration the public is familiar with. A sample of goods looks well, is offered at a reasonable price, and the grocer is induced to purchase it, although it is a counterfeit which could not escape the scrutiny of the experienced dealer.

"Knowledge is power," has been well said, but in the grocery business to-day it is fast becoming indispensable. It is true that many inexperienced and untrained dealers manage to escape disaster by relying upon the rivalry of salesmen, but even the very large buyer, who notifies rival salesmen beforehand to be present in his office at such a time with samples and quotations, will sometimes slip up, through too much dependence upon the effects of the force of competition, because the salesmen themselves are not always posted on the goods which they are trying to sell.

Let every grocer be his own expert. It is not impossible, if he will take a little pains to learn.

SWALLOWED UP!

Do you remember the story of the penurious man who accidentally swallowed a five-dollar gold piece? says a press circular. A doctor was immediately summoned and the stomach-pump was applied; but, notwithstanding the most desperate efforts for more than five hours, the total amount that could be obtained was $2.69.

Here is a case where the money was all there, but it couldn't be taken out under the circumstances. There are a good many grocery stores where the profits are all there, but it couldn't be taken out under the circumstances. The trouble in the first place was a penurious man, in the others it is penurious and shiftless management.

It is not a question of a lack of trade. It is a lack of that handsome margin of profit which there should be on the business—which there would be on it if it were done on business principles.

A GENTLE HINT.

According to The Grocery World, the following rhyming announcement was recently found on the wall of a grocery store:

"My friends did come and I did trust 'em.
I lost my goods and lost my custom.
To lose them both did grieve me sore,
So I resolved to trust no more."

A gentle hint that everybody ought to take without offence.

PUREST & BEST

The Largest Creamery in Canada

Is situated at Renfrew, Ont. Their output of Butter has a high reputation. In order to obtain it and keep the quality, they must use the best obtainable ingredients. They use "WINDSOR" SALT exclusively. Under date of December 17th, 1895, Mr. Wright has this to say :—

* * * * For your convenience I may add that it is certainly the finest salt we ever used. There may be as good, but I have never used it. It might interest you to know how we came to use it. For many years before starting our Creamery, I used English salt in my dairy, exclusively Hearing of yours I sent for a sample, which was promptly forwarded, and we used it with our next churning. Although we used the same quantity we had always used, so much greater strength was there in your Windsor brand, that our butter was so salt that we could hardly use it. We then greatly reduced the quantity, and found it to work admirably, and consequently have used it ever since. When we opened our Creamery, Windsor Salt was at once adopted, and we have never had any reason to regret it. The barrels are well made, and being lined with paper it prevents any dirt or dust from getting in. This I consider a very important factor, and so long as you send us the same quality as you have been doing, it will require very strong inducements to cause us to use any other. You will of course understand from this that it was the Windsor Salt we used in our butter which took the Gold Medal at Ottawa in Sept. last.

(Signed) A. A. WRIGHT, Manager Renfrew Creamery Co., Ltd.

Grocers can obtain "WINDSOR" Dairy Salt, from any wholesale house, put up in 50lb. Linen Sacks and in 20lb. White Cotton Bags packed 15 in a paper lined Barrel.

If competition were to cease some merchants would cease to do business because of dry rot.

You may not be able to judge a man by his appearance, but you can a store by its appearance.

He who courts brains before gold has a brighter future before him than he whose policy is vice versa.

"If I had served my business as well as I have my party, I would have been better off than I am to-day," is probably the soliloquy of more than one defeated candidate for parliamentary honors.

The advertisement's duty ceases when it brings the customer to your store. The duty of selling the goods devolves upon you.

A man cannot afford to lose much time dilly-dallying in this world. Life is short, and what we would do we must do quickly.

Money may be the root of all evil, but a business does not take much root in the community until it has plenty of the "root."

During these warm days the average merchant has no small task to prove that he and not the persistent fly rules in his shop window.

The fact that men are still making money out of the grocery business is an indisputable evidence that there is money in it. The only thing is that you have to work harder and plan more judiciously for gold than was the rule a decade ago.

One does not require to guess what will be the end of the merchant who fixes the selling price of an article by guessing the cost thereof.

When once a young man strikes the right road in life let him stick to it if all the imps in Nickdom are engaged in piling obstacles in his way.

Learning to buy and sell no more completes a business education than does learning to read, write and "figure" finish a boy's education.

Because a merchant is careful as to whom he gives credit it does not follow that he has lost confidence in humanity. It signifies that he is not a fool.

The merchant, like the fisherman, needs to use bait in order to catch what he desires; but, unlike the fisherman, he should not use bait for the purpose of deceiving.

There is no question regarding a merchant's ability to drive customers away from his store; but it is decidedly questionable whether he can drive them to it

The reason that we find so few slow men among commercial travelers is that the pace soon kills off the drones. There is only room for workers in the travelers' hive.

The Stalybridge (England) Grocers' and Provision Dealers' Association have decided to elect as honorary members all wholesalers who will register their consent, and a number have already acquiesced. The idea is to be commended. The will tend to elicit the interest of the wholesalers.

APPLETON'S INDIA - CEYLON PACKET TEAS.

MR. E. G. ELLIOTT, of London, Eng., representing Appleton, Machin & Smiles, wholesale tea merchants, of that city, was in Toronto recently. Mr. Elliott is making his second annual business visit to the American continent, and has already this time spent about three months in the United States. When he was here I had a few minutes' chat with him in the office of Thompson & Thompson, the Toronto agents of the firm.

APPLETON'S DISPLAY AT THE TORONTO EXHIBITION.

"Is there anything new developing in London regarding Indian and Ceylon teas?" I asked.

"Not just at the moment," he replied. "You see, this is the time of the year when the Indian gardens have closed, and the imports for the season have been some time finished. But, of course, you know," said Mr. Elliott, with a smile, "in England to-day Indian-Ceylon teas have, like Aaron's rod, completely swallowed up all competitors, the growths of other countries." Then, to prove the reasonableness of this phrase, he quoted figures. In 1879 there were consumed in the United Kingdom 126,340,000 pounds of China tea. The quantity is now only about 20,000,000 pounds, while the total importations from "that land whose teeming millions own the sway of the Empress of India" amount to more than 200,000,000 pounds. "The astonishing rate at which Ceylon teas in particular have gone ahead is proved by the fact that, whereas in 1885 the total amount imported into the United Kingdom was under 4,000,000 pounds, last year the tremendous total of 97,000,000 pounds was reached."

It seems apropos to here mention that among the firms in London who have assisted materially in the development of the trade in Indian and Ceylon teas is that of Appleton, Machin & Smiles. In the United Kingdom itself this firm, we understand, has something like fifty travelers, resident and otherwise, directly selling teas to the trade there.

APPLETON'S TEAS IN A RETAIL STORE.

Hardly a year ago the firm entered the American and Canadian markets with their teas, and to-day they have agents as far south as New Orleans, as far west as Winnipeg and as far east as Montreal. Their wholesale agents are Thompson & Thompson, Toronto; Frank Magor & Co., Montreal; the Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston, and Cushman Bros. Co. in New York, and through them about forty representatives in Canada and the United States are selling their teas to the retail trade of the two countries. THE CANADIAN GROCER understands that already the sale of Appleton's teas on the American continent is assuming large proportions.

Appleton's packet teas are put up in half and one pound sizes. The packets, as the trade knows, are neat and singularly handsome and attractive. They are packed in London in the private bonded warehouse of Appleton, Machin & Smiles, which is a guarantee of their absolute purity and uniform quality, and shipments are made in 50-pound cases under the Customs seal, which ensures their arrival in perfect condition. These teas are sold in three qualities, to retail at 40c., 50c. and 60c. per pound. In addition to the Indian and Ceylon teas so packed, Appleton, Machin & Smiles also put up packets containing green mixed with Indian and Ceylon tea. These latter retail at 40c. and 50c. per pound. In addition to the packet teas, Frank Magor & Co., of Montreal, and Thompson & Thompson, of Toronto, also carry in stock Appleton's Indian and Ceylon blends, ranging in price from 20c. to 40c. per pound.

It will be readily understood that a business of the extent of that of Appleton, Machin & Smiles necessitates the carrying a great stock of tea, from which the blenders can make their selections, and in order

MEANING OF "LIMITED" COMPANIES.

Often firms advertise themselves, as John Jones & Co., Limited, and we find there is a vagueness in the minds of many regarding the term, remarks an exchange.

Companies are described as "limited" when the liability of their shareholders is limited. At common law every person is liable, upon his contracts, etc., up to the whole amount of his estate, and every partner is liable upon all his contracts, etc., of the partnership. So extensive a liability is apt to prevent persons from engaging in business as partners, and the principle of limited liability has somewhat recently been generally recognized.

In England the limitations were first brought into common and popular use in 1853 by Parliamentary Act. In the case of an "unlimited" company each shareholder is liable to contribute to the debts of the company to the full amount of his property, but in "limited" companies the liability of each shareholder is limited by the number of shares he has taken, so that he cannot be called upon to contribute beyond the amount of his shares. In Great Britain a company formed for profit must, if the liability of its members is limited, have the word "limited" as the last word of its name.

Appleton's Teas in Michie & Co.'s Window, Toronto.

SALMON PACKING ON THE COLUMBIA.

P. J. McGowan & Sons, writing from Astoria under date of June 15, say: "Some five or six murders have been committed, and many depredations of a lesser character, and it seems almost certain that if the strike continues much longer the disturbances will be much greater. In the meantime little fishing is being done, and the pack for the entire river up to date does not aggregate more than 50,000 cases, while at this time last year probably at least 200,000 cases had been packed. This is of course having the effect of cutting off most of the early deliveries, as but few of the packers have any new goods. We think that if there had been no strike on the river the outlook for Columbia River salmon at this time would have indeed been gloomy. The continuance of the strike has obliged us to fill all orders from our cannery at Cascades, which is outside the jurisdiction of the strikers."

HIS CASH BUSINESS.

"Going to take a vacation this summer, I s pose?" asked a fat customer.

"Bet a dollar I ain't," replied the merchant, putting his finger on the scale, to see that the sugar didn't weigh down too hard; "I'm too busy."

"Thought trade was dull?" the fat man said.

"Well, so it is, generally," the merchant acknowledged, "but I'm crowded with bookkeeping now, and that makes extra work for me."

"Why," the fat man commented, in some surprise. "I didn't know there was so much bookkeeping about a business like this."

"Well, ordinarily there wouldn't be," the merchant exclaimed, "but you see, I advertise to run a 'strictly cash business.'"

The fat man wondered how he got time for his meals.—Grocery World.

FASCINATING ADVERTISING.

WE have had much pleasure from the contemplation of a piece of advertising enterprise from over the Scots border, says an exchange. To us the appeal seems irresistible and as safe to draw the custom desired as the magnet is to draw the needle. "Boys!" one of the notices begins, going on to enquire whether they have anything on to-morrow, in which extremely probable case a "good stiff game at marbles" is recommended. Then follows a list which, on referring to our own memories of days gone by and the boundless possibilities that lurked in the humble copper, we know to be absolutely irresistible. "Jarries, 20 a penny;" "commies, 40 a penny;" "Chinese glasses, 12 a penny," and so forth, finishing up with the stirring counsel: "Go in and win, and dream you dwell in 'Marble Halls.'" The appeal is not to be withstood. A smaller notice announces, beneath a heading of a snatch of dialogue very much to the point, "15 China marbles in a bag for one halfpenny!" It strikes us that the author of these notices has when he chooses only to extend his field and appeal to the adult population to reap the reward of all good advertisers. He has the golden gift of fascinating his hearers.

THEIR PREMISES GOT TOO SMALL.

It is a gratifying condition of affairs when a firm is compelled to enlarge their premises or remove to others more commodious. This latter alternative has been the experience of the Alpha Chemical Co., Berlin, Ont. The premises to which they will remove and which they have purchased is on Foundry street, Berlin. The structure is a large four storey building, and the Alpha Chemical Co. will take possession about September 1, when the firm hopes to be able to fill all orders promptly. The recently acquired premises of the firm are favorably situated, and the price paid the owner, Mr. Joseph Bingeman, is understood to have been a good one.

PATENT REPORT.

Marion & Laberge, solicitors and experts, Montreal, report that the following patents have recently been granted to their clients: 52,700, Mde. Dr. Guertin, medical compound; 52,647, P. E. Guerard, hose coupling; 52,682, Geo. Robidoux, pile fabric.

CLEAN YOUR CELLAR.

In the spring, summer and autumn, if not in mild winters, the cellar should be kept scrupulously clean, especially if used as a receptacle for food products that are to be disposed of in the store, says Merchants' Review. There may be excuse for the grocer who invites disease in his own family by keeping the cellar under his store and living apartments in a filthy condition, but there is none for the dealer who thus threatens the health of customers. The dirty cellar is a fruitful hotbed of disease germs, notably those of diphtheria, and must be well ventilated as well as kept clean, in order to ensure the health of the family.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Wilson, of J. L. Watt & Scott, Toronto, starts this week on a pleasure trip, going by wheel, rail and boat to Kingston, Montreal, Portland, Boston, and Halifax. He will be away three weeks and will combine business with pleasure.

Mr. Dallas, of New York, representing Mourilyan, Heiman & Co., Yokohama and New York, was in Toronto this week.

Mr. P. C. Larkin has just returned from England, where he has been introducing the "Ideal" packer, and where he has met with remarkable success.

Mr. C. W. Gregory has just returned from the Northwest, where he has been introducing "Salada" Ceylon tea. He is now in the Lower Provinces.

THE TROUBLE SETTLED.

The report that the canners and the striking fishermen on the Columbia River have come to an understanding and that work will be resumed at once is confirmed, according to The N.Y. Journal of Commence. Said a prominent commission man in commenting on the compromise: "The cost of raw fish last year was 5c. per pound. The reduction now secured by the cannerymen brings the difference between cost and selling price on the same parity as that of last year, hence no lower selling prices are to be expected. In fact, the loss in the pack as the result of the strike, estimated at fully 125,000 cases, cannot be made up in the short period remaining before the close of the packing season."

UNSOLD GOODS.

Upon finding you have made a mistake in buying stock, says Michigan Tradesman, do not hold up for the first price and let the goods lie indefinitely on the shelves, but let them go for what they will bring. This is the wisest course to pursue. Everybody makes mistakes, so that no one has a monopoly in this line. But, after the mistake has been made, do your best to rectify it by getting rid of the bad bargain as soon as possible. If goods fail to meet the proper approval, don't let the question of price hinder in their disposal. Better sell when the rush is on at a low price than carry them in stock. In many stores throughout the country there are goods piled up whose original cost, with interest added, would make quite a nice little sum.

TRADE CHAT.

THE commercial failures in the United States for the week are reported at 276, compared with 228 in the corresponding week last year.

Wm. Orr, of Fruitland, Government superintendent of spraying experiments, reports that the prospects for a good fruit crop in the province are the very best.

The following team of city travelers for Hamilton grocery firms has been organized to play the retail grocers of that city at the grocers' picnic on July 15: R. Moncur, W. H. Snider, W. Jackson, W. Hobson, J. A. Stuart, H. Fearman, George H. Carley, J. S. Reid, S. Ballentyne, A. Fraser. Mr. Stuart will captain the team, which may challenge the league team if it does not soon play better ball.

Selkirk is now the fourth town in the province of Manitoba with a population of 2,000.

Mr. Dresser's store on the corner of Main street and Fonseca avenue, Winnipeg, was entered by burglars the other night and a quantity of the stock taken. Mr. Rosenfelt's fruit and tobacco store was also visited by robbers.

Bell & Co., commission merchants, of Toronto, have entered an action against the Canada Atlantic Railway Fast Freight Line and Warren & Co., steamship forwarders, of Boston, for $3,000 damages for delay in forwarding a shipment of Canadian apples to Liverpool, where, it is alleged, the fruit became damaged to the amount claimed.

J. M. Johnston, of Wellandport, who recently bought the grocery store on the corner of Wellington and Elgin streets, St. Thomas, has arrived in the latter city and will at once put in a large stock of groceries. Mr. Johnston also bought the residence adjoining from Ira J. Ribble. The store will be increased in size in the near future.

Reports from Sault Ste. Marie show that the Canadian canal there is receiving a fair share of the traffic at that point, no less than 1,293 vessels having passed through the canal since the opening of navigation up to the 19th inst. Recently the largest single lockage ever known at the Soo was made, no less than five vessels of a total length of 1,091 feet and a tonnage of 4,918 tons being passed through at once. The vessels were the steamer City of Grand Rapids, length 135 feet; steamer Spokane, length 311 feet; schooner Iron King, length 265 feet; schooner Iron Queen, length 275 feet; and tug F. H. Stewart, length 65 feet.

Seasonable Summer Specialties

The proverbially "dull days" are at hand. There's always plenty of business for grocers, though, if you go after it with the right goods and in the right way. Try these specialties—nearly everybody knows them—those who don't would like to—they're the best of their kind.

Table Coolness

Ices, creams and custards—all the dainty, refreshing dishes which demand a rich delicate flavor—are just right if cooks will use

Crown Brand Flavoring Extracts

Made in forty different flavors, pure and strong. We guarantee them because we make them—you can safely recommend them if you sell them.

Dress Cleanness

Much work and worry now meet those who like the snowy whiteness of well cleaned, well starched summer gowns and garments. Wise women use

MACK'S

Double Starch

—and wise grocers always sell it. It contains all that is necessary to cleanse, stiffen and gloss It needs no other preparations with it.

Summer Lunches

For quick lunches at home, or neat lunches for picnics, everyone finds

Carr & Co.'s Biscuits

—to be the best and the most popular. The same as those which have been supplied to H.M. the Queen since 1841. They always sell.

PROBLEMS OF PREFERENTIAL TRADE.

THE question of closer trade within the British Empire is now within the range of practical politics. Heretofore it has been a thing much talked about, but not as a rule seriously considered because of the indefiniteness of the scheme. The pronunciamento of Secretary of State for the Colonies Chamberlain, at the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire and the subsequent action of that body have brought the question where it can be no longer treated lightly.

The British Government, through Mr. Chamberlain, has stated that it is now open to discuss the matter, while the Congress in question passed this resolution unanimously:

That this Congress of the Chamber of Commerce of the Empire is of opinion that the establishment of closer commercial relations between the United Kingdom and the colonies and dependencies is an object which deserves and demands prompt and careful consideration. The Congress, therefore, respectfully represents to Her Majesty's Government that if that suggestion should be made on behalf of the colonies, or some of them, it would be right and expedient to promote the consideration and the formulation of some practical plan by summoning an Imperial Conference, fully representative of the interests involved, or by such other means as Her Majesty may be advised to adopt.

As far as the colonies are concerned, this resolution commits them to the scheme, and from what has been said by those within the Government circle, "Barkis is willin'," too.

There is unquestionably an all-round desire among the component parts of the British Empire for closer trade relations one with the other. Sentimental reasons have something to do with this desire. But probably a still greater one is the desire for trade expansion. The colonies on the one hand want to sell more of their products to the Mother Land, and the Mother Land on the other wants to sell more of her products to her children. Where the difference of opinion will come in will be in the methods for attaining this object. It is equally obvious that there must be give and take before closer trade relations than now obtain can be secured. Great Britain will have to sacrifice something So will her children.

Great Britain will have to move cautiously because of her world-wide trade interests. Canada's foreign trade is a flea-bite to that of the Mother Land. But it seems to us that if any of the parties to the proposed agreement should pick its steps it is Canada. Her situation is unique. None of her sister colonies border on the territory of a great and powerful nation ; and that nation a big customer.

Canada's best market naturally for many of our chief staples is the United States. And that it is in reality not her best market is because of barriers which have been erected to prevent the natural course of events to develop.

We sell more to Great Britain than we do to the United States, last year by nearly twenty millions of dollars ; but we buy more from the United States by nearly twenty-three millions than we do from Great Britain.

Canada will need to consider whether it will pay her to give the products of the British Empire a preference under the tariff over those of the United States. Would Canada, by giving British goods preferential rights court retaliation from the United States, and thus curtail a trade between the two countries which is already small enough ?

Then a large proportion of our revenue is contributed by British goods. Of the total Customs revenue last year over 41 per cent. was raised by duties on goods from Great Britain. Would a perferential tariff result in a smaller revenue from British goods, and from the United States because of diminished imports therefrom, or would the increased imports which might naturally be expected from the various parts of the British Empire bring the total revenue approximately near where it is under present conditions ?

We do not point out these things for the purpose of throwing cold water upon the perferential trade scheme. We merely do so with a view to showing some of the knotty problems that must be solved before perferential trade can be accomplished.

Personally THE CANADIAN GROCER is not at all discomfited by the problems that are awaiting solution, as long as the right kind of practical business men are deputed to the prospective task. We believe that the expansion in trade which would follow in the footsteps of preferential trade would more than make up for any losses that may be incurred from loss of revenue.

As far as the United States is concerned we have not much to expect from that country in the way of a more favorable tariff for some time to come, judging from the political conditions obtaining there. The McKinley tariff drove us to take steps to push our export trade with Great Britain, with the result that the value of our exports to that country jumped from $48,000,000 the year the bill in question went into force to nearly $62,000,000 in 1895, while in 1894 they touched $68,500,000

But who knows but that a preferential tariff within the British Empire may not be the means of bringing about closer trade relations of some description between all British-speaking nations ? There are great numbers of people who dream of such a thing, and dreams sometimes come true. And this is not a dream impossible of being realized

A LESSON FOR THE LIBERALS.

IN the elections which took place on Tuesday last was conveyed a lesson to the party which has been given power, as well as a warning to the party which has been driven from power.

The defeat of the Conservative Government was not due to any great defection regarding the fiscal policy of that Government, for both parties, one by choice and the other by necessity of the conditions now obtaining, are wedded, for the time being at least, to protection.

The concrete weakness of the Conservative Government was the absence within itself of the practical common-sense business element, without which a country can be no more wisely ruled than can a mercantile institution. And this means the clumsy way in which it dealt with the school question as well as the way in which the general business of the country was transacted.

Professional politicians of mediocre ability can no more be expected to wisely and well transact the business of a country than can a mouse do the work of an elephant. Yet the Government of the past couple of years have fallen into the egregious error that they could. The consequence was what might have been expected : the real business interests of the country were neglected. As a natural concomitant of that, the business men of the country became dissatisfied, not as we have already said, with the fiscal policy of the Conservative party, but with the unbusiness-like methods of the Cabinet that was the representation of that party.

Business men abhor unbusiness-like methods just as much as the virtuous abhor the unvirtuous. Bad business methods will ruin a country as well as factory. Business men know this. Hence the dissatisfaction with the Government which for some time has been so much in evidence in the commercial centres throughout the Dominion.

If the party now coming into power would escape the mistakes that have proved so disastrous to the party going out of power, it will see to it that the Cabinet positions that demand the attention of business men shall be filled by business men.

By all means give lawyers charge of the law departments, but do not place them in positions that practical business men only can fill. Neither make the egregious blunder of making a lawyer or a doctor Minister of Agriculture.

The purely business departments are post office, marine and fisheries, finance, railways and canals, public works, interior, trade and commerce, inland revenue, customs. Let these be filled by business men. If they are not, it will be a miracle if the Liberals do not escape the disaster of the Conservatives.

The business men of the country are aroused and they demand this.

THE ELECTIONS AND TRADE.

IT has been claimed that much of the trade quietude of the past couple of months has been due to the Federal election campaign. The influence of the campaign may have been exaggerated, but there was, no doubt, a great deal of truth in the assertion. When a general election is pending there is naturally a tendency to devote time to politics at the cost of business, while there are always a number who, from a fear of a change in the fiscal policy, are passive in their business operations, either from fear or hope of a change in the fiscal policy.

Now that the elections are over the shoulder should be again put to the wheel. Just as soon as this is done will the abnormal conditions of the past few weeks become normal. There is no reason why they should not. The outlook promises a fairly healthy trade, if not a very large one. And it is only through a lack of confidence that we can prevent the fulfilment of the promises, unless, of course, unforeseen and deleterious influences develop.

The possibility of changes in the tariff should not be allowed to act as a drag upon trade. The leaders of the party into whose hands the people have placed the reins of power have declared emphatically that there shall be no radical or general change in the tariff, and that the little changes that may take place will be in the direction of improving, not maiming, the tariff.

The policies of the two great parties are, therefore, practically the same: Both realize that at present a change in the fiscal policy of the country is impossible. Generally speaking, therefore, there should be no more alarm over the advent to power of a new party than if the old had been returned.

Although in the new Parliament there will not be seen some faces that THE CANADIAN GROCER would have liked to have seen there, yet a cursory examination of the list of successful candidates shows that there will be no insignificant array of practical business men in the new House, who may be expected to have concern for the business interests of the country as well as take some interest in the welfare of their respective parties

There is Clancy, of Bothwell, a merchant; Henry, of South Brant, a soap manufacturer; Craig, of East Durham, a leather and hide merchant; Reid, of Grenville, a starch manufacturer; Macpherson, of Hamilton, a wholesale grocer, and Wood, of the same place, a hardware merchant and manufacturer; Corby, of East Hastings, a distiller; Campbell, of Kent, a miller; Rosamond, of North Lanark, a woolen manufacturer; Frost, of Leeds and Grenville, an implement manufacturer; Klock, of Nipissing, a lumberman; Hutchison, of Ottawa, a miller; Featherston, of Peel, a cattle dealer; Maclaren, of North Perth, a well-known cheese manufacturer and expert; Edwards, of Russell, a lumberman; Osler, of Toronto West, a financier; Seagram, of North Waterloo, a distiller; Kloepfer, of South Wellington, a wholesale carriage hardwareman; Frankland, of East York, a wholesale butcher and cattle dealer; Wallace, of West York, a general merchant; Dobell, of Quebec West, a shipping merchant; Moore, of Stanstead, a general merchant; Ashdown, of Marquette, a wholesale hardwareman; Prior, of Victoria, a wholesale hardwareman.

While no material change is anticipated in the tariff, it is to be hoped that Mr. Laurier will, as soon as possible after assuming office, announce his policy to the House, in order that the country may know just exactly what he intends or does not intend doing, so that the tariff question may be settled beyond peradventure.

MEDIUM AND LOWER GRADE JAPANS.

While the choicest Japan teas of new season's growth cost less than they did last year, the medium and lower grades are costing more.

The difference in freight and exchange alone is about 10 per cent., and a 15c. tea is costing about 1½c. per pound more than a year ago. A cable received this week from Yokohama intimates this.

So far, the settlements of Japan tea are about 5,000,000 pounds less than a year ago.

The higher freights noted are due to a combination between the rail and steamer people, owing to this combination there being this year no sail and rail rates.

FLUCTUATION IN CHEESE VALUES.

THE recent advance shown in cheese during the past fortnight of all the way from ½ to ⅞c. can be attributed to three chief causes.

Towards the close of May, when the market was dragging and indifferent and prices seemed never likely to touch bottom, one or two exporters in Montreal conceived the idea that it would be a good thing to sell short on June cheese. They did so at prices ranging all the way from 34s. 6d. to 36s. 6d. per cwt. This meant that they could hardly afford to pay more than 6½ to 6¾c. in Montreal.

When it leaked out that these short sales on this basis aggregated between 45,000 and 50,000 boxes, the spirit of contrariness took possession of other members of the export trade. Many, if not most, of the sales were made on the understanding that the goods would be shipped during the latter part of June and first of July.

This meant that the shorts had to cover themselves, or they might be caught napping. Accordingly, the process of "boosting" prices was gone into, and the market was run up on the shorts. On the other hand, there was another element that thought June cheese a purchase to put away around 7c. first cost, and this influence had its effect, for, according to reports from different points, quite a few June cheese have been put into cold storage recently.

At this writing, however, the market has taken a distinct drop, and buyers' offers are from ¼ to ½c. per pound lower than they were a week ago.

Buyers are afraid, no doubt, of the market running away from them, and have decided to call a halt, accordingly. So far, the volume of exports are considerably behind last year, being 230,000 against 265,000 last year, or 35,000 boxes less. At New York also they are 30,000 boxes below 1895. The offerings in the country to date do not indicate any increase in the make of cheese as compared with last year. Statistically, therefore, the position is healthy enough, for there is no large stock in Great Britain to weigh on the market, as was the case last year.

LAKE WINNIPEG WHITE FISH.

Some months ago THE CANADIAN GROCER intimated that it was quite probable that fresh Lake Winnipeg white fish would during the summer months be seen on the Toronto market.

What was stated as a probability has become a reality: Lake Winnipeg white fish are on the Toronto market. They arrived for the first time last week.

The bringing of fresh white fish from the lake in question is an innovation, Toronto hitherto having drawn its supply of these fish from Lake Erie and Georgian Bay.

The Lake Winnipeg product is a superior white fish, and the shipments which have already arrived on the Toronto market have been quickly disposed of. It sells at the same price as the Lake Erie white fish, in spite of the necessarily heavy express charges.

The fish are caught about 175 miles up the lake, and conveyed in fast steamers, and from there shipped east by rail. These shipments reach Toronto over the C.P.R. in three days, rather good time for a twelve-hundred-mile travel.

CURIOUS FIGURES.

ARE you a bookkeeper or a bank clerk? If you are, says an exchange, it is ten to one that you don't know the peculiarities of those things with which you juggle daily in your business—namely, numbers. They are certainly very "freaky" things, and the average lay mathematician knows not half the mysteries of which they are possessed, although amusing dissertations concerning them are seemingly without end.

To begin, there is a method of substracting the sum of several numbers without adding each sum separately.

First make this table :

56,243
84,564 A
3,252
26,848

2,942
3,654 B
2,308

162,003

Let it be supposed to substract all the amounts below the line at B from all those above it at A. Add all the figures in the first lower column B, which will make it 14, and substract their sum from the next higher number of tens, or 20. Add the remainder, 6, to the corresponding column above at A, and the total will be 23. Write down 3 at the bottom, and because there were here two tens, as before, there is nothing to be reserved or carried. In a like manner add the figures of the second column in B, which will amount to 9, and this taken from 10 will leave 1; add 1, therefore, to the second column of the upper numbers, the sum of which will be 20; write down a cipher at the bottom, and because there were here two tens, while in the lower column there was but one, reserve the difference and substract it from the next column of numbers, marked B, before you begin to add. In the contrary case—that is, when there are more tens n any one of the columns marked B than in the corresponding column above it—the difference must be added. In the last place, when it happens that the difference cannot be taken from the next column below for want of more significant figures, as the case here in the fifth column, it must be added to the upper one and the whole sum written below the line. By proceeding in this manner the above result is obtained, and it will be found invariably correct.

Any schoolboy who has passed multiplication in his arithmetic knows that to multiply a number by ten it is only necessary to add a cipher, by one hundred two ciphers, and so on. Hence it follows that to multiply by five it is only necessary to suppose a cipher added and divide by two. Thus, if it were required to multiply 127 by five, with a cipher added you have 1,270, which, divided by two, equals 635, the product required.

In a like manner, to multiply any number by twenty-five, two ciphers must be added, or first assume that the number has been multiplied by 100, then divide by four. According to the same principle, to multiply by 125 it will be necessary to add three ciphers and divide by eight.

The multiplication of any number by eleven may be reduced to simple addition. Let the number to be multiplied by eleven be 67,583. The whole process may be reduced to the following few strokes of the pencil :

67,583

743,413

Just say three and cipher makes three; write down three in the units' place; then add eight and three, which makes eleven: write down one in tens' place and carry one; then add five, and eight and one carried makes fourteen; write down four in hundreds' place, and carry one. Continue adding every figure to the next following one, until the operation is finished.

The same number may be multiplied in a like manner by 111 by first writing down the three, then the sum of eight and three, and so on.

Multiplying by nine may be reduced to simple subtraction. Take, for example, the same number — 67,583. The only figures necessary are these :

67,583

608,247

After a cipher is added to the end, subtract each figure from that which precedes it, commencing at the right. Continue in this manner, taking care to borrow ten when the right hand figure is too small.

These are some of the tricks of lightning calculators. It is not hard to learn these various systems, and the peculiarities of each number, and when a man gets them thoroughly into his head he is able to do some things apparently marvellous

To determine the divisibility of numbers is perhaps one of the tantalizing things mathematicians have to deal with The following properties are useful :

Any number is exactly divisible by four if its two right hand figures are exactly divisible by four.

When the sum of digits of any number is exactly divisible by three, so is the number itself.

Any even number is exactly divisible by six which is exactly divisible by three.

If the last three figures of a number are exactly divisible by eight so is the number itself.

Any number is divisible by twelve which is divisible by three and four.

WAS IT W. A. BRADSHAW?

THERE is a broker in this city who once had an experience of a kind which does not fall to the lot of many, and which he is not at all desirous of repeating. Some years ago he was in the soap manufacturing business, and on his retiring determined to visit the countries of Europe and Asia, an idea which he carried out on an extensive scale. In the course of his peregrinations he visited Palestine, and one day, while walking along the highway, his eyes were attracted to a magnificent grove of orange trees, on which the ripe fruit hung in great profusion. His dragoman suggested that they should enter and help themselves to some of the oranges, and, as the day was warm and he was afflicted with a consuming thirst, the broker consented. He had gathered several of the tempting spheres, when he noticed what looked like the flutter of draperies amid the foliage. He was on the point of advancing to investigate, when he heard a shout of warning from his dragoman, and at the same moment an appalling vision burst into view, nothing less than a gigantic Turk, shawled and turbaned, and bearing a murderous-looking scimitar naked in his hand. The hideous truth came upon him like a flash. He had disturbed the ladies of the harem in their constitutional, and the avenger was upon him. Without a word he turned and fled from the presence, pursued for a short distance by the irate Oriental, and it was not till he had reached the sanctuary in the shape of his hotel bedroom that he fully realized the profanation of which he had been guilty and the exceeding narrowness of his escape. For some time after the sight of oranges, even on a coster's barrow, was enough to send a shudder through his frame. — Mail and Empire, Toronto.

All but Indispensable

To the modern grocer is the Display Case, through which medium he is enabled to place before the consumer in a most acceptable form different lines to which he especially wishes to direct attention ; articles which when hidden in drawers or beneath counters are of slow sale, but when placed prominently before the public meet with a ready turnover.

THERE ARE SEVERAL different manufactures of such cases now commanding the attention of merchants throughout Canada, but the one which appears to us to combine more real meritorious points is represented by the above cut. It is attractively designed, and finished in hardwood ; of convenient size, and a great economizer of space where counter room is limited or where it is desired to add attractiveness to the store.

RETAILERS EVERYWHERE who have tested the value of these cases are delighted with the results.

Our travellers will thoroughly explain when they call, or we shall be pleased to answer any questions directed to the house.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THIS has been what might be almost termed a holiday week, the interest in the Federal election seemingly having been greater than the desire to do business. Besides this, a great many of the travelers have been in the city part of the week. Outside these particular phases of the situation the wholesale grocery trade during the past week has been featureless. Canned goods continue in fairly good demand, and further supplies of canned lobster are on the market. The coffee market still attracts but little attention. Syrups and molasses are still quiet. The sugar market at the time of writing is still demoralized, further declines having taken place in both London and New York. In Canada the price of sugar rules much as before. Wholesalers report a fair movement in teas. Currants continue in good demand, but there is not much doing in other lines of foreign dried fruits. The demand for all kinds of green fruit, both domestic and foreign, is good. Payments are fair.

CANNED GOODS.

Further shipments of new season's canned lobster are on the market this week, but the supply is still light. The demand for salmon is good. Although the demand is gradually dropping off for canned vegetables, there is still a fair quantity of them going out. We quote : Tomatoes, 80 to 90c.; corn, 55 to 85c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $2 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.45 to $1.50; "Maple Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.25 to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, old, $1.90 to $2.25 for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half tins, $1.45 to $1.50; ditto new talls, $2.10; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7 to $8; 14's, $14.50 to $15.50.

COFFEE.

The market is quiet. The demand is chiefly for Rio growths at about 17½ to 18c. We quote green in bags : Rio, 17 to 20c., according to grade ; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

Business is quiet. There are a few offering, but there is no demand. We quote : Dark, 30 to 32c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

There is scarcely anything doing. We quote : New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The market is still demoralized. In London on Monday another decline of 4½d. was recorded, and on the same day refined declined 3-16c. in New York owing to the depressed feeling in England. The Toronto agents of the Canadian refineries are doing nothing scarcely. Supplies in wholesalers' hands appear to be fairly good, lots purchased a short time ago now being delivered. Wholesalers on the other hand report a fair quantity of sugar selling, as might naturally be expected with the fruit season upon us. There is, however, so much uncertainty regarding the future of the market that the buying is only for immediate wants. Wholesalers' prices are : Granulated, $4.60 to $4.65 ; yellows, 3⅝c. up ; Demerara, in bags, $3.75 to $3.85 per 100lbs.

N.Y. Journal of Commerce : "As a matter of interest it may be stated that the highest and lowest prices made on raw sugar from January 1st to date were respectively 4½ to 3⅝c. The lowest price was made Thursday and the highest on April 13th. The year opened with the price 3¾c., and the month ended at 4c. The range during February was 3⅞ to 4¼c., and during March, 4⅛ to 4 3-16c. During April, 4 3-16c. and 4½c. were the extremes In May the price fell off to 3⅞c. June opened at 3⅞c. and is now at 3⅝c., the lowest point so far this year. The local market for raws is not very active, although some business was done on the new range of values established yesterday, but some holders maintain a firm front and hold for higher prices.

SPICES.

The spice mills report being fairly well employed. We quote : Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.

RICE, ETC.

The demand for rice continues good, and there are still fair quantities of sago andtapioca going out. We quote : Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

The demand is only limited. We quote : Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green ; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack ; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots ; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

The market is without special feature. The wholesale houses report a fair movement in Japans at 18 to 28c., and in Ceylons at 18 to 30c. Agents of shippers report that there are quite a few of last season's Japan teas moving. Ruling prices to retailers are : Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades ; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades ; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

The currant market continues firm with the local demand good. We quote as follows: Provincials, 3¾ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do., half-bbls., 4¼ to 4¾c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Patras, 4¼ to 4½c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; do., half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; do., extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; do., half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.; Panaretas, in cases, 9c.

Valencia raisins, selected fruit, are gradually getting into smaller compass. Three-crown California loose muscatels are quoted slightly dearer. We quote : Off-stalk, 4¾ to 5c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c. and layers, 6½ to 6¾c. California raisins, 2-crown, 4¼ to 4½c.; 3-crown, 5½ to 5¾c.; 4-crown, 6½ to 7c.; seedless, 4½ to 5c.

Business in California dried fruits is almost at a standstill. We quote : Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 5¾ to 8½c., in bags, and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted and 9½ to 10½c. pitted ; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.

Prunes of all kinds are quiet and feature-less. We quote: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c.; "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

Sultana raisins are quiet and firm. We quote 5½ to 6c. as the ruling price.

Dates are scarce, with the demand light at 4½ to 5½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

There is a good all round demand for green fruits, both domestic and foreign. Pineapples are practically done for the season, those now arriving being in a wasty condition. The market is also about cleaned out of California oranges. We quote: Lemons—Messina, $2.75 to $3.50 for 360's and 300's per box. Oranges—California navels, $3.75 to $4.50, according to size; do. seedlings, $2.75 to $3.50; Valencias, 420's, $8; Sevilles, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Messinas, half-boxes, $2 to $2.25; ditto, boxes $4.75 to $5.25. Bananas, firsts, $1.25 to $1.75; cocoanuts, $4.25 to $4.75 a sack and 70c. per dozen; apples, Spies, $6 to $7; Golden Russets, $5; Bermuda onions, $1.50 per small crate; Egyptian onions, $2.25 to $2.50 perbag; pineapples, 8 to 15c.; domestic strawberries, 6 to 8c.; domestic cherries, $1.25 per basket; cucumbers, $2 per crate and 40 to 50c. per dozen; Mississippi tomatoes, $1.25; water melons, 25 to 35c. each.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—A good deal of butter is apparently being held in the country awaiting better prices, but these are not expected to materialize at least until the British market improves. Dealers are, therefore, advised to dispose of their butter while it is fresh, especially in view of the fact that it soon deteriorates in quality at this time of the year. The demand is only fair, and we quote much as before: Dairy butter—Tubs, 11 to 12½c. for good to choice; low grade to medium, 8 to 10c.; pound prints, 12 to 13c. Creamery—Tubs, 15 to 16c.; 1-lb. blocks, 15 to 16c., according to make.

CHEESE—The demand is fair only, being of a hand-to-mouth character, with the market easy. The ruling price for new cheese is from 7 to 7½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Dull, at 80 to 90c. per bushel.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Quiet at 5½ to 6c.

DRIED APPLES—Dull at 3c. per lb.

EGGS—Are coming in freely. A good many of them are showing poor quality, not having been shipped promptly. "Eggs should be shipped twice per week at this time of the year," remarked one dealer. The idea as to price is 9 to 9½c.

POTATOES—There is not much doing in potatoes. Domestic are worth about 25c. per bag on the track in carload lots, and 30c. out of store. New are quoted at $2.50 per barrel.

HONEY — Dull. We quote: Strained, clover, 9 to 10c.; dark, 4½ to 5c.; comb, clover, $1.80 per dozen; dark, 80c. per dozen.

MAPLE SYRUP—Dull. We quote: Imperial gallon tins, 80 to 90c.; 5-gallon tins, 70 to 75c.; barrels, 65c. per gallon.

PROVISIONS.

Business continues to improve in smoked meats, and is accounted fair. Prices are unchanged at last week's quotations.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5¼ to 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7¼ to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 9½ to 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 8½ to 9c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 9½c.; small hams, 10c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7¼c.; tubs, 7½c.; pails, 7¾ to 8c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short-cut, $13 to $13.50; clear shoulder mess, $10.50 to $11.

FISH.

The market is over-supplied, while the demand is light. Quotations are, however, much as before. We quote: Lake Erie herring, 2½ to 3c. per lb.; blueback herring, $1.25 per 100; pike, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; Restigouche salmon, 12½ to 18c.; steak cod, 6½ to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; whitefish, 7 to 9c.; salmon trout, 6½ to 7c.; eels, 5 to 6c. per lb.

SALT.

Business continues good at unchanged prices. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel, and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

Prices are fractionally lower. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19 to 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19½c. in bulk.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN—Receipts continue small. We quote: White wheat, 70c.; red, 71c.; goose, 52c.; barley, 31 to 32c.; oats, 23 to 24c.; peas, 48c.

BALED HAY—There is a firmer feeling at $13 for No. 1.

FLOUR—Quiet. Straight roller is quoted at $3.35 to $3.40 outside.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade continues quiet. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.75 to $2.85; rolled wheat, $2.25 in 100-lb. barrels; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES—Are unchanged with sales of cured at 5¾. Dealers pay 5½c. for No. 1, 4½c. for No. 2, 3½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6c. for No. 1 and 4c. for No. 2. Lambskins are firm at 30c., and pelts 15c.

WOOL—Receipts are fair, and prices unchanged. Feece brings 17 to 18c.; rejections, 15c., and unwashed, 11c. Pulled supers are 19½ to 20c., and extras, 21c.

TALLOW—Unchanged at 3¼ to 4c. for rendered.

MARKET NOTES

comparatively large stocks. Teas are without feature, and the same can be said of coffees and spices. Canned goods are without alteration, and jobbers show no desire at the moment to contract ahead in any department, either fish, vegetables or fruit. Dried fruits are steady, and the prospects seem to indicate comparatively high prices for new pack fruit

SUGAR.

Sugar continues easy and unsettled as to value, with demand very slack for refined at the present time. Last week's decline did not encourage buyers in the slightest, and refiners on Saturday, to be in accord with the decline jobbers were asking, marked down their prices on granulated another ⅛c., round lots being quoted 4⅜c. at the refinery. We quote: Granulated 4½ to 4⅝c.; and yellows, 3¼ to 3¾c. as to grade.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in the syrup market. Business continues quiet and prices unchanged at 1¼ to 2¾c. as to quality.

MOLASSES.

The market remains quiet, the first cost of Barbadoes being cabled unchanged, 10c. at the Island. The fact does not induce any buying, demand being extremely dull in an import way. The Guild prices here for ordinary business are unchanged also, 30c. for car lots and 31c. single puncheons, with 3c. advance in the case of half-puncheon lots There has been very little business transacted in Porto Rico, and the price for jobbing lots is the same as Barbadoes.

RICE.

A fair business in a small way was transacted in rice, and values are unchanged. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50, and Java, $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

No change of moment is noted in the spice market, business continuing quiet and prices steady. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market is quiet, and prices rule in favor of the buyer in the case of round lots. The fact has not induced any quotable alteration, however, in the prices asked for ordinary lots from jobbers' hands. We quote: Rio, 17 to 19c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 19c.; Java, 28c.; and Mocha, 29c.

TEAS.

Most of the recent arrivals of new crop Japan teas have now passed out of first hands at all the way from 22 up to 28c. In a jobbing way demand is not active. The second shipment of new crop are expected this week, but as yet little has been done in them, buyers being supplied for the time being We quote: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c for mediums, and 25 to 55c for high grade; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65 for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The chief interest in dried fruit at the moment centres on question of crop prospects on new fruit. In California the fruit will be three weeks later than last year, and higher prices are anticipated. Little is doing on spot, the only stock available being 4-crown raisins, which are held at 7c.

Valencia raisins are fairly steady at 4½ to 5c. for ordinary; 5¼ to 5½c. for fine, and 6 to 6½c. for selected and layers.

Sultanas are quiet, but firm, at 6½ to 7c.

Currants are unchanged under a moderate demand at 4½ to 5½c. as to grade.

Stocks of prunes of all kinds continue exceedingly light. Bosnias are held at 6 to 6½c.; French, 5¼ to 5½c., and Californiass, 8½ to 12c.

Figs range as noted last week, with little business doing, from 8½ to 10c. for ordinary and 12 to 17c. for fancy.

Dates are quiet and steady at 5 to 5¼c.

NUTS.

There has been no change in nuts. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11½c.; filberts, 7½ to 8c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c., and shelled walnuts, 15 to 16c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is little doing in canned goods except in a small sorting way for actual wants. No disposition is shown to do any forward business. Offers on salmon and fruit for new pack fail to induce jobbers to take hold. Values continue much as they were. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 65c.; peas, $1 to $1.10 for ordinary; sifted select, $1.25 to $1.35; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; lobsters, $1.80 to $2.10, for tall tins; flats, $2.35 to $2.65; half-tins, $1.45 to $1.50; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.35; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $7.25 to $8; 14's, $15 to $16.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little change in the staple lines of green fruit during the past week. Demand is of a steady character, and the market is well cleaned up. We quote: Apples, $5 to $6; dried do., 3 to 3½c.; evaporated, 5½ to 6c.; bananas, $1 to $1.50; pineapples, 15c., and strawberries, 8 to 9½c.; lemons, $2 to $3.50; oranges, $1.50 to $3.50, according to brand and package.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—These have been in fair demand and prices steady at 9 to 9½c. for choice, and 7½ to 8c. for seconds.

BEANS—Beans rule quiet. Supplies are light and prices steady at 70 to 75c. for car lots, and 85 to 90c. for jobbing lots.

POTATOES—There is little activity to note in these. Stocks are working down, but there is plenty to go along with. We quote: 25 to 26c. per bag in car lots, and 30 to 35c. in a small way.

TALLOW—Continues dull and nominal at 4 to 5½c.

HOPS—Small lots of hops have sold down to 6½c. for No. 1.

HONEY—Slow and unchanged. We quote: Bright comb, 12 to 14c.; dark do., 10 to 12c., and extracted, 7 to 8c.

HAY.

Demand has been brisker for hay, and prices have advanced 25c. per ton since last report. We quote: No. 1, $13.50, and No. 2, $10.50 to $11.

PROVISIONS.

There is little change to report in this market. Demand for pork continues extremely dull, but prices are unchanged. Lard is quiet and fairly steady, while smoked meats have a moderate call. We quote as follows: Canadian short cut, clear, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short cut, mess, $12.50 to $13; hams, city cured, per lb., 7½ to 9½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 8c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 6¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The flour market has continued dull at last week's decline. Some enquiry was noted for export, but it did not result in much trading, bids being too low as a rule. We quote: Winter wheat, $3.80 to $4; spring wheat, patents, $3.75 to $3.85; straight roller, $3.60 to $3.70; straight roller, bags, $1.70 to $1.75; extra bags, $1.40 to $1.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.30 to $3.50.

The oatmeal market was without any new feature. The demand continues slow and trade is dull. We quote: Standard, bbls, $2.90 to $3; granulated, bbls, $3 to $3.10; rolled oats, bbls, $2.70 to $2.75; rolled wheat, per 100 lbs, $2.40 to $2.50.

Feed has been in fair demand since the last decline, and prices have ruled steady. We quote: Bran, $10.50 to $11.50; shorts, $11.50 to $12.50; mouillie, $15.50 to $17.50.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

CHEESE—Was dull and buyers were indifferent about trading except at concessions. In the country also it may be noted that bids at the different country boards declined ⅛ to ¼c. on those for the corresponding day last week. The factorymen did not let go, however, at the decline, as a rule only a few accepting the lower offer At the wharf Monday also prices declined ¼ to ⅜c. compared with last week, 5,000 boxes selling at 6¾ to 6⅞c.

BUTTER—The butter market rules quiet but steady. There is a moderate demand for strictly finest creamery at 16½c., shippers paying that price, but business is checked by the fact that holders in the majority of cases want more money. Local jobbers here, it is said, paid the equivalent of 16¾ to 17c. spot, but the transactions are hardly a fair criterion.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

St. John, N.B., June 25, 1896.

THE last week, owing to the elections, was absolutely without feature in business circles. Travelers could do nothing, and beyond filling a very small run of country orders, the wholesalers were left free to indulge in the political excitement of the week. The lumber trade continues active, and quite a number of vessels were chartered last week to load for South America, while shipments to British ports were the largest of any week this season, totalling up over twelve million feet. Lumber freights to New York have advanced 25c., but the U.S. lumber market does not show any noticeable improvement so far as demand for provincial stock is concerned. Arrangements have been made for forwarding mails from Nova Scotia points on the Dominion Atlantic Railway to the west by the Bay of Fundy route instead of being sent around by the I.C.R., and this will greatly facilitate communication. But there is room for further improvement, as some mails from the west for Nova Scotia points most easily reached by the bay route still go by the longer I C.R. route.

Oil—Demand in all lines is limited and the market is without change. We quote: American burning oil, 21 to 22½c; best Canadian, 19 to 20½c; prime, 17 to 18c; no charge for barrels.

Salt—Stocks are ample and business light. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c; fine factory-filled, 95c to $1; 5-lb bags, 3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb bags, $3 per bbl; 20-lb boxes, 20c; 10-lb boxes, 12c; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz; salt, bulk, $2.65 to 2.70 per bbl.

Canned Goods—Standard packers are guaranteeing against lower prices by other standard houses. Orders are being placed for fall shipments, but there is no special feature in local trade. The remarks made two weeks ago are still applicable. We quote as follows: Corn, 75 to 85c; peas, 95c to $1; tomatoes, 85 to 90c; gallon apples, $2.20 to 2.25; corned beef, 2-lb tins, Canadian, $2.15 to 2.25; American, $2.40 to 2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to 1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to 2.25; 1's, $1.35 to 1.50; peaches, 3's, American, $2.45; Canadian, $2.75 to 2.85; 2's, $1.90 to 2; pineapple, Canadian pack, $2.50 to 2.75; salmon, $1.35 to 1.40; lobsters, $2; haddies, $1.25 to 1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.75 for 2 doz; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz; Digby chickens, $1; kippered herring, $1.10.

Green Fruits—Valencia oranges have advanced still more and are very firm, with Messinas about out of the market. California green fruits are now at hand. Lemons are unchanged. Pineapples are higher. Tomatoes are coming in freely, also cucumbers. Business in green fruits is now very active, with keen competition among the dealers. We quote: Lemons, $3 to 3.50; Valencia oranges, $9 to 10; blood oranges, $2.25 to 2.50; pineapples, 15 to 20c.; bananas, $1 to 2.50; strawberries, 12 to 15c per box; rhubarb, 1 to 1¼c per lb; cucumbers, 80 to 90c per doz; California cherries, peaches and apricots, $2 per crate; do. plums, $2.75; tomatoes, $2.50 to 3 per crate.

Dried Fruit—In raisins, currants, dried apples, etc., there is nothing new to be said, as there is so tittle doing in these lines. Onions, both Bermuda and Egyptian, are cheaper. We quote: Valencias, 4½ to 5c; layers, 5½ to 6c; California L.M. 3-crown, 5¾ to 6c; London layers, $1.50 to 1.75; currants, bbls., 3¾ to 4c; cases, 4¼ to 5c; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c; bulk, cleaned, 6½c; prunes, boxes, 6 to 7c; half-boxes, 7 to 8c; dates, 4½ to 5c; dried apples, 4¾ to 5c; evaporated apples, 6½ to 7c; Egyptian onions, per lb., 2 to 2¼c; Bermuda onions, $1 to 1.25 per crate; cocoanuts, $4 to 4.50 per 100 lbs; figs, 9 to 10c; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.

Dairy Produce—There is no activity yet in cheese making. The butter market is overstocked and very dull. Some creameries appear to have a disposition to hold for better prices, and may suffer for it as they did last year. At present the tendency is towards an easier market. Eggs are plentiful and easy. We quote: Common dairy butter, 10 to 14c; dairy, 14 to 16c; new creamery prints, 18 to 19c; cheese, 8 to 9c; creamery, tubs, 17 to 18c; Eggs, 9 to 10c.

Sugar—The market shows no sign of improvement, but is rather weaker, and the movement is not large for the season. Holders lose no opportunity to sell at our quotations. We quote: Granulated, 4¾c; yellows, 3⅝ to 4⅛c; Paris lump, 5⅞ to 6c; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

Molasses—The market is easier in several lines, and stocks are ample. Two cargoes of Porto Rico and one part cargo from that island have come here; and still another is shortly due. Buyers are not anxious, and trade is quiet. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c; Porto Rico, 32 to 34c; New Orleans, bbls., 30 to 36c; syrup, 36 to 38c; Antigua, 23 to 24c; St. Croix, 25 to 26c; Nevis, 25 to 26c; Trinidad, 30 to 31c.

Fish—Dry fish are rather easier. Trade in pickled fish is practically nil. The run of alewives is over, and fresh shad are about out of the market. The salmon catch in the Bay of Fundy and on the north shore, and also around the southern coast of Nova Scotia, appears to be exceptionally good. Large shipments of salmon and lobsters to the States continue. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3 to 3.25; medium, $2.90 to 3; pollock, $1.20 to 1.25; bay herring, $1.20 to 1.25 per half-bbl; new smoked, 4 to 5c; Canso, $4 to 4.50 per bbl; shad, half-bbl, $5; Shelburne, $2.50 to 2.75 bbl, $1.65 half-bbl; boneless, 2½ to 8c; smoked alewives, 80c per 100; fresh shad, 9 to 10c; salmon, fresh, 10 to 12c per lb.; lobsters, 5 to 6c; mackerel, 10c each; smoked salmon, 20c.

Provisions—Pork is dull and lower; in fact, the whole market is very dull and well stocked. Several carloads of beef came in last week. Lard is dull and cheap. We quote: Clear pork, $13.75 to 14.25; mess, $13 to 13.50; beef, $12.25 to 13.25; hams,

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Ontario flours are easier. Oatmeal is dull, and cornmeal is still at record breaking prices here. Oats, hay, bran and middlings are very low, and there is very little movement. The cheapness of cornmeal in part explains the dulness in other feeds. The local enquiry for hay has improved a little, but the new crop is near at hand, and prices are not likely to improve. We quote : Manitoba flour, $4.50 to 4.60 ; best Ontario, $4.15 to 4.30 ; medium, $4 to 4.10 ; oatmeal, $3 to 3.15 ; cornmeal, $1.95 to 2 ; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15.50 to 16 ; bran, do do, $14.50 to 15 ; handpicked beans, $1 ; prime, 90c ; oats, 31 to 32c for Ontario white ; hay, $11 to 12; barley, $3.50 ; round peas, $1.10 to 1.20 ; split peas, $3.40 to 3.50 ; yellow eye beans, $1.75.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A cable from Porto Rico on Monday stated that the molasses market was very strong at half a cent above the price at which purchases had been made for this market some time ago.

A large steamship cargo of lumber cleared on Saturday for Bordeaux, France.

The country is now favored with excellent growing weather, and the crops are coming along well.

An order has just been filled by a city broker for another car of canned salmon for this market, fall shipment.

The London steamer sailing this week takes from this port a large lot of canned lobsters for the English market.

Ontario cattle furnish St. John with a considerable share of its beef supply. A lot of 43 animals were received this week by one city firm The Ontario cattle are said to be better bred and better fed than the average native stock.

A city firm of corn millers have secured a lease of property on the west side of the harbor, where they will erect a corn mill and large elevator. It is said a wheat mill at St. John would prove a success, supplying the large market reached from this central location.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THIS being election week, there is very little doing in trade circles. Nobody would expect any business to be transacted on election day ; but we had two idle days, as Monday was a civic holiday, natal day, and every business house was closed.

A fair trade is being done in flours. J. A. Chipman & Co., I. B. Shafner & Co., J. W. Cox and other dealers have received fair consignments during the week. Quotations in marketable grades are : Hungarian patent Manitoban, $4.40 to 4.50 ; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.20 to 4.30 ; Canadian pastry, $4.10 to 4.20 ; 75 p.c. roller patents, $3.90 to 4 ; 80 p.c. do, do, $3.80 to 3.90 ; 90 p.c. do, do, $3.70 to 3.75 ; straight do, $3.65 to 3.70 ; extra, $3.40 to 3.50.

The only salt afloat is Liverpool, which is selling at $1.40. Trapani is worth $1.50 ex store. Factory filled is quoted at $1.30.

The price of No. 3 mackerel, large, has centred about $6. There are no 1's or 2's on the market. Fresh salmon are plentiful, the jobbing price being about 9½c. In other grades of fish there is little to note. The steamer Beta sailed this week for Haytian ports with considerable assorted dry and pickled fish. Cod, shore, prime, is quoted at $2.50 to 3.50 ; small bank do., $1.75 to 2.25 ; large bank, $3 ; bay, $1 75 to 2.25 ; Labrador, $2 ; haddock, Cape Breton, are quoted at $1.50 to 1.75, and western at $1.75. Large shore herrings are worth $3 to 3.50, and alewives, $2 75.

Produce remains low, with little demand. Oats are quoted at 35c., and potatoes at 23 to 26c.

The provision market is fairly brisk. In fresh stocks there is an improvement in beef, more in the demand than in the price, good native selling at $8.75, sinking pelts. Very little Ontario is being received, which gives native a chance. P.E.I. mess pork is quoted at $14, which is on outside figure. No sales are being made at that worth speaking of.

The molasses market remains dull. There has been another small arrival since last week, but there are no stocks moving of any note. Quotations are about : Porto Rico, 35 to 36c ; St. Croix, 28c ; Trinidad, 28c ; Barbadoes, 32c, and Demerara, M. R. brand, 39c.

The sugar market is quiet, but fairly steady. Detailed prices are : Porto Rico, in bbls., 3½c ; refined cut loaf, 6½c ; granulated, 4⅛c ; standard A, 4⅛c ; standard yellow C, 4⅜c ; extra C, 5c ; yellow extra, C, 3⅞c.

There being no steamer from Boston on Saturday night, consequently there was no green fruit. Some Ontario cherries were received, which retailed at 75c per basket.

The butter market keeps good. Creamery prints are worth 20c., and creamery, in tubs, 19c. Western dairy is quoted at 17c., and Eastern Townships at 18c. The latter will be coming in fairly plentiful after July 1st, that being about the time car-load lots begin to be shipped.

Cheese is low. September is quoted at 9c., and new at the same figure.

Eggs are not so plentiful as last week and are consequently a little stiffer in price. Loose lots are worth 9c.

Exaggeration . . .

Is a poor factor to use in selling goods. Plain facts are best. When showing our goods, just tell your customers what we have been telling you about their purity and cleanliness, and induce them to make a personal test. One sale will always lead to others.

THE GROCER'S LONG HOURS.

THE long hours that grocers are required to work are one of the most disagreeable features in the grocery business, says Retail Grocers' Advocate. It makes the business repulsive to young men while they are clerks and have any intellectual aspirations and ambitions. The young man who works in some trade that relieves him at 6 o'clock has a few hours every evening either for pleasure or study ; but the grocery clerk is a slave of his business until he goes to sleep. He cannot find time to attend an evening school, or even to read books and newspapers. If his education is unfinished when he enters a store as a clerk it is likely to remain so until he starts in business for himself or perhaps forever. By the time the average clerk secures a store of his own he has lost the taste for learning.

There are so many grocers, especially those in large cities, who do not appreciate the value of education. They have been working hard from boyhood up, having no chance to develop a taste for knowledge. If they had the bad luck to have parents who did not appreciate an education and failed to send the boys to school long enough, their education actually remains below the level of other business men. This may not injure the financial success of some, but to many who desire to do business with the elite of the city, the people who pay "fancy" prices and buy large orders, it is certainly a drawback for life.

"CHEEKY" CLERKS.

The kind journalistic mentors of the young and ambitious clerk constantly treat of the various essentials to success in business, but there is one quality which many successful business men have in excess that these mentors usually ignore or gloss over, and that is, plain, vulgar "cheek," or, as the Frenchman calls it, audacity, says Merchants' Review. This quality does not, perhaps, count for so much in later life as in the early days, when the ambitious youth and would-be proprietor is in a subordinate position. If the subordinate has nothing else than "cheek," but is able to "bluff" his employer, as many of his kidney often are, he will probably, at some time, come down more quickly than he rose, but with a moderate endowment of the other useful qualities and a splendid proportion of "cheek" a young man ought to go far towards fame and fortune in these days of material progress

HARD TIMES MERCHANTS.

While coming in contact with a great many retail grocers now-a-days, says a writer in Retail Grocers' Advocate, I often hear the remark, "hard times, nothing doing," and have noticed that invariably in such cases the remark was made by a grocer who is, so to say, behind the age, and not up to date ; the stores make no appearance, things scattering about in a careless promiscuous manner, the floor dirty, while counters and shelves look as if a little dusting would not be out of place. No matter how small the store, it can be made attractive by cleanliness and a little judgment in distributing the stock in such a manner as would show to the best advantage ; take your wide-awake go ahead grocer for an example ; see how business is conducted there, how the stock is divided, and study his method of doing business; it will cost you nothing to try it, and I am sure that in time you will have no further reason to say, "hard times, nothing doing."

When a clerk begins to do unto his employer as he would that his employer should do unto him, from that moment has he begun to sow the seeds of a successful career.

THE . . .

Tea Plant Thrives Best

In a warm, damp climate---one with a high temperature---and requires an

ABUNDANT RAIN FALL.

That is the reason why Ceylon Teas are the best and healthiest in the world---Ceylon is blessed with an abundance of rain, and the climate of the "tight little island" is known as humid.

Perfection in tea planting, raising, cultivating, preparing, handling and shipping is reached by the British growers of Ceylon.

If you do not know Ceylon teas, and have not handled them, you have a lot to learn. Once used, always used.

THEY ARE AFTER BARGAINS.

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody good," and every merchant can, with profit, study the methods employed by the large department stores in attracting attention to their wares. People nowadays are on the lookout for bargains, and the department stores are shrewd enough to see it and take advantage of it in every way. Every week something new is pushed to the front, and every scheme is resorted to that will bring trade to the store. They let the people know they have bargains to offer, and they convince them they want their trade. Leaders are selected and low prices are made, and the public flock to their stores with the belief that every article is marked down. The day is past when a merchant can sit down and wait for trade because he has been in business for a long time and is well acquainted. Acquaintances count but little in a large city; the people are after bargains.—Commercial Enquirer.

JUDICIOUS WORK.

That there are many business men, remarks Inter-State Grocer, who defeat their own ends and ruin their own sure prospects by exhausting their strength before they reach the period of success where their best efforts are needed, is now so well known that it is scarcely necessary to call attention to it. In plain words, they are like a certain kind of a pear—they rot before they ripen. Chauncey M. Depew expresses the matter both tersely and convincingly when he says: "I have learned from observation that three things may happen to a man who works steadily without relaxation. In the first place, he becomes nervous, irritable and hard to get along with. In the second place, the grade of his work falls off, his services are worthless and he is liable to err in his judgment. In the third place, he dies suddenly. It is an incontrovertible law of nature."

It is not the amount of work that counts in commerce now-a-days, but the intelligence displayed in the efforts exerted. The finely arranged and delicately adjusted machine does more and better work than the cumbersome and clumsy apparatus which was its predecessor. Muscles without brains are valueless, and brains are valueless unless healthy. The keen intellect and the ready decision so essential to success can only be counted upon when the brain is active, the liver healthy and the digestion equal to the demands upon it. Give a nation healthy tradesmen and you will insure it a healthy and prosperous commerce.

ADVERTISING HANDICAPPED.

A WRITER in Brains tells in a recent issue of a visit he made to a grocer in a small Pennsylvania town. Among the merchants whom he talked with was a grocer who had a few things to say.

"See here," he said, "I advertise all the time and I advertise well, but I am not doing the business I ought to do, and I don't believe that advertising pays. I don't make any more money than I did before I commenced advertising."

The solution of the question wasn't a hard thing to find. The grocer's windows would frighten away about everything in the world except a fly. The fly had been there, and so had his sisters and his cousins and his aunts. The things in the windows had been there since the time of the fly's father and his grandfather and his great-grandfather. The dust on the brim of the grocer's hat was conclusive evidence of the fact that he had not brushed it since he bought it. His clerks wore dirty aprons, and looked as though a shave and a bath were luxuries in which they seldom indulged. The stock of goods on the shelves was old, rusty and dusty. The fresh groceries—vegetables and the like—were scattered around in a haphazard, devil-may-care manner. Everything was in a state of disorderly uncleanliness. It was a store to which an advertisement might bring a customer, but he or she would never come again. So the newspaper man told the grocer there were some things advertising could not do He tried to show the grocer that advertising could not sell goods for such a store, and that the reason why his advertising didn't pay was because he wouldn't let it. And he hopes this grocer has taken his advice to heart and will benefit by it, and that other merchants everywhere will bear in mind that the thing which is next to godliness is a mighty important thing

THE WATERMELON CROP.

Seventy-two million pounds of watermelon is what the railroad and fruit men estimate will be raised in Florida this year. This is equivalent to 3,000,000 melons, which, if placed end to end, would make a chain of watermelons 852 miles long, or further than from Jacksonville to the city of Washington. What a picture to cause the astonished smile on the face of the average negro to broaden into a laugh of great gladness, remarks an exchange. To carry these melons to market a train of 3,000 cars would be necessary, and this train would be nearly nineteen miles long. Railroad men say that this year's crop will be three times larger in Florida than that of last year, and the prospects are brighter for better prices, as there will be only half a melon crop in Georgia to compete with.

PUREST & BEST

"Dairying for Profit" or "The Poor Man's Cow"

Is the title of a treatise on Buttermaking written by Mrs. E. M. Jones of Brockville, Ont. Mrs. Jones' Book has been so highly thought of by the Ontario Government that it has been printed and distributed free among farmers as an authority on this subject. The following letter explains itself.

Some time ago I commenced using the Windsor Salt in my dairy and I have been surprised and delighted at the result. It appears to me to be a PURER SALT than any I have ever used (although I have always obtained the very best, regardless of cost). It is entirely FREE FROM ANY BITTER TASTE and it DISSOLVES SO RAPIDLY as to be at once incorporated in the butter. To the practical dairyman these are vital points. MORE BUTTER IS SPOILED BY POOR SALT THAN IN ALL OTHER WAYS PUT TOGETHER. Not only is the taste disagreeable but the grain of such salt is so sharp and its nature so insoluble that butter has to be worked almost to a paste and is thereby spoiled before it is even put on the market. WINDSOR SALT IS FREE FROM THESE OBJECTIONS and its quality and price ought to make it a boon to every dairy in Canada. I shall use no other in future, and as the output of my private dairy is 7000 lbs. a year, which all brings the highest price ever reached by Canadian butter, the importance of my choice in salt can hardly be over-estimated.

Yours truly,
(Signed) ELIZA M. JONES.
